And that the will, gift, and deviſe of every ſuch deviſor or owner, of, and for the two [e] parts of the ſaid manors, lands, tenements and hereditaments reſidue, ſhall by the authority aforeſaid be, and ſtand good and effectual in the Law, albeit the ſame will, gift, or deviſe be had and made of all his fee-ſimple lands, [f] tenements, and hereditaments, or of the more part thereof.

And the diviſion thereof to be had and made, and with the reſtitution of the profits of the two parts of the ſaid manors, lands, tenements, and hereditaments, in ſuch manner and form as is above rehearſed. And like benefit and advantage to be given, had and taken by the ſaid authority, to every Lord and Lords, of whom any ſuch manors, lands, tenements, or hereditaments, been or ſhall be holden, by Knights ſervice, in manner and form as is aboveſaid, concerning onely his or their third parts thereof, according to their ſaid intereſt therein.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if it happen the ſame third part, or any part thereof, left, willed, or aſſigned, to the King or other Lord, at any time during their intereſts therein, to be lawfully evicted or determined: that then the King and the other Lord ſhall have as much of the two parts reſidue, as ſhall accompliſh and make up a full third part in clear yearly value, after the rate and portion of ſuch manors, lands, tenements, and hereditaments, as ſhall then happen to remain of the ſame third part, not evicted nor determined: and of the other two parts of ſuch manors, lands, tenements, and hereditaments, as the King or other Lord ſhould or ought to have had, by vertue of the ſaid former Act, and this preſent Act: and the ſame to be divided in manner and form above rehearſed, any clauſe in the ſaid former Act notwithſtanding.

Any perſon being no common Surgeon, may miniſter outward medecines.

Where in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, in the third year of the Kings moſt gracious Reign, amongſt other things, for the avoiding of Sorceries, Witchcrafts, and other inconvencies, it was enacted, That no perſon within the City of London, nor within ſeven miles of the ſame, ſhould take upon them to exerciſe and occupy as Phyſician or Surgeon, except he be firſt examined, approved and admitted by the Biſhop of London and other, under and upon certain pains and penalties in the ſame Act mentioned. Sithence the making of which ſaid Act, the Company and Fellowſhip of Surgeons of London, minding onely their own lucres, and nothing the profit or eaſe of the diſeaſed or patient, have ſued, troubled and vexed divers honeſt perſons, as well men as women, whom God hath endued with the knowledge of the nature, kind and operation of certain Herbs, Roots, and Waters, and the uſing and miniſtring of them, to ſuch as been pained with cuſtomable diſeaſes: as womens breaſts being ſore, a Pin and the Web in the eye, Uncomes of hands, Scaldings, Burnings, ſore mouthes, the Stone, Strangury, Saucelim, and Morfew, and ſuch other like diſeaſes. And yet the ſaid perſons have not taken any thing for their pains or cunning, but have miniſtred the ſame to poor people onely for neighbourhood and Gods ſake, and of pity and charity. And it is now well known, that the Surgeons admitted will do no cure to any perſon, but where they ſhall know to be rewarded with a greater ſum or reward then the cure extendeth unto; for in caſe they would miniſter their cunning unto ſore people unrewarded, there ſhould not ſo many rot and periſh to death for lack of help of Surgery as daily do: but the greater part of Surgeons admitted, been much more to be blamed then thoſe perſons that they trouble.

By what means the Surgeons of London have abuſed the Statute of 3 H. 8. 11. for their own gain.

For although the moſt part of the perſons of the ſaid craft of Surgeons have ſmall cunning, yet they will take great ſums of money, and do little therefore, and by reaſon thereof they do oftentimes impair and hurt their patients, rather then do them good.

CAP. IX.

Means to preſerve the River of Severn from rubbiſh or balaſt to be caſt thereinto.

Where divers perſons, as well inhabitants, farmers, and dwellers next unto the ſtream of Severn, & unto the Creeks and Pilles of the ſame, from Kingrod upward toward the City and Town of Glouceſter, convey and carry grain and corn out of the Realm of England, unto the parts beyond the Sea, where grains are very dear, and now of late time have made Picards and other great boats, with fore-maſts, of the burthen of fifteen tun, and ſo to ſix and thirty tun, and by reaſon thereof, Wheat, Rie, Beans, Barley, Mault, and other kind of grains by ſtealth, are conveyed into the utter parts beyond the Sea, ſo that thereby the Kings Majeſty is not onely deceived of his Subſidy and Cuſtom for the ſame, but it cauſeth at ſuch times Wheat grain and other kind of corn, as is aforeſaid, to be at high prices. And by the ſame means the inhabitants within the City or Town of Briſtol, are often and ſundry times deſtitute, and ſcant may have grain or corn to ſerve the Kings obedient ſubjects there dwelling and inhabiting. And alſo by reaſon of having of the ſaid great boats and veſſels, oftentimes divers ſhips, as well of the parts beyond the Sea, as other of Engliſh ſhips lying in Kingrod and Hungrod, (being Ports or Havens of the City or Town of Briſtol aforeſaid, diſtant five miles or thereabouts from the ſaid town of Briſtol) awaiting and tarrying there the coming of the ſaid great boats with corn & grain down Severn, who there diſcharge the grain & corn aboard the ſaid ſhips at Kingrod. By reaſon whereof the ſaid ſhips and other veſſels there tarrying for ẏ receit of the ſaid grain and corn, do then caſt out their balaſt of ſtones, and other robul of balaſt of their ſaid ſhips and veſſels, into the ſaid Rodes & Havens of Hungrod and Kingrod, and there lood the ſaid grain or corn in the ſhips and veſſels, to the great deſtruction, and in continuance, to the utter undoing of ẏ ſaid Roads & Havens. So that the mouth and whole channel of the ſaid Haven is ſo heaped and quarred with ſtones and robul of balaſts of the ſhips & boats there arriving, that great ſhips, which uſe the courſe of merchandiſe to the ſaid town of Briſtol from the parts beyond the Sea, and from the ſaid town laden with merchandiſe unto the utter parts, may ſcantly or ſafely come unto ẏ Kings ſaid port and town of Briſtol, and the River of the ſame, and ſo from the ſaid port and town of Briſtol, unto the ſaid Severn, without great danger and peril. And by that means ſhips of great burden are like to be deſtroyed, and utterly be caſt away, and if redreſs be not the ſooner had therein, it will be to the utter deſtruction of the haven and port of the ſaid town of Briſtol, which ſaid town of Briſtol is chiefly maintained by courſe of merchandiſe.

The penalty for caſting of balaſt or robul in Kingrod, or in any part of the haven unto Briſtol.

Wherefore it may pleaſe ẏ Kings Majeſty, the Lords ſpiritual and temporal, & Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by authority of the ſame, to enact, make & ordain, that after the laſt day of July next coming, no maſter or maſters, owner or owners of ſhip or ſhips, or of any other boat or veſſel, or any other perſon or perſons, do caſt or unload their balaſt or robul at or in the ſaid road called Kingrod and Hungrod, nor in any of them, ne in other place from the road of Kingrod unto the Town of Briſtol, nor in no part of the haven thereof, but on the land onely, above the full Sea mark, upon pain ẏ every ſuch owner, maſter of ſhip, or of other boat or veſſel, and of every other perſon or perſons, caſting & laying their balaſt or robul in the ſtream, at the place, or in ẏ River aforeſaid, to forfeit for every time ſo offending, four pound, the one half thereof to our Sovereign Lord the King, and the other half thereof to the party that will ſue for the ſame in any of the Kings Courts of Record, as well within Courts of Record, within Cities & Towns Corporate, before the Mayor, Aldermen, Sheriffs and Bailiffs, according to their Corporation, as elſewhere in any of the Kings Courts of Record, by bill, plaint, action of debt, information, or otherwiſe, in the which action the defendant ſhall not wage his law, neither yet no protection nor eſſoin to be allowed.

None ſhall load corn in any veſſel by the water of Severn to tranſport, before he be bound to the Cuſtomer of Briſtol to bring it thither.

And further, that it may be enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no perſon or perſons from henceforth ſhall enboat or lade, or cauſe to be enboated or laden, any Wheat, Mault, Beans, or any other kind of grain or corn, whatſoever it ſhall be, in any picard, boat, or other veſſel, at the creek, pill, bank, or elſewhere upon Severn ſtream, between the key of the City of Glouceſter, & the ſaid City or Town of Briſtol, by the water of Severn, to the intent to be tranſported into utter parts beyond the Sea, out of the Kings Dominion, before that the ſaid owner or lader of the ſaid picard, boat, or other veſſel hath been with the Kings Cuſtomers of the ſaid town of Briſtol, and there by himſelf, and one ſufficient ſurety with him, bounden unto the Kings Cuſtomers of the ſaid port and town of Briſtol aforeſaid, in ſuch reaſonable ſums of money to the uſe of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King, as ſhall amount to the double value of the ſaid grain or corn there to be laden, or to be enboated, upon condition that the ſaid owner or maſter of the ſaid picard or boat, or other veſſel, ſhall not repair nor tranſport the ſaid corn or grain, nor no part thereof, into any utter part beyond the Sea, out of the Kings Dominion, before the ſaid maſter or owner thereof ſhall come and bring the ſaid grain and corn unto the key of the ſaid town of Briſtol, & there to be viewed or ſeen the contents thereof, and the contents thereof to be declared unto the Kings Cuſtomers, and to the Mayor of the ſaid Town for the time being, if there be any ſuch licence or lawful cauſe for to convey or tranſport grain or corn into the parts beyond the Sea, out of the ſaid Kings Dominion, there to be meaſured and mete by the common meaſure of the ſaid Town.

The penalty where one bringeth more corn to Briſtol to be meaſured, and thence to be tranſported, then is contained in his licence.

And after the ſaid obligation with condition ſo made, ſealed and delivered unto the ſaid Cuſtomer: Then the ſaid Cuſtomer ſhall deliver a ſufficient Cocket unto the party, owner or owners, or maker ſo bounden to convey the ſaid grain or corn unto the Key of Briſtol, upon pain that every Picard, Boat, or other veſſel ſo laden with grain or other kind of corn, to be carried or tranſported into the utter parts beyond the Sea, out of the Kings Dominion, to be forfeited as well the ſaid corn and grain ſo laden, as the ſaid Boat ſo laden contrary to this preſent Act, whereof the King our Sovereign Lord to have the three parts thereof, and the party that will ſue for the ſame the fourth part, before the Kings moſt honourable Council, according to the Kings Proclamation in that behalf made and provided.

The penalty for denying the meaſuring of corn at Briſtol.

And further be it enacted by authority aforeſaid, That if it ſhall appear upon the meaſuring thereof, unto the Mayor of the ſaid Town of Briſtol, and to the Kings Cuſtomers there for the time being, that there is more corn or grain laded to be tranſported into the parts beyond the Sea, within any of the ſaid veſſels, boats, picards, or trowes, over and above four quarters more then is contained in the ſaid cocket or licence: that then it ſhall be lawful unto the ſaid Mayor and Cuſtomers there for the time being, to cauſe the owner and conveyer thereof unto the ſaid Town of Briſtol, to make ſale of ſuch corn and grain as ſhall be brought, over and above the contents of the ſaid cocket or licence, and over and above four quarters, beſide the cocket or licence, according as the prices of ſuch grain and corn are commonly worth, and ſold in the open market of the ſaid Town of Briſtol. The ſaid common meter to have for the meaſuring of every weigh of corn, two pence, on pain of every perſon being owner of the ſaid grain or corn, or having the charge of the ſame, denying the meaſuring of the ſaid grain at the Key of Briſtol, to loſe and forfeit for every time ſo denying, five pound, the one half thereof to be to our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King, and the other half thereof to be to the party that will ſue for the ſame in any Court of Record, by action of debt, information, or otherwiſe: In the which action the defendant ſhall not wage his Law, nor protection nor eſſoin allowed.

The penalty for caſting of rubbiſh into any Channel, Haven, Rode, or River.

And be it alſo enacted by authority aforeſaid, That no perſon or perſons after the firſt day of Auguſt next coming, do caſt or unlade out of any manner of Ship, Crayer, or any other veſſel, being within any Haven-rode, Channel or River, flowing or running to any Port Town, or to any City, Borough or Town within this Realm, or any other the Kings Dominions, any manner of balaſt, rubbiſh, gravel, or any other wrack or filth, but onely upon the land above the full Sea-mark, upon pain that every perſon and perſons offending this Act, to loſe and forfeit for every time ſo offending five pounds, the one half to the King our Sovereign Lord, and the other half thereof to ſuch perſon and perſons as will ſue for the ſame, by bill, plaint, original writ, or information, in any the Kings Courts of Record, in which action or ſuit no wager of Law ſhall be admitted, nor any eſſoin or protection allowed.

CAP. X.

The Aſſiſe of Coverlets made in York, and where they ſhall be ſold.

Whereas the City of York, being one of the moſt ancient and greateſt Cities within the Realm of England, afore this time hath been maintained and upholden by divers and ſundry handicrafts there uſed, and moſt principally by making and weaving of Coverlets and Coverings for beds, and thereby a great number of the inhabitants and poor people of the ſaid City, ſuburbs thereof, and other places within the County of York have been daily ſet on work in ſpinning, carding, dying, weaving, and otherwiſe concerning the making of them, to the great commodity of the inhabitants and poor people of the ſaid City, having thereby honeſt livings, and not made elſewhere in any part of the ſame County. For the true, ſubſtantial, and perfect making whereof, many good and beneficial ordinances and orders have been deviſed and made, as well for the good ſtuff, concerning the ſaid Coverlets and Coverings, as alſo for the length and breadth of them, and otherwiſe: Of the which Coverlets and Coverings, the beſt ſort ſhould and ought by the ſame ordinances to contain in length three yards, and in breadth two yards and a quarter at the leaſt: The ſecond ſort to contain in length three yards, and in breadth two yards: And the loweſt or third ſort ſhould contain two yards and a half in length, and in breadth one yard and three quarters, under pain of forfeiture of the ſame, the one half and moiety of the ſaid forfeiture to be to the Mayor and Comminalty of the ſaid City, and the other moiety to be to the Wardens and Company of the ſaid handicraft of Coverlet makers.

The length and breadth which Coverlets made in York ſhould contain.

And foraſmuch as the ſame Coverlets and Coverings were well and ſubſtantially made and wrought, the Kings ſubjects of divers parts of the Realm, and alſo ſtrangers of other foreign Realms knowing the goodneſs of them, were very deſirous to have and buy the ſaid Coverlets and Coverings: And now of late divers and ſundry evil diſpoſed perſons, apprentices not expert in the ſame occupation, withdrawing themſelves out of the ſaid City of York into the County of York, and other places thereabouts, and alſo divers other perſons, inhabiting in villages and towns within the ſaid County, and nigh to the ſame City, intermedling with the ſame craft or occupation, having little experience therein, not being bound to the ſaid rules and ordinances, do daily make Coverlets and Coverings, neither of good ſtuff nor of good aſſiſe, length or breadth, and for the utterance of the ſame, uſe daily the craft and ſubtilty of hauking abroad in the Country, to villages, and to mens houſes, putting the ſame naughty ware to ſale ſecretly, not onely to the great deceit of the Kings true and faithful ſubjects, buying the ſaid Coverlets, and to the great defaming and ſlander of the ſaid handicraft, but alſo to the impoveriſhing of the inhabitants of the ſaid City, and utter decay of the ſame, if remedy the ſooner herein be not provided. It may therefore pleaſe our Sovereign Lord the King, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and of the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, that it may be enacted by the authority of the ſame, That no manner of perſon or perſons, dwelling and inhabiting within the ſaid County of York, or nigh unto the ſame, ſhall after the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel next coming, make any Coverlets or Coverings, to be put to ſale, unleſs ſuch perſon or perſons, after the ſaid Feaſt, be inhabiting or dwelling within the City of York, or within the ſuburbs of the ſame, upon pain of forfeiture of every ſuch Coverlet or Covering, made, wrought and put to ſale, contrary to the tenor of this Eſtatute, or the value thereof.

None in Yorkſhire ſhall make Coverlets but they which dwell in York.

And be it further enacted by the ſaid authority, That no manner of perſon or perſons of the occupation of handicrafts-men of Coverings or Coverlet-makers, dwelling within the ſaid City of York, or the ſuburbs of the ſame, or elſewhere within the ſaid County, ſhall from and after the ſaid Feaſt, uſe the ſaid craft of hauking, or go as haukers, or put to ſale any Coverlets in any other place or places, out of the ſaid City and liberties thereof, but onely in the open Markets and Fairs, upon pain of forfeiture of the ſame Coverlets and Coverings, or the value thereof: The one half of the ſaid forfeitures, if it be in any City, Borough, or Town Corporate, to be to the Mayor and Commonalty, Bailiff, Governour, or other Ruler, and Commonalty of every ſuch City, Borough, or Town Corporate, authoriſed to have the ſame by grant or preſcription, or otherwiſe lawfully: and the other half thereof to ſuch perſon or perſons as ſhall ſeiſe or ſue for the ſame by bill, plaint, action, information, or otherwiſe, in any Court of Record, wherein no wager of law, dilatory plea, or protection ſhall be allowed or admitted.

In what places onely Coverlets made in York ſhall be put to ſale.

And if the ſaid forfeiture happen to be taken or found out of any the ſaid Cities, Towns or Boroughs, having no ſuch authority: then the one moiety of the ſaid forfeiture to be to our Sovereign Lord the King, his Heirs and Succeſſors: and the other moiety to ſuch perſon and perſons as will ſue for the ſame in any of the Kings Courts, in form aforeſaid.

CAP. XIII.

Knights and Burgeſſes ſhall have places in Parliament for Cheſter.

IN moſt humble wiſe ſhewn unto your excellent Majeſty the inhabitants of your Graces County Palatine of Cheſter, That where the ſaid County Palatine of Cheſter is, and hath been always hitherto exempt, excluded and ſeparated out and from your high Court of Parliament, to have any Knights and Burgeſſes within the ſaid Court: By reaſon whereof, the ſaid inhabitants have hitherto ſuſtained manifold diſheriſons, loſſes and damages, as well in their lands, goods and bodies, as in the good, civil, and politick governance and maintenance of the Commonwealth of their ſaid Countrey. And foraſmuch as the ſaid inhabitants have always hitherto been bound by the Acts and Statutes made and ordained by your ſaid Highneſs, and your moſt noble Progenitors, and authority of the ſaid Court, as far forth as other Counties, Cities and Boroughs have been, that have had their Knights and Burgeſſes within your ſaid Court of Parliament, and yet have had neither Knight ne Burgeſs there for the ſaid County Palatine, the ſaid inhabitants for lack thereof, have been oftentimes touched and grieved with Acts and Statutes made within the ſaid Court, as well derogative unto the moſt ancient juriſdictions, liberties and priviledges of your ſaid County Palatine, as prejudicial unto the Common-wealth, quietneſs, reſt, and peace of your Graces moſt bounden ſubjects, inhabiting within the ſame. For remedy whereof, it may pleaſe your ſaid Highneſs that it be enacted, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by authority of the ſame, That from the end of this preſent Seſſion, the ſaid County Palatine of Cheſter ſhall have two Knights for the ſaid County Palatine, and likewiſe two Citizens to be Burgeſſes for the City of Cheſter, to be elect and choſen by proceſs, to be awarded by the Chancellor of England, unto the Chamberlain of Cheſter, his Lieutenant or Deputy for the time being. And ſo like proceſs to be made by the Chamberlain, his Lieutenant or Deputy, to the Sheriff of the ſaid County of Cheſter: And the ſame election to be made under like manner and form, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes as is uſed within the County Palatine of Lancaſter, or any other County and City within this Realm of England: which ſaid Knights and Burgeſſes, and every of them ſo elected and choſen, ſhall be returned by the ſaid Sheriff into the Chancery of England in due form, and upon like pains as it is ordained, that the Sheriff or Sheriffs of any other County within this Realm ſhould make their return in caſe like. And which ſaid Knights and Burgeſſes, and every of them ſo elected and returned, ſhall be Knights and Burgeſſes of the Court of Parliament, and have like voice and authority, to all intents and purpoſes, as any other the Knights and Burgeſſes of the ſaid Court of Parliament have, uſe and enjoy. And in likewiſe ſhall and may take all and every ſuch like liberties, advantages, dignities, priviledges, wages, fees, and commodities concerning this ſaid Court of Parliament, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as any other the Knights and Burgeſſes of the ſaid Court ſhall, may, or ought to have, take, or enjoy.

The reaſons why the County and City of Cheſter ſhould have Knights and Burgeſſes for the Parliament.

The County of Cheſter ſhall have two Knights for the Shire, and the City of Cheſter two Burgeſſes for the Parliament.

And alſo where it is and hath been uſed within the ſaid County Palatine, that upon the ſuggeſtion of any perſon, that is or hath been indebted to any other perſon or perſons coming to the Exchequer within the ſaid County Palatine, and there taking a corporal oath, That he or they ſhall pay his or their creditors at ſuch time as he or they ſhall be able thereto, the Officers of the ſaid Exchequer have uſed without warrant, to grant out of the ſame Exchequer a Writ in nature of a protection, whereby the ſaid creditors have been, and be greatly delayed, and in a manner defrauded of their ſaid debts, to the great impoveriſhment and undoing of the ſaid Creditors. For reformation whereof, it may alſo pleaſe your ſaid Highneſs, that it be enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no ſuch Writ of courſe, without a ſpecial warrant from your ſaid Highneſs, your Heirs or Succeſſors, containing any ſuch Protection, be from the firſt day of October, which ſhall be in the year of our Lord God, M. D. XL. III. granted. But that all and every ſuch Writs of courſe after the ſaid day to be granted, to be void and of none effect: Any cuſtom, uſe or priviledge to the contrary hereof notwithſtanding.

No Writ of courſe in the nature of a Protection ſhall be granted in the County Palatine of Cheſter.

CAP. XIV.

The names of all perſons outlawed, attainted, and convicted of Felony, ſhall be certified into the Kings Bench.

Where before this time divers perſons have been indicted, arraigned, and attainted, and ſome of them Clerks convict, and ſome of them Clerks attainted, and ſome of them outlawed for murder, burglary, robbery, and other felonies before Juſtices of the Peace, Juſtices of Gaol-delivery, and Juſtices of Oyer and Determiner, within divers Cities, Counties, Franchiſes and Liberties within this Realm, The Records of which attainders, outlawries and convictions often and many times by negligence of the Clerk of the Crown, Clerks of Peace, Clerks of Aſſiſe, and ſuch other as have had the order, rule, keeping and governance of the ſame Records, have been imbeſilled, and not ready to be objected againſt ſuch perſons as have been newly arraigned before our Sovereign Lord the King in his Bench, or before other the Kings Juſtices, for like, and ſuch other offences by them committed or done. And for that it hath not been known certainly whither to reſort for the ſame Records, becauſe they were not certified into any place certain: By reaſon whereof ſometime ſuch perſons and like offendors which have been newly arraigned, as is beforeſaid, have had the benefit of his or their Clergy where they ought not, ne ſhould have had the ſame, if the ſaid Records had then been preſent in the ſame place where ſuch perſon or perſons were ſo newly arraigned, or elſe certified into ſome other place certain, where the ſame Records might have been ſeen, ſent for or written for, to have been objected againſt ſuch perſon or perſons ſo newly arraigned. Whereby as well the King our Sovereign Lord, as alſo all other perſons, have many times loſt their Eſcheats, and other advantages and forfeitures that they ſhould have had by mean of the ſaid attainders, to the great loſſes, both of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King and other perſons, and alſo the ſame offenders have had their Clergy, where they ought not ſo to have had, to the great boldneſs and encouraging of like offenders.

The certificate of the Clerk of Aſſiſe into the Kings Bench of ſuch as be outlawed, attainted or convicted of felony.

In conſideration whereof, be it enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by authority of the ſame, That the Clerk of the Crown, Clerks of the Peace, and Clerks of Aſſiſe for the time being, where any ſuch attainder, outlawry or conviction ſhall ſo be had, ſhall from the Feaſt of Pentecoſt next coming, not onely certifie a tranſcript briefly and in few words, containing the tenor and effect of every ſuch endictment, outlawry or conviction, and Clerk attainted before them ſo to be had, made or pronounced, that is to ſay, the name, ſurname, and addition of every ſuch perſon or perſons, as ſhall be ſo indicted, and thereupon outlawed, convicted or Clerk attainted, and the certainty of the ſaid felony, or other offence whereupon he or they ſhall be ſo outlawed, convicted or Clerk attainted, and the day and place of his outlawry, conviction and attainder, and the day and place where and when the ſaid felony or other offence, whereupon the ſaid perſon or perſons ſhall be ſo indicted, outlawed, convicted, or Clerk attainted, ſhall be made and done before the King our Sovereign Lord, in his Bench at Weſtminſter, in the County of Middleſex, there to remain of Record for ever, amongſt other the Kings Records there, within fourty days next after any ſuch attainder, conviction or outlawry ſhall be had, made or pronounced, if the term be then; and if not, then within twenty days next after the beginning of the term next following the ſaid fourty days.

A tranſcript of an endictment delivered to the Ordinary.

But alſo ſhall deliver a tranſcript of every ſuch endictment, whereupon the ſaid perſon and perſons ſhall fortune hereafter ſo to be convicted, or Clerks attainted, to the Ordinary, to whom the body of the ſaid perſon or perſons ſhall be committed. The ſaid Ordinary paying to every ſuch Clerk as ſhall write the ſaid tranſcript, for every copy of ſuch endictment twelve pence for his pains: upon pain that every Clerk of the Crown, Clerk of the Peace, and Clerk of Aſſiſe for the time being, before whom ſuch endictment, attainder, outlawry or conviction ſhall be ſo had, made, pronounced, or remain for the non-certifying of every ſuch Record, and delivering of the copy of ſuch endictments, to the ſaid Ordinaries, according to this Eſtatute, to loſe and forfeit fourty ſhillings, the one moiety thereof to be to the King our Sovereign Lord, and the other moiety to him that will ſue for the ſame by action of debt, bill, information, or otherwiſe, in any of the Kings Courts of Record, wherein no wager of law, eſſoin or protection ſhall be allowed.

The Clerk of the Crown ſhall receive the certificates.

And the Clerk of the Crown, in the Kings Bench ſhall receive the ſaid certificates and tranſcripts at ſuch time as they ſhall be tendred and proffered unto them by the ſaid Clerks of the Crown, Clerks of the Peace, and Clerks of Aſſiſe, or by their deputy or deputies, without taking any thing for the ſame, upon pain of forfeiture of the ſum of xl. s. for every ſuch certificate by him refuſed.

No more names certified then are attainted, convict, &c.

Provided always, and be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if there be any more perſons contained, and named in any ſuch endictment, other then ſuch perſon ſo attainted, convicted or outlawed, that then ſuch Clerk of the Crown, Clerk of Aſſiſe, Clerk of Peace with whom the Record of ſuch attainder, outlawry or conviction ſhall remain, ſhall within the time before in this Act limited, certifie the tranſcription of ſuch endictment, outlawry or conviction only in the Kings Bench at Weſtminſter as is aforeſaid, which tranſcript ſo certified ſhall be had and taken as good, effectual, and available in Law, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes againſt ſuch perſon and perſons, againſt whom it ſhall be ſo objected, alledged or pleaded, as if the very Record thereof, whereupon he or they ſo were endicted were there preſent.

The Clerk of the Crown ſhall certifie the names of convicts to the Juſtices.

And be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the ſaid Clerk of the Crown in the Kings Bench, for the time being, ſhall at all ſuch times as the Juſtices of the Gaol-delivery, or Juſtices of Peace in every County within this Realm of England do write unto him for the names of ſuch perſons, which be ſo attainted by[a] outlawry, or Clerks attainted, or convict

No certificate out of Wales, Cheſter, Lancaſter, Durham.

Provided always, and be it further enacted, That this Act, nor any thing therein contained, ſhall not extend to the Clerks of the Crown, Clerks of the Peace, Clerks of Gaol-delivery, neither to any of the Prenotaries within the Counties of Wales and Cheſter, or within the Counties Palatines Lancaſter and Dureſme, or any of them, to make any tranſcript of any ſuch attainder, conviction, or outlawry of any perſon or perſons convicted, attainted, or outlawed before the Kings Juſtices of his Counties of Wales or Cheſter, or County of Lancaſter, Dureſme, or any of them, but that the ſame Records ſhall and may remain and be in the cuſtody and keeping of the ſaid Clerks and Prenotaries, in ſuch manner and wiſe as they are at this day. Biſhops new erected ſhall pay their Tenths into the Courts of the Firſt fruits.

26 H. 8. 3. It was enacted, that the King ſhould have a yearly tenth of all Spiritual Promotions.

Where in the Parliament begun and holden at London the third day of November, in the xxj. year of the Reign of our moſt dread Sovereign Lord King Henry the Eighth, and from thence adjourned to Weſtminſter, and there holden and continued by divers Prorogations until the diſſolution thereof: it was among other things eſtabliſhed and enacted, That the Kings Majeſty, his Heirs and Succeſſors, for the augmentation and maintenance of the Royal eſtate of his Imperial Crown and Dignity, of Supreme Head of the Church of England, ſhould yearly have, take, enjoy, and receive united and knit unto his Imperial Crown for ever, one yearly rent or penſion amounting to the value of the tenth part of all the revenues, rents, ferms, tithes, offerings, emoluments, and of all other profits, as well called Spiritual as Temporal, then appertaining or belonging, or that afterward from thenceforth ſhould belong to any Archbiſhoprick, Biſhoprick, Abbacy, Monaſtery, Priory, Archdeaconry, Deanry, Hoſpital, Colledge, Houſe Collegiate, Prebend, Cathedral Church, Collegiate Church, Conventual Church, Parſonage, Vicarage, Chauntry, free Chappel, or other benefice or promotion Spiritual, of what name, nature or quality ſoever they were, within any Dioceſs of this Realm, or in Wales, the ſaid penſion or annual rent to be yearly paid for ever to our ſaid Sovereign Lord, to his Heirs and Succeſſors, Kings of this Realm, at the Feaſt of the Nativity of our Lord God, as by the ſame Act among divers other things therein contained, more plainly is ſhewed and may appear.

32 H. 8. 45. The Kings Court of Firſt-fruits was erected.

And where alſo at the Parliament begun at Weſtminſter, the xxviij. day of April, in the xxxi. year of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the Kings moſt gracious Reign: and afterward continued by divers and ſundry Prorogations until the diſſolution thereof, there was by authority of the ſaid Parliament erected and eſtabliſhed a certain Court, called the Court of the Firſt-fruits and Tenths.

Five new Biſhopricks erected by the Kings Letters Patents.

And it was further enacted by the authority of the ſaid Parliament, That the ſaid Firſt-fruits and Tenths, and all the revenues and profits thereof, which then were, or hereafter from henceforth ſhould grow or be, by any manner of means, ſhould be from henceforth in the order, ſurvey and governance of the ſaid Court of the Firſt-fruits and Tenths, and Miniſters of the ſame, as by the ſame Act among divers other things therein contained, plainly appeareth. Sithen the making of which ſaid Act, our Sovereign Lord, of his moſt gracious and bleſſed diſpoſition, by his moſt gracious ſeveral Letters Patents hath made, erected, incorporated and eſtabliſhed, within this Realm divers and ſundry Biſhops and Sees of Biſhops, that is to ſay, John now Biſhop of Cheſter, John now Biſhop of Glouceſter, John now Biſhop of Peterborough, Paul now Biſhop of Briſtol, and Robert now Biſhop of Oxenford: and by the ſame his ſeveral and ſundry Letters Patents, hath ſunderly and ſeverally given and granted unto the ſaid Biſhops divers and ſundry manors, lands, tenements and hereditaments. In which ſaid ſeveral Letters Patents there been reſerved unto his Highneſs, his Heirs and Succeſſors, certain yearly rents and penſions, amounting to the tenth of the ſame manors, lands, tenements, and hereditaments ſo ſeverally given to the ſaid ſeveral Biſhops, to be paid and payable yearly in our ſaid Sovereign Lord the Kings Court of Augmentations of the Revenues of his Crown, as in the ſaid Letters Patents more plainly appeareth. And foraſmuch as by the ſaid former Eſtatutes, the ſaid Biſhops been compellable every one of them to pay the Tenths of his or their poſſeſſions, annexed to their ſeveral Biſhopricks, in our ſaid Sovereign Lord the Kings Court of Firſt-fruits and Tenths, the ſaid Biſhops be and ſhall be double charged and chargeable with the payments of the ſaid rents and penſions, reſerved and to be paid as is aboveſaid, for that, that the payments thereof in one of the ſaid Courts, is no diſcharge in the other, contrary to the true intent and meaning of the Kings Highneſs, and to the great hurt and decay of the ſaid Biſhops, and their ſucceſſors, if ſpeedy remedy be not therefore provided. For reformation whereof, be it enacted and ordained by authority of this preſent Parliament, That all the yearly rents, tenths, and penſions, as is or be above rehearſed, reſerved in and by all and ſingular the Kings Highneſs ſaid ſeveral Letters Patents, made of any manors, lands, tenements, parſonages appropriate, or other hereditaments whatſoever they be, ſithen the eight and twentieth day of April, in the ſaid one and thirtieth year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord, to any of the ſaid ſeveral Biſhops, ſhall from the firſt day of May next coming, be in the rule, governance, and ſurvey of the ſaid Court of Firſt-fruits and Tenths. And that all ſuch and the ſame rents, penſions, and tenths, ſhall be from the ſaid firſt day of May, payable and always paid in the ſaid Court of Firſt-fruits and Tenth, & not elſewhere, nor in any other Court or place, any thing rehearſed in yͤ ſaid ſeveral Letters Patents, or in any of them, or any Act, Statute, or Law had, made or uſed to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding.

The Biſhops of Cheſter, Glouceſter, Peterborough, and Oxford ſhall pay their Tenths in the Court of Firſt-fruits. Alt. 1 M. 10.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the ſaid Biſhops nor their ſucceſſors, ne any of them, ſhall at any time hereafter be impeached or ſued in the ſaid Court of Firſt-fruits and Tenth, of, or for any tenth, yearly rent, or penſion reſerved in or by any of the ſaid ſeveral Letters Patents, which now is, or before the ſaid firſt day of May next coming ſhall be due unto the Kings Highneſs. And that all and ſingular proceſs and ſuits now had and purſued, or hereafter on this ſide the ſaid firſt day of May, to be had or ſued out of the ſaid Court of Firſt-fruits and Tenth, againſt any of the ſaid Biſhops newly erected and made, as is aforeſaid, of, for, or concerning onely any yearly rent, penſion or tenths, reſerved upon or by any of the ſaid Letters Patents, ſhall ceaſe and be clearly void to all intents and purpoſes. 1 El. 4.

Provided always, That all liberties, franchiſes, and priviledges of the Dutchy of Lancaſter, or in any wiſe appertaining to the ſame, ſhall be of the ſame force, plight, quality, goodneſs and condition, and may be uſed in as large and ample manner, as they were before the making of this Act, and as if this Act had never been had or made: any thing in this Act to the contrary notwithſtanding.

HENRY the Eighth, by the Grace of God, King of England, France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, and of the Church of England, and alſo of Ireland, in earth the Supreme Head: to the honour of Almighty God, and for the concord, quiet and wealth of this his Realm, and ſubjects of the ſame, begun this third Seſſion of this moſt High Court of Parliament, at Weſtminſter, the fourteenth day of January, in the five and thirtieth year of his Majeſties moſt noble and victorious Reign, and there held and continued the ſame third Seſſion till the nine and twentieth day of March, in the ſaid five and thirtieth year, wherein were eſtabliſhed theſe Acts following.

CAP. I.

The Kings Succeſſion in the Crown.

Where in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, the eighth day of June, in the eight and twentieth year of our moſt dread Sovereign Lord King Henry the Eighth, an Act was had and made for the eſtabliſhment of the Succeſſion of the Imperial Crown of this Realm of England, by which Act amongſt divers others things, it was enacted, That the Imperial Crown of this Realm, with all dignities, honours, preheminences, prerogatives, authorities and juriſdictions to the ſame annexed or belonging, ſhould be to the Kings Majeſty and his Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten: that is to ſay, to the firſt Son of his body between his Highneſs, and his then lawful Wife Queen Jane, now deceaſed, begotten, and to the Heirs of the Body of the ſame firſt Son lawfuly begotten. And for default of ſuch Heirs, then the ſecond Son of his Highneſs Body, and of the Body of the ſaid Queen Jane begotten, and to the Heirs of the Body of the ſame ſecond Son begotten, with divers other limitations of the eſtates, conveyance, and remainders of the Imperial Crown, and other the premiſſes.

In what ſort the Crown of England was entailed by the Statute of 28 H. 8. 7.

And it was alſo enacted further by the ſaid Statute, That for lack of Iſſue of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the Kings Body lawfully begotten: That then his Highneſs ſhould and might give, will, limit, aſſign, appoint, or diſpoſe the ſaid Imperial Crown, and other ỹ premiſſes, to what perſon or perſons, & give the ſame perſon or perſons ſuch eſtate in the ſame, as it ſhould pleaſe his Majeſty, by his gracious Letters Patents under the Great Seal, or by his laſt Will in writing, ſigned with his moſt gracious hand, as by the ſame Act amongſt divers other things therein contained more at large it doth appear. Sithen the making of this Act, the Kings Majeſty hath onely iſſue of his body lawfully begotten, betwixt his Highneſs and his ſaid late wife Queen Jane, the noble and excellent Prince, Prince Edward, whom Almighty God long preſerve. And alſo his Majeſty hath now of late ſithen the death of the ſaid Queen Jane, taken to his wife the moſt vertuous and gracious Lady Katherine, now Queen of England, late wife of John Nevil, Knight, Lord Latimer deceaſed, by whom as yet his Majeſty hath none iſſue, but may have full well, when it ſhall pleaſe God. And foraſmuch as our ſaid moſt dread Sovereign Lord the King, upon good and juſt grounds and cauſes, intendeth by Gods grace to make a voyage Royal, in his moſt Royal Perſon, into the Realm of France, againſt his ancient enemy the French King: his Highneſs moſt prudently and wiſely conſidering and calling to his remembrance, how this Realm ſtandeth at this preſent time in the caſe of Succeſſion, and poiſing and weighing further with himſelf, the great truſt and confidence that his loving ſubjects have had, and have in him, putting in his hands wholly the order and declaration of the Succeſſion of this Realm: Recogniſing and knowledging alſo, that it is in the onely pleaſure and will of Almighty God, how long his Highneſs or his ſaid entirely beloved Son Prince Edward ſhall live, and whether the ſaid Prince ſhall have Heirs of his Body lawfully begotten or not, or whether his Highneſs ſhall have Heirs begotten and procreated between his Majeſty and his ſaid moſt dear and entirely beloved Wife Queen Katharine that now is, or any lawful Heirs and Iſſues hereafter of his own Body begotten by any other his lawful Wife. And albeit that the Kings moſt excellent Majeſty, for default of ſuch Heirs as be inheritable by the ſaid Act, might by the authority of the ſaid Act give and diſpoſe the ſaid Imperial Crown, and other the premiſſes, by his Letters Patents under his Great Seal, or by his laſt Will in writing ſigned with his moſt gracious hand, to any perſon or perſons, of ſuch eſtate therein as ſhould pleaſe his Highneſs to limit and appoint: yet to the intent that his Majeſties diſpoſition and mind therein ſhould be openly declared and manifeſtly known, and notified as well to the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, as to all other his loving and obedient ſubjects of this his Realm, to the intent that their aſſent and conſent might appear to concur with thus far as followeth of his Majeſties declaration in this behalf: His Majeſty therefore thinketh convenient, afore his departure beyond the Seas, that it be enacted by his Highneſs, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, and therefore be it enacted by

The Kings intended voyage into France.

If the King and Prince Edward ſhall die without heirs of either of their bodies, then the Crown ſhall remain to the Lady Mary, &c.

The remainder to the Lady Elizabeth.

The eſtate of the Lady Mary tied with conditions.

Provided alway, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if the ſaid Lady Mary do not keep and perform ſuch conditions, which the Kings Majeſty ſhall hereafter by his Graces Letters Patents, ſealed under his Great Seal, or by his Majeſties laſt Will in writing, ſigned with his Highneſs hand, declare and limit to her ſaid eſtate, in the ſaid Imperial Crown, and other the premiſſes: That then and from thenceforth, for lack of Heirs of the ſeveral Bodies of the Kings Majeſty and the ſaid Prince Edward lawfully begotten, the ſaid Imperial Crown, and other the premiſſes, ſhall be and come to the ſaid Lady Elizabeth, and to the Heirs of her Body lawfully begotten, in ſuch like manner and form, as though the ſaid Lady Mary were then dead, without any Heir of her Body begotten, any thing in this Act contained to the contrary notwithſtanding.

The eſtate of the Lady Elizabeth tied with conditions.

Provided alway, and be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if the ſaid Lady Mary do keep and perform ſuch conditions, which the Kings Majeſty ſhall hereafter by his Graces Letters Patents, ſealed under his Great Seal, or by his Majeſties laſt Will in writing, ſigned with his Highneſs Hand, declare and limit to her ſaid eſtate, as is aforeſaid, and that the ſaid Lady Elizabeth, for her part do not keep and perform ſuch conditions, which the Kings Majeſty ſhall hereafter by his Graces Letters Patents, ſealed under his Great Seal, or by his Highneſs laſt Will in writing, ſigned with his moſt gracious Hand, declare and limit to her ſaid eſtate in form aforeſaid, That then and from thenceforth, for lack of Heirs of the ſeveral Bodies of the Kings Majeſty, the ſaid Lord Prince, and of the ſaid Lady Mary lawfully begotten, the ſaid Imperial Crown and other the premiſſes, ſhall be and come to ſuch perſon and perſons, and of ſuch eſtate and eſtates, as the Kings Highneſs by his Letters Patents, ſealed under his Great Seal, or by his laſt Will in writing, ſigned with his Majeſties Hand, ſhall limit and appoint.

A limitation of the Crown, if the Lady Mary do break her conditions, and the Lady Elizabeth die without iſſue.

Provided alway, That if the ſaid Lady Mary do not keep and perform ſuch conditions which ſhall be limited and appointed to her ſaid eſtate in the ſaid Imperial Crown, and other the premiſſes as is aforeſaid: and the ſaid Lady Elizabeth being then dead without any Heir of her Body lawfully begotten: that then and from thenceforth, for lack of Heirs of the ſeveral Bodies of the Kings Majeſty, and the ſaid Lord Prince, lawfully begotten, the ſaid Imperial Crown, and other the premiſſes, ſhall be, come and remain to ſuch perſon and perſons, and of ſuch eſtate and eſtates, as the Kings Highneſs by his Letters Patents, ſealed under his Great Seal, or by his laſt Will in writing, ſigned with his Majeſties Hand, ſhall limit and appoint.

The Eſtates of the Lady Mary and Elizabeth if the King limit no conditions.

Provided always, and be it enacted by authority aforeſaid, That in caſe the Kings Majeſty do not declare and limit by his Letters Patents, or by his laſt Will, in form as is aforeſaid, any condition to the eſtates and intereſts afore limited to the ſaid Lady Mary and Lady Elizabeth, nor to the ſtate or intereſt of any of them: That then every ſuch of the ſaid Lady Mary and Lady Elizabeth, to whoſe eſtate or intereſt no condition ſhall be limited by the Kings Majeſty in form aforeſaid, ſhall have and enjoy ſuch intereſt, eſtate and remainder in the ſaid Imperial Crown, and other the premiſſes, as is before limited by this Act, without any manner of condition: any thing in this preſent Act to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding.

And foraſmuch as it ſtandeth in the onely pleaſure and will of Almighty God, whether the Kings Majeſty ſhall have any Heirs begotten and procreated between his Highneſs and his ſaid moſt entirely beloved Wife Queen Katharine, or by any other his lawful Wife, or whether the ſaid Prince Edward ſhall have Iſſue of his Body lawfully begotten, or whether the Lady Mary and Lady Elizabeth, or any of them, ſhall have any Iſſue of any of their Bodies lawfully begotten, and if ſuch Heirs ſhould fail (which God defend) and no proviſion made in the Kings life, who ſhould rule and govern this Realm, for lack of ſuch Heirs, as in this preſent Act is afore mentioned: That then this Realm, after the Kings tranſitory life, & for lack of ſuch Heirs ſhould be deſtitute of a lawful Governour to order, rule & govern the ſame:

The King by his Will or Letters Patents may aſſure the reverſion or remainder of the Crown to ſuch perſon as he will.

Be it therefore enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That the Kings Highneſs ſhall have full power and authority to give, diſpoſe, appoint, aſſign, declare and limit by his gracious Letters Patents under his Great Seal, or elſe by his Highneſs laſt Will made in writing, and ſigned with his moſt gracious hand, at his onely pleaſure, from time to time hereafter, the Imperial Crown of this Realm, and all other the premiſſes, to be, remain, ſucceed, and come after his deceaſe, and for lack of lawful Heirs of either of the Bodies of the Kings Highneſs and Prince Edward begotten, and alſo for lack of lawful Heirs of the Bodies of the ſaid Lady Mary and Lady Elizabeth, to be procreated and begotten, as is afore limited in this Act, to ſuch perſon and perſons in remainder or reverſion, as ſhall pleaſe his Highneſs, and according to ſuch eſtate, and after ſuch manner and form, faſhion or condition, as ſhall be expreſſed, declared, named and limited in his Highneſs Letters Patents, or by his laſt Will in writing, ſigned with his moſt gracious Hand, as is aforeſaid: Any thing contained in this preſent Act, or in the ſaid former Act, to the contrary thereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

And for further corroboration of this preſent Act, and of the ſaid Act made in the ſaid eight and twentieth year of our ſaid Soveraign Lord, and alſo utterly to exclude the long uſurped power, authority and juriſdiction of the Biſhops of Rome, where in the ſaid Act made for the eſtabliſhment of the Kings Succeſſion, at the ſaid Parliament holden at Weſtminſter the eighth day of July, in the eight and twentieth year of the Kings Majeſties Reign, there is one oath limited in the ſaid Act, as in the ſaid Act amongſt other things appeareth.

And where alſo at the ſaid Parliament there was another Statute made and ordained againſt ſuch as would both extol and ſtand to the juriſdiction, power and authority of the See and Biſhop of Rome, in which Statute there is compriſed another oath, in ſuch wiſe as in the ſame Statute amongſt other things is mentioned. Foraſmuch as in both the ſaid oaths, mentioned in the ſaid ſeveral Acts, there lacketh full and ſufficient words, whereby ſome doubts might riſe: Therefore be it enacted by authority of this preſent Parliament, That from and after the laſt day of this Seſſion, all and every ſuch perſon and perſons, which be ordered and limited by the ſaid ſeveral Acts, to take the ſaid oaths mentioned in the ſame Acts, ſhall from thenceforth, in lieu and place of thoſe two oaths, take and ſwear this corporal oath, according to the tenor enſuing. And that they, which have already ſworn the other aforeſaid oaths, or any of them, ſhall take and eſteem it of the ſame effect and force, as though they had ſworn this. Which former oaths notwithſtanding, becauſe they be not ſo pithy to all effects, nor ſo plainly ſet forth as were convenient: Therefore be it enacted by authority of this preſent Parliament, that after this preſent Seſſion, the ſaid oaths ſpecified in the ſaid ſeveral Acts, ſhall not thereafter be miniſtred, nor any perſon hereafter be compelled to accept the ſame, and this oath hereafter mentioned in this Act, to ſtand in force and place of the ſaid two oaths.

They which have ſworn the foreſaid oaths ſhall eſteem them as if they had ſworn this.

I A. B. having now the vail of darkneſs of the uſurped power, authority and juriſdiction of the See and Biſhops of Rome clearly taken away from mine eyes, do utterly teſtifie and declare in my conſcience, that neither the See nor the Biſhop of Rome, nor any foreign Poteſtate, hath, nor ought to have any juriſdiction, power or authority within this Realm, neither by Gods Law, nor by any other juſt Law or means. And though by ſufferance and abuſe in times paſſed, they aforeſaid have uſurped and vindicated a fained and an unlawful power and juriſdiction within this Realm, which hath been ſupported till few years paſſed, therefore becauſe it might be deemed and thought thereby, that I took or take it for juſt and good, I therefore now do freely and clearly renounce, refuſe, relinquiſh and forſake that pretended authority, power and juriſdiction, both of the See and Biſhop of Rome, and of all other foreign Powers: And that I ſhall never conſent nor agree that the foreſaid See or Biſhop of Rome, or any of their ſucceſſors, ſhall practiſe, exerciſe, or have any manner of authority, juriſdiction or power within this Realm, or any other the Kings Realms or Dominions, nor any foreign Poteſtate, of what eſtate, degree or condition ſoever he be, but that I ſhall reſiſt the ſame at all times to the uttermoſt of my power: And that I ſhall bear faith, truth and true allegiance to the Kings Majeſty, and to his Heirs and Succeſſors, declared, or hereafter to be declared by the authority of the Act made in the Seſſion of the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter the fourteenth day of January, in the five and thirtieth year, and in the ſaid Act made in the eight and twentieth year of the Kings Majeſties Reign: And that I ſhall accept, repute and take the Kings Majeſty, his Heirs and Succeſſors (when they or any of them ſhall enjoy his place) to be the onely Supreme Head in earth, under God, of the Church of England and Ireland, and of all other his Highneſſes Dominions: And that with my body, cunning, wit, and uttermoſt of my power, without guile, fraud, or other undue mean, I ſhall obſerve, keep, maintain and defend all the Kings Majeſties Stiles, Titles and Rights, with the whole effects and contents of the Acts provided for the ſame, and all other Acts and Statutes made, or to be made within this Realm, in and for that purpoſe, and the derogation, extirpation and extinguiſhment of the uſurped and pretended authority, power and juriſdiction of the See and Biſhop of Rome, and all other foreign Poteſtates, as afore: And alſo as well the ſaid Statute made in the ſaid eight and twentieth year, as the Statute made in the ſaid Seſſion of the Parliament, holden the five and thirtieth year of the Kings Majeſties Reign, for eſtabliſhment and declaration of his Highneſs Succeſſion, and all Acts and Statutes made, and to be made in confirmation and corroboration of the Kings Majeſties Power and Supremacy in earth of the Church of England, and of Ireland, and of other the Kings Dominions, I ſhall alſo defend and maintain with my body and goods, and with all my wit and power, and this I ſhall do againſt all manner of perſons, of what eſtate, dignity, degree or condition they be, and in no wiſe do, nor attempt, nor to my power ſuffer, or know to be done or attempted, directly or indirectly, any thing or things privily or apertly to the let, hinderance, dammage or derogation of any of the ſaid Statutes, or of any part of them, by any manner of means, or for or by any manner of pretence. And in caſe any oath hath been made by me to any perſon or perſons in maintenance, defence or favour of the See and Biſhop of Rome, or his authority, juriſdiction or power, or againſt any the Statutes aforeſaid, I repute the ſame as vain and annihilate, and ſhall wholly and truly obſerve and keep this Oath. So help me God, all Saints, and the holy Evangeliſts.

The oath againſt the authority of the Biſhop of Rome, and for the maintenance of the title of the King and his Heirs.
REP. 8 & 9 P. & M. 8.

A former oath reputed vain and void by the party that ſweareth.

And it is alſo enacted by authority aforeſaid, That all and every perſon and perſons, Spiritual and Temporal, ſuing livery, reſtitution, or Ouſter le main, out of the Kings, his Heirs or Succeſſors hands, or doing any fealty to his Highneſs, his Heirs or Succeſſors, or which ſhall be ſworn to the King, his Heirs or Succeſſors, or that ſhall have any office, fee or rowme of the moſt gracious gift of the Kings Majeſty, his Heirs or Succeſſors, or ſhall be received in ſervice with his Grace, his Heirs or Succeſſors, ſhall make, take or receive the ſaid oath.

Who ſhall take this oath.

And that alſo all and every other Eccleſiaſtical perſon, at the time of his taking of Orders, and all and every other perſon, which ſhall be promoted or preferred to any degree of learning in any Univerſity within this his Realm, or other of the Kings Dominions, at the time of his or their promotion or preferment, or every of them ſhall make, take and receive the ſaid oath, by this Act ſet forth and declared, as is aforeſaid, before his or their Ordinary, or the Commiſſary of ſuch Univerſity. And that all and ſingular other the Kings Majeſties ſubjects, and reſiants within this his Graces Realm, and other his Majeſties Dominions, at his Highneſs will and pleaſure ſhall accept and take the ſame oath before ſuch Commiſſioner or Commiſſioners as his Highneſs ſhall appoint for the ſame.

It ſhall be high Treaſon to refuſe to take the aforeſaid oath. REP. 1 Ed. 6. 12. 1 M. 1.

And it is alſo enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any perſon or perſons, limited or commanded by the authority of this Act, to make and take the ſaid oath, or commanded by any other perſon or perſons authoriſed by the Kings Highneſs Commiſſion under his Great Seal, to make the ſaid oath, obſtinately refuſe that to do: That then every ſuch offence and contempt ſhall be high Treaſon, and the offenders thereof being lawfully convicted ſhall ſuffer pains of death, and other forfeitures, penalties and loſſes as is limited and accuſtomed in caſes of high Treaſon, by any Laws or Statutes of this Realm, heretofore had or made in any wiſe concerning the ſame.

The penalty for doing any thing to the interruption of this Act, or of any eſtate limited thereby.

And be it further enacted by authority aforeſaid, That if any perſon or perſons, of what eſtate, degree, dignity, or condition ſoever they be, at any time hereafter, by words, writing, imprinting, or by any exterior act or deed, maliciouſly or wittingly procure or do, or cauſe to be procured or done directly or indirectly, any thing or things, to or for the interruption, repeal, or annullation of this Act, or of any thing therein contained, or of any thing that ſhall be done by the Kings Highneſs, in the limitation and diſpoſition of his Majeſties Crown, and other the premiſſes, by authority of the ſame, or to the peril, ſlander or diſinheriſon of any the Iſſues and Heirs of the Kings Majeſty, being limited by this Act, to inherit, and to be inheritable to the Crown of this Realm, in ſuch form as is aforeſaid, or to the interruption or diſheriſon of any perſon or perſons, to whom the Imperial Crown of this Realm, and other the premiſſes, is aſſigned, limited and appointed by this Act, or ſhall be by the Kings Majeſties Letters Patents under his Highneſs Great Seal, or by his laſt Will in writing, ſigned with his moſt gracious Hand, limited and diſpoſed by the authority of this Act, as is aforeſaid, whereby any ſuch Iſſues or Heirs of the Kings Majeſty, or ſuch other perſon or perſons, might be deſtroyed, diſturbed or interrupted in Body or Title of the inheritance of the Crown of this Realm, as to them is limited in this Act, in form above rehearſed, or as to them ſhall be limited or aſſigned by the Kings Highneſs, by vertue and authority of this Act: that then every ſuch perſon and perſons, of what eſtate, degree or condition ſoever he or they be, and their aiders, counſellers, maintainers and abettors, and every of them, for every ſuch offence afore declared, ſhall be adjudged high Traitors, and that every ſuch offence afore ſpecified, ſhall be adjudged high Treaſon, and the offendors therein, their aiders, counſellers, maintainers and abettors, and every of them, being lawfully convict of any ſuch offence, after the laws and cuſtoms of this Realm, ſhall ſuffer pains of death, and loſſes and forfeitures, as in caſes of high Treaſon.

Saving alway to every perſon and perſons, and bodies politick, to their heirs, aſſigns, and ſucceſſors, and to the heirs and ſucceſſors of every of them (other then ſuch perſons as ſhall be ſo convict or attainted, and their heirs and ſucceſſors, and all other claiming to their uſes) all ſuch right, title, uſe, intereſt, poſſeſſion, condition, rents, fees, offices, annuities and commons, which they or any of them ſhall have, in or upon any ſuch manors, lands, tenements, rents, annuities, or hereditaments, that ſhall ſo happen to be loſt and forfeit by reaſon of any conviction or attainder for any the treaſons and offences above rehearſed, at any time before the ſaid treaſons and offences committed. CAP. II.

Where and before whom Treaſons committed out of the Realm ſhall be tried.

FOraſmuch as ſome doubts and queſtions have been moved, That certain kinds of treaſons, miſpriſions and concealments of treaſons, done, perpetrated or committed out of the Kings Majeſties Realm of England, and other his Graces Dominions, cannot, ne may by the Common Laws of this Realm be inquired of, heard and determined within this his ſaid Realm of England: For a plain remedy, order and declaration therein to be had and made: Be it enacted by authority of this preſent Parliament, That all manner of offences, being already made and declared, or hereafter to be made or declared, by any the Laws and Statutes of this Realm, to be treaſons, miſpriſions of treaſons, or concealments of treaſons, and done, perpetrated or committed, or hereafter to be done, perpetrated or committed by any perſon or perſons, out of this Realm of England, ſhall be from henceforth inquired of, heard and determined before the Kings Juſtices of his Bench, for pleas to be holden before himſelf, by good lawful men of the ſame Shire, [a] where the ſaid Bench ſhall ſit and be kept, or elſe before ſuch Commiſſioners, and in ſuch Shire of the Realm, as ſhall be aſſigned by the Kings Majeſties Commiſſion, and by good and lawful men of the ſame Shire, in like manner and form to all intents and purpoſes, as if ſuch treaſons, miſpriſions of treaſons, or concealments of treaſons had been done, perpetrated and committed within the ſame [b] Shire, where they ſhall be ſo enquired of, heard and determined, as is aforeſaid.

Where and before whom treaſons committed out of the Realm ſhall be tried.

The Kings Style ſhall be, Henry the Eighth, by the Grace of God, King of England, France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, and of the Church of England, and alſo of Ireland, in earth the Supreme Head: which Style ſhall be united and annexed for ever unto the Imperial Crown of this Realm of England. CAP. IV.

Remedy to repair decaied Houſes in certain Towns of England and Wales.

FOraſmuch as in times paſt divers and many beautiful houſes of habitation have been within the walls and liberties of the Town of Shrewſbury, in the County of Salop, the City of Cheſter in the County of Cheſter, the Town of Ludlow in the County of Salop, Haverford-weſt in the County of Haverford in South-Wales, the Town of Pembroke-tenby in the County of Pembroke, the Town of Caermarthen in the County of Caermarthen, the Town of Mountgomery in the County of Mountgomery, Cardiff, Swaneſs, Cowbridge, new Radnor and Preſtend in the County of Radnor, the Town of Brecknock in the County of Brecknock, and the Town of Monmouth in the County of Monmouth, the Town of Maldon in the County of Eſſex, the Town of Abargaveny, Uſk, Carlion and Newport in the County of Monmouth, the Towns of Lancaſter, Preſton, Lyrepole and Wygan in the County Palatine of Lancaſter, which now are fallen down, decaied, and at this time remain unre-edified, lying as deſolate and void grounds, and many of them adjoyning nigh unto the high ſtreets repleniſhed with much ordure, filth and uncleanneſs, with pits, cellars, and vaults lying open and uncovered, to the great peril and danger of all the inhabitants, and other the Kings ſubjects paſſing by the ſame: and ſome houſes be very weak and feeble, ready to fall down, and be very dangerous to paſs by, to the decay and hinderance of the ſaid City, Boroughs and Towns.

It may therefore be enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons of this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That if any perſon or perſons, or bodies politick, being owners or poſſeſſioners of any ſuch deſolate or void grounds, that at any time within five and fourty years next before the making of this Act, have been builded for houſes of habitation, or for any houſe or houſes of habitation now or hereafter being in decay and not fully fallen down, within the liberties and precincts of any of the ſaid Boroughs, Towns, and places, do not ſufficiently re-edifie, build and repair, or cauſe to be re-edified, builded and repaired the ſaid deſolate void ground and decayed houſes, convenient for habitation and dwelling, within two years next after proclamation to be made in or upon the ſame void ground or grounds, decaied houſe or houſes, by the Mayor, Aldermen, Bailiffs and Burgeſſes, or other head officers, within the precincts of their own authorities: that then it ſhall be lawful for the chief Lord or Lords immediate, of whom ſuch deſolate and void grounds, decaied and ruinous houſes be holden, after the ſaid two years be expired, to enter into the ſame, and to have the ſame grounds or houſes, with the curtilage, back ſide, garden and orchard adjoyning to the ſame, if they be of the inheritance of the owner or owners of the ſaid decaied houſe or ground, and exceed not one acre of ground to them and to their heirs or ſucceſſors, to their own proper uſe for ever: ſo that the ſaid Lord or Lords immediate, entring by the authority of this Act, do ſufficiently re-edifie, build or repair the ſaid void ground or decaied houſes, within two years and an half next and immediately following the determination of the foreſaid firſt two years.

If the owner of a decayed houſe do not re-edifie it within three years after proclamation, the Lord of the fee may enter.

And in caſe ſuch Lord and Lords, as may enter by this Act, do not enter, and well and ſufficiently re-edifie, build or repair the ſame void grounds or decaied houſes within the ſaid two years and a half, to them limited by this Act: or if ſuch Lord or Lords immediate, as may enter by this Act, do ſufficiently re-edifie, build and repair the ſame void grounds or decaied houſes within the ſaid two years and a half to them limited, and after they, their heirs or ſucceſſors ſuffer the ſame houſes or void grounds to fall in ruine and decay, and do not build or re-edifie the ſame ſufficiently within two years and an half of ſuch ruine and decay: that then it ſhall be lawful to all perſon or perſons, or bodies politick, as ſhall then have any rent charge joyntly or ſeverally going out of the ſaid void ground or grounds, or decaied houſe or houſes, in any of the ſaid City, Boroughs, Towns or places, immediately after the ſaid two years and an half expired, to enter into the ſame, and to have to ſuch of them, their heirs and ſucceſſors, to their own proper uſe, as ſhall ſo build the ſaid void grounds or decaied houſes by authority of this Act, the ſame void ground or houſes, with the curtilage, back ſide, garden and orchard adjoyning to the ſame (if they be of the inheritance of the owner or owners of the ſaid decaied houſe or ground, and exceed not the quantity of one acre of ground) diſcharged of all rents going out of the ſame grounds or houſes, as well againſt the ſaid Lord and Lords immediate, as all other perſon or perſons, or bodies politick, having any rent, or rents charges, rent ſeck out of the ſame, other then the fee-farm of the ſaid City, Borough, Town or place, or ſame parcel thereof: ſo that the ſaid perſon or perſons, or bodies politick, having the ſaid rent charge, entring by the authority of this Act, do ſufficiently re-edifie, build and repair the ſame deſolate and void ground or grounds, or decaied houſe or houſes, within one year and three quarters next and immediately following the determination of the ſaid two years and an half, to the ſaid Lord or Lords immediately appointed by this Act.

REP. 1 Edw. 6. 12.

CAP. VI.

What kind of Jurors ſhall appear upon a Niſi prius, &c.

Foraſmuch as the Iſſues joyned in every action, ſuit and demand between party and party at the Common Law, are by the Laws of this Realm for the moſt part tried, and triable by the verdict of twelve men, wherein is daily ſeen great delay, partly for lack of apparance of the perſons returned to try ſuch Iſſues. The occaſion whereof cometh by reaſon of maintenance, imbracery, ſiniſter labour, and corrupt demeanors, and partly by reaſon of the challenges of the parties to the Jury or Jurors ſo returned, to the great coſts, charges and hinderance of the parties to the ſaid actions, ſuits and demands, and to the great delay and hinderance of Juſtice.

For reformation whereof, and for the more expedition of Juſtice hereafter to be had in ſuch manner trial of Iſſues:

Be it enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That in every caſe, where ſuch perſons as ſhould paſs upon the trial of any Iſſue joyned in any of the Kings Courts of Record, commonly holden at Weſtminſter, ought by the Law to diſpend fourty ſhillings by the year, of freehold for term of life: that the writs of Venire facias, which from and after the firſt day of April next coming, ſhall be awarded and directed for the impannelling of ſuch perſons as ſhall try the ſame Iſſue, ſhall be in this form. Rex, &c. Præcipimus, &c. quod venire fac. coram, &c. xii. liberos & legales homines de vicenato de B. Quorum quilibet habeat quadraginta ſolidat. terræ, tenement. vel reddit. per annum ad minus, per quos rei veritas melius ſciri poterit: Et qui nec, &c. And ſo forth the reſidue of the ſaid writ after yͤ antient form. And in every caſe, where it is not requiſite, that the perſons that ſhall paſs upon the trial of any Iſſue joyned in any of the Kings Courts aforeſaid, ſhall diſpend fourty ſhillings by the year of freehold: that then the writ of Venire facias, that ſhall be awarded after the ſaid firſt day of April, ſhall be made after the form aforeſaid, omitting this clauſe, Quorum quilibet habeat quadraginta ſolidat. terræ ten. vel reddit, per annum ad minus. And that upon every ſuch writ and writs of Venire facias, that ſhall have the ſaid clauſe, Quorum quilibet, &c. the Sheriff, or other miniſter or miniſters, to whom the making of the pannel ſhall appertain, ſhall not return in any ſuch pannel any perſon, unleſs he may diſpend xl. s. by the year at the leaſt, of eſtate of freehold out of antient demean within the County where the Iſſue is to be tried. And alſo ſhall return in every ſuch pannel upon the ſame Venire facias, ſix ſufficient Hundredors at the leaſt, if there be ſo many Hundredors within the ſaid Hundred where the Venew lieth, upon pain to forfeit for every perſon being returned in any ſuch panel, that cannot diſpend fourty ſhillings by the year, as is aforeſaid, twenty ſhillings. And for every Hundredor, that ſhall be omitted in ſuch return of the number aforeſaid, xx. ſhillings. And in every writ of Venire facias, wherein the ſaid clauſe, Quorum quilibet, &c. ſhall be omitted, the Sheriff, or other miniſter or miniſters, to whom the making of the panel ſhall appertain, ſhall not return in any ſuch pannel any perſon, unleſs he may diſpend ſome lands or tenements of eſtate of freehold out of ancient demean, within the County where the Iſſue is to be tried. And alſo ſhall return in every ſuch pannel upon the ſame Venire facias, ſix ſufficient Hundredors at the leaſt, if there be ſo many Hundredors within the ſaid Hundred where the Venew lieth, upon like pain as is aforeſaid.

The form of a Venire facias, where each Juror muſt diſpend fourty ſhillings yearly, and where be need not. 27 Eliz. 6.

Six Hundredors ſhall be returned by the Sheriff.

What Iſſues ſhall be returned upon Jurors. Stat. 27 El. 6.

And furthermore, be it enacted by authority aforeſaid, That upon every ſuch writ of Habeas corpora or Diſtringas, with a Niſi prius, delivered of record to the Sheriff, or other miniſter or miniſters, to whom the making of the return ſhall appertain, the ſaid Sheriff, and other miniſter and minſters, ſhall from and after the ſaid firſt day of April, return the Iſſues upon every perſon, impannelled and returned upon any ſuch writ, at the leaſt five ſhillings. And at the ſecond writ of Habeas corpora, or Diſtringas, with a Niſi prius, upon every perſon impannelled and returned, upon any ſuch writ, ten ſhillings at the leaſt. And at the third writ of Habeas corpora or Diſtringas, with a Niſi prius, that ſhall be further awarded upon every perſon impannelled and returned upon any ſuch writ, thirteen ſhillings four pence. And upon every writ that ſhall be further awarded to try any ſuch Iſſue, to double the Iſſues laſt afore ſpecified, until a full Jury be ſworn, or the proceſs otherwiſe ceſſed or determined upon pain to forfeit for every return to be made contrary to the form aforeſaid, five pounds.

And for a more ſpeedy trial of Iſſues to be tried by the verdict of twelve men, hereafter to be had,

Tales de Circumſtantibus, at the plaintiffs requeſt. Stat. 5 El. 25.

Be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That in every ſuch writ of Habeas corpora or Diſtringas, with a Niſi prius, where a full Jury ſhall not appear before the Juſtices of Aſſiſes or Niſi prius, or elſe after apparance of a full Jury, by challenge of any of the parties the Jury is like to remain untaken for default of Jurors: That then the ſame Juſtices upon requeſt made by the party plaintiff or defendant, ſhall have authority by vertue of this Act, to command the Sheriff, or other miniſter or miniſters, to whom the making of the ſaid return ſhall appertain, to [a] name and appoint as often as need ſhall require, ſo many of ſuch other able perſons of the ſaid County then preſent at the ſaid Aſſiſes or Niſi prius, as ſhall make up a full Jury, which perſons ſo to be named and impannelled by ſuch Sheriff or other miniſter or miniſters, ſhall be added to the former pannel, and their names annexed to the ſame.

Challenges of the Tales.

And that every of the parties ſhall and may have his or their challenge to the Jurors ſo named, added and annexed to the ſaid former pannel by the ſaid Sheriff, or other miniſter or miniſters, in ſuch wiſe as if they had been impannelled upon the Venire facias, awarded to try the ſaid Iſſue. And that the ſaid Juſtices ſhall and may proceed to the trial of every ſuch Iſſue with thoſe perſons that were before impannelled and returned, and with thoſe newly added [b] and annexed to the ſaid former pannel by vertue of this Act, in ſuch wiſe as they might or ought to have done, if all the ſaid Jurors had been returned upon the writ of Venire facias, awarded to try the ſaid Iſſue.

And that all and every ſuch trial, had after the firſt day of April, ſhall be as good and effectual in the Law, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as if ſuch trial had been had and tried by twelve of the Jurors impannelled and returned upon the writ of Venire facias, awarded to try ſuch Iſſue.

And in caſe ſuch perſons as the ſaid Sheriff, miniſter or miniſters ſhall name and appoint, as is aforeſaid, or any of them, after they ſhall be called, be preſent and do not appear, or after his or their apparance, do wilfully withdraw him or themſelves from the preſence of the Court. That then ſuch Juſtices ſhall and may ſet ſuch fine upon every ſuch Juror making default, or wilfully withdrawing himſelf, as is aforeſaid, as they ſhall think good by their diſcretion, the ſaid fine to be levied in ſuch manner and form as Iſſues forfeited and loſt by Jurors, for default of their apparance at the Common Law, have been accuſtomed to be levied.

The Jurors making default ſhall loſe Iſſue.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That where any Jury that ſhall be returned by the Sheriff, or other miniſter or miniſters, ſhall be made full by the commandment of the ſaid Juſtices, by vertue of this preſent Act, that yet nevertheleſs ſuch perſons, as were returned in the ſaid pannel by the Sheriff, or other miniſter or miniſters, to try any ſuch Iſſue that ſhall not appear, but make default, ſhall loſe the Iſſues upon them returned, in ſuch wiſe, as though the ſame Jury had remained for default of Jurors.

Dis. Iſſ. 80.

Jurors ſhall be diſcharged of Iſſues upon cauſe.

Provided alway, and be it enacted, That upon a reaſonable excuſe, for the default of apparance of any Juror or Jurors ſufficiently proved before the Juſtices of Aſſiſe or Niſi prius, at the day of their appearance by the oaths of two lawful and honeſt witneſſes, that the ſame Juſtices ſhall have authority by their diſcretions to diſcharge every ſuch Juror of every ſuch forfeiture of Iſſues upon him returned. And that the Sheriff and Sheriffs, or other miniſter or miniſters, having commandment by the ſaid Juſtices to omit the returning of ſuch Iſſues as is aforeſaid, upon ſuch Juror or Jurors, ſhall be therein diſcharged of the penalties aforeſaid, for the not returning of the ſaid Iſſues, and that yet notwithſtanding the ſaid return to be good and effectual in the Law, any law, uſage or cuſtom to the contrary notwithſtanding.

Iſſues diſcharged by the not coming of the Juſtices.

Provided alſo, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if the ſaid Juſtices, afore whom any ſuch Jury ſhould appear in the County, where ſuch Iſſue is to be tried by vertue of a writ of Niſi prius, do not come at the day and place appointed, but that the Aſſiſe or Niſi prius for that time ſhall be diſcontinued for not coming of the ſaid Juſtices, or for any other occaſion, other then by default and lack of Jurors: that then every one of the ſame Jurors ſhall be diſcharged for forfeiting of any Iſſues upon him returned in the ſame writ. And the Sheriff, or other miniſter or miniſters, ſhall be likewiſe diſcharged of the penalties of this eſtatute for the not returning of ſuch Iſſues, as are before limited in this Act, any article or ſentence herein contained to the contrary notwithſtanding.

Iſſues returned upon a Jury not lawfully ſummoned.

And be it alſo further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if upon any ſuch writ of Habeas corpora or Diſtringas, with a Niſi prius, Iſſues be returned upon any Hundredors, Juror or Jurors, by the Sheriff or other miniſter or miniſters, to whom the execution of the ſame writ or writs ſhall appertain, whereas the ſame Hundredors and Jurors ſhall not be lawfully ſummoned, warned or diſtrained in that behalf: that then every ſuch Sheriff or other miniſter or miniſters aforeſaid, ſhall loſe for every ſuch offence ſo committed, double ſo much as the Iſſues returned upon ſuch Hundredors or Jurors not lawfully ſummoned, warned or diſtrained, ſhall amount unto: the moiety of all which forfeitures contained in this preſent Act, other then the Iſſues to be returned upon the Jurors, as is aforeſaid, ſhall be to the King our Sovereign Lord, and the other half to him that will ſue for the ſame by action of debt, bill, plaint, or information in any of the Kings competent Courts, in which no wager of law, eſſoin or protection ſhall be allowed, ne admitted.

The right of others to Iſſues forfeited, ſaved.

Saving to all manner of perſons, and bodies politick and corporate, their heirs and ſucceſſors, having lawful right, title and intereſt to have ſuch Iſſues, to be before any ſuch Juſtices of Aſſiſe or Niſi prius, at any time or times hereafter loſt and forfeited, all ſuch right, title and intereſt, as they or any of them ſhould or might have had to any ſuch Iſſues, to be loſt and forfeited, as though this Act had never been had or made.

This Act ſhall not extend to any Sheriff or miniſter of a Town Corporate.

Provided alſo, That this Act, nor any thing therein contained, ſhall not extend to any City or Town corporate, or to any Sheriff, miniſter or miniſters in the ſame, for the return of any Inqueſt or Panel to be made and returned of perſons inhabiting in the ſaid Cities or Towns Corporate, but that they, and every of them, ſhall and may return ſuch perſons in every ſuch Inqueſt or Panel, as before this time they might and have been accuſtomed to do, and as if this Act had never been had or made: ſo that the ſame Sheriff, miniſter or miniſters, return upon ſuch perſons as ſhall be impannelled, like Iſſues as are before mentioned in this Act, any thing in the ſame contained to the contrary notwithſtanding. CAP. X.

The Mayor and Commonalty, &c. at all times needful may make and amend Conduits in and about London.

Foraſmuch as it is very commodious, neceſſary and profitable to all Cities, Towns and habitations, to have ſweet and wholeſome running waters, and freſh ſprings to ſerve the ſame for their buſineſſes and neceſſaries, and ſpecially within great Towns and Cities, to be conveyed by Conduits and Fountains, whereunto requireth abundance of copioſity, for the ſerving of inhabitants of the ſame, whereof the City of London hath been before this time well furniſhed, and abundantly ſerved, till that now of late, that either for faintneſs of the ſprings, or for the drineſs of the earth, the accuſtomed courſe of the waters, coming from the old ſprings and ancient heads, are ſore decayed, diminiſhed and abated, and daily more and more be like to appeire and fail, to the great diſcommodity and diſpleaſure, both of the citizens and inhabitants within the ſaid City and ſuburbs thereof, and to all other perſons having recourſe to the ſame, to the great decay of the ſame City, if ſpeedy recourſe the ſooner be not therein had, foreſeen and provided. For remedy whereof, Sir William Bowyer Knight, now Mayor of the ſaid City, intending and pondering the ſame neceſſity, much willing to help and relieve the ſaid City and ſuburbs with new fountains and freſh ſprings, for the commodity of the Kings ſaid ſubjects, calling to him as well divers grave and expert perſons of his brethren, and other of the Commonalty of the ſaid City, as other perſons, in and about the conveyance of water well experimented, hath not onely by diligent ſearch and exploration, found out divers great and plentiful ſprings, at Hamſted-heath, Maribone, Hackney, Muſwel-hill, and divers places within five miles of the ſaid City, very meet, propiſe and convenient to be brought and conveyed to the ſame, but alſo hath laboured, ſtudied and deviſed the conveyance thereof by conduits, vaults and pipes to the ſaid City, and otherwiſe, to his great travel, labour and pain, and alſo to the great charges and coſts of the Citizens of the ſaid City: which good and profitable purpoſe cannot ſort to concluſion, nor take good effect, without the aid and conſent of the Kings Majeſty, and of his high Court of Parliament. Wherefore may it pleaſe the Kings Majeſty, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, to eſtabliſh and enact, That it ſhall be lawful to the Mayor and Commonalty of the ſaid City of London for the time being, and to their ſucceſſors, aſſigns and ſervants, at all and every time and times hereafter, to enter into the grounds and poſſeſſions, as well of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King, his Heirs and Succeſſors, as of every other perſon and perſons, bodies politick and corporate, where they ſhall find or know any ſuch ſprings to be, or may be found for the intent aboveſaid, (ſo that if it be not into their houſes, gardens, orchards, or places incloſed within ſtone, brick, or mud-walls) and there to dig pits, trenches and ditches, to erect heads, lay pipes, and make vaults, and to do all and every ſuch things in the ſame places and grounds which ſhall be meet, propiſe, and neceſſary onely for the conveyance of the ſaid water and ſprings to the City, and the ſuburbs of the ſame, and alſo to have free ingreſs, egreſs and regreſs in and to all ſuch places, where ſuch heads, pipes or vaults ſhall be erected, laid or made, to view and ſee from time to time the ſaid heads, pipes, ſuſpirals and vaults, and them to amend, repair, tranſlate, and to do all things neceſſary and convenient, as well for the finding of new ſprings, as for the conveyance of any water or ſprings now found or hereafter to be found, to the City and ſuburbs aforeſaid, without interruption, let or impediment of the owners of the ground, their leſſees, aſſigns or miniſters, or any other perſon.

The Mayor of London may dig in any perſons ground, and lay pipes, and erect heads to convey water into the City, &c.

And further be it enacted by the ſaid authority, That the ſaid Mayor and his ſucceſſors, and every of them, for the digging and breaking of any ſuch ſoil or ground, in any place or places, for the intent and purpoſe aforeſaid, ſhall within the ſpace of one month next after any ſuch ground ſhall be broken by the miniſters or workmen of the ſaid Mayor or his ſucceſſors, or their aſſigns, for the intents and purpoſes aforeſaid, ſatisfie, content and pay unto the owners or poſſeſſioners of the ſaid ſoil or ground, ſo broken or digged, as much money for the ſame digging and breaking, as ſhall be adjudged and taxed by the determination and judgment of three or four indifferent men, to be aſſigned by the Lord Chancellor of England, for the time being, by vertue of the Kings Commiſſion from time to time to them directed at the coſts of the ſaid Mayor and Commonalty, and that to be uſed for evermore hereafter. And that all ſuch ſums as after the ſaid time ſhall be taxed by the ſaid three or four men, by vertue of the ſaid Commiſſion, for ſatisfaction of any ſuch breaking and defacing of the ground, ſhall be paid and ſatisfied to the poſſeſſioner or poſſeſſioners, owner or owners of the ſaid grounds, or to their miniſter, aſſigns or officers by the ſaid Mayor or his ſucceſſors for the time being, within ten days next after the ſaid taxation or judgment ſo made and adjudged, upon pain the ſaid Mayor or ſucceſſors, ſo denying or refuſing the paiment thereof, for every ſuch offence to forfeit xlij. s. iv. d. over and above the ſum ſo to be aſſeſſed: the one half of which forfeiture to be to the King our Sovereign Lord, his Heirs and Succeſſors, and the other moiety to the party grieved that will ſue for the ſame in any of the Kings Courts of Record, by action of debt, bill, plaint, information, or otherwiſe, in which action, bill or plaint, no wager of law, protection or eſſoin ſhall lie. And nevertheleſs the party, whoſe ground hereafter ſhall be ſo broken or digged, for non-paiment of all ſuch ſums of money, as by the ſaid three or four men for the time being ſhall be taxed and adjudged, ſhall have an action of debt againſt the ſaid Mayor or his ſucceſſors, by whoſe commandment any ſuch ground ſhall be ſo broken, in any of the Kings Courts of Record, for the recovery of the ſame debt ſo taxed, in which action, no wager of law, protection nor eſſoin ſhall lie.

The Mayor, &c. of London ſhall make recompence to the owners of the ground digged.

A remedy for the party whoſe ground is broken to recover the money taxed againſt the Mayor, &c.

And if it ſhall happen that the ſaid three or four men ſo named by the ſaid Lord Chancellor, in form aforeſaid, do not, nor ſhall not agree in making any ſuch taxation for any digging, trenching, or breaking of ſuch ground within the ſaid time to them limited, or that the ſaid Mayor or his ſucceſſors for the time being, do not offer or tender to the party ſo grieved a reaſonable amends and ſatisfaction for the breaking, digging or trenching his or their ſaid ground: that then the party or parties ſo grieved, and whoſe land or ſoil ſhall be ſo hereafter ſubverted and broken, ſhall have his lawful remedy againſt the ſaid Mayor and his ſucceſſors, by whoſe commandment any ſuch ſoil or ground ſhall be for the purpoſe aforeſaid digged or broken, by action of treſpaſs, and to recover damages for the ſame, any thing in this preſent Act contained to the contrary notwithſtanding.

Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if the ſaid Mayor, his ſucceſſors, officers, miniſters or workmen, ſhall be interrupted, moleſted or pro-

No water may be conveyed away that is brought to any perſons houſe.

Provided alſo, and be it enacted, That it ſhall not be lawful to the ſaid Mayor nor Commonalty, nor to their ſucceſſors, or miniſters to take away any water or ſpring, now brought, or that hereafter ſhall be brought or conveyed by pipes, or trenches, to the manſion of any perſon or perſons for the neceſſary uſe of their houſhold: nor that any perſon or perſons, by any way, deceit, mean, or other crafty conveyance, ſhall undermine, miniſh, withdraw, or abate any ſpring or ſprings found, or hereafter to be found, now brought or conveyed, or at any time hereafter to be conveyed, fetched, had and brought to the ſaid City, whereby the water ſhall be miniſhed, ſtopped, abated, or otherwiſe altered from his due courſe and conveyance, upon pain to forfeit to the party grieved treble damages, the ſame to be recovered againſt the party offending, by action or plaint of debt in any of the Kings Courts, in the which no protection, eſſoign, nor wager of Law to be allowed.

CAP. V.

What perſons ſhall paſs upon tryal of an Attaint in London, and where the ſame ſhall be tryed.

Where the Kings Juſtices ſhall take Inquiſitions in London.

Humbly beſeechen your moſt excellent Majeſty your obedient ſubjects, the Mayor and Commonalty of your City of London, That whereas amongſt divers and ſundry liberties and franchiſes, granted by your moſt noble Progenitors to the City of London, for divers reaſonable reſpects and conſiderations in their Charters expreſſed and mentioned, one liberty is, That all Inquiſitions to be taken by the Juſtices and Miniſters of your Highneſs, of the Citizens of London, ſhall be taken at St. Martin the Grand, or at the Guild-hall of the ſaid City of London, and not elſewhere, except Inquiſitions before the Juſtices in Eyre at the Tower of London, and for delivery of the Gaol of Newgate, as in the Charters of your ſaid Noble Progenitors, to the ſaid Citizens of London granted, and by your Majeſty confirmed, plainly appeareth. Which liberties the ſame Citizens have continually ſince the ſaid grants thereof to them made, exerciſed, uſed and enjoyed accordingly, as by divers matters of Record in your High Courts of Weſtminſter evidently appeareth.

23 H. 8. 5.

And where alſo an Act of Parliament concerning Perjury and puniſhment of untrue Verdicts, was made and eſtabliſhed in the xxiij. year of your moſt gracious Reign, amongſt other then and there made and ordained, that upon every untrue Verdict made after the ſaid Act between party and party, in any ſuit, plaint or demand made, and verdict thereupon given, extending to the value of xl. l. and not concerning the jeopardy of mans life, the party grieved by the ſame verdict ſhall have a writ of attaint againſt every perſon which after the ſaid Act would give an untrue verdict: And that in the ſaid attaint there ſhould be awarded againſt the petit Jury, the party, and the grand Jury proceſs of Sum' Reſum' and diſtreſs infinite: which grand Jury ſhould be in like number as the grand Jury is now in attaint, and that every of them that ſhall paſs in the ſame, ſhall have lands and tenements of the value of xx. marks by the year of free-hold, out of ancient demean. And alſo it was then further enacted and eſtabliſhed, That all attaints afterwards to be taken, ſhould be taken before your Majeſty in your Bench, or afore your Juſtices of your Common Place, and in none other Court: And that the Niſi prius ſhould be granted by the diſcretion of the Juſtices upon the diſtreſs.

And foraſmuch as the ſaid Act cannot be duly put in execution by the Citizens of the ſaid City for lack of ſufficient perſons, having lands and tenements to the clear yearly value of xx. marks, out of antient demean, according to the tenor of the ſaid Act, and alſo that the apparance of the ſaid Citizens, to be had out of the ſaid City, is againſt the liberties and franchiſes of the ſame City, and no promiſe made within the ſaid Act for the ſame Citizens to enjoy their antient liberties and priviledges before rehearſed. It may therefore pleaſe your Majeſty, of your moſt abundant grace, to condeſcend, That it may be enacted by your Highneſs, and by the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by authority of the ſame, That all and every manner perſon and perſons, being Citizens of your ſaid City, and being in value of goods and cattels to the ſum of CCCC. marks, may be impanelled and returned by the Sheriff of your ſaid City in every attaint hereafter to be brought by vertue of the ſaid eſtatute, upon verdicts hereafter to be given by your ſaid Citizens without any challenge for the inſufficiency of freehold of any of them, to be made by any of the ſaid parties, in any ſuch attaint, upon ſuch verdicts hereafter to be given. And that the Juſtices for the time being, ſhall ſit onely at the Guild-hall of the ſame City, or at ſome convenient place within the ſame City, & there to ſwear the Grand Jury, and to take the verdicts in ſuch attaints hereafter to be taken. And that the ſaid Citizens hereafter be not compelled nor diſtrained to appear in any ſuch attaint, hereafter to be taken upon any untrue verdict given, or hereafter to be given in London, but onely within the limits of the ſaid City, of and for the trial of the ſame: the ſaid former Act, or any thing therein contained to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

Of what eſtate thoſe perſons muſt be which ſhall paſs upon an attaint in London. 11 H. 7. 21.

Trial of attaints in London ſhall be in London, notwithſtanding the Statute of 23 H. 8. 3.

CAP. VI.

Burning of a frame of Timber prepared for the building of an houſe, &c. made felony.

Where divers and ſundry malicious and envious perſons, being men of evil and perverſe diſpoſitions, and ſeduced by the inſtigation of the Devil, and minding the hurt, undoing and impoveriſhment of divers of the Kings true and faithful ſubjects, as enemies to the Commonwealth of this Realm, and as no true or obedient ſubjects unto the Kings Majeſty, of their malicious and wicked minds, have of late invented and practiſed a new damnable kind of vice, diſpleaſure and damnifying of the Kings true ſubjects, and the Commonwealth of this Realm, as in ſecret burning of frames of timber prepared and made by the owners thereof, ready to be ſet up and edified for houſes, cutting out of heads and dams of pools, motes, ſtews, and ſeveral waters: cutting of conduit-heads, or conduit-pipes: burning of wains and carts loaden with coals or other goods: burning of heaps of wood, cut, felled and prepared for making of coals: cutting out of beaſts tongues: cutting off the ears of the Kings ſubjects: barking of apple-trees, pear-trees, and other fruit-trees: and divers other like kinds of miſerable offences, to the great diſpleaſure of Almighty God, and of the Kings Majeſty, and to the moſt evil and pernicious example that hath been ſeen in this Realm.

Several new and wicked devices tending to the damnifying of others.

For remedy whereof, be it enacted by authority of this preſent Parliament, That if any perſon or perſons, at any time after the firſt day of May next enſuing, maliciouſly, unlawfully, willingly and ſecretly burn, or cauſe to be burned, cut, or cauſe to be cut or deſtroyed any frame or frames of timber of any other perſon or perſons, made and prepared, or hereafter to be made or prepared, for or towards the making of any houſe or houſes, ſo that the ſame ſhall not be able for the purpoſe for the which it was prepared: that then every ſuch act and acts ſo to be committed, perpetrated and done by any perſon or perſons, ſhall be deemed and adjudged felony, and the offendor or offendors therein being lawfully convicted or attainted, ſhall have and ſuffer pains of death, and ſhall loſe and forfeit goods and cattels for ever, and the profits of their lands, tenements and hereditaments for term of his life or their lives.

It ſhall be felony unlawfully and ſecretly to burn or cut a frame of timber prepared for the making a houſe. KEP. 1 Ed. 6. 12. 1 M. 1.

Provided always, That ſuch attainder ſhall be no avoiding of any womans Dower, ne corruption of bloud againſt the heir or heirs of ſuch offendor or offendors, but be it enacted, That the wife and wives of ſuch offendor or offendors ſhall have their Dowers: and that ſuch heir and heirs ſhall after the deceaſe of the ſaid offendor, have and enjoy the ſaid lands, tenements, and hereditaments of ſuch offendor and offendors, in like manner and form as they ſhould have had, if this Act, or any ſuch attainder had never been had ne made. And that the heir or heirs having the ſaid lands, tenements or hereditaments of any eſtate of inheritance, ſhall yield unto the party grieved for ſuch offence or offences his damages of the profits of the ſaid lands, tenements or hereditaments of ſuch offendor or offendors, whereunto he ſhall be inheritable by action of debt, to be taken in the common Bench at Weſtminſter, in which action no wager of law, eſſoin, ne protection ſhall be allowed.

This felony doth not make the wife loſe her dowry, nor any corruption of bloud in the heir.

The offendors heir ſhall ſatiſfie the party grieved.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any perſon or perſons, after the ſaid firſt day of May, maliciouſly, wilfully and unlawfully cut, or cauſe to be cut out the head or heads, dam or dams of any ponds, pools, motes, ſtews, or other ſeveral waters, or the head or heads, pipe or pipes of any conduit or conduits of any other perſon or perſons: or maliciouſly, willingly and unlawfully, after the ſaid firſt day of May, burn or cauſe to be burned any wain or wains, cart or carts laden, or to be laden with coals, or any other goods or merchandiſes of any other perſon or perſons: or maliciouſly, willingly and unlawfully, after the ſaid firſt day of May, do burn or cauſe to be burned any heap or heaps of wood of any other perſon or perſons, prepared, cut and felled, or to be prepared, cut or felled, for making of coals, billets or talwood: or maliciouſly, unlawfully and willingly, after the ſaid firſt day of May, cut out, or cauſe to be cut out the tongue or tongues of any tame beaſt or beaſts of any other perſon or perſons, the ſaid beaſt then being in life: or maliciouſly, willingly or unlawfully, after the ſaid firſt day of May, cut or cauſe to be cut off the ear or ears of any of the Kings ſubjects, otherwiſe then by authority of the Law, chance medly, ſudden affray, or adventure: or after the ſaid day, maliciouſly, willingly or unlawfully bark any apple-trees, pear-trees, or other fruit-trees of any other perſon or perſons: that then every ſuch offendor and offendors ſhall not onely loſe and forfeit unto the party grieved treble damages for ſuch offence or offences, the ſame to be recovered by action of treſpaſs, to be taken at the Common Law, but alſo ſhall loſe and forfeit to the Kings Majeſty, and his Heirs, for every ſuch offence, x. l. ſterling in name of a fine.

CAP. XVII.

Doctors of the Civil Law, married or unmarried, may exerciſe all manner of Eccleſiaſtical Juriſdiction.

The authority of the King as Supreme Head of the Church.

IN moſt humble wiſe ſhew and declare unto your Highneſs your moſt faithful, humble and obedient ſubjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons of this preſent Parliament aſſembled, That where your moſt Royal Majeſty is, and hath always juſtly been by the Word of God, Supreme Head in the earth of the Church of England, and hath full power and authority to correct, puniſh and repreſs all manner of hereſies, errors, vices, ſins, abuſes, idolatries, hypocriſies and ſuperſtitions, ſprung and growing within the ſame, and to exerciſe all other manner of juriſdictions, commonly called Eccleſiaſtical Juriſdiction. Nevertheleſs the Biſhop of Rome and his adherents, minding utterly as much as in him lay to aboliſh, obſcure and delete ſuch power given by God to the Princes of the earth, whereby they might gather and get to themſelves the government and rule of the world, have in their Councils and Synods Provincial made, ordained, eſtabliſhed and decreed divers ordinances and conſtitutions, that no lay or married man ſhould or might exerciſe or occupy any juriſdiction Eccleſiaſtical, nor ſhould be any Judge or Regiſter in any Court, commonly called Eccleſiaſtical Court, leſt their falſe and uſurped power, which they pretended and went about to have in Chriſts Church, ſhould decay, wax vile, and be of no reputation, as by the ſaid Councils and Conſtitutions Provincial appeareth: which ſtanding and remaining in their effect, not aboliſhed by your Graces Laws, did ſound to appear to make greatly for the ſaid uſurped power of the ſaid Biſhop of Rome, and to be directly repugnant to your Majeſty as Supreme Head of the Church, and Prerogative Royal, your Grace being a Lay-man.

The cauſe why no married man ſhould exerciſe Eccleſiaſtical juriſdiction.

And albeit the ſaid Decrees, Ordinances and Conſtitutions by a Statute made in the five and twentieth year of your moſt noble Reign, be utterly aboliſhed, fruſtrate, and of none effect: yet becauſe the contrary thereunto is not uſed, nor put in practiſe by the Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Archdeacons, and other Eccleſiaſtical perſons, who have no manner of juriſdiction Eccleſiaſtical, but by, under and from your Royal Majeſty, it addeth, or at the leaſt may give occaſion to ſome evil diſpoſed perſons, to think, and little to regard the proceedings and cenſures Eccleſiaſtical made by your Highneſs and your Vicegerent, Officials, Commiſſaries, Judges and Viſitors, being alſo lay and married men, to be of little or none effect or force, whereby the people gathereth heart and preſumption to do evil, and not to have ſuch reverence to your moſt godly injunctions and proceedings as becometh them.

25 H. 8. 18.
The Clergy have no Eccleſiaſtical juriſdiction, but by and under the King.

But foraſmuch as your Majeſty is the onely and undoubted Supreme Head of the Church of England, and alſo of Ireland, to whom by holy Scripture all authority and power is wholly given to hear and determine all manner cauſes Eccleſiaſtical, and to correct vice, and ſin whatſoever, and to all ſuch perſons as your Majeſty ſhall appoint thereunto: That in conſideration thereof, as well for the inſtruction of ignorant perſons, as alſo to avoid the occaſion of the opinion aforeſaid, and ſetting forth of your Prerogative Royal and Supremacy,

It may therefore pleaſe your Highneſs, that it may be ordained and enacted by authority of this preſent Parliament, That all and ſingular perſons, as well lay as thoſe that be now married, or hereafter ſhall be married, being Doctors of the Civil Law, lawfully create and made in any Univerſity, which ſhall be made, ordained, conſtituted and deputed to be any Chancellor, Vicar General, Commiſſary, Official, Scribe or Regiſter by your Majeſty, or any of your Heirs or Succeſſors, or by any Archbiſhop, Biſhop, Archdeacon, or other perſon whatſoever having authority under your Majeſty, your Heirs and Succeſſors, to make any Chancellor, Vicar General, Commiſſary, Official or Regiſter, may lawfully execute and exerciſe all manner of juriſdiction, commonly called Eccleſiaſtical juriſdiction, and all cenſures and coertions appertaining or in any wiſe belonging unto the ſame, albeit ſuch perſon or perſons be lay, married or unmarried, ſo that they be Doctors of the Civil Law, as is aforeſaid, any law, conſtitution or ordinance to the contrary notwithſtanding. St. 1 & 2 P. & M. 8. 1 El. 1.

Fl. 314. Cu. 258.

Doctors of the Civil Law, if they be laymen, being married or unmarried, may exerciſe Eccleſiaſtical juriſdiction.

CAP. XVIII.

The King during his life may by his joynt or ſeveral Letters Patents under the Great Seal and Proclamation, make the City of Weſtminſter one Honour, the Town of Kingſton upon Hull another, his Caſtle of Donington in the County of Berks a third, and St. Oſith in the County of Eſſex a fourth Honour. And alſo ſo many other Honours as he will, and annex to them ſuch lands of his as he will. The Free-holders and Copy-holders ſhall hold their lands as they did before. EXP.

CAP. XIX.

Fines levied in Lancaſter are of like force, as fines acknowledged before the Juſtices of the Common-pleas.

Foraſmuch as divers good and beneficial Statutes, for the commodity of the Kings ſubjects within this Realm, have heretofore been made by authority of Parliament, concerning the levying of fines with proclamation, both for avoiding of ſtriſe, and alſo for the ſurety of the Kings ſubjects, to be had of and in lands, tenements and hereditaments, by them purchaſed or obtained: which good and beneficial Statutes do not extend to fines levied in the County Palatine of Lancaſter.

Be it therefore ordained and enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, and the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame Parliament, and all & ſingular fines, which at any time hereafter ſhall be levied or knowledged before the Juſtices of our Sovereign Lord the King, or of his Heirs or Succeſſors of ỹ County Palatine of Lancaſter, commonly called Juſtices of Aſſiſe at Lancaſter, or before one of them, of any lands, tenements, or other hereditaments, lying or being within the County Palatine of Lancaſter, which ſhall be openly read and proclaimed three ſeveral days in the open Seſſions, in the preſence of the Juſtices of Aſſiſe at Lancaſter, or of one of them, for the time being at the ſame Seſſions: that the ſame fine ſhall fortune to be ingroſſed, and alſo that ſhall be openly read and proclaimed in the preſence of the Juſtices of Aſſiſe at Lancaſter, or one of them for the time being, at the two next general Seſſions that ſhall be holden in the ſaid County Palatine of Lancaſter, before the Juſtices of the ſame County, commonly called Juſtices of Aſſiſe at Lancaſter, or before one of them, next after the levying or ingroſſing of ſuch ſaid fine, at three ſeveral days in either of the ſaid two Seſſions, after ſuch manner and form as is commonly uſed in the Kings Court of his Common Place at Weſtminſter, ſhall be of like force, ſtrength and effect in the Law to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as fines being duly levied with proclamations before the Kings Juſtices of his Common Place, be or ought to be of.

Fines levied and proclaimed before the Juſtices of Aſſiſe at Lancaſter ſhall be of like force as fines acknowledged before the Juſtices of the Common Place.

Tenures of lands under fourty ſhillings which are granted by the Kings Letters Patents, reſerved.

35 H. 8. 34.

27 H. 8. 28.

WHere in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, the fourteenth day of January, in the five and thirtieth year of the King our moſt gracious Sovereign Lords Reign: it was among other things enacted, ordained and eſtabliſhed, That from the four and twentieth day of April then next following, the ſame our Sovereign Lord the Kings Highneſs, his Heirs or Succeſſors, upon any Letters Patents of any manors, lands, tenements, or other hereditaments, not exceeding the clear yearly value of fourty ſhillings, belonging to any of the late Monaſteries or Religious houſes, which came to his gracious hands by the Act of Parliament made at Weſtminſter in the ſeven and twentieth year of his moſt gracious Reign: And upon any of his or their Letters Patents made of any houſes, tenements, cottages or gardens, whereunto no lands or hereditaments did appertain, not being any of the Kings Princely houſes, reſerved and kept by a keeper thereof to his Graces uſe, which were belonging to any of the ſaid late Monaſteries or Religious houſes compriſed in the ſaid Act, made in the ſaid ſeven and twentieth year of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the Kings Reign: By which Letters Patents, any eſtate of inheritance ſhould or might paſs from the Kings Highneſs, his Heirs or Succeſſors, might reſerve upon the ſame Letters Patents to his Highneſs, his Heirs and Succeſſors, at his and their own will and pleaſure, either a tenure by Knights ſervice in capite, or elſe a tenure in ſoccage or free burgage, and not in capite: any law, cuſtom, uſage, or any other thing to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding, as by the ſame Act made in the ſaid five and thirtieth year of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the Kings Reign, amongſt other things more plainly appeareth. Foraſmuch as divers and ſundry ambiguities and doubts have riſen and grown ſithen the making of the ſaid Act in the ſaid five and thirtieth year of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the Kings Reign, as well upon the expoſition of the words contained in the ſaid Act, in that the ſaid Act doth not extend to any lands or tenements, other then ſuch as be expreſſed in the ſaid Act, made in the ſaid ſeven and twentieth year of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King Reign, as alſo upon the tenures of divers manors, lands, tenements and hereditaments by his Highneſs given and granted ſithen the ſaid four and twentieth day of April in the ſaid five and thirtieth year of his moſt noble Reign.

An explication of the Statute of 35 H. 8. 14. touching reſerving of tenures upon land granted by the Kings Patents.

Be it therefore now ordained and enacted by authority of this preſent Parliament, That all manors, lands, tenements, rents, revenues, parſonages, tithes, and other hereditaments, not being at the time of the making of any ſuch Letters Patents, heretofore made ſithen the ſaid four and twentieth day of April, above the clear yearly value of fourty ſhillings: and all houſes, meſſuages, cottages, curtilages, orchards, yards and gardens, whereunto no other lands, tenements or hereditaments were belonging or appertaining, not being any of the Kings Princely houſes, reſerved and kept by a keeper thereof to his Graces uſe, by whatſoever title or titles they or any of them came unto his Majeſties hands, heretofore given or granted by his Majeſty, to any perſon or perſons, or bodies politick, ſithen the ſaid four and twentieth day of April, in the ſaid ſeven and twentieth year of his Reign, by his Letters Patents, whereby any eſtate of inheritance hath paſſed from his Highneſs: to hold the ſame of his Highneſs, his Heirs and Succeſſors, by fealty onely, and not in capite, or in ſoccage, or free burgage, or by fealty onely in free and common ſoccage, and not in capite, or by any manner of ſuch like words in effect: Or to hold the ſame by fealty, as of any of his Graces honours, manors or lands, or by fealty onely, as of any of his Graces honours, monors or lands, and not in capite, or by any ſuch like words in effect: ſhall from the date of every ſuch Letters Patents be adjudged, taken and deemed to all intents and purpoſes, to be holden in ſoccage, or burgage, and not in capite, according to the very expreſs and plain words contained in any ſuch Letters Patents, without any further implication, conſtruction or explanation of the Law thereof to be made or had by any perſon or perſons againſt the ſame, and in no manner wiſe to be deemed, adjudged, or to be taken to be holden in capite, any ambiguity, doubt, or other thing heretofore riſen or moved, or hereafter to be moved, ſtirred or ſet forth to the contrary notwithſtanding.

The King during five years may reſerve other tenures and not in capite, upon lands not exceeding the yearly value of xl. s.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the Kings Hignes, his Heirs or Succeſſors, at any time or times within five years next after the firſt day of November laſt paſt, ſhall and may at his or their own wills and pleaſure, upon any Letters Patents made, or hereafter to be made of any manors, lands, tenements, rents, reverſions, ſervices, parſonages, tithes, portions, penſions and other hereditaments, not being rated or valued at the time of the making of any ſuch Letters Patents above the ſum of fourty ſhillings by year, whereby any ſtate of inheritance hath, or ſhall paſs from his Highneſs, his Heirs or Succeſſors, (houſes, meſſuages, cottages, orchards, yards and gardens, whereunto none other lands, tenements or hereditaments do appertain, onely except:) And alſo ſhall and may upon any like Letters Patents hereafter to be made within the ſaid five years, of any houſes, meſſuages, cottages, orchards, yards, curtilages or gardens, whereunto no other lands, tenements or hereditaments do appertain, (not being any of the Kings Princely houſes, reſerved and kept by a keeper thereof to his Graces uſe) by whatſoever title or titles the ſaid manors, lands, tenements, rents, reverſions, ſervices, parſonages, tithes, portions, penſions, houſes, tenements, cottages, gardens, and other the premiſſes, or any of them, ſo to be given or granted, be come, or hereafter ſhall come to his Graces hands, his Heirs or Succeſſors, reſerve either a tenure by Knights ſervice in capite, or elſe a tenure by fealty, or in ſoccage or burgage, and not in capite. And that all and ſingular the ſaid general tenures, as well heretofore reſerved and made ſithen the ſaid four and twentieth day of April, in the ſaid five and thirtieth year of our Sovereign Lord the Kings Reign, as hereafter within the ſaid five years next after following to be reſerved or made, and having theſe words, Et non in capite, ſhall from the date of every ſuch Letters Patents be deemed, adjudged and taken to be tenures in ſoccage or burgage, and not in capite.

And that the Patentees of the ſame manors, lands, tenements, and other the premiſſes, or any part thereof, their heirs and aſſigns, and every other perſon and perſons, having the ſame, or any part thereof, ſhall hold the ſame manors, lands, tenements, houſes, cottages, and other hereditaments compriſed in any ſuch Letters Patents of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King, his Heirs and Succeſſors, having the ſaid words, Et non in capite, by the ſervice of fealty, in ſoccage or burgage, according to the expreſs words contained in any ſuch Letters Letters Patents: and ſhall not hold the ſame, or any part thereof, of our ſaid Sovereign Lord, his Heirs or Succeſſors in chief, or in capite: nor ſhall be compelled by reaſon onely of the ſame, to ſue any livery, make fine for alienation, or ſue any licence or pardon for any alienation onely thereof. And the heir and heirs of every ſuch Patentees, or of their heirs and aſſigns, or of any other having any eſtate, right or title, of, in or to the ſame manors, lands, tenements or hereditaments, and having no other lands, tenements, or hereditaments, holden of the Kings Highneſs in capite, ſhall and may freely and lawfully after the death of any ſuch Patentee, their heirs or aſſigns, or other perſon or perſons having any ſuch eſtate, right or title, enter into the ſaid manors, lands tenements, houſes, cottages, and other hereditaments, compriſed, or to be compriſed in any ſuch Letters Patents, without ſuing of Livery, ouſter le maine, or any fine or fee to be paid for any livery onely thereof, to our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King, his Heirs or Succeſſors for the ſame, by reaſon onely of ſuch tenure in ſoccage or burgage, expreſſed or to be expreſſed in any of the ſaid Letters Patents: any law, cuſtom or uſage heretofore had or uſed to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding. Stat. 27 H. 8. 27. 35 H. 8. 14. 7 Ed. 6. 3.

A patent of land granted by the King with theſe words, Tenendum de nobis, &c. Et non in capite.

Two Churches not being above a mile diſtant, and one of them being not above the yearly value of ſix pounds, may be united into one.

Where in divers and ſundry places within this Realm of England, there be many and ſundry parſonages, the glebes, tithes and yearly revenues and profits whereof be not ſufficient to find a Prieſt or Curate to ſerve or miniſter to the Pariſhioners thereof, within a mile or leſs of the Church, of which poor Parſonages there is in many places another Church pertaining to another pariſh, ſtanding as neceſſary and commodiouſly for the acceſs of the pariſhioners of the other poor pariſh, as their own doth.

And foraſmuch as the charges for the maintenance of ſuch two Churches and Chappels, with all manner of reparations, ornaments, and other accuſtomed duties pertaining to a Church, be much greater then may be well raiſed or born amongſt ſuch poor pariſhioners, and might and ſhould be eaſed and remedied by the uniting and knitting of ſuch two Churches in one:

It may therefore pleaſe the Kings Royal Majeſty, with the aſſent of his Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, that it may be enacted and eſtabliſhed, That an union or conſolidation of two Churches in one, or of a Church and Chappel in one, the one of them not being above the yearly value of ſix pounds, as it is rated and valued at to the Kings Highneſs, in his Court of the Firſt-fruits and Tenths, and not diſtant from the other above one mile, in any place or places within this Realm of England, may be from henceforth had or made by the aſſent of the Ordinary and Ordinaries of the Dioceſs where ſuch Churches and Chappels ſtandeth, and by the aſſents of the Incumbents of them, and of all ſuch as have a juſt right title and intereſt to the patronages of the ſame Churches and Chappels, being then of full age. There may be an union of two Churches in one, where they be not above a mile diſtant, and one not above the yearly value of vj. l.

A confirmation of all unions heretofore made.

Saving unto the Kings Majeſty, his Heirs and Succeſſors, all the Tenths and Firſt-fruits of all ſuch Churches and Chappels as be heretofore united or conſolidated in one, or that hereafter ſhall be united & conſolidated in one, according to the ſame, or ſuch like rates and valuations as the ſame Churches and Chappels, or any of them now are rated or valued at to the Kings ſaid Majeſty, in his ſaid Highneſs Court of the Firſt-fruits and Tenths.

The Kings Tenths and Firſt fruits reſerved.

Provided alway, That all unions and conſolidations, and every of them hereafter to be had or made of any Church or Chappel within any City or Town corporate, within this Realm of England, without the aſſent of the Mayor, Sheriffs and Commonalty of the City where ſuch Churches, Church or Chappel be or ſhall be: Or without the aſſent of ſuch bodies corporate of other Towns corporate, where ſuch Churches, Church or Chappel be or ſhall be, by the names of their corporations in writing under their common ſeal, ſhall be clearly void and of no force ne effect: any thing before expreſſed, or any ordinance, law, cuſtom or ſtatute to the contrary thereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

Unions ſhall not be in corporate Towns without conſent of the chief Magiſtrates thereof.

Provided alſo, That where the inhabitants of any ſuch poor pariſh, or the more part of them, within one year next after the union or conſolidation of the ſame pariſh, by their Statutes made in the Parliament begun at Weſtminſter the fourth day of November, in the firſt year of the Reign of our moſt dread Sovereign Lord, Edward the Sixth, by the Grace of God, King of England, France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, and of the Church of England, and alſo of Ireland, in Earth the Supreme Head: and from thence continued to the 24. day of December then next enſuing; that is to ſay, in the firſt Seſſion of the ſame Parliament, as followeth.

CAP. I.

The penalty for unreverend ſpeaking againſt the Sacrament of the Body and Bloud of Chriſt, or againſt the receiving thereof in both kinds.

The Kings moſt excellent Majeſty, minding the governance and order of his moſt loving ſubjects to be in moſt perfect unity and concord, in all things, and in eſpecial, in the true Faith and Religion of God, and wiſhing the ſame to be brought to paſs with all clemency and mercy, on his Highneſs part towards them, as his moſt Princely Serenity and Majeſty hath already declared by evident proof, to the intent that his moſt loving ſubjects provoked by clemency and goodneſs of their Prince and King, ſhall ſtudy rather for love then for fear to do their duties, firſt, to Almighty God, and then to his Highneſs and the Common-wealth, nouriſhing concord and love amongſt themſelves: yet conſidereth and perceiveth that in a multitude all be not on that ſort, that reaſon and the knowledge of their duties can move them from offence, but many had need have ſome bridle of fear, and that the ſame be men moſt contentious and arrogant for the moſt part, or elſe moſt blind and ignorant: by the means of which ſort of men, many things well and godly inſtituted, and to the edification of many, be perverted and abuſed, and turned to their own and others great loſs and hinderance, and ſometime to extreme deſtruction: the which doth appear in nothing more or ſooner, then in matters of Religion, and in the great and high myſteries thereof, as in the moſt comfortable Sacrament of the Body and Bloud of our Saviour Jeſus Chriſt, commonly called the Sacrament of the Altar, and in Scripture, the [a] Supper and [b] Table of the Lord, the [c] Communion and [d] partaking of the Body and Bloud of Chriſt: which Sacrament was inſtituted of no leſs Author then of our Saviour, both God and Man, when at his laſt Supper amongſt his Apoſtles, he did take the Bread in his holy hands, and did ſay: [e] Take you and eat, this my Body, which is [f] given and [g] broken for you. And taking up the [h] Chalice or Cup, did [i] give thanks, and ſay, [k] This is my Bloud of the New Teſtament, which is ſhed for [l] you, and for [m] many, for the [n] remiſſion of ſins, that [o] whenſoever we ſhould do the ſame, we ſhould do it in the remembrance of him, and to declare and ſet forth his death and moſt glorious paſſion, until his coming. Of the which [p] Bread whoſoever eateth, or of the which Cup whoſoever drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh condemnation and judgment to himſelf, making no difference of the Lords Body. The inſtitution of which Sacrament being ordained by Chriſt, as is beforeſaid, and the ſaid words ſpoken of it here before rehearſed, being of eternal, infallible and undoubted truth: yet the ſaid Sacrament (all this notwithſtanding) hath been of late marvellouſly abuſed by ſuch manner of men before rehearſed, who of wickedneſs, or elſe of ignorance and want of learning, for certain abuſes, heretofore committed of ſome, in miſuſing thereof, have condemned in their hearts and ſpeech the whole thing, and contemptuouſly depraved, deſpiſed or reviled the ſame moſt holy and bleſſed Sacrament, and not onely diſputed and reaſoned unreverently and ungodly of that moſt high Myſtery, but alſo in their Sermons, Preachings, Readings, Lectures, Communications, Arguments, Talks, Rhimes, Songs, Plays or Jeſts, name, or call it by ſuch vile and unſeemly words, as Chriſtian ears do abhor to hear rehearſed. For reformation whereof, be it enacted by the Kings Highneſs, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and of the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That whatſoever perſon or perſons, from and after the firſt day of May next coming, ſhall deprave, deſpiſe, or contemn the ſaid moſt bleſſed Sacrament, in contempt thereof, by any contemptuous words, or by any words of depraving, deſpiſing or reviling: or what perſon or perſons ſhall adviſedly in any other wiſe contemn, deſpiſe or revile the ſaid moſt bleſſed Sacrament, contrary to the effects and declaration aboveſaid, that then he or they ſhall ſuffer impriſonment of his or their bodies, and make fine and ranſome at the Kings will and pleaſure. And for full and effectual execution of the premiſſes before deviſed, ordained and enacted by this Act: be it furthermore enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That immediately after the firſt day of May next coming, the Juſtices of Peace, or three of them at the leaſt, whereof one of them to be of the Quorum, in every Shire of this Realm, and Wales, and all other places within the Kings Dominions, ſhall have full power and authority by vertue of this Act, as well to take information and accuſation by the oaths and depoſitions of two able, honeſt and lawful perſons at the leaſt, and after ſuch accuſation, or information ſo had, to enquire by the oaths of xij. men, in every their four quarter Seſſions yearly to be holden of all and ſingular ſuch accuſations or informations to be had or Examination of the accuſers.

And it is alſo further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the ſaid Juſtices of Peace, or three of them at the leaſt, as is aforeſaid, before whom any ſuch preſentment, information and accuſation ſhall be made or taken, as is aforeſaid, ſhall examine the accuſers what other witneſs were by, and preſent at the time of the doing and committing of the offence, whereof the information, accuſation and preſentment ſhall be made, and how many others then the accuſers have knowledge thereof: and ſhall have power and authority by their diſcretions, to bind by recognizance to be taken before them, as well the ſaid accuſers, as all ſuch other perſons whom the ſaid accuſers ſhall declare to have knowledge of the offences by them preſented and informed, every of them in five pounds to the King, to appear before the ſaid Juſtices of Peace, before whom the offendor or offendors ſhall be tried at the day of trial and deliverance of ſuch offendors.

What proceſs ſhall be awarded againſt the perſons indided.

And it is further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the ſaid Juſtices of Peace, or three of them at the leaſt, as is aboveſaid, by vertue of this Act, ſhall have full power and authority to make proceſs againſt every perſon and perſons ſo endicted, by two Capias, and an exigent, and by Capias ut legatum, as well within the limits of their commiſſion, as into all other Shires and places of this Realm, Wales, and other the Kings Dominions, as well within liberties as without, and the ſame proceſs to be good and effectual in the Law to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, and upon the apparance of any of the offendors, Juſtices of Peace may determine the offences.

ſhall have full power and authority by vertue of this Act, and the Commiſſion of Peace, to determine the contempts and offences aforeſaid, according to the Laws of this Realm, and effects of this Act: and that the ſaid Juſtices of Peace, or three of them at the leaſt, as is aboveſaid, ſhall have full power and authority to let any ſuch perſon or perſons ſo endicted, upon ſufficient ſureties, by their diſcretions to bail for their apparance to be tried, according to the tenor, form, and effect of this Act.

Bailment of perſons indicted.

Provided always, and be it enacted, That the ſaid Juſtices of Peace, or three of them at the leaſt, at their quarter Seſſions, where any offendor or offendors ſhall be or ſtand endicted of any of the contempts or offences aboveſaid, ſhall direct and award one writ in the Kings name to the Biſhop of the Dioceſs wherein the ſaid offence or offences are ſuppoſed to be committed or done, willing and requiring the ſaid Biſhop to be in his own perſon, or by his Chancellor, or other his ſufficient deputy, learned, at the quarter Seſſions in the ſaid County to be holden, when and where the ſaid offendor ſhall be arraigned and tried, appointing to them in the ſaid writ the day and place of the ſaid arraignment, which writ ſhall be of this form: Rex, &c. Epiſcopo L. ſalutem. Præcipimus tibi quod tu, Cancellarius tuus, vel alius deputat' tuus ſufficienter eruditus, ſitis cum Juſtic' noſtris ad pacem in com' noſtro. A writ directed by the Juſtices to the Biſhop.

No indictment but within three months after the offence.

Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aboveſaid, That no perſon or perſons ſhall be indicted of any of the contempts or offences aboveſaid, but onely of ſuch contempts or offences as ſhall be informed or preſented within three months next after the ſaid offences or offence ſo committed or done.

The defendant may try his innocency by witneſſes.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That in all trials, for any ſuch offendors before the ſaid Juſtices, as is aforeſaid, the perſon or perſons being complained on and arraigned, ſhall be admitted to purge or try his or their innocency, by as many, or more witneſſes in number, and of as good honeſty and credence, as the witneſſes be which depoſed againſt him or them, or any of them.

The bleſſed Sacrament ſhall be delivered unto the people under both kinds of Bread and Wine.

therefore be it enacted by our Sovereign Lord the King, with the conſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That the ſaid moſt bleſſed Sacrament be hereafter commonly delivered and miniſtred unto the people within this Church of England and Ireland, and other the Kings Dominions under both the kinds, that is to ſay, of Bread and Wine, except neceſſity otherwiſe require: and alſo that the Prieſt which ſhall miniſter the ſame, ſhall, at the leaſt one day before, exhort all perſons which ſhall be preſent, likewiſe to reſort and prepare themſelves to receive the ſame. And when the day prefixed cometh, after a godly exhortation by the miniſter made, (wherein ſhall be further expreſſed the benefit and comfort promiſed to them which worthily receive the holy Sacrament, and danger and indignation of God threatned to them which ſhall preſume to receive the ſame unworthily, to the end that every man may try and examine his own conſcience before he ſhall receive the ſame) the ſaid Miniſter ſhall not without a lawful cauſe deny the ſame to any perſon that will devoutly and humbly deſire it: any Law, Statute, Ordinance or Cuſtom contrary thereunto in any wiſe notwithſtanding: not condemning hereby the

CAP. II.

The Election of Biſhops, and what Seals and Style they and other Spiritual perſons exerciſing juriſdiction Eccleſiaſtical ſhall uſe.

Elections of Biſhops belong onely to the King. Stat. 25 H. 8. 20.

Foraſmuch as the Elections of Archbiſhops and Biſhops by the Deans and Chapters within the Kings Majeſties Realms of England and Ireland, at this preſent time, be as well to the long delay, as to the great coſts and charges of ſuch perſons, as the Kings Majeſty giveth any Archbiſhoprick or Biſhoprick unto: And whereas the ſaid Elections be in very deed no Elections, but onely by a writ of Conge d'eſlire, have colours, ſhadows or pretences of Elections, ſerving nevertheleſs to no purpoſe, and ſeeming alſo derogatory and prejudicial to the Kings Prerogative Royal, to whom onely appertaineth the collation and gift of all Archbiſhopricks and Biſhopricks, and Suffragan Biſhops within his Highneſs ſaid Realms of England and Ireland, Wales, and other his Dominions and Marches. For a due reformation hereof, be it therefore enacted by the Kings Highneſs, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by authority of the ſame, That from henceforth no ſuch Conge d'eſlire be granted, nor election of any Archbiſhop or Biſhop by the Dean and Chapter made: but that the King may by his Letters Patents at all times, when any Archbiſhoprick or Biſhoprick is void, confer the ſame to any perſon whom the King ſhall think meet. The which collation ſo by the Kings Letters Patents made, and delivered to the perſon to whom the King ſhall confer the ſome Archbiſhoprick or Biſhoprick, or to his ſufficient Proctor and Attorney, ſhall ſtand to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, to as much and the ſame effect, as though Conge d'eſlire had been given, the Election duly made, and the ſame confirmed. And thereupon the ſaid perſon to whom the ſaid Archbiſhoprick, Biſhoprick, or Suffraganſhip is ſo conferred, collated or given, may be conſecrated, and ſue his Livery or Ouſter le main, and do other things as well as if the ſaid Ceremonies and Elections had been done and made.

None but the King ſhall collate to a Biſhoprick.

A Biſhop collated by the King ſhall pay the uſual fees.

Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That every ſuch perſon to whom any collation or gift of any Archbiſhoprick, Biſhoprick or Suffraganſhip ſhall be given or collated by the King, his Heirs or Succeſſors, ſhall pay, do and yield to all and every perſon all ſuch fees, intereſts and duties, as of old time have been accuſtomed to be be done: any thing in this Act, or in any other to the contrary hereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

And whereas the Archbiſhops and Biſhops, and other Spiritual perſons in this Realm, do uſe to make and ſend out their Summons, Citations, and other proceſs in their own names, and in ſuch form and manner as was uſed in the time of the uſurped power of the Biſhop of Rome, contrary to the form and order of the Summons and Proceſs of the Common Law uſed in this Realm (ſeeing that all authority of juriſdiction Spiritual and Temporal is derived and deducted from the Kings Majeſty, as Supreme Head of theſe Churches and Realms of England and Ireland, and ſo juſtly acknowledged by the Clergy of the ſaid Realms, that all Courts Eccleſiaſtical within the ſaid two Realms,) be kept by no other power or authority, either foreign or within the Realm, but by the authority of his moſt excellent Majeſty: Be it therefore further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all Summons and Citations, or other Proceſs Eccleſiaſtical, in all ſuits and cauſes of inſtance betwixt party and party, and all cauſes of correction, and all cauſes of Baſtardy, or Bigamy, or Inquiry de jure patronatus, probates of Teſtaments, and commiſſions of adminiſtrations of perſons deceaſed, and all acquittances of and upon accounts made by the Executors, Adminiſtrators, or Collectors of goods of any dead perſon, be from the firſt day of July next following, made in the name, and with the ſtyle of the King, as it is in writs original or judicial at the Common Law: And that the Teſte thereof be in the name of the Archbiſhop or Biſhop, or other having Eccleſiaſtical juriſdiction, who hath the commiſſion and grant of the authority Eccleſiaſtical immediately from the Kings Highneſs, and that his Commiſſary, Official or Subſtitute exerciſing juriſdiction under him, ſhall put his name in the citation or Proceſs after the Teſte.

All Proceſſes Eccleſiaſtical ſhall be in the Kings name: but the Teſte in the Biſhops name.

Every Biſhops &c. ſeal of office ſhall have the Kings Arms ingraven upon it.

Furthermore be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all manner of perſon or perſons, who have the exerciſe of Eccleſiaſtical juriſdiction, ſhall have from the firſt day of July before expreſſed, in their ſeals of Office, the Kings Highneſs Arms decently ſet, with certain Characters under the Arms for the knowledge of the Dioceſs, and ſhall uſe no other Seal of juriſdiction, but wherein his Majeſties Arms be ingraven, upon pain that if any perſon ſhall uſe Eccleſiaſtical juriſdiction (after the day before expreſſed) in this Realm of England, Wales, or other his Dominions or Territories, and not ſend or make out the Citation or Proceſs in the Kings name, or uſe any ſeal of juriſdiction other then before limited: that every ſuch offendor ſhall incur and run in the Kings Majeſties diſpleaſure and indignation, and ſuffer impriſonment at his Highneſs will and pleaſure.

Uſual fees ſhall be taken.

Provided that no more, nor other fees be taken or paid for the ſeal and writing of any Citations or other Proceſs then was heretofore accuſtomed.

The Archbiſhop of Canterbury may uſe his own ſeal. St. 25 H. 8. 21.

In what caſes other Biſhops may uſe their own ſeals. St. 32 H. 8. 48.

Provided alſo, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the Archbiſhop of Canterbury for the time being, ſhall uſe his own ſeal, and in his own name, in all faculties and diſpenſations, according to the tenor of an Act thereof made: And that the ſaid Archbiſhops and Biſhops ſhall make, admit, order and reform their Chancellors, Officials, Commiſſaries, Advocates, Proctors, and other their Officers, Miniſters and Subſtitutes, and Commiſſions of Suffragan Biſhops in their own names, under their own ſeals, in ſuch manner and form as they have heretofore uſed: And ſhall certifie to the Court of Tenths their certificates under their own names and ſeals, as heretofore they have uſed, and according to the Statute in that caſe made and provided: and likewiſe ſhall make collations, preſentations, gifts, inſtitutions and inductions of benefices, letters of order, or dimiſſories under their own names and ſeals, as they have heretofore accuſtomed: any thing in this Act contained to the contrary notwithſtanding.

Certificates into a Court of Record ſhall be in the Kings name, Teſte the Biſhop.

Cok. lib. 12. 8.

CAP. III.

A repeal of all Statutes heretofore made for the puniſhment of Vagabonds, and of all Articles compriſed in the ſame. If any perſon ſhall bring to two Juſtices of Peace any Runnagate ſervant, or any other which liveth idlely and loiteringly by the ſpace of three days, the ſaid Juſtices ſhall cauſe the ſaid idle and loitering ſervant or vagabond to be marked with an hot iron on the breaſt with the mark V. and adjudge him to be ſlave to the ſame perſon that brought or preſented him, to have to him, his executors or aſſigns for two years after, who ſhall take the ſaid ſlave, and give him bread, water, or ſmall drink, and refuſe meat, and cauſe him to work by beating, chaining, or otherwiſe, in ſuch work and labour as he ſhall put him unto, be it never ſo vile. And if ſuch ſlave abſent himſelf from his ſaid Maſter within the ſaid term of two years, by the ſpace of fourteen days, then he ſhall be adjudged by two Juſtices of Peace to be marked on the forehead, or the ball of the cheek with an hot iron, with the ſign of an S. and further ſhall be adjudged to be ſlave to his ſaid Maſter for ever. And if the ſaid ſlave ſhall run away the ſecond time, he ſhall be adjudged a felon. No Clerk convict ſhall make his purgation, but ſhall be a ſlave for one year to him who will become bound with two ſureties in twenty pound to the Ordinary, to the Kings uſe, to take him into ſervice. And he ſhall be uſed in all reſpects as is aforeſaid like to a vagabond. A Clerk attainted or convict, which by the Law cannot make his purgation, may by the Ordinary be delivered to any man, who will become bound with two ſufficient ſureties, to keep him as his ſlave five years. And then he ſhall be uſed in all reſpects as is aforeſaid for a vagabond, ſaving for burning in the breaſt. It ſhall be lawful to every perſon to whom any ſhall be adjudged a ſlave, to put a ring of iron about his neck, arm or leg. A Juſtice of Peace and Conſtable may bind a beggars man-child apprentice to the age of fourteen years, and a woman-child to the age of twenty years, to any that will require them. And if the ſaid child run away, then his Maſter may retain and uſe him for the term aforeſaid, as his ſlave. All impotent, maimed and aged perſons, who cannot be taken for vagabonds, ſhall have convenient houſes provided for them, and otherwiſe be relieved in the Cities, Boroughs or Towns where they were born, or where moſt converſant by the ſpace of three years, by the willing and charitable diſpoſition of the Pariſhioners. And none other ſhall be ſuffered to beg there. EXP. & REP. 3 & 4 Ed. 6. 16. & 39 El. 4.

CAP. IV.

Lands coming to the Kings hands, by attainder, diſſolution or ſurrender, &c. ſhall not be holden in capite.

Where before this time ambiguities, queſtions and doubts have been moved and ſtirred in divers and ſundry the Kings Courts of Record, whether ſuch honours, caſtles, manors, lands, tenements, and other hereditaments are holden of the King in capite, which any his loving ſubjects do hold by Knights ſervice, ſoccage, or other ſervices of the King, as of his Dutchies, Earldoms, Baronies, Honours, Caſtles, Manors, Lands, Tenements, Fees and Seigniories, which have come to the hands and poſſeſſion of divers of his Highneſs moſt noble Progenitors by attainder of Treaſon, miſpriſion of Treaſon, attainders of Premunire, and proviſion had and done by Act of Parliament, by verdict, confeſſion, conviction or utlagary, and offices or no offices thereupon found, or by the diſſolution, ſurrender, or giving up to the King, or to any his noble Progenitors, of any Religious or Eccleſiaſtical houſes or places, or of any manors, lands, tenements or other hereditaments to any of the ſame Religious or Eccleſiaſtical houſes or places in any wiſe appertaining or belonging, or no: by means of which doubt ſo moved, his ſaid humble and obedient ſubjects and tenants have been heretofore much unquieted, moleſted and grieved: wherefore the King our Sovereign Lord minding, and entirely deſiring the quietneſs of his ſaid ſubjects, and that the certainty of the Laws in that behalf might be known and declared to his ſaid loving ſubjects, for a plain declaration and reſolution to be had, of, for and concerning the premiſſes, at the humble petition and ſuit of the Lords and Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, doth ordain, declare and enact, by the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and of the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That all ſuch honours, caſtles, manors, lands, tenements and other hereditaments, and every of them, which now be, or at any time hereafter ſhall be holden of the King, or of any of his Heirs or Succeſſors, by any of his ſaid ſubjects, by Knights ſervice, ſoccage, or otherwiſe; as any of his or their Dukedoms, Earldoms, Baronies, Caſtles, Manors, Lands, Tenements, Fees or Seigniories, which be come to the King, or his moſt noble Progenitors, or hereafter ſhall come to the King, his Heirs or Succeſſors, by means of any ſuch attainder, conviction, utlagary, or of any ſuch diſſolution lution, ſurrender, or giving up of any Religious or Eccleſiaſtical houſes or places, or of any manors, lands, tenements or hereditaments, to any of the ſaid Religious or Eccleſiaſtical houſes or places, in any wiſe belonging or appertaining, ſhall not from henceforth be adjudged, deemed, taken or conſtrued to any intent, conſtruction or purpoſe, to be holden in capite, or as tenure in capite: any ambiguity, queſtion or doubt heretofore moved to the contrary notwithſtanding.

Tenure of the King as of his perſon, or ancient poſſeſſions.

Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act or any thing therein contained, ſhall not in any wiſe be prejudicial ne hurtful to the King, his Heirs or Succeſſors, to, for, or concerning any wardſhip, livery, primer ſeiſon, fine or alienation, or to, or for any other profit or advantage, which now is come, or hereafter ſhall or may come, fall or grow to the King, his Heirs or Succeſſors, by or from any perſon or perſons, which doth, or hereafter ſhall hold any honours, ſeigniories, caſtles, manors, lands, tenements, or other hereditaments of the King in chief, as of his perſon, or of any other his ancient poſſeſſions, and being not come to the King by any ſuch attainder, confeſſion, conviction, utlagary, diſſolution, giving up, or ſurrender as be aboveſaid.

Certain Churches within York united and drawn into a fewer number.

VVhere in the antient City of York and ſuburbs of the ſame, there are many Pariſh Churches, which heretofore the ſame being well inhabited and repleniſhed with people, were good and honeſt livings for learned Incumbents, by reaſon of the privy tithes of the rich merchants, and of the offerings of a great multitude, which livings be now ſo much decayed by the ruine and decay of the ſaid City, and of the trade of merchandiſe there, that the revenues and profits of divers of the ſame Benefices are at this preſent not above the clear yearly value of ſix and twenty ſhillings and eight pence, ſo that a great ſort of them are not a competent and honeſt living for a good Curate: yea, and no perſon will take the cure, but that of neceſſity there is ſome Chantry Prieſt, or elſe ſome late Religious perſon being a Stipendary, taken and appointed to the ſaid Cure and Benefice, which for the moſt part are unlearned, and very ignorant perſons, not able to do any part of their duties: By reaſon whereof the ſaid City is not onely repleniſhed with blind guides and Paſtors, but alſo the people much kept in ignorance, as well of their duties towards God, as alſo towards the Kings Majeſty and the Common-wealth of this Realm, and to the great danger of their ſouls: In conſideration whereof, and for the better relief and order of the ſaid City, it may pleaſe the Kings Majeſty, by the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame,

It ſhall be lawful to the Mayor of York, &c. to unite ſo many of the Pariſhes in York, as to them ſhall ſeem convenient.

That from henceforth it ſhall be lawful to the Mayor and Recorder of the ſaid City, and to the Ordinary, or his deputy, and ſix Juſtices of Peace in the ſaid City, to unite and knit together the ſaid Pariſhes into fewer number, that is to wit, ſo many of the ſaid Pariſhes into one Pariſh, as to them ſhall be thought convenient to be a living for one honeſt Incumbent, ſo the clear yearly value of one Pariſh exceed not xx. l. by year, and ſo to proceed thorow the ſaid City and ſuburbs of the ſame.

Pulling down of Churches and beſtowing them.

And that it ſhall be lawful for the ſaid Mayor, Recorder and Aldermen to pull down the Churches which they ſhall think ſuperfluous in the ſaid City and ſuburbs of the ſame, and to beſtow the ſame toward the reparations and enlargement of the other Churches, and the Bridges of the ſaid City, and to the relief of the poor people. And further, that the ſaid Mayor, Recorder, Ordinary, or his deputy, and ſix Juſtices of Peace being Aldermen, ſhall allot and appoint the preſentment and patronage of the Church ſo united to the Patrons of all the Churches, ſo knit in one Pariſh, that they may make their preſentments by turn, every one according to their quantity of his former patronage.

A proviſion for the Incumbents of the Churches pulled down.

Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all ſuch Incumbents of the Churches aforeſaid, that ſhall be put down by vertue of this Act, ſhall have the yearly value of their Benefices, after the rate they do pay tenths during their lives, ſo they will do ſervice therefore in the Church called the Pariſh Church, according to their former duties. And if they refuſe to ſerve, then they onely during their lives to have the third part of the value, as is aforeſaid, and to be payed at the hands of the Incumbent of the Pariſh Church to be appointed.

By whom the Tenth to the King ſhall be paid, and how levied.

Provided alſo, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the Incumbents of every ſuch Church, which by vertue of this Act ſhall be made and ordained for the Pariſh Church, and whereunto any other Pariſh or Pariſhes ſhall be united, ſhall after the union thereof yearly pay the tenths to be due for the ſame to the Kings Majeſty, his Heirs and Succeſſors, of the ſame Church, and of all other Churches thereunto united and annexed. And the ſaid Incumbents of the Pariſh Church ſo united, to have his allowance of the Incumbents of the Churches ſo united thereunto, during their ſeveral lives, according to the rate and portion of the Churches ſo united, as ſhall be aſſigned by the aboveſaid perſons, having authority by this Act to unite the ſame.

Who ſhall pay the Firſt-fruits, and according to what value.

And the ſucceſſor and ſucceſſors of every ſuch Incumbent of every ſuch Church, as ſhall be made ẏ Pariſh Church, & whereunto any Church or Pariſh ſhall be united by force of this Act, ſhall pay or compound for the Firſt-fruits thereof at every avoidance before his induction to the ſame, according to ſuch yearly value, as ſuch Church or Churches, as ſhall be made a Pariſh Church, and whereunto any Church or Churches, Pariſh or Pariſhes ſhall be united by force of this Act, ſhall be of, at the time of the union thereof, and as if it had been of ſuch like yearly value at the time of making of the Statute for firſt-fruits and tenths, and of no greater value: any ordinance, ſtatute or law to the contrary notwithſtanding.

CAP. XII.

Statutes concerning Treaſons, &c. repealed.

NOthing being more Godly, more ſure, more to be wiſhed and deſired betwixt a Prince, the ſupream head and ruler, and the ſubjects, whoſe Governor and head he is, then on the Princes part, great clemency and indulgency, and rather too much forgiveneſs and remiſſion of his royal power and juſt puniſhment, then exact ſeverity and juſtice to be ſhewed: and on the ſubjects behalf, that they ſhould obey rather for love, and for the neceſſity and love of a King and Prince, then for fear of his ſtrait and ſevere laws: yet ſuch times at ſome time come in the Commonwealth, that it is neceſſary and expedient for the repreſſing of the inſolency and unrulineſs of men, and for the foreſeeing and providing of remedies againſt rebellion, inſurrection, or ſuch miſchiefs (as God ſometime with us diſpleaſed for our puniſhment doth inflict and lay upon us, or the Devil at Gods permiſſion to aſſay the good and Gods elect, doth ſow and ſet amongſt us) the which Almighty God, with his help and mans policy, hath always been content and pleaſed to have ſtayed, that ſharper laws, as a harder bridle ſhould be made, to ſtay thoſe men and facts that might elſe be occaſion, cauſe and authors of further inconvenience, the which thing cauſed the Prince of moſt famous memory, King Henry the eighth, father to our ſaid Sovereign the King, and other his Highneſs Progenitors, with the aſſent of the Nobles and Commons, at divers Parliaments in their ſeveral times holden, to make and enact certain laws and ſtatutes, which might ſeem and appear to men of exterior Realms, and many of the Kings Majeſties ſubjects very ſtrait, ſore, extream, and terrible, although they were then, when they were made, not without great conſideration and policy, moved and eſtabliſhed, and for the time, to the avoidance of further inconvenience, very expedient and neceſſary. But as in tempeſt or winter, one courſe and garment is convenient, in calm or warm weather, a more liberal raſe, or lighter garment both may, and ovght to be followed and uſed: ſo we have ſeen divers ſtrait and ſore laws made in one Parliament (the time ſo requiring) in a more calm and quiet Reign of another Prince, by the like authority and Parliament repealed and taken away. The which moſt high clemency and royal example of his Majeſties moſt noble progenitors, the Kings Highneſs of his tender and godly nature, moſt given to mercy and love of his ſubjects, willing to follow, and perceiving the hearty and ſincere love, that his moſt loving ſubjects, both the Lords and Commons do bear unto his Highneſs, now in this his Majeſties tender age, willing alſo to gratifie the ſame therefore, and minding further to provoke his ſaid ſubjects with indulgency and clemency, ſhewed on his Highneſs behalf, to more love and kindneſs toward his Majeſty (if it may be) and upon truſt that they will not abuſe the ſame, but rather be encouraged thereby more faithfully, and with more diligence (if it may be) and care for his Majeſty, to ſerve his Highneſs now in this his tender age, is contented and pleaſed, that the ſeverity of certain Laws here following be mitigated and remitted.

Sometimes ſharp, and ſometimes milder laws be made according to the peoples inclination.

Be it therefore ordained and enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, with the aſſent of the Lords ſpiritual and temporal, and of the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, that from henceforth no act, deed, or offence being by act of Parliament or Statute made Treaſon, or petit Treaſon, by words, writing, ciphering, deeds, or otherwiſe whatſoever, ſhall be taken, had, deemed and adjudged to be high Treaſon, or petit Treaſon, but only ſuch as be Treaſon or petit Treaſon, in or by the Act of Parliament, or Statute made in the xxv. year of the reign of the moſt noble King of famous memory, King Edward the third, touching or concerning Treaſon, or the Declarations of Treaſons: and ſuch offences as hereafter ſhall by this preſent Act be expreſſed and declared to be Treaſon or petit Treaſon, and none other, nor that any pains of death, penalty or forfeiture in any wiſe enſue, or be to any of the offendors for the doing or committing any Treaſon or petit Treaſon, other then ſuch as be in the ſaid Statute made in the ſaid twenty fifth year of the reign of the ſaid King Edward the third, or by this preſent Statute ordained and provided: any act or acts of Parliament, ſtatute or ſtatutes had or made at any time heretofore, or after the ſaid xxv. year of the reign of the ſaid late King Edward the third, or any other declaration or matter to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

No offence made treaſon by any ſtatute ſhall be ſo adjudged, but ſuch as were made treaſon by the ſtatute of 25 E.3.2.St.

Anno ſecundo & tertio EDWARDI ſexti.

Acts made in the Seſſion of this preſent Parliament, holden upon Prorogation at Weſtminſter the fourth day of November, in the ſecond year of our moſt dread Sovereign Lord, Edward the ſixth, by the grace of God, King of England, France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, and of the Church of England, and alſo of Ireland, in earth the ſupreme Head, and there continued and kept to the fourteenth day of March, in the third year of our ſaid Sovereign Lord, as followeth.

CAP. I.

The penalty for not uſing uniformity of Service, and adminiſtration of Sacraments, &c.

Where of long time there hath been had in this Realm of England, and in Wales, divers forms of Common Prayer, commonly called the Service of the Church: That is to ſay, the uſe of Sarum, of York, of Bangor, and of Lincoln: and beſides the ſame now of late, much more divers and ſundry forms and faſhions have been uſed in the Cathedral and Pariſh Churches of England and Wales, as well concerning the Mattens, or Morning Prayer, and the Evenſong, as alſo concerning the holy Communion, commonly called the Maſs, with divers and ſundry rites and ceremonies concerning the ſame, and in the adminiſtration of other Sacraments of the Church. And as the doers and executers of the ſaid rites and ceremonies, in other form then of late years they have been uſed, were pleaſed therewith: So other not uſing the ſame rites and ceremonies, were thereby greatly offended. And albeit the Kings Majeſty, with the advice of his moſt entirely beloved Uncle, the Lord Protector, and other of his Highneſs Council, hath heretofore divers times aſſayed to ſtay innovations or new rites concerning the premiſes: yet the ſame hath not had ſuch good ſucceſs as his Highneſs required in that behalf, whereupon his Highneſs by the moſt prudent advice aforeſaid, being pleaſed to bear with the frailty and weakneſs of his ſubjects in that behalf, of his great clemency hath not been only content to abſtain from puniſhment of thoſe that have offended in that behalf, for that his Highneſs taketh that they did it of a good zeal: But alſo to the intent a uniform, quiet, and godly order ſhould be had concerning the premiſes, hath appointed the Archbiſhop of Canterbury, and certain of the moſt learned and diſcreet Biſhops, and other learned men of this Realm, to conſider and pon-

Innovators not puniſhed for that they did it upon good zeal.

The Book of Common Prayer by the aid of the holy Ghoſt, is ſet forth by the Biſhops, and learned men of the Realm.

The penalty for not uſing the Book of Common Prayer, and other rites and ceremonies, according to the uſe of the Church of England.

Uſing any other manner of Prayer.

The penalty for depraving the Book or any thing contained therein.

The penalty for the ſecond offence.

The penalty for the third offence.

der the premiſes, and thereupon having as well eye and reſpect to the moſt ſincere and pure Chriſtian Relgion taught by the Scripture, as to the uſages in the primitive church, ſhould draw and make one convenient and meet order, rite and faſhion of common and open Prayer, and adminiſtration of the Sacraments, to be had and uſed in his Majeſties Realm of England, and in Wales: The which at this time, by the aid of the holy Ghoſt, with one uniform agreement, is of them concluded, ſet forth and delivered to his Highneſs, to his great comfort and quietneſs of mind, in a Book intituled, The Book of Common Prayer, and adminiſtration of the Sacraments, and other Rites and Ceremonies of the Church, after the uſe of the Church of England. Wherefore the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, conſidering as well the moſt godly travel of the Kings Highneſs, of the Lord Protector, and other of his Highneſs Council, in gathering and collecting the ſaid Archbiſhop, Biſhops, and learned men together, as the godly Prayers, Orders, Rites and Ceremonies in the ſaid Book mentioned, and the conſiderations of altering thoſe things which be altered, and retaining thoſe things which be retained in the ſaid Book: And alſo the honour of God and great quietneſs, which by the grace of God ſhall enſue upon the one and uniform rite and order, in ſuch Common Prayer and Rites, and extream ceremonies to be uſed throughout England, and in Wales, at Calice, and the Marches of the ſame, do give to his Highneſs moſt hearty and lowly thanks for the ſame, and humbly prayen, That it may be ordained and enacted by his Majeſty, with the aſſent of the Lords and Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That all and ſingular perſon and perſons that have offended concerning the premiſes, other then ſuch perſon and perſons as now be and remain in Ward in the Tower of London, or in the Fleet, may be pardoned thereof: And that all and ſingular Miniſters in any Cathedral or Pariſh Church, or other place within this Realm of England, Wales, Calice, and the Marches of the ſame, or other the Kings Dominions, ſhall from and after the Feaſt of Pentecoſt next coming, be bounden to ſay and uſe the Mattens, Evenſong, celebration of the Lords Supper, commonly called the Maſs, and adminiſtration of each the Sacraments, and all their common and open prayer, in ſuch order and form as is mentioned in the ſame Book, and none other, or otherwiſe. And albeit that the ſame be ſo godly and good, that they give occaſion to every honeſt and conformable man moſt willingly to embrace them, yet leſt any obſtinate perſon who willingly would diſturb ſo godly order and quiet in this Realm, ſhould not go unpuniſhed: That it may alſo be ordained and enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any manner of Parſon, Vicar, or other whatſoever Miniſter that ought or ſhould ſing or ſay Common Prayer, mentioned in the ſaid Book, or miniſter the Sacraments, ſhall after the ſaid Feaſt of Pentecoſt next coming, refuſe to uſe the ſaid Common Prayers, or to miniſter the Sacraments in ſuch Cathedral or Pariſh Church, or other place as he ſhould uſe or miniſter the ſame in ſuch order and form, as they be mentioned and ſet forth in the ſaid Book, or ſhall uſe, wilfully and obſtinately ſtanding in the ſame, any other rite, ceremony, order, form or manner of Maſs openly or privily, or Mattens, Evenſong, adminiſtration of the Sacraments, or other open prayer then is mentioned and ſet forth in the ſaid Book: (open prayer in and throughout this Act, is meant that prayer which is for other to come unto or hear, either in common Churches, or private Chappels, or Oratories, commonly called the Service of the Church) or ſhall preach, declare or ſpeak any thing in the derogation or depraving of the ſaid Book, or any thing therein contained, or of any part thereof, and ſhall be thereof lawfully convicted, according to the Laws of this Realm, by verdict of twelve men, or by his own confeſſion, or by the notorious evidence of the fact, ſhall loſe and forfeit to the Kings Highneſs, his heirs and ſucceſſors, for his firſt offence, the profit ot ſuch one of his ſpiritual benefices or promotions, as it ſhall pleaſe the Kings Highneſs to aſſign or appoint, coming and ariſing in one whole year next after his conviction. And alſo that the ſame perſon ſo convicted, ſhall for the ſame offence ſuffer impriſonment by the ſpace of ſix moneths, without bail or mainpriſe. And if any ſuch perſon once convict of any ſuch offence concerning the premiſes, ſhall after his firſt conviction eftſoons offend, and be thereof in form aforeſaid lawfully convict, that then the ſame perſon ſhall for his ſecond offence, ſuffer impriſonment by the ſpace of one whole year, and alſo ſhall therefore be deprived ipſo facto of all his ſpiritual promotions: and that it ſhall be lawful to all Patrons, Donors, Grantees of all and ſingular the ſame ſpiritual promotions, to preſent to the ſame any other able Clerk, in like manner and form, as though the party ſo offending were dead. And that if any ſuch perſon or perſons, after he ſhall be twice convicted in form aforeſaid, ſhall offend againſt any of the premiſes the third time, and ſhall be thereof in form aforeſaid, lawfully convict, that then the perſon ſo offending, and convicted the third time, ſhall ſuffer impriſonment during his life. And if the perſon that ſhall offend, and be convict in form aforeſaid, concerning any of the premiſes, ſhall not be beneficed, nor have any ſpiritual promotion, that then the ſame perſon ſo offending and convict, ſhall for the firſt offence ſuffer impriſonment during ſix moneths, without bail or main-priſe. And if any ſuch perſon not having any ſpiritual promotion, after his firſt conviction ſhall eftſoons offend in any thing concerning the premiſes, and ſhall in form aforeſaid be thereof lawfully convicted, that then the ſame perſon ſhall for his ſecond offence ſuffer impriſonment during his life.

The penalty by Plays, Songs or tunes to deprave the book of Common Prayer, or to compel any to uſe other prayer.

And it is ordained and enacted by the authority aboveſaid, That if any perſon or perſons whatſoever, after the ſaid Feaſt of Pentecoſt next coming, ſhall in any Enterludes, Plays, Songs, Rhimes, or by other open words declare or ſpeak any thing in the derogation, depraving, or deſpiſing of the ſame Book, or of any thing therein contained, or any part thereof: or ſhall by open fact, deed, or by open threatnings, compel, or cauſe, or otherwiſe procure or maintain any Parſon, Vicar, or other Miniſter, in any Cathedral or Pariſh Church, or Chappel, or in any other place to ſing or ſay any common and open prayer, or to miniſter any Sacrament otherwiſe, or in any other manner or form then is mentioned in the ſaid Book: or that by any of the ſaid means ſhall unlawfully interrupt or let any Parſon, Vicar, or other Miniſters in any Cathedral or Pariſh Church, Chappel, or any other place, to ſing or ſay common and open Prayer, or to miniſter the Sacraments, or any of them, in ſuch manner and form as is mentioned in the ſaid Book, That then every perſon being thereof lawfully convicted in form aboveſaid, ſhall forfeit to the King our Sovereign Lord, his heirs and ſucceſſors for the firſt offence, ten pounds. And if any perſon or perſons, being once convicted of any ſuch offence, eftſoons offend againſt any of the premiſes, and ſhall in form aforeſaid be thereof lawfully convict, that then the ſame perſon ſo offending and convict, ſhall for the ſecond offence forfeit to the King our Sovereign Lord, his heirs and ſucceſſors twenty pound. And if any perſon after he in form aforeſaid, ſhall been twice convict of any offence concerning any of the premiſes, ſhall offend the third time, and be thereof in form aboveſaid lawfully convict, that then every perſon ſo offending and convict, ſhall for his third offence forfeit to our Sovereign Lord the King all his goods and chattels, and ſhall ſuffer impriſonment during his life. And if any perſon or perſons, that for his firſt offence concerning the premiſes, ſhall be convict in form aforeſaid, do not pay the ſum to be paid by vertue of his conviction, in ſuch manner and form as the ſame ought to be paid within ſix weeks next after his conviction, that then every perſon ſo convict, and ſo not paying the ſame, ſhall for the ſame offence, in ſtead of the ſaid ten pound, ſuffer impriſonment, by the ſpace of three moneths without bail or mainpriſe. And if any perſon or perſons, that for his ſecond offence, concerning the premiſes, ſhall be convict in form aforeſaid, do not pay the ſum to be paid by vertue of his conviction, in ſuch manner and form, as the ſame ought to be paid, within ſix weeks next after his ſaid conviction, that then every perſon ſo convicted, and not ſo paying the ſame, ſhall for the ſame ſecond offence, in the ſtead of the ſaid twenty pound, ſuffer impriſonment during ſix moneths, without bail or mainpriſe.

CAP. II.

Captains and Souldiers not doing their true ſervice, and neglecting their Offices, ſhall be puniſhed.

Where before this time divers of the Kings Majeſties loving and obedient ſubjects, according to their bounden duties, have aſſigned, appointed and ſent forth, as well in the parts beyond the ſeas, and to the ſeas, as alſo into Scotland and other places, divers times both within this Realm, and without this Realm, many able perſons or ſouldiers well furniſhed with good horſes and harneſſes meet to ſerve the King in wars, to their great charges and coſts: yet ſome of the ſaid ſouldiers ſo ſent to ſerve, contrary to their Maſters expectation, and contrary to their bounden duties to the Kings Highneſs, have ſold, loſt, exchanged or altered their Maſters horſe and harneſs, or otherwiſe by deceit or covin, converted the ſame: By mean whereof the Kings Highneſs hath not only been deſtitute of the ſame ſouldiers in time of need, but alſo the owners of the ſaid horſes and harneſs, who ſent them thither, have been untruly deceived of their horſes and harneſs, being thereby leſs able to re-furniſh other the like ſouldiers with horſe and harneſſes, at ſuch time as they ſhall be thereunto commanded by the Kings Highneſs.

And ſometime the Captains of ſuch ſouldiers departed, have demanded, had and taken of the Kings Highneſs, wages for the ſame ſouldiers ſo departed, by mean whereof the Kings Majeſty hath ſuſtained and born great payments, and yet his Majeſty hath not been truly ſerved for the ſame, not a little to the diſpleaſure of the King, and to the great charge of the poor ſubjects being commanded to ſet forth ſuch ſouldiers.

The penalty of a ſouldier that maketh away his horſe or harneſſes. Stat. 4 & 5 P. & M. 2.

For remedy whereof, be it enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That if any ſouldier hereafter ſerving the King in his wars, in any his Dominions, or on the ſeas, or beyond the ſeas, or in Scotland, after the firſt day of April next coming, do ſell, give away, or wilfully purloyn, or otherwiſe exchange, alter or put away any horſe, gelding or mare, or any harneſs wherewith he ſhall be ſet forth: that then every ſuch ſouldier ſo offending, upon due proof or teſtimony to be taken before the Lieutenant, high Admiral, the Kings Deputy, Vice-Admiral, Warden or Captain, and in their abſence before any of their Deputies, ſhall be impriſoned by the ſame Lieutenant, or any other before named, there to remain without bail or mainpriſe, until he have ſatisfied to the party, owner of the horſe, gelding, mare or harneſs ſo by him ſold, purloyned, exchanged, wilfully loſt, altered, or otherwiſe made away.

And if ſuch ſouldiers ſo offending, fortune to eſcape from the Lieutenant, and other the foreſaid perſons, without the puniſhment and reſtitution aforeſaid, That then the ſame ſouldier upon complaint made by the party grieved, or his executors or adminiſtrators, upon due proof thereof to be made to any Juſtice or Juſtices of Peace, in yͤ parts where ſuch ſouldiers ſo offending ſhall be found, ſhall be by ſuch Juſtice or Juſtices committed to ward, there to remain without bail or mainpriſe, until he have ſatisfied the party grieved, his executors or adminiſtrators, of and for ſuch horſes, geldings, or mares, and harneſs ſo by any ſuch ſouldier wilfully loſt, exchanged, altered, or otherwiſe purloyned.

A remedy if the horſe or harneſs be loſt or appointed to another.

Provided alway, That if the ſaid ſouldier bring any ſufficient warrant or teſtimony before the ſaid Juſtice, from the ſaid Lieutenant, or any of the perſons above named in writing under the ſeal of any of them, teſtifying that the ſame horſe or harneſs were loſt in the Kings ſervice, againſt the will of the ſaid ſouldier, or that the ſame horſe or harneſs was taken by the ſame Lieutenant, or any of the others before named, from the ſaid ſouldier, for any reaſonable reſpect, and appointed to ſome other, to ſerve in the place and ſtead of the ſaid ſouldier: that then every ſuch ſouldier not bringing to the owner the ſaid horſe and harneſs, ſhall be diſcharged thereof againſt the owner thereof. And that then every ſuch ſouldier to whom the ſaid horſe or harneſs ſhall be appointed, as is aforeſaid, not bringing home to the owner the ſaid horſe and harneſs, after he ſhall be diſcharged, to ſuffer like pain as is aforeſaid.

It ſhall be felony for a ſouldier to depart from his Captain without licence. Stat. 18 H. 6. 19. 5 El. 5. 1 Jac. 25. 4 & 5 P. & M. 3.

And be it alſo further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any ſouldier ſerving as is aforeſaid, depart without licence of his Lieutenant, or any of the other above named, with booty or otherwiſe, being in the enemies countrey, or elſewhere in the Kings ſervice, or out of any Garriſon where he or they ſhall be appointed to ſerve, that then every ſuch ſouldier ſo departing without licence, to be taken and judged as a felon, and to be executed as in caſe of felony, without having any advantage of his Clergy or Sanctuary: and that the Juſtices of every Shire where any ſuch ſouldier ſhall be taken, ſhall have full power to enquire, hear and determine all and every the ſaid offences concerning every ſuch departure, as they do & may in other caſes of felony committed in yͤ Shire where ſuch ſouldiers ſhall be taken.

The penalty of a Commiſſioner, licencing a ſouldier to depart, and aſſuming another for gain.

And be it alſo enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any Captain being appointed to have the order of any number of ſouldiers under any other higher Officer, do for any cauſe licence any ſouldier in his retinue to depart from the field or fortreſs, where they ſhall be appointed to ſerve, without the ſpecial aſſent and licence in writing of the Lieutenant, or the others before named, he ſhall forfeit and loſe for every ſuch ſouldier ſo by him licenſed to depart, twenty pound, to be levied as is aforeſaid, to the uſe of the King.

A Captain demanding more wages for his ſouldiers, then there is cauſe.

And be it Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that no Captain after the ſaid firſt day of April ſhall give to any of his ſouldiers, appointed to ſerve under him in any town or fortreſs, kept with garriſons of ſouldiers, any licence or paſports to depart from his ſervice, but only the Lieutenant, or any others, as is aforeſaid, upon pain of impriſonment, as well of the Captain as ſouldier ſo offending, at yͤ diſcretion of the ſaid Lieutenant, or yͤ others before named.

None but the Lieutenant ſhall give a ſouldier licence to depart.

And be it further Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that every Lieutenant, and other before named, upon the pain of ten pound, ſhall cauſe to be proclaimed the whole effect and contents of this act, that is to ſay, every Lieutenant of an Army, in every field under his charge, to proclaim this act every moneth, and that every of the Kings Deputies of every fortreſs, and captain of any other fortreſs, to proclaim this Act within his charge once every quarter of a year.

And alſo be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, for the better execution of the premiſes, that every perſon or perſons, giving to the Lieutenant, or the others above named, true information of any of the offences above remembred, ſhall have for his labour one moneths wages of him that ſhall be found faulty, to be paid by the hand of the Treaſurer, upon warrant of the ſaid Lieutenant, or any of the others aforeſaid.

CAP. IV.

Sheriffs upon their accompts in the Exchequer, upon their Oath taken, ſhall be diſcharged of all ſuch moneys as they cannot levy, and ſhall have their due allowances.

MOſt humbly beſeechen the Kings moſt excellent Majeſty, his true and faithful ſubjects the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled: That where in the Parliament begun at Weſtminſter the ſixteenth day of January, in the three and thirtieth year of the Reign of our late Sovereign Lord of famous memory, King Henry the eighth, and by Prorogation holden at Weſtminſter the two and twentieth day of January, in the four and thirtieth year of the Reign of our ſaid late Sovereign Lord, and there continued until the twelfth day of May, in the five and thirtieth year of the Reign of the ſaid late King: Upon divers and ſundry conſiderations, there was enacted and made, an Act by the authority of the ſame Parliament, concerning the account or accounts of Sheriffs, to be made in the Exchequer, as in the ſame Act more plainly at large it is contained.

And albeit it was meant, at the time of the making of the ſaid Act, as it may appear by the words of the ſaid Act, That Sheriffs ſhould not be charged upon their accounts, but only with ſuch ſums of money as they might lawfully levy. And alſo that the ſaid Sheriffs ſhould have allowance, not only for all ſuch charges and expences, as they ſhall ſuſtain and bear for the diets and charges of the Juſtices of Aſſiſe, but alſo for other neceſſary charges and expences by them ſuſtained, in and about the exerciſing of their ſaid Office: Yet nevertheleſs, the ſaid Sheriffs are and have been, ſithen the making of the ſaid Act, more and ſorer charged, vexed and troubled then they were before, to the great impoveriſhment of men of worſhip, and Gentlemen within this Realm, that have been Sheriffs, and ſo is very like to be to all ſuch as hereafter ſhall be Sheriffs, if remedy be not provided in this behalf: it may therefore pleaſe the Kings moſt excellent Majeſty, that it may be enacted and eſtabliſhed, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That the ſaid former Act, and all clauſes and ſentences in the ſame contained, ſhall be from henceforth clearly fruſtrate and void, to all intents and purpoſes, other then hereafter in this Act ſhall be ſpecified.

The ſtatute of 34 H.8.16. touching Sheriffs, rehearſed and repealed.

And that it may be enacted by this preſent Parliament, That the Sheriffs which ſhall be made from henceforth within all the Shires of England, and alſo ſuch as have not made or finiſhed their accompt or accompts, ſhall have ſuch and like tails of reward, and all ſuch other allowances as they had before the making of the ſaid former Act, or elſe the ſame Sheriffs which ſhall be, or heretofore have been, to be at their election and choice to accompt, and all other things to do, according to the aforeſaid former Act. And that they, and every of them that ſo ſhall accompt, and take no tail of reward, ſhall be in, and by all things intreated in the Kings Exchequer, as though the ſaid former Act were and ſhould continue in his full ſtrength and effect, any thing before ſpecified notwithſtanding.

And that the ſame tails of reward, and every of them by force of this preſent Act, without any further warrant or warrants to be obtained for the ſame, ſhall be levied or ſtricken at the receipt of the Kings Majeſties Exchequer in due manner and form, with ſuch like letters or writings upon the ſame tails, and every of them, as before the making of the ſaid former Act were and have been accuſtomed to be levied and ſtricken.

Every Sheriff ſhall have tails of reward.

And that the ſame tails ſo hereafter there be levied and ſtricken, ſhall be delivered unto every of the ſame Sheriffs, or their ſufficient Attorney for them, without preſt, or other charge to be ſet upon them for the ſame.

And that this Act ſhall be a ſufficient warrant and diſcharge unto the Treaſurer of England, and all other Officers within the ſaid receit, for ſtrking, levying and delivery of the ſaid tails, and every of them.

And further, That all thoſe Sheriffs, that hereafter ſhall be made within thoſe Shires of England, whereas no tails of reward have heretofore been by the Kings Majeſties moſt noble Progenitors given and granted, and ſuch Sheriffs as ſhall hereafter take no tail of reward, ſhall in conſideration of their great coſts, charges and expences which they ſhall bear and ſuſtain, as well by the diets of the Juſtices of Aſſiſes, as by any other means, have upon the end of their accompts, and of every of them, ſuch allowances upon a petition to be made by the ſame Sheriffs and every of them, in a bill to be brought in by the ſame Sheriffs and every of them, of their ſaid coſts and charges, upon which bills the ſame Sheriffs to be ſworn in their own proper perſons, or by their under-Sheriffs, or lawful Attorney, thereunto admitted to be true, without warrant or tail ſuing for the ſame.

Sheriffs allowances that have no tails of reward.

And alſo that all Sheriffs which hereafter ſhall take no tail of reward, and every of them, ſhal be diſcharged upon their accompts of all ſuch ferms, goods, chattels, profits, caſualties, and ſums of money, which they might or ſhould be charged with upon their accompts in the ſaid Exchequer, by what title or name ſoever they be named, or upon whatſoever perſon or perſons they ſhall be ſtreated, or out of whatſoever lands and tenements they ſhall be going forth, as they cannot levy or come by.

And that all other Sheriffs which hereafter ſhall take any tail of reward, ſhall in like manner be diſcharged of all ferms and ſums of money aforeſaid (except only of the Vicountels of their ſhires wherewith they ſhall be charged, and anſwerable as they were before the making of the foreſaid former Act.) And alſo the ſame Sheriffs of every Shire of England that now be, or heretofore have been, or that hereafter ſhall be, and every of them, ſhall have plain deduction and allowance in their ſaid accompts of all ſuch ſum and ſums of money as they or any of them, ſhall make, or have made true petition of, for, or concerning ſuch poſſeſſions and hereditaments, as be come unto, or were in the Kings Majeſties hands, or any his Progenitors, by unity of poſſeſſion, or by any mean, out of the which any part or parcel of the foreſaid Vicountels, were at any time heretofore leviable or levied. And that the Lord Treaſurer, Chamberlain, Chancellor and Barons of the ſaid Exchequer, or in the abſence of the ſaid Lord Treaſurer, Chamberlain, and Chancellor, the ſaid Barons ſhall by authority of this Act, give and make allowance, deduction and exoneration, to every of the ſaid Sheriffs of the ſaid ferms, and of all other things without any other warrant.

Sheriffs allowances for ſuch Vicountels concerning poſſeſſions as be come to the Kings hands by unity of poſſeſſion

Provided alway, That every of the ſaid Sheriffs at his day of prefection, immediately after that he or his Deputy or Attorney is ſworn to accompt for the iſſues and profits of his office of Sheriffwick, ſhall by himſelf or by his Attorney or Deputy, ſworn for him, when he ſhall anſwer before the Lord Treaſurer, Chamberlains, Chancellor and Barons of the ſaid Exchequer, or in the abſence of the ſaid Lord Treaſurer, Chamberlain or Chancellor, or of any of them: then before ſuch of the ſaid Lord Treaſurer, Chamberlains, or Chancellor, and of the ſaid Barons, as then ſhall happen to be preſent, in the ſaid Court of Exchequer, to bring in and deliver into the ſaid Court-Rolls, Cedules of Parchment, containing in them truly, without omiſſion or concealment, all ſuch particular ſums of money which he hath levied, or lawfully might have levied, to his weting or knowledge within his Bayliwick, as part or parcel, as well of the ſaid ferms, called Vicountels, in the ſaid former Act expreſſed, as of all other ferms, of what name or title ſoever they be called, being ſtreated, written, or otherwiſe charged to any of the ſaid Sheriffs, out of the ſaid Court of Exchequer, making expreſs and diſtinct mention in the ſame Rolls or Cedules, as nigh as he or they can or may, of what perſon, and what lands and tenements, and for what cauſe the ſame particular ſums of money, and every of them be levied or leviable: and that after the ſame Rolls or Cedules ſo delivered, and the particular ſums of money in them contained, appertaining to their proper ferms, caſt and rated in the ſaid Court, the ſaid Lord Treaſurer, Chamberlain, Chancellor and the ſaid Barons, in the abſence of the ſaid Treaſurer, Chamberlains, or Chancellor, or any of them for the time being, ſhall have full power and authority by this Act, for the levying and recovery of ſuch parcels belonging to any the ſaid ferms, called Vicountels, or any other ferms, by what name or title ſoever they ſhall be called, being omitted out of the ſaid Rolls or Cedules, and for ſaving of other the Kings ancient rights and inheritances, anſwerable, in the ſaid Exchequer, which be now wrongfully withdrawn, or unjuſtly withholden from the Kings Majeſty his poſſeſſions: and ſhall have power and authority from time to time to award ſuch proceſs, and uſe ſuch convenient ways and means by commiſſion or otherwiſe, according to the courſe of the ſaid Exchequer, and further as ſhall be deviſed by their diſcretion: ſo that the Kings Majeſty, his heirs and ſucceſſors, may be truly anſwered of the iſſues and profits of the ſame: this Act, or any other Statute, Act, Ordinance, or uſe heretofore, to the contrary had, made or uſed in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

The Sheriff ſhall be ſworn to bring into the Exchequer Rolls of parchment, of money which he hath or might have levied.

Proceſs ſhall be awarded out of the Exchequer to enquire of the Kings debt.

And furthermore, That the ſaid Treaſurer, Chamberlains, Chancellor, and Barons of the ſaid Exchequer, or the ſaid Barons in the abſence of the ſaid Treaſurer, Chamberlains, or Chancellor, or any of them for the time being, ſhall have full power and authority by their diſcretions, from time to time, to give and allow, unto all and every ſuch Commiſſioner or Commiſſioners, as they ſhall aſſign and appoint by their diſcretion, to enquire of the ſaid ferms, and other the Kings rights withdrawn, their reaſonable coſts and charges, as from time to time, to them ſhall ſeem good and convenient.

Allowance made to Commiſſioners for their coſts.

CAP. V.

Such fee-ferms and ſums of money paid for fee-ferms, as by any City, Borough, or Town corporate within England or Wales, or by the bodies corporate or politick, Officers or Miniſters of the ſame, ought to be due and payable to the King, &c. during three years next enſuing, ſhall ceaſe, and not be due: and ſhall be beſtowed about repairing of walls, bridges, ſetting poor on work, or other good deeds in every ſuch City, &c. But if the King hath granted the fee-ferm to any other, he ſhall enjoy it. EXP. Stat. 3 Ed. 6. 18.

And whereas alſo great complaints have been made, and informations alſo yearly to the Kings Majeſties moſt honourable Council: for reformation whereof, and to the intent alſo, That the ſaid Merchants and Fiſhermen may have occaſion the rather to practice and uſe the ſame trade of Merchandiſe and fiſhing freely without any ſuch charges or exactions, as is before limited, whereby it is to be thought, that more plenty of fiſh ſhall come into this Realm, and thereby to have the ſame at more reaſonable price.

There ſhall be no exaction by the Admiral or his officers of any Merchant, &c. travelling for fiſh.

Be it therefore enacted by the King our Soveraign Lord, and the Lords and Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That neither the Admiral nor any officer nor miniſter, officers or miniſters of ye Admiralty for the time being, ſhall in any wiſe hereafter exact, receive or take by himſelf, his ſervant, deputy, ſervants or deputies of any ſuch merchant or fiſherman, any ſum or ſums of money, doles or ſhares of fiſh, or any other reward, benefit or advantage whatſoever it be, for any licence to paſs this Realm to the ſaid voyages or any of them: Nor upon any reſpect concerning the ſaid voyages or any of them, upon pain to forfeit for the firſt offence, treble the ſum, or treble the value of the reward, benefit or advantage, that any ſuch officer or miniſter ſhall hereafter have or take, of any ſuch merchant or fiſherman. CAP. X.

In what manner Malt ſhall be made and uſed.

Where divers and ſundry perſons taking upon them the art and myſtery of Maltmaking, and tendering more their own private lucre, gain and profit, then the wholeſom victualing of the Kings Majeſty, the Nobility of this Realm, and other his Graces ſubjects, have now of late by their unſatiable, covetous and greedy minds, accuſtomably and commonly made much Malt, unpure and unſeaſonable, for that they have made the ſame Malt in eight or nine days, where indeed the ſame cannot be well and perfectly made, unleſs it have the time and ſpace of xii. days in the making thereof. And where alſo divers and ſundry of the ſaid makers of Malt, commonly have, and do ſlackly and deceitfully dry the Malt ſo by them made, for that they would have an inordinate increaſe thereof by the ſwelling of the ſaid Malt, whereby the ſame Malt not being ſufficiently dryed, cannot be kept any long time or ſpace, but it will be muſty and full of weavels, whereby no wholeſom drink for mans body can by any means be thereof made, which is not only to the great peril and danger of the Nobility, and other the Kings Highneſs ſubjects within this Realm, and alſo to the great loſs and decay of the Commonwealth of the ſame, but alſo an utter impoveriſhment of the Brewers of this ſaid Realm, for that the ſaid Brewers (over and beſides the unwholſomneſs of the drink which is commonly made thereof) cannot make ſo much drink of fifty quarters of Malt, being ſo evil dryed and made, as they might and can make of fourty quarters being well and truly made. And alſo foraſmuch as divers and ſundry perſons, minding and ſeeking their own private and exceſſive gain and profit, forgetting thereby their duty, and the order or charity towards the Commonwealth and their neighbours in this behalf, do commonly uſe to put and mix good Malt & evil Malt together, and after put the ſame Malt to ſale as good Malt, whereby many of the Kings ſubjects have been, and are like to be very often deceived, to their great loſs and hindrance, contrary to the honeſt, ſeemly and godly buying, ſelling, and commutation that ſhould or ought to be amongſt Chriſtian people, ſpecially in things concerning the ſuſtentation and ſuſtenance of mans body.

Coke Inſt. 4. par. 173.

Several unlawful practiſes uſed in the making and ſelling of Malt.

For remedy whereof, it may pleaſe the Kings Majeſty, with the advice of his Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, That it may be eſtabliſhed and enacted by the authority of the ſame, That no ſuch perſon or perſons at any time after the firſt day of March next coming, ſhall make any Barley-Malt (the moneths of June, July and Auguſt only excepted) but that the ſame ſhall have in making thereof, that is to ſay, in the fat, floor, ſteeping, and ſufficient drying of the ſaid Malt, three weeks at the leaſt: and that no ſuch perſon or perſons at any time within the ſaid moneths of June, July and Auguſt, ſhall make any Barley-Malt, except the ſame have in the fat, floor, ſteeping, and ſufficient drying, the time and ſpace of ſeventeen days at the leaſt, under and without which time and times, the ſaid Malt cannot be well and perfectly made, nor wholſom for mans body: upon pain to forfeit and loſe for every quarter of Malt, which ſhall be made by any perſon or perſons, contrary to the tenor, purport, and true meaning of this Act, ii. s. And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no perſon or perſons, after the firſt day of March next coming, ſhall mingle or put together any Malt, not being well and ſufficiently made, or being made of Mow-burnt or ſpired Barley, with other good Malt, and after put the ſame ſo mingled to ſale, upon pain to forfeit and loſe for every quarter ſo mingled and put to ſale, two ſhillings.

How long time Malt ſhall be in the fat, floor, ſteeping, and drying.

None ſhall mingle good Malt with evil to ſell.

Malt ſhall be well troden, rubbed, and fanned. St. 17 R. 2. 4.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the Juſtices of Peace in every of their Seſſions, and alſo the Steward in every Leet, ſhall have full power and authority by vertue of this Act, to enquire, hear and determine, as well by preſentment of xij. men, as by accuſation or information of two honeſt witneſſes, of, for and upon all and every the offences and forfeitures aforeſaid, as well for the King, as for the party that ſhall ſue, procure or cauſe the ſame to be preſented, as is beforeſaid. And that the Bailiffs and Conſtables of every Borough or Market Town, or other Town where any ſuch Malt ſhall be made, or put to ſale, ſhall have full power and authority from time to time, to view, ſearch and ſurvey all ſuch Malt, as ſhall be made or put to ſale within any of the ſaid Towns. And if any of them ſhall thereupon find any Malt ſo put to ſale, being evil made, or mingled with evil Malt, contrary to the tenour and true meaning of this preſent Act: That then the ſaid Bailiff or Conſtable, ſo finding any ſuch Malt evil made, or mingled as is aforeſaid, with the advice of one Juſtice of Peace within the ſame Shire, ſhall cauſe the ſame to be ſold to ſuch perſon or perſons, and at ſuch reaſonable price or prices, and under the common price of the market, as to his diſcretion ſhall ſeem neceſſary and expedient.

Juſtices, Stewards of Leets, and officers of Towns ſhall puniſh offendors.

Malt made for a mans own proviſion.

Within what time an offendor ſhall be preſented.

Provided alway, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act, nor any thing therein contained, ſhall not extend to charge, or be, to the making of Malt for any mans own proviſion for his own houſe or family, neither prejudicial to any perſon or perſons, for, or concerning any of the offences or forfeitures aforeſaid: except he or they ſo offending, ſhall happen to be ſued, preſented and accuſed for the ſame, in manner and form aforeſaid, within one year next after any ſuch offence or offences to be done or committed, any thing in this preſent Act to the contrary notwithſtanding. This preſent Act to continue until the end of the next Parliament. 27 El. 14. 1 Jac. 25. 21 Jac. 28. and 3 Car. 4. continued.

Provided nevertheleſs, where heretofore ſuch a cuſtom hath been in many parts of Wales, that of ſuch cattel and other goods, as hath been given with the marriage of any perſon, their Tithes have been exacted and levied by the Parſons and Curates in thoſe parts: which cuſtom being diſſonant from any part of this Realm, as it ſeemed when the ſaid Countrey of Wales was through civil diſſention unculted, for want of other ſufficient profits that might otherwiſe grow to the Curates and Miniſters there, to have been for that time tolerable: ſo now the Countrey being well manured and husbanded, and the Tithe is duly paid there, of corn, hay, wool and cheeſe, and of other increaſe of all manner of cattel, as it is commonly in all other parts of this Realm, the ſame cuſtom ſeems to be grievous and unreaſonable, ſpecially where the Benefices are elſe ſufficient for the finding of the ſaid Miniſters and Curates: that it be therefore enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That from and after the firſt day of May next coming, no ſuch Tithes of marriage goods be exacted or required of any perſon within the ſaid Dominion of Wales, or marches of the ſame: any thing in this Act contained, or any other Act, Cuſtom, Preſcription, had or made to the contrary hereof notwithſtanding. CAP. XIV.

No perſon may ſhoot with an hand-gun in City or Town, at a mark: or elſe ſhoot with hail-ſhot.

Whereas an Act made in the xxxiij. year of the late King of famous memory Henry the Eighth, for ſome liberty to ſhoot in Hand-guns, Haques and Harquebuts, by which Act nevertheleſs it was provided, That no perſon ſhould ſhoot in any of the abovesaid pieces, but at a bank of earth, and not at any Deer or Fowl, unleſs the party might diſpend an C. pound by the year: foraſmuch as the ſaid Act having been deviſed, as it was then thought for neceſſary exerciſe, tending to the defence of the Realm, is grown ſithen to the maintenance of much idleneſs, and to ſuch a liberty, as not onely dwelling-houſes, Dove-cotes and Churches are daily damaged by the abuſe thereof, by men of light converſation, but that alſo there is grown a cuſtomable manner of ſhooting of hail-ſhot, whereby an infinite ſort of Fowl is killed, and much game thereby deſtroyed, to the benefit of no man, whereby alſo the meaning of the ſaid Statute is defrauded, for that the ſaid uſe of hail-ſhot utterly deſtroyeth the certainty of ſhooting, which in wars is much requiſite: Be it therefore enacted, That no perſon under the degree of a Lord of the Parliament, ſhall from henceforth ſhoot in any hand-gun, within any City or Town, at any Fowl or other mark, upon any Church-houſe or Dove-cote: neither that any perſon ſhall ſhoot in any place any hail-ſhot, or any more pellots then one, at one time, upon pain to forfeit for every time that he or they ſhall ſo offend, contrary to this Act, x. pound, and impriſonment of his body during three moneths.

The names of thoſe that ſhoot in hand-guns ſhall be preſented to a Juſtice and recorded.

Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act, nor any thing therein contained, ſhall extend or be prejudicial to any perſon or perſons, authoriſed by value of land, to ſhoot in any hand-gun or croſs-bow, but that they may ſo do, in ſuch form and order as they ſhould do, and might have done before the making of this Act (hail-ſhot excepted) as indeed that kind of ſhot in the ſaid Act was not meant: and that all and every other perſon or perſons, authoriſed to ſhoot, or otherwiſe, if he inhabit in any Town corporate, be preſented to the Mayor, or other Officer of the ſame, and inhabiting in the Country, be preſented within one moneth, after the publiſhing of this Act, to the next Juſtice of Peace adjoyning, in which caſes the ſaid Mayor, Juſtice, or other Officer ſo taking their names as is aforeſaid, ſhall again preſent and record the ſame before a Juſtice of the Peace at the next quarter Seſſions, to the intent the Clerk of the Peace of the County, may keep a certain book or roll of the names of all ſuch perſons, by the which the Kings Majeſty may from time to time be aſcertained, how many meet and able men, exerciſed in that feat, be in every County, that the ſame may be employed in his Graces ſervice, as need and occaſion ſhall require, upon pain that every perſon offending in this Act, in preſuming to ſhoot in any hand-gun or half-haque, without the preſenting of his name, as is aforeſaid, ſhall forfeit for every ſhot the ſum of xx. s. the one moity whereof to be to our Sovereign Lord the King, and the other moity to him or them that will ſue for the ſame, by bill, action, plaint, information, or otherwiſe. The Officer that ſhould take their names, and preſent the ſame, as is aboveſaid, to incur for the lack of his duty in this part, for every time ſo offending like pain.

CAP. XV.

Victuallers conſpiring to ſell their victuals but at certain prices, and Labourers conſpiring touching their works, ſhall be puniſhed.

The puniſhment of Victuallers conſpiring not to ſell their victuals but at certain prices.

The puniſhment of Labourers conſpiring touching the times or manner of their work, Stat. 5 El. 4.

Foraſmuch as of late divers ſellers of victuals, not contented with moderate and reaſonable gain, but minding to have and to take for their victuals ſo much as luſt them, have conſpired and covenanted together, to ſell their victuals at unreaſonable prices: And likewiſe Artificers, handicrafts-men and labourers, have made confederacies and promiſes, and have ſworn mutual oaths, not onely that they ſhould not meddle one with others work, and perform and finiſh that another hath begun, but alſo to conſtitute and appoint how much work they ſhall do in a day, and what hours and times they ſhall work, contrary to the Laws and Statutes of this Realm, and to the great hurt and impoveriſhment of the Kings Majeſties ſubjects: for reformation thereof, it is ordained and enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, the Lords and Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That if any Butchers, Brewers, Bakers, Poulterers, Cooks, Coſtermongers or Fruiterers, ſhall at any time from and after the firſt day of March next coming, conſpire, covenant, promiſe or make any oaths, that they ſhall not ſell their victuals but at certain prices, or if any artificers, workmen or labourers, do conſpire, covenant or promiſe together, or make any oaths, that they ſhall not make or do their works, but at a certain price or rate, or ſhall not enterpriſe or take upon them to finiſh that another hath begun, or ſhall do but a certain work in a day, or ſhall not work but at certain hours and times, that then every perſon ſo conſpiring, covenanting, ſwearing or offending, being lawfully convict thereof by witneſs, confeſſion, or otherwiſe, ſhall forfeit for the firſt offence x. l. to the Kings Highneſs, and if he have ſufficient to pay the ſame, and do alſo pay the ſame within ſix days next after his conviction, or elſe ſhall ſuffer for the ſame offence twenty days impriſonment, and ſhall onely have bread and water for his ſuſtenance. And for the ſecond offence ſhall forfeit xx. l. to the King, if he have ſufficient to pay the ſame, and do pay the ſame within ſix days next after his conviction, or elſe ſhall ſuffer for the ſecond offence puniſhment of the Pillory. And for the third offence, ſhall forfeit xl. l. to the King, if he have ſufficient to pay the ſame, and alſo do pay the ſame within ſix days next after his conviction, or elſe ſhall ſit on the Pillory, and loſe one of his ears, and alſo ſhall at all times after that be taken as a man infamous, and his ſayings, depoſitions or oath not to be credited at any time in any matters of judgment.

A conſpiracy by a Society or Company of Victuallers.

And if it fortune any ſuch conſpiracy, covenant or promiſe to be had and made by any Society, Brotherhood or Company of any Craft, Myſtery or Occupation, of the Victuallers above mentioned, with the preſence or conſent of the more part of them, that then immediately upon ſuch act of conſpiracy, covenant or promiſe, had or made, over and beſides the particular puniſhment before in this Act appointed for the offendor, their Corporation ſhall be diſſolved to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes.

Which Magiſtrates may inquire of and puniſh offendors.

And it is further ordained and enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all and ſingular Juſtices of Aſſiſe, Juſtices of Peace, Mayors, Bailiffs, and Stewards of Leets, at all and every their Seſſions, Leets and Courts, ſhall have full power and authority to inquire, hear and determine all and ſingular offences committed againſt this Statute, and to puniſh or cauſe to be puniſhed the offendor, according to the tenour of this Statute.

None of theſe Occupations ſhall be prohibited to work in any Town, though he doth not dwell therein. REP. 3 & 4 Ed. 6. 20.

And it is ordained and enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no perſon or perſons ſhall at any time after the firſt day of April next coming, interrupt, deny, let or diſturb any free Maſon, rough Maſon, Carpenter, Bricklayer, Plaiſterer, Joyner, Hardhewer, Sawyer, Tiler, Pavier, Glaſier, Lime-burner, Brick-maker, Tile-maker, Plummer or Labourer, born in this Realm, or made Denizen, to work in any of the ſaid crafts in any City, Borough or Town Corporate, with any perſon or perſons that will retain him or them, albeit the ſaid perſon and perſons ſo retained, or any of them, do not inhabit or dwell in the City, Borough or Town-corporate where he or they ſhall work, nor be free of the ſame City, Borough or Town, any Statute, Law, Ordinance, or other thing whatſoever had or made to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding. And that upon pain of forfeiture of v. l. for every interruption or diſturbance done contrary to this Statute, the one moiety of every ſuch forfeiture to be to the King, and the other moiety thereof to be to him or them that will ſue for the ſame in any of the Kings Courts of Record, by bill, plaint, action of debt, or information, wherein no wager of law, eſſoin nor protection ſhall be allowed.

CAP. XVI.

Sir Thomas Seymor, Lord Seymor, Lord Admiral, attainted of high Treaſon, for attempting to get into his cuſtody the perſon of the King, and the government of the Realm, for obtaining many offices, retaining many men into his ſervice, for making great proviſion of money and victuals, and for endeavouring to marry the Lady Elizabeth the Kings Siſter, and for perſwading the King in his tender age to take upon him the rule and order of himſelf. All perſons ſhall be paid ſuch debts as the ſaid Lord Seymor did owe them. PR.

CAP. XIX.

Eating of fleſh on certain days and times forbidden.

Albeit the Kings ſubjects now having a more perfect and clear light of the Goſpel, and true Word of GOD, through the infinite mercy and clemency of Almighty GOD, by the hands of the Kings Majeſty, and his moſt noble Father of famous memory, promulgate, ſhewed, declared and opened, and thereby perceiving, that one day, or one meat of it ſelf is not more holy, more pure, or more clean then another, for that all days and all meats be of their nature of one equal purity, cleanneſs and holineſs, and that all men ſhould by them live to the glory of GOD, and at all times, and for all meats give thanks unto him, of which meats none can defile Chriſtian men, or make them unclean at any time, to whom all meats be lawful and pure, ſo that they be not uſed in diſobedience or vice: Yet foraſmuch as divers of the Kings ſubjects, turning their knowledge therein to ſatisfie their ſenſuality, where they ſhould thereby increaſe in vertue, have of late time more then in times paſt, broken and contemned ſuch abſtinence, which hath been uſed in this Realm upon the Fridays and Saturdays, the Embring days, and other days, commonly called Vigils, and in the time commonly called Lent, and other accuſtomed times: the Kings Majeſty conſidering, that due and godly abſtinence is a mean to vertue, and to ſubdue mens bodies to their ſoul and ſpirit, and conſidering alſo that Fiſhers, and men uſing the trade of living by fiſhing in the Sea, may thereby the rather be ſet on work, and that by eating of fiſh much fleſh ſhall be ſaved and increaſed, and alſo for divers other conſiderations and commodities of this Realm, doth ordain and enact, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That all manner of ſtatutes, laws, conſtitutions and uſages, concerning any manner of faſting or abſtinence from any kinds of meats, heretofore in this Realm made or uſed, ſhall from the firſt day of May next enſuing, loſe their force and ſtrength, and be void and of none effect.

Embring days, Lent.

All Laws concerning faſting repealed.

And alſo that no perſon or perſons, of what eſtate, degree or condition he or they be, ſhall at any time after the ſaid firſt day of May, in the year of our Lord God MDXLIX. willingly and wittingly eat any manner of fleſh, after what manner of kind or ſort it ſhall be ordered, dreſſed or uſed, upon any Friday or Saturday, or the Embring-days, or in any day in the time commonly called Lent, nor at any ſuch other day, as is or ſhall be at any time hereafter commonly accepted and reputed as a Fiſh-day, within this Realm of England, wherein it hath been commonly uſed for to eat fiſh and not fleſh, upon pain that every perſon eating any manner of fleſh upon any of the ſaid days or times prohibited by this Act, to forfeit for the ſaid firſt offence ten ſhillings of lawful money of England, and alſo to ſuffer impriſonment by the ſpace of ten days, and during the time of his or her ſaid impriſonment, to abſtain from eating any manner of fleſh.

The penalty for eating of fleſh upon any day uſed commonly as a fiſh day.
Stat. 5 El. 5.
27 El. 11.

And if any perſon, after he ſhall be lawfully convict of any offence contrary to this Act, doth eſt-ſoons offend contrary to this Act, and be thereof lawfully convict, that then every perſon ſo offending the ſecond time, ſhall for his ſecond offence forfeit twenty ſhillings of lawful money of England, and alſo ſuffer impriſonment by the ſpace of twenty days, and during the time of his or her ſaid impriſonment, to abſtain from eating of any manner of fleſh, and ſo like pain and impriſonment as often as he or ſhe afterwards ſhall offend.

The penalty for the ſecond offence.

And furthermore it is ordained and enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That Juſtices of Gaol-delivery, and Juſtices of Peace, in all and ſingular Counties, Cities, Towns corporate, and other places within this Realm of England, and other the Kings Dominions, ſhall have full power and authority to enquire, hear and determine all & all manner offences that ſhall be committed or done contrary to this Act, in like manner and form as they may enquire, hear and determine any treſpaſs, or other offence againſt the Kings Peace committed or done, within the limits or place where they then ſhall be Juſtices of Gaol-delivery, or Juſtices of Peace. And the moity of every ſuch forfeiture ſhall be extreated into the Court of the Exchequer, in like manner and form, as fines for any treſpaſs, or other offence committed againſt the Kings Peace, ought or ſhould be extreated: and the other moity of the ſaid forfeiture ſhall be to him that will ſue for the ſame by bill, plaint, information or otherwiſe, in any of the Kings Courts of Record, in which no eſſoin, protection, or wager of Law ſhall be allowed.

Juſtices of Gaol-delivery and Peace ſhall determine theſe offences.

To what perſons this Statute ſhall not extend.

Provided always, and be it ordained and enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act, or any thing therein contained, ſhall not in any wiſe extend to any perſon or perſons that heretofore hath, or hereafter ſhall have obtained any licence of our Sovereign Lord the King, his Heirs or Succeſſors, nor to any perſon being in great age, and in debility and weakneſs thereby, nor to any perſon being ſick or notably hurt, without fraud or covin, during the time of his or her ſaid ſickneſs, nor to any woman being with child, or lying in child-bed, for eating of ſuch one kind of fleſh, as ſhe ſhall have great luſt unto, nor to any perſon being in priſon, for any other offence then for any offence contrary to this Act; neither to any that is, or hereafter ſhall be the Kings Highneſs Lieutenant, Deputy or Captain of any his Majeſties Army, Hold or Fortreſs: but the ſame themſelves may eat fleſh, and licence and permit their ſouldiers to do the ſame in times prohibited, upon the want and lack of other kind of victual: neither ſhall extend to St. Laurence Even, St. Marks day, or any other day or even being abrogate, neither to any ſuch as heretofore have obtained any licence in due form of the Archbiſhop of Canterbury.

St. Laurence even and St. Marks day.

And further be it enacted by authority aforeſaid, That all Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Archdeacons, and their Officers, or the Officers of any of them, ſhall have power to inquire of the offendors in the premiſſes, and preſent the ſame to ſuch from time to time, as by vertue of this Act have authority to hear and determine the ſame.

Within what time the offendor ſhall be indicted.

Provided always, and be it enacted, That no manner of perſon or perſons be impeached, moleſted or troubled, or ſhall incur any pain, penalty or forfeiture for any offence contrary to the Act before rehearſed, committed or done, except he or they be accuſed, convented or indicted, of and for the ſaid offence, according to the tenour of this Statute, within three moneths next after the committing of the ſaid offence. 5 & 6 Ed. 6. 3.

CAP. XX.

An Incumbent, for not paying of his Tenths due to the King, the ſame being demanded, ſhall be deprived of that benefice.

Where in the Parliament holden upon prorogation at Weſtminſter, the third day of November, in the ſix and twentieth year of the Reign of the moſt excellent Prince, King Henry the Eighth, Father to our Sovereign Lord the Kings Majeſty that now is, amongſt other things concerning the paiment of one annual penſion of the tenth part of all poſſeſſions of the Church, Spiritual and Temporal, granted to the Kings Highneſs and his Heirs, it was enacted, ordained and eſtabliſhed, That every Eccleſiaſtical perſon, and other, having any Eccleſiaſtical promotion or dignity, ſpecified in the ſaid Act, which did not duly pay the ſaid tenth part, and by reaſon thereof were certified by the Archbiſhop, Biſhop, or other authoriſed in the ſaid Act, ſhould upon ſuch certificate made according to the tenor of the ſaid Act, be judged, deprived ipſo facto, of all ſuch dignities and promotions Spiritual, that any ſuch Incumbent, making ſuch default, had at the time of any ſuch certificate made, or at any time after, as by the ſaid Act more plainly may appear.

The inconveniences enſuing by the Statute of 26 H. 8. 3. touching deprivation of all a mans Spiritual livings for lack of paiment of the Tenth of one.

Foraſmuch as the pain limited in the ſaid Statute, in ſuch form and manner as in the ſame is expreſſed, is very ſore and dangerous unto all the Kings faithful and obedient ſubjects of the Clergy, whereof divers ſithen the making of the ſaid Statute, intending none otherwiſe then moſt willingly and with good heart that paiment ſhould be made of the ſaid Tenths by them due, without fraud or delay, to ſuch Officers, and at ſuch time as by the ſaid Statutes is appointed and declared, by the default and negligence of their farmors, and other whom they have truſted to make paiment thereof, and by divers other ſiniſter means being certified, or making default of paiment thereof, have incurred the pain and danger of the ſaid Statute, with the loſs or deprivations of all the Spiritual promotions, whereof they were then Incumbents; being alſo made unable to take any other, to the utter undoing of ſuch perſons, and the like peril and danger of many other the Kings moſt humble and faithful ſubjects of the Clergy, againſt whom the like things may be practiſed and attempted hereafter: for the moderation of which pain, and to the end that the Kings Majeſty, our Sovereign Lord that now is, and his Heirs and Succeſſors may be truly anſwered and ſatisfied of the ſaid yearly penſion or annual rent of the tenth part, united and knit to his Imperial Crown, in manner and form as in the ſaid Act is contained:

The penalty for default of paiment of Tenths ſhall be the forfeiture of that onely Benefice out of the which the ſame is due.

The Kings ſaid faithful and moſt obedient ſubjects, the Clergy of this Realm, do moſt humbly beſeech His Majeſty, that it may be enacted and eſtabliſhed by his Highneſs, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That if any ſum of the ſaid annual penſion, being once due, and demanded according to the manner and form ſpecified in the ſaid Act, be not truly contented and paid unto ſuch Archbiſhop or Biſhop, or their Miniſters and Officers, or to ſuch other perſon or perſons, or their Miniſters or Servants, as ſhall have the charge and collection thereof every year yearly, at the time of the ſaid Act expreſſed, and thereupon certificate made into the Kings Majeſties Court of Firſt-fruits and Tenths, in writing under the ſeals of any Archbiſhop or Biſhop, or of ſuch as be limited and charged to the collection of the ſaid penſion, by the ſaid former Act, then every Incumbent ſo making default and certified, ſhall be judged, deprived ipſo facto, of that onely dignity, benefice, or other Eccleſiaſtical promotion, by what name ſoever it be called, whereof ſuch certificate ſhall be made. So that ſuch dignity, benefice, or other Eccleſiaſtical promotion, whereof any Incumbent making ſuch default of paiment, ſhall be judged, deprived, as is aforeſaid, ſhall be clearly void and deſtitute of Incumbent in the Law, to all intents and purpoſes, as if ſuch Incumbent, making ſuch default of paiment, were dead indeed.

And that no Incumbent making ſuch default of paiment, ſhall be therefore made unable to take or enjoy any other benefice or promotion Spiritual, or incur any penalty, forfeiture or loſs to be paied by them, their executors or aſſigns for the ſame default, other then in this preſent Act is heretofore expreſſed: any thing in the ſaid former Act, or any other Statutes or Acts contained to the contrary notwithſtanding.

Provided alway, That the ſaid former Act, concerning the paiment of the ſaid yearly rent and penſion, amounting to the tenth part of every ſuch dignity, benefice or promotion Spiritual, and every other Act touching the ſame, and all articles, clauſes and ſentences in them, or any of them mentioned, expreſſed or contained, now being in his or their force and effect, other then ſuch as by this preſent Act be already qualified or moderated, ſhall ſtand and abide in all his or their full ſtrength, effect and vertue: Any thing in this preſent Act contained notwithſtanding. 1 El. 4.

CAP. XXI.

All Laws prohibiting Spiritual perſons to marry, who by Gods Law may marry, ſhall be void.

The benefits which would enſue if Prieſts and Miniſters did live chaſte, ſole and unmarried.

Although it were not onely better, for the eſtimation of Prieſts, and other Miniſters in the Church of God, to live chaſte, ſole and ſeparate from the company of women, and the bond of marriage, but alſo thereby they might the better intend to the adminiſtration of the Goſpel, and be leſs intricated and troubled with the charge of houſhold, being free and unburdened from the care and coſt of finding wife and children, & that it were moſt to be wiſhed, that they would willingly and of their ſelves endeavour themſelves to a perpetual chaſtity and abſtinence from the uſe of women: yet foraſmuch as the contrary hath rather been ſeen, and ſuch uncleanneſs of living, and other great inconveniences, not meet to be rehearſed, have followed of compelled chaſtity, and of ſuch Laws as have prohibited thoſe (ſuch perſons) the godly uſe of marriage: It were better and rather to be ſuffered in the Commonwealth, that thoſe which could not contain, ſhould after the counſel of Scripture live in holy marriage, then feignedly abuſe with worſe enormity outward chaſtity or ſingle life.

All Laws, &c. which do prohibit marriage to Spiritual perſons, that by Gods Law may marry, ſhall be void.

Be it therefore enacted by our Sovereign Lord the King, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That all and every Law and Laws poſitive, Canons, Conſtitutions and Ordinances, heretofore made by authority of man onely, which do prohibit or forbid marriage to any Eccleſiaſtical or Spiritual perſon or perſons, of what eſtate, condition, or degree they be, or by what name or names ſoever they be called, which by Gods Law may lawfully marry, in all and every article, branch and ſentence, concerning onely the prohibition for the marriage of the perſons aforeſaid, ſhall be utterly void and of none effect. And that all manner of forfeitures, pains and penalties, crimes or actions, which were in the ſaid Laws contained, and of the ſame did follow, concerning the prohibition for the marriage of the perſons aforeſaid, be clearly and utterly void, fruſtrate and of none effect, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as well concerning marriage heretofore made by any of the Eccleſiaſtical or Spiritual perſons aforeſaid, as alſo ſuch which hereafter ſhall be duly and lawfully had, celebrate and made betwixt the perſons, which by the Laws of God may lawfully marry.

No marriage without asking in the Church.

Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act, or any thing therein contained, ſhall not extend to give any liberty to any perſon to marry without Asking in the Church, or without any ceremony, being appointed by the order preſcribed and ſet forth in the book intituled, The Book of the Common Prayer, and adminiſtration of the Sacraments, &c. any thing above mentioned to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

Decrees and divorces heretofore made.

Provided alſo, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act, or any thing therein contained, ſhall not extend to alter, change, revoke, repeal, or otherwiſe to diſannul any decree, judgment, ſentence or divorce heretofore had or made, but that all and every ſuch decree, judgment, ſentence and divorce, ſhall remain and be of ſuch like force, effect, ſtrength and degree, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as they were in before the making of this Act, and as though this Act had never been had ne made: This Act, or any thing therein contained, to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding. Stat. 1 M. 2. 1 Jac. 25. 5 Ed. 6. 12.

CAP. XXII.

The penalty for cuſtoming other mens goods, whereby the King loſeth his duty.

Where at the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, in the firſt year of the Reign of the noble King of famous memory, Henry the Eighth, it was ordained, eſtabliſhed and enacted by the authority of the ſaid Parliament, That it ſhould be lawful from thenceforth, that every Engliſhman, and all other the Kings ſubjects, might in every Port or Haven within this Realm of England, Ireland and Wales, and the Marches of the ſame, and in the Town of Barwick, where it ſhould happen any merchandiſe to arrive, or to be charged and carried out to cuſtom in his name, all manner of goods and merchandiſe, of another Engliſhman, or the Kings ſubject: and in like form every merchant ſtranger to cuſtom in his name any goods or merchandiſe of any other merchant ſtranger, ſo that the ſaid merchant ſtranger that cuſtoms the goods of another merchant ſtranger, and the very owner or proprietary of the goods ſo cuſtomed, be chaged with like cuſtom, ſubſidy, and other things, ſo that the Kings Grace were not defrauded of his right.

And if any merchant ſtranger or denizen, or any other the Kings ſubject, cuſtom any goods

A confirmation of the Statute of 1 H.8.5. touching cuſtoming of goods in the name of others.

goods or merchandiſe, of any other ſtranger or denizen, or of any other the Kings ſubject, whereby the Kings Grace ſhould loſe his cuſtom, ſubſidy, or other his right or duty, that then the ſaid merchant ſtranger or denizen, or any other the Kings ſubject, that ſo taketh upon him or them to do, ſhould forfeit to the King the goods or merchandiſe ſo cuſtomed, and over that to forfeit to the party or parties in that behalf grieved, as much money as the goods or merchandiſe of the merchant ſtranger, denizen, or other the Kings ſubject, ſo cautelouſly cuſtomed, amounted unto.

And that no citizen of London, or other the Kings ſubjects inhabiting in the Cinque-ports, or any other being free of Priſage or Butlarage of Wines, by grant, cuſtom, or otherwiſe, ſhould cuſtom no Wines, of any perſon or perſons, not being free of any Priſage or Butlarage: And if any perſon free of the ſaid Priſage or Butlarage ſo did, that then the ſaid perſon or perſons that ſo did, ſhould forfeit to the King the double value of the Priſage of the ſaid Wines ſo cuſtomed. And further, that it ſhould be lawful to any perſon and perſons, grieved contrary to the ſaid Act, to have an action of debt againſt any perſon or perſons that ſo cuſtomed the goods or merchandiſe in his name, and not in the owners name, of the ſum of the value of the ſaid merchandiſe ſo cuſtomed and forfeited. In the which action no eſſoin or protection ſhould lie, nor the Defendant to wage his Law, as by the ſaid former Act more at large doth appear. Sithence the making of which Act, divers perſons, as well ſtrangers and denizens, as the Kings ſubjects, forgetting their bounden duties to the Kings Highneſs, and nothing fearing the penalties and forfeitures mentioned in the ſaid former Act, do daily deceive the King, as well in his cuſtoms and ſubſidies, by paiment of cuſtoms and ſubſidies in the names of ſuch perſons, other then ſuch as be the very owners or proprietaries of the goods, wares and merchandiſe of the Priſage or Butlarage of Wines due to the King.

The penalty for cuſtoming of other mens goods whereby the King loſeth his duty.

Wherefore be it ordained and enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That if any ſtranger born, denizen or not denizen, or any the Kings ſubjects, do at any time from or after the laſt day of March next coming, any thing or act contrary to the true meaning, tenour and purport of the ſame former Act and Statute, that then he and they ſo offending, ſhall loſe and forfeit all his and their own goods and chattels perſonals for ever: The moity of which forfeiture ſhall be to the King, and the other moity to him or them that will ſue for the ſame by bill, plaint, action of debt or information, in which bill, plaint, action or information, no wager of law, eſſoin or protection ſhall be admitted or allowed.

Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aboveſaid, That every ſuch bill, plaint, action or information, ſhall be had & purſued within three years next enſuing, any ſuch offence committed or done, or elſe the offendors to be clearly free and diſcharged thereof: any Law or Statute to the contrary had or made notwithſtanding. Stat. 1 H. 8. 5. 3 H. 7. 7. 1 El. 11.

CAP. XXIII.

Part of the Statute of Precontracts repealed.

Whereas in the two and thirtieth year of the Reign of the late King of famous memory, King Henry the Eighth, becauſe that many inconveniences had chanced in this Realm, by breaking and diſſolving of good and lawful marriages, yea, whereupon alſo ſometime iſſue and children had followed, under the colour and pretence of a former contract made with another, the which contract divers times was but very ſlenderly proved, and often but ſurmiſed by the malice of the party who deſired to be diſſolved from the marriage which they liked not, and to be coupled with another: there was an Act made, That all and every ſuch marriages, as within the Church of England ſhould be contracted and ſolemnized in the face of the Church, and conſummate with bodily knowledge or fruit of children or child, being had between the parties ſo married, ſhould be by authority of the ſaid Parliament deemed, judged and taken to be lawful, good, juſt and indiſſoluble, notwithſtanding any precontract or precontracts of matrimony, not conſummate with bodily knowledge, which either of the perſons ſo married, or both, had made with any other perſon or perſons, before the time of contracting that marriage which is ſolemnized or conſummated, or whereof ſuch fruit is enſued or may enſue, as by the ſame Act more plainly appear: Sithence the time of the which Act, although the ſame was godly meant, the unrulineſs of men hath ungodly abuſed the ſame, and divers inconveniences (intolerable in manner to Chriſtian ears and eyes) followed thereupon, women and men, breaking their own promiſes and faiths made by the one unto the other, ſo ſet upon ſenſuality and pleaſure, that if after the contract of matrimony, they might have whom they more favoured and deſired, they could be contented by lightneſs of their nature, to overturn all that they had done afore, and not afraid in manner, even from the very Church-door and marriage-feaſt, the man to take another ſpouſe, and the eſpouſe to take another husband, more for bodily luſt and carnal knowledge, then for ſurety of faith and truth, or having God in their good remembrance, contemning many times alſo the commandment of the Eccleſiaſtical Judge, forbidding the parties having made the contract, to attempt or do any thing in prejudice of the ſame.

A repeal of ſo much of the Statute of 32 H. 8. 38. as maketh that marriage indiſſoluble, which is ſolemniſed in the Church, and conſummated with bodily knowledge and fruit of child.

Be it therefore enacted by the Kings Highneſs, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, That as concerning precontracts, the ſaid former Statute ſhall from the firſt day of May next coming, ceaſe, be repealed, and of no force or effect, and be redued to the eſtate and order of the Kings Eccleſiaſtical Laws of this Realm, which immediately before the making of the ſaid Eſtatute, in this caſe were uſed in this Realm: ſo that from the ſaid firſt day of May, when any cauſe or contract of marriage is pretended to have been made, it ſhall be lawful to the Kings Eccleſiaſtical Judge of that place, to hear and examine the ſaid cauſe: and (having the ſaid contract ſufficiently and lawfully proved before him) to give ſentence for matrimony, commanding ſolemnization, cohabitation, conſummation and tractation, as it becometh man and wife to have, with inflicting all ſuch pains upon the diſobedients and diſturbers thereof, as in times paſt before the ſaid Statute, the Kings Eccleſiaſtical Judge, by the Kings Eccleſiaſtical Laws, ought and might have done, if the ſaid Statute had never been made: any clauſe, article or ſentence in the ſaid Statute to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

Provided always, and be it enacted, That this Act do not extend to diſannul, diſſolve or break any marriage that hath or ſhall be ſo ſolemnizated and conſummated, before the ſaid firſt day of May next enſuing, by title or colour of any precontract, but that they be, and be deemed of like force and effect, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as if this Act had never been had ne made: any thing in this preſent Act notwithſtanding.

A confirmation of the reſidue of the ſaid Statute of 32 H. 8. 38.

Provided alſo, That this Act do not extend to make good any of the other cauſes, to the diſſolution or diſannulling of matrimony, which be in the ſaid Act ſpoken of and diſannulled. But that in all other cauſes and other things there mentioned, the ſaid former Act of the two and thirtieth year of the late King of famous memory, do ſtand and remain in his full ſtrength and power, any thing in this Act notwithſtanding. St. 1 El. 1.

CAP. XXIV.

Trials of murders may be in ſeveral Counties.

Foraſmuch as the moſt neceſſary office and duty of Law is to preſerve and ſave the life of man, and condignly to puniſh ſuch perſons that unlawfully and wilfully murder, ſlay or deſtroy men, and alſo that another office and duty of Law is, to puniſh robbers and thieves, which daily endeavour themſelves to rob and ſteal, or give aſſiſtance to the ſame, and yet by craft and cautele do eſcape from the ſame without puniſhment.

No indictment by the Common Law, of the death of him who is ſtricken in one County, and dieth in another.

And where it often happeneth and cometh in ure in ſundry Counties of this Realm, That a man is feloniouſly ſtricken in one County, and after dieth in another County: in which caſe it hath not been founden by the laws or cuſtoms of this Realm, that any ſufficient indictment thereof can be taken in any of the ſaid two Counties, for that by the cuſtom of this Realm, the Jurors of the County where ſuch party died of ſuch ſtroke, can take no knowledge of the ſaid ſtroke being in a foreign County, although the ſame two Counties and places adjoyn very near together: ne the Jurors of the County where the ſtroke was given cannot take knowledge of the death in another County, although ſuch death moſt apparently come of the ſame ſtroke: ſo that the Kings Majeſty within his own Realm, cannot, by any Laws yet made or known, puniſh ſuch murderers or manquellers, for offences in this form committed and done, nor any appeal at ſome time may lie for the ſame, but doth alſo fail, and the ſaid murderers and manquellers eſcape thereof without puniſhment, as well in caſes where the Counties where ſuch offences be committed and done, may joyn, as otherwiſe where they may not joyn. And alſo it is a common practiſe amongſt arrant thieves and robbers in this Realm, that after they have robbed or ſtoln in one County, they will convey their ſpoil, or part thereof ſo robbed and ſtoln, unto ſome of their adherents, into ſome other County, where the principal offence was not committed ne done, who knowing of ſuch felony, willingly and by falſe covin receiveth the ſame: In which caſe, although the principal felon be after attainted in the one County, the acceſſary eſcapeth, by reaſon that he was acceſſary in another County, and that the Jurors of the ſaid other County, by any Law yet made, can take no knowledge of the principal felony, ne attainder in the firſt County, and ſo ſuch acceſſaries eſcape thereof unpuniſhed, and do often put in ure the ſame, knowing that they may eſcape without puniſhment. For redreſs and puniſhment of which offences, and ſafeguard of mans life: Be it enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That where any perſon or perſons hereafter ſhall be feloniouſly ſtricken, or poiſoned in one County, and die of the ſame ſtroke or poiſoning in another County, that then an indictment thereof founden by Jurors of the County, where the death ſhall happen, whether it ſhall be founden before the Coroner, upon the ſight of ſuch dead body, or before the Juſtices of Peace, or other Juſtices, or Commiſſioners, which ſhall have authority to enquire of ſuch offences, ſhall be as good and effectual in the Law, as if the ſtroke or poiſoning had been committed and done in the ſame County where the party ſhall die, or where ſuch indictment ſhall be ſo founden: any law or uſage to the contrary notwithſtanding.

The trial of a Manqueller that poiſoneth or ſtriketh a man in one County, which dieth thereof in another. Raſt. pla. f. 51. Co. Inſt. 3 par. 135.

Where an appeal of murder in the caſe aforeſaid, ſhall be purſued.

And that the Juſtices of Gaol-delivery, and Oyer and Terminer, in the ſame County where ſuch endictment at any time hereafter ſhall be taken: And alſo the Juſtices of the Kings Bench, after ſuch endictment ſhall be removed before them, ſhall and may proceed upon the ſame in all points, as they ſhould or ought to do, in caſe ſuch felonious ſtroke and death thereby enſuing, or poiſoning and death thereof enſuing, had grown all in one and the ſame County. And that ſuch party to whom appeal of murder ſhall be given by the Law, may commence, take and ſue appeal of murder in the ſame County where the party ſo feloniouſly ſtricken or poiſoned ſhall die, as well againſt the principal and principals, as againſt every acceſſary to the ſame offences, in whatſoever County or place the acceſſary or acceſſaries ſhall be guilty to the ſame. And further, the Juſtices before whom any ſuch appeal ſhall be commenced, ſued and taken, within the year and day after ſuch murder and manſlaughter committed and done, ſhall proceed againſt all and every ſuch acceſſary and acceſſaries in the ſame County, where ſuch appeal ſhall be ſo taken, in like manner and form, as if the ſame offence or offences of acceſſary or acceſſaries had been committed and done in the ſame County where ſuch appeal ſhall be ſo taken, as well concerning the trial by the Jurors, or twelve men of ſuch County, where ſuch appeal or appeals ſhall be hereafter taken upon the plea of not guilty, pleaded by ſuch offendor or offendors, as otherwiſe.

Appeal againſt the acceſſary.

Trial of an acceſſary in one County to a felony done in another.

And further be it enacted by authority aforeſaid, That where any murder or felony hereafter ſhall be committed and done in one County, and another perſon or moe ſhall be acceſſary or acceſſaries in any manner of wiſe, to any ſuch murder or felony in any other County, that then an indictment found or taken againſt ſuch acceſſary and acceſſaries upon the circumſtance of ſuch matter before the Juſtices of the Peace, or other Juſtices or Commiſſioners, to inquire of felonies in the County where ſuch offences of acceſſary or acceſſaries in any manner of wiſe ſhall be committed or done, ſhall be as good and effectual in the Law, as if the ſaid principal offence had been committed or done within the ſame[a] County where the ſame indictment againſt ſuch acceſſary ſhall be found. And that the Juſtices of Gaol-delivery, or Oyer and Terminer, or two of them, of, or in ſuch County, where the offence of any ſuch acceſſary ſhall be hereafter committed and done, upon ſuit to them made, ſhall write to the Cuſtos Rotulor' or keepers of the Records, where ſuch principal ſhall be hereafter attainted or convict, to certifie them whether ſuch principal be attainted, convicted, or otherwiſe diſcharged of ſuch principal felony, who upon ſuch writing to them, or any of them directed, ſhall make ſufficient certificate in writing under their ſeal or ſeals to the ſaid Juſtices, whether ſuch principal be attainted, convicted, or otherwiſe diſcharged, or not. And after that they ſo ſhall have the cuſtody of ſuch Records, do certifie that ſuch principal is attainted, convicted, or otherwiſe diſcharged of ſuch offence by the Law: That then the Juſtices of Gaol-delivery, or of Oyer and Terminer, or other there authoriſed, ſhall proceed upon every ſuch acceſſary, in the County where ſuch acceſſary or acceſſaries became acceſſary, in ſuch manner and form, as if both the ſaid principal offence and acceſſary had been committed and done in the ſaid County, where the offence of acceſſary was, or ſhall be committed or done. And that every ſuch acceſſary, and other offendors above expreſſed, ſhall anſwer upon their arraignments, and receive ſuch trial, judgment, order and execution, and ſuffer ſuch forfeitures, pains and penalties, as is uſed in other caſes of felony: any law or cuſtom to the contrary heretofore uſed in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

[a] Cok. 1. f. 117.

CAP. XXV.

Sheriffs ſhall keep their County-Courts monethly.

Where heretofore in the moſt part of all Shires and Counties within this Realm, the County-Court is and hath been uſually kept and holden from moneth to moneth, and ſo at every moneths end one County: yet albeit in ſome Countries (though not many) the ſaid County-Courts are holden from ſix weeks to ſix weeks, by force whereof the Officers award out proceſs as well for the King, as proceſs for the Peace out of the Kings Bench, as alſo other common proceſs betwixt party and party, and the Attornies and Solicitors (who ſue the ſame) not knowing the private cuſtom of their particular Shires, which have and uſe their Counties to be holden every ſix weeks, give their proceſs like return as in thoſe Shires, which have common cuſtom to hold and keep County-Courts every moneth, whereby the Kings ſuits be not onely deferred, the plaintiffs and demandants delayed of their lawful actions and demands, but alſo the ſaid plaintiffs and demandants thereby put to double coſt and charge, to the great ignominy and ſlander of the Law, encouraging of the offendors and tranſgreſſors, and to the continual impoveriſhing of all thoſe who have cauſe of ſuit.

County-Courts ſhall be kept monethly.

In conſideration whereof, be it enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That from and after the firſt day of October next enſuing this preſent Seſſion of Parliament, no County-Court or Courts, hereafter to be kept within this Realm, ſhall be longer deferred but one moneth from Court to Court, and ſo the ſaid Courts from henceforth ſhall be kept every moneth, and none otherwiſe: Any uſage, cuſtom, ſtatute or law heretofore had or made to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

Where the County-Court of Northumberland ſhall be kept.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the Sheriff of Northumberland from thenceforth ſhall keep the County-Court of that Shire in the Town or Caſtle of Alnewick, and in none other place: Any latter uſe lately begun and brought in, to the contrary notwithſtanding.

CAP. XXVI.

White Aſhes ſhall not be ſhipped or carried over the Sea.

The penalty for ſhipping or tranſporting white Aſhes.

COnſidering that white Aſhes made within the Realm, and other the Kings Dominions and Territories, are very neceſſary and expedient for the making of Sope and Salt-Peter, and for the whiting of linen cloth, dying and ſcowring of woollen cloth, and for other needful things in the Realm, and that the ſame Aſhes now of late have been commonly conveyed over the Seas, and thereby enhanced in price, and ſo ſcarce, that the Kings loving ſubjects cannot have ſufficient of the ſame for any convenient prices: Wherefore be it ordained and enacted by the Kings Highneſs, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and of the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That no perſon or perſons after the firſt day of April next coming, ſhall ſhip, lade, carry or convey any white Aſhes towards the parts beyond the Seas, upon pain of forfeiture of ſix ſhillings eight pence for every buſhel of ſuch Aſhes, ſo to be ſhipped or laded, to be carried or conveyed into the parts beyond the Seas: The moiety of which forfeiture ſhall be to the King, and the other moiety to him or them that will ſue for the ſame in any of the Kings Courts of Record, by action, bill plaint, or information, in the which action, bill, plaint, or information, no wager of law, eſſoin or protection ſhall be admitted or allowed.

CAP. XXVII.

None may forge nor ſell gads of Iron, like in faſhion to gads of Steel.

Where divers perſons of late have deceitfully forged and made of certain Iron, called Bilbow Iron, like to the faſhion and manner of gads of Steel, and have ſold the ſame ſo forged to divers of the Kings ſubjects for Steel, whereby the greateſt part of edged tools, weapons, and other neceſſary things having edges, are of little or no value or goodneſs, to the great hurt of the Kings loving ſubjects: for reformation whereof, be it enacted by the Kings Highneſs, by the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and of the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That if any perſon after the firſt day of May next coming, do forge or make any ſuch gads of Iron, or do utter or put to ſale any ſuch gads of any Iron, he ſhall forfeit for every gad ſo forged, or uttered, or put to ſale, four pence: The moiety of which forfeiture ſhall be to the King, and the other moiety to him or them that will ſue for the ſame in any of the Kings Courts of Record, by action, bill plaint, or information, in the which action, bill, plaint, or information, no wager of law, protection or eſſoin ſhall be allowed or admitted.

The penalty for forging or putting to ſale any gads of Iron like to gads of Steel.

CAP. XXVIII.

The force of fines levied of lands in Cheſhire, before the high Juſtices of Cheſter, or the Deputy or Lieutenant.

In humble wiſe ſhewn unto your excellent Majeſty, your true and faithful ſubjects and liege men, the inhabitants of your Graces County Palatine of Cheſter: That whereas heretofore by authority of Parliament, divers neceſſary and beneficial Statutes have been made for and concerning the levying of fines with proclamation, which are not onely neceſſary for the preſervation of quietneſs and concord amongſt your loving ſubjects, and for the avoiding of ſtrife and contention, but alſo for the great and perfect aſſurance of all ſuch perſons to whom any ſuch fines are levied of any lands, tenements and hereditaments, which ſaid beneficial and neceſſary Statutes do not extend to any fines to be levied within your ſaid County Palatine of Cheſter: In tender conſideration whereof, pleaſeth it your moſt excellent Majeſty, that it may be enacted by your Highneſs, and the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That all and ſingular fines, which at any time hereafter are to be levied or knowledged before the high Juſtice of our Sovereign Lord the King, or of his Heirs and Succeſſors, of his County Palatine of Cheſter for the time being, or before the Deputy or Lieutenant Juſtice there for the time being, of any lands, tenements, or other hereditaments, lying or being within the ſaid County Palatine of Cheſter, which ſhall be openly read and proclaimed three ſeveral days in the open Seſſions, in the preſence of the Juſtice of the ſaid County Palatine of Cheſter for the time being, or before the Deputy or Lieutenant Juſtice there at the ſame Seſſions, that the ſame fine ſhall fortune to be ingroſſed: And alſo that ſhall be openly read and proclaimed in the preſence of the Juſtice of the ſaid County Palatine of Cheſter, or before the Deputy or Lieutenant Juſtice there for the time being, at the two next general Seſſions that ſhall be holden in the ſaid County Palatine of Cheſter, before the Juſtice of the ſaid County Palatine, or before the Deputy or Lieutenant Juſtice there, next after the levying and ingroſſing of ſuch ſaid fine, at three ſeveral days in either of the ſaid two Seſſions, after ſuch manner and form as is commonly uſed in the Kings Court of Common pleas at Weſtminſter, ſhall be of like force, ſtrength and effect in the Law, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as fines being duly levied with proclamations before the Kings Juſtices of his Common pleas be, or ought to be of. 43 El. 15.

The force of fines levied before the high Juſtice of Cheſter, of lands in Cheſhire.

CAP. XXX.

The Mayor and Jurates of Rie and Winchelſey in the County of Suſſex, ſhall appoint convenient places to lay on all balaſt that ſhall be caſt out of any ſhip or other veſſel, which ſhall come within the Road, there to receive any loading. And all balaſt caſt out of any ſhip, ſhall be laid upon the ſaid appointed place, upon pain of forfeiture of fourty ſhillings for every tonne of balaſt caſt out contrary to the ſame form aforeſaid. PR.

CAP. XXXI.

Recogniſances acknowledged before the Mayor of Cheſter ſhall be good.

In their moſt humble wiſe ſhewen unto your Highneſs, your true, faithful and obedient ſubjects, the Mayor, Aldermen, Sheriffs and Commonalty of your Graces City of Cheſter, That where before this time the Mayors of the City of Cheſter were appointed and authoriſed to take and receive before the ſaid Mayors Recogniſances, according to the Statutes Merchant, and of Acton Burnel, whereupon were delivered unto the ſaid Mayor, by the Kings Majeſties Progenitors that then were, a ſpecial Seal concerning the ſame: by force whereof the Mayors and other Officers there appointed (time out of mind) have continually uſed and practiſed to take Recogniſances before them of Statutes Merchant, and Acton Burnel, and enrolled the ſame, which ever hitherto was allowed, permitted, & taken to be good and effectual in the Law: until now of late that ambiguity & doubt hath riſen, by means of certain ſiniſter perſons, more for the defrauding of right, equity and juſtice, then upon any good ground, or matter, for their private commodity, becauſe that in all points it doth not follow and agree, according to all the ſtrait words of the Statutes Merchant, and Acton Burnel, as well to the great hurt and ſlander of the ſaid

City, as alſo to the decay of the Merchants, which have, and ſhall lend their livings, wares and money, and great boldneſs of the debtors to detain the ſame in their hands, to the great decay of the City: wherefore for the inconvenience thereof, and alſo for the avoiding of the ſaid ambiguity and doubt: it may pleaſe your Highneſs, that it may be by your Grace, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, ordained, eſtabliſhed and enacted by the authority of the ſame, That all and every ſuch Recogniſance of Statutes Merchant, and Acton Burnel, which after the firſt day of May next coming ſhall be taken, knowledged, enrolled, had and ſealed with the ſaid Seal, appointed to the ſaid City of Cheſter, before the Mayor of the ſame City for the time being, in like manner as heretofore the predeceſſors Mayors, and other Officers in the ſaid City have accuſtomed to take, and enroll, and ſeal, ſhall be as good, effectual, and of force in the Law, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as if the taking of ſuch recogniſance did fully agree and accord to all intents and purpoſes, with the ſtrait words of the ſaid Statutes of Acton Burnel, and the Statute Merchant. And that upon all certificates of the ſaid Mayors hereafter, like proceſs and execution to be awarded and directed out of the High Courts of Chancery, and Common place, to all Sheriffs, Mayors, Bailiffs, or other Officers in England or Wales, in as ample manner and form as is uſed elſewhere within this Realm, for any Recogniſance taken upon any of the Statutes aforeſaid: any law, ſtatute, liberty, franchiſes, or uſage had or uſed to the contrary notwithſtanding.

All Recogniſances of Statute Merchant, &c. acknowledged before the Mayor of Cheſter, ſhall be good in Law.

CAP. XXXII.

Statutes concerning Jeofayles, Miſpleading, Attorneys, and of granting a Tales de Circumſtantibus, at the plaintiffs requeſt ſhall be continued.

The Statute of 32 H. 8. 30. concerning Jeofayles, &c. and of 35 H. 6. touching granting Tales made perpetual.

Where in the Parliament begun and holden at Weſtminſter the xxxij. year of the Reign of our late moſt dread Sovereign Lord King Henry the Eighth, and there by divers prorogations continued until the xxiiij. day of July, in the xxxvj. year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Henry the Eighth, there was one Act made and eſtabliſhed for and concerning the reformation of Miſpleading, Jeofayles, any Atturneys, which ſaid Act with the proviſo were made to endure until the laſt day of the next Parliament. And where alſo at the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter in the xxxv. year of the Reign of our ſaid late moſt dread Sovereign Lord, one Act was made, that for non-appearance in Juries to have de Circumſtantibus. And in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter in the xxxvij. year of the Reign of our ſaid late moſt dread Sovereign Lord King Henry the Eighth, the ſaid Acts and either of them were continued until the end of the next Parliament. Be it enacted and eſtabliſhed by the King our Sovereign Lord, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That the Acts aforeſaid, and either of them, and all clauſes, articles and proviſions in them and every of them contained, ſhall continue and endure in their force and ſtrength for ever. Stat. 4 & 5 P. & M. 7.

CAP. XXXIII.

Whoſoever ſtealeth an horſe, &c. ſhall loſe his Clergy.

He that ſtealeth one horſe ſhall not have his Clergy or Sanctuary.

Foraſmuch as it is and hath been ambiguous and doubtful upon the words mentioned in one Act of Parliament, made the firſt year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord the King, Whether that any perſon being in due form of the Laws found guilty, or otherwiſe attainted or convicted for felonious ſtealing of one Horſe, Gelding or Mare, ought to be admitted to have or enjoy the priviledge and benefit of his Clergy and Sanctuary: Therefore it is declared and enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, and the Lords and Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame Parliament, That all and ſingular perſon and perſons, feloniouſly taking or ſtealing any Horſe, Gelding or Mare, ſhall not be admitted to have or enjoy the priviledge or benefit of his or their * Clergy or Sanctuary, but ſhall be put from the ſame, in like manner and form as though he or they had been endicted or appealed for felonious ſtealing of two Horſes, two Geldings, or two Mares, of any other, and thereupon found guilty by verdict of twelve men, or confeſſed the ſame upon their arraignment, or ſtand wilfully, or of malice mute. Stat. 37 H. 8. 8. 1 Ed. 6. 12.

CAP. XXXIV.

Sheriffs of Northumberland accomptable for their Offices, as other Sheriffs be.

Foraſmuch as the Sheriffs of the County of Northumberland, which have been named now of long time paſſed, have not accounted to the Kings Majeſty of the iſſues and profits of their Bailiwick in the Kings Highneſs Exchequer, or elſewhere, as other Sheriffs of the ſaid County in old time paſſed have done, nor as the Sheriffs of other Counties of this Realm do at this time, but do yearly receive and take the whole profits thereof to their own uſes, to the great detriment and loſs of the King our Sovereign Lord, both of his Vicounteis, and other ferms anſwerable by the hands of the ſaid Sheriff, and of all other debts, iſſues, fines and amerciaments within the ſaid County, and of all alienations and intruſions, wards, marriages, relief, and ſuch other.

The Sheriff of Northumberland ſhall put in ſureties in the Exchequer for his account, as other Sheriffs do.

Wherefore be it enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That from henceforth all and every ſuch perſon and perſons as ſhall be hereafter named to be Sheriff of the ſaid County of Northumberland, forthwith before he receive his Patent, and before he do exerciſe any part of the ſaid Office, ſhall put in ſufficient ſureties by himſelf, or by his ſufficient deputy or deputies, into the Kings

Exchequer, there to enter in recogniſances in ſuch ſum, and upon ſuch conditions, as to the Lord Treaſurer, and Barons of the ſaid Exchequer ſhall ſeem convenient, in manner and form as all other Sheriffs of other Counties of this Realm do, upon pain of every ſuch Sheriff making default, to forfeit to the Kings Majeſty an hundred pound, to be levied of his goods and chattels, lands and tenements, whereſoever they may be found, to the Kings Highneſs uſe: And that the ſaid Barons from time to time, ſhall cauſe ſuch proceſs to be made for the King, for the levying of the ſaid hundred pound ſo to be forfeited, to be directed to ſuch perſon and perſons, and in ſuch nature and ſort as to them ſhall ſeem beſt for the King for the levying thereof; Any thing in this act, or in any other law, ſtatute, uſe, proviſion or cuſtom to the contrary notwithſtanding.

How far the Sheriff of Northumberland ſhall be charged.

Provided always, and be it enacted by the ſaid authority, that any ſuch Sheriff being ſo bounden as is aboveſaid, ſhall not be accomptable but for his own time, and for the year of his Sheriffwick only, neither ſhall be charged in or upon his account, by any proceſs, with any arrearages or duties due to the Kings Majeſty by any his predeceſſors in the ſaid office of Sheriff; Any thing in this act, or any law or uſage, or prerogative to the contrary notwithſtanding.

CAP. XXXV.

A Confirmation of a ſubſidy of ſix ſhillings in the pound, granted by the Clergy to the King, to be taken in the three years.

CAP. XXXVI.

A Confirmation of a releaſe granted to the King by the Temporalty, out of ſheep, clothes, goods, debts, &c. to be paid in three years. EXP. & AL. 3 & 4 Ed. 6. 23.

CAP. XXXVII.

No perſon ſhall carry bell-metal, &c. out of this Realm.

33 H. 8. 7.

Where in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, in the three and thirtieth year of our late Sovereign Lord of famous memory, King Henry the eighth, it was enacted, that no perſon or perſons ſhould carry or convey by water, or otherwiſe, any braſs, copper, latton, bell-metal, pan-metal, or gun-metal, or ſhroff-metal, whether it be clean or mixed (tin and lead onely excepted) into any part beyond the ſea, or into any outward Realm or Dominion whatſoever it be, upon pain of forfeiture of double the value thereof. And where alſo by the ſaid ſtatute it was likewiſe enacted, that no perſon or perſons ſhould at any time ſhip or carry any of the ſaid metals, to carry or diſcharge the ſame in any part of this Realm, unleſs ſuch perſon or perſons, before the ſhipping thereof did declare and manifeſt unto the Cuſtomers of ſuch a port or creek where the ſame metal ſhould be ſhipped, the true weight of all ſuch metal as ſhould be ſhipped, and ſhould alſo make a ſufficient obligation in the Law, in the which he ſhould be bounden to the ſaid Cuſtomer, to the Kings uſe, in ſuch ſum as ſhould amount to the double value of the ſaid metal ſo declared and manifeſted, with condition that the ſame ſhould be diſcharged at ſome port or creek within this Realm, and in no other place, upon pain to forfeit the ſame, in manner and form above rehearſed, as by the ſaid act, amongſt other things more plainly appeareth.

The penalty for carrying, or for ſhipping to carry any braſs, latton, &c. beyond the ſea.

Foraſmuch as the pains and forfeitures in the ſaid eſtatute are not great enough, and foraſmuch alſo as divers covetous and greedy perſons, having no reſpect or obedience to the laws, have craftily, and by all ſiniſter means practiſed to defraud the ſaid eſtatute, ſome by bribing and rewarding the Searchers, Maſters, Purſers, or other officers of ſhips, ſome by ſecret conveying thereof in ſmall creeks, ſugar cheſts, hogſheads or otherwiſe: Be it therefore ordained and enacted, that from and after the feaſt of Eaſter next coming, no perſon or perſons ſhall carry or convey, or ſhip, to the intent to carry or convey any braſs, copper, latton, bell-metal, pan-metal, gun-metal, or ſhroff-metal, whether it be clear or mixed (tin and lead only excepted) into any part beyond the ſea, or into any outward Realm or Dominion whatſoever it be, upon pain to forfeit the double value thereof, and x. l. for every thouſand weight of the ſame metal ſo carried and conveyed, or ſhipped, to the intent to be carried or conveyed, the trial whereof ſhall be in like manner and form, as in the ſaid former act is expreſſed.

What he muſt do that ſhippeth metals in one port of this Realm, to carry to another.

And be it further enacted, that no perſon or perſons, after the ſaid feaſt, ſhall ſhip or carry any of the ſaid metals prohibited by this ſtatute, to carry or diſcharge the ſame in any part of this Realm, unleſs ſuch perſon or perſons before the ſhipping thereof, do declare and manifeſt to the Cuſtomer of ſuch port or creek where the ſame metal ſhall be ſhipped, the true weight of all ſuch metal as ſhall be ſhipped, and ſhall alſo before the ſhipping thereof, make a ſufficient obligation in the law, in which he ſhall be bounden to the ſaid Cuſtomer to the Kings uſe, in ſuch ſum as ſhall amount to the double value, and x. l. for every M. weight ſo declared and manifeſted, with condition, as in the ſaid ſtatute is appointed and enacted, and ſhall make certificate of the diſcharge thereof, in like manner as in the ſaid ſtatute is further ordained and enacted.

The penalty of a Cuſtomer offending.

And be it further enacted, that if any Cuſtomer, Comptroller, or their deputy or deputies, by covin, or by any other undue mean, will ſuffer any perſon after that the metal is ſhipped or carried, contrary to the meaning of this act, to make obligation or obligations without dates, for the diſcharge and certificate of their metal, as is aforeſaid, that then ſuch cuſtomer ſo ſuffering, or receiving ſuch obligation or obligations, ſhall loſe his office, and the value of the metal ſo ſhipped or carried.

The penalty of the Maſter of a ſhip which carrieth the metal.

And be it further enacted, that if any Maſter, Owner, Purſer, or Boatſwain of any Ship, do willingly permit or ſuffer, any of the metals aboveſaid to be ſhipped contrary to the tenor of this act, or elſe perceiving any ſuch metals to be ſhipped, do not diſcloſe the ſame within three days after knowledge had, to the Cuſtomer or Comptroller of the ſame port, or his or their deputy or deputies, where the ſame is ſhipped, that then every ſuch Owner, Maſter, Purſer or Boatſwain, ſo willingly putting the ſame metal to be ſhipped, or concealing the ſame when he perceiveth it to be ſhipped, ſhall forfeit the double value of the ſame metal ſo ſhipped or carried. And if any Cuſtomer or Searcher do willingly ſuffer any of the metals aforeſaid, to be ſhipped contrary to the meaning of this Act, or elſe having knowledge that it is ſecretly ſhipped or carried, do not ſeiſe the ſame to the Kings uſe, then every Cuſtomer or Searcher ſo offending, ſhall loſe his office, and the value of the metal ſo ſhipped or carried.

No metal ſhall be laden but where there is a Cuſtomer.

And be it further enacted, That no perſon nor perſons ſhall after the ſaid Feaſt, lade, ſhip, or carry into any part beyond the ſea, any of the metals aforeſaid, but only out of ſuch Port or Creek, where the Cuſtomer or his Deputy is reſident and dwelling, upon pain of forfeiture of the ſaid metal, and ten pound for every thouſand weight ſo ſhipped or carried; the moity of all which forfeitures ſhall be to our Sovereign Lord the King, and the other moity to him or them that will ſue for the ſame by bill, plaint, information, action of debt, or otherwiſe in any of the Kings Courts, in which no eſſoin, protection, or wager of law ſhall be admitted or allowed.

A confirmation of the Statute of 33 H. 8.7.

And be it further enacted, that the ſaid eſtatute made in the ſaid three and thirtieth year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Henry the eighth, and every article and proviſion, being not altered by this eſtatute, ſhall be good and effectual. 21 H.8.10.

CAP. XXXIX.

The Kings general and free Pardon confirmed by Parliament. Except, &c. EXP.

Anno tertio & quarto EDWARDI ſexti.

ACTS made in the Seſſion of this preſent Parliament, holden upon Prorogation at Weſtminſter the fourth day of November, in the third year of the Reign of our moſt dread Sovereign Lord, Edward the ſixth, by the grace of God, King of England, France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, and of the Church of England, and alſo of Ireland, in earth the ſupream Head; and there continued and kept to the firſt of February, in the fourth year of the Reign of our ſaid Sovereign Lord, as followeth.

CAP. I.

The Lord Chancellor, &c. ſhall name the Cuſtos Rotulorum in every Shire of England and Wales.

37 H 8.1.

Where in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter in the ſeven and thirtieth year of the Reign of the moſt excellent Prince of famous memory, King Henry the eighth, it was enacted, that no perſon or perſons ſhould from the making of the ſaid Act, be nominated and appointed to the office or offices of Cuſtos Rotulorum, within any Shire of this Realm of England, Wales, or other the Kings Dominions, Marches or Territories of the ſame, but ſuch as ſhould have a bill ſigned with the Kings hand for the ſame, which bill ſigned, ſhould be a ſufficient warrant by authority of the ſaid act, to the Lord Chancellor of England, and Lord Keeper of the great Seal for the time being, to make from time to time Commiſſion or Commiſſions, aſſigning and authorizing thereby, the ſame perſon to be Cuſtos Rotulorum, until the King had by another bill aſſigned with his own hand, appointed and ordained another perſon to have, occupy and exerciſe the ſame office of Cuſtos Rotulorum, and that the ſaid perſon appointed and aſſigned to be Cuſtos Rotulorum, as is abovesaid, ſhould and might occupy, exerciſe and enjoy the ſaid office of Cuſtos Rotulorum, by himſelf, or by his ſufficient Deputy learned in the Laws of this Realm, and meet and able to ſupply the ſaid office, according to the tenor of the ſaid Grant or Commiſſion, as by the ſame act, among other things, more at large it doth and may appear.

Reaſons why the Cuſtos Rotulorum ſhould be aſſigned by the Lord Chancellor, and not by the King.

Since the making of ỹ which Statute, divers and many perſons being in the ſaid offices of Cuſtos Rotulorum, in divers Shires of the Realm, have departed this preſent life, and died, ſo that there hath not come to the hands of the Chancellor of England, or Lord Keeper of the great Seal, any bill or bills aſſigned with the Kings Majeſties hand, for the naming, appointing or aſſigning of any new Cuſtos Rotulorum, in the ſame Shires, and ſo the ſaid offices have remained void for a long time, to the great let of Juſtice. And alſo for that it ſhall be very tedious, and much to the moleſting of the Kings Majeſty upon every avoidance of ſuch Cuſtos Rotulorum, by death or otherwiſe, to move his Majeſty for the ſigning of bills for other perſons to be elected, named, choſen and appointed to ſupply the ſaid offices of Cuſtos Rotulorum, being void. And for that the nomination and appointing of the ſaid office of Cuſtos Rotulorum, long before the making of the ſaid ſtatute laſt before rehearſed, did appertain and belong to the office of the Chancellor of England, or Lord Keeper of the great Seal for the time being.

The L. Chancellor, or, &c. ſhall appoint the Cuſtos Rotulorum in every Shire.

Be it therefore enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, that the Chancellor of England, or Lord Keeper of the great Seal for the time being, ſhall at all time and times hereafter, and from time to time without any bill or bills, to be aſſigned with the Kings hand, name, elect, aſſign and appoint ſuch perſon and perſons to be Cuſtos Rotulorum, within every Shire of this Realm of England, Wales, and other the Kings Dominions, Marches, and Territories of the ſame, or by any of them, as by the diſcretion of the ſaid Lord Chancellor, or Lord Keeper of the great Seal for the time being, ſhall be thought able and meet to have and exerciſe the ſame. And that the ſaid perſon and perſons ſo to be appointed, elected, named, and aſſigned by the ſaid L. Chancellor, or Lord Keeper of the great Seal for the time being, ſhall and may occupy, exerciſe and enjoy the ſame office of Cuſtos Rotulorum, by himſelf, or by his ſufficient Deputy or Deputies, in as ample and large manner and form, as if yͤ ſaid act had never been had ne made, the before rehearſed act, or any thing therein contained to yͤ contrary hereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

Provided alway, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all ſuch as now have any of the ſaid offices of Cuſtos Rotulorum, by the Kings Letters Patents, or Commiſſion to them or any of them made, ſhall and may enjoy, have and exerciſe their ſaid offices by vertue of the ſame Letters Patents or Commiſſion, by himſelf, or his ſufficient and able Deputy, inſtructed in the Laws of this Realm; Any thing in this preſent act had or made to the contrary notwithſtanding.

Cuſtos Rotulorum may exerciſe his office by himſelf or his deputy.

Provided alſo, that it be enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the Archbiſhop of York, the Biſhop of Durham, the Biſhop of Ely, and every of their ſucceſſors, the Chancellor of the Dutchy of Lancaſter for the time being, and all and every perſon and perſons, Corporations and bodies corporated, to whom the Kings Majeſty, or any of his noble Progenitors, by his or their Letters Patents, or Act of Parliament, have given and granted any liberty and authority, or otherwiſe have authority by other lawful means or ways to ordain, make and conſtitute any of the ſaid officers of Cuſtos Rotulorum, within any County Palatine, or other place, ſhall and may have and enjoy the ſame liberty and authority, according as they have had and enjoyed the ſame; Any thing in this preſent act had or made to the contrary notwithſtanding.

The right of other ſaved which have authority to name the Cuſtos Rotulorum.

CAP. II.

In Towns not corporate, Juſtices of Peace ſhall appoint Overſeers, for the true making of woollen Cloth, &c.

Foraſmuch as by the ſleight and ſubtile making of clothes and colours within divers parts of this Realm now of late practiſed and uſed, not onely great infamies and ſlanders have grown to the ſame Realm, but alſo the Kings Majeſties faithful and true ſubjects have ſuſtained great loſs in the uſe and wearing of the ſame clothes ſo ſleightly and ſubtilly made. For remedy and reformation whereof, be it ordained and enacted by the Kings moſt excellent Majeſty, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That every Clothier and Cloth-maker, ſhall from the Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady next coming, ſet his ſeal of lead to his cloth, declaring thereby the juſt lengths thereof to be tried by the water.

The Clothier ſhall ſet his ſeal of lead to his cloth.

And that narrow ſtreits, and kerſies ſhall not from the ſaid Feaſt, be ſtretched above a yard in length, and half a quarter of a yard in breadth, upon the pain for every default therein xx. s. nor ſhall put to ſale any cloth, narrow, ſtreit, or kerſie, the pieces whereof being wet, ſhall ſhrink more then after the ſame ſeveral rates in the whole piece, upon pain to forfeit for every ſuch offence xx. s.

Alt. 5 Ed. 6. 6. 39 El. 20. 43 El. 10. Shrinking of cloth.

And further, That no perſon or perſons occupying the feat of Dying, ſhall dye or alter into colours, or cauſe to be died or altered into colours, any woollen clothes, as brown blews, pewks, tawnies or violets, except the ſame woollen clothes be perfectly boyled, greined or maddered upon the woad, and ſhot with good and ſufficient cork or orchal, after a due, ſubſtantial and ſufficient manner of workmanſhip, according to the ancient workmanſhip in time paſt uſed, upon pain for every default to forfeit xx. s.

Dying of cloth.

Nor that any perſon ſhall from the ſaid Feaſt dye any wooll to be converted into cloth, called ruſſets, muſters, marbles, grayes, royes, and ſuch like colours, or to be converted and made into hats or caps, unleſs the ſame wooll be perfectly woaded, boyled and maddered according to the true and ancient uſage, upon the pain of forfeiture for the falſe dying of every ſuch cloth, or of as much wooll as ſhall ſerve for the making of every cloth contrary to the true meaning hereof, xl. s. Nor ſhall dye with braſel, to the intent to make a falſe colour in cloth or wooll, hats nor caps, upon pain for every default to forfeit xx. s.

Dying of wooll.

And that no perſon or perſons ſhall after the ſaid Feaſt, put any flocks, chalk, flower or ſterch, or any other deceiveable thing, upon any ſet cloth, or upon any other cloth or clothes coloured or uncoloured, upon pain to forfeit for every ſuch offence, xl. s.

No deceiveable thing ſhall be put upon cloth.

And that no perſon ſhall from the ſaid Feaſt, occupy any iron cards, or pickards, in rowing of any ſet cloth, or any manner of woollen cloth, upon pain to forfeit as well the ſaid iron cards, or pickards, as alſo the ſum of xx. s. for every ſuch offence.

No iron cards or pickards.

Nor that any perſon ſhall from the ſaid Feaſt, ſell any cloth by any leſs meaſure then after the true content thereof, to be meten and meaſured by the yard, adding to every yard one inch of the rule, according to the ſtatute made in the ſixth year of the Reign of the moſt worthy Prince of moſt famous memory, King Henry the eighth, father unto our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, upon pain to forfeit for every yard of cloth ſo put to ſale by any leſs meaſure, ſix ſhillings eight pence. And that no perſon ſhall from the ſaid Feaſt, put to ſale here within the Realm, either by retail or otherwiſe, any cloth being preſſed to be occupied and worn here within the Realm of England, Wales, or Ireland, upon pain of forfeiture of the ſame cloth, or the value thereof, that have been ſo preſſed and put to ſale as is laſt before remembred.

Meaſure of cloth. 6 H. 8. 6.

Preſſed cloth.

And for the better execution of this ſtatute, Be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That in every Town, Village or Hamlet, being not corporate, where any cloth ſhall be made or ſold, the Juſtice of the Peace of the ſame Shire where any ſuch Town, Village or Hamlet is, or two of them at the leaſt: and in every City, Borough or Town-corporate, the head-officer or officers of every of the ſame City, Borough, or Town-corporate, together with the Wardens of the Cloth-workers, or two of them at the leaſt, ſhall have full power and authority by vertue of this act, once every year to convent, and call before them by their precept or otherwiſe, two, four, ſix, eight or more, as they ſhall think good by their diſcretion, of the moſt honeſt, diſcreet, and indifferent men of every ſuch City, Borough, Town, Village or Hamlet, where any cloth ſhall be made or ſold, and them ſhall conſtitute, ordain and appoint to be overſeers, for one whole year then next following within the City, Borough, Town, Village or Hamlet, where the ſame Overſeers ſhall be dwelling, charging them alſo upon their oaths, and as they do tender the honour of the Realm, and the Commonwealth of the ſame, that they do endeavour themſelves for that year, as much as in them ſhall lie, to ſee that this ſtatute be truly obſerved and kept within the limits of their charge in every part thereof.

The Overſeers duty.

The forfeitures for defaults in cloth, and who ſhall have them.

And that the ſame Overſeers, or two of them, ſhall every quarter of the ſaid year at ẏ leaſt, or ſo often as need ſhall require, by their diſcretions, by force hereof, viſit, and go into every Clothiers, Drapers, Clothworkers, Dyers, and Preſſors houſes, ſhops, and other places, where cloth or dyed wooll ſhall be, and there to make due ſearch, and to view the clothes and woolls made or dyed, or remaining to be ſold, and to ſearch and try, as well whether the ſaid clothes be drawn or ſtrained, or falſly dyed, as alſo of all other the defaults before ſpecified, committed or done contrary to the true meaning of this act. And if upon the ſearch the clothes found drawn or ſtrained, or the cloth or woolls falſly dyed or coloured, or any other of the ſaid faults committed or done contrary to the true meaning of this ſtatute: that then the ſaid ſeveral forfeitures to incur upon the party or parties which ſhall offend in the ſame, or in any of them: the one half of all which forfeitures to be unto the King our Sovereign Lord, his heirs or ſucceſſors, and the other half to ſuch of the ſaid Overſeers, as doth find the ſaid defaults or cauſes of forfeitures, and that will ſue for the ſame in any of the Kings Courts of Record, or before the Juſtices of Peace, within any ſuch City, Borough or Town-corporate, or before the Juſtices of Peace, within any Shire where any ſuch forfeitures ſhall be had out of any City or Town-corporate: the ſame ſuit to be purſued by bill, plaint, action of debt, information or otherwiſe, and in which ſuit no wager of law, eſſoin, or protection ſhall be allowed for the defendant.

And if the ſaid Overſeers ſhall be negligent, and will not ſue for the ſame forfeitures, by the ſpace of one half year next after the cauſe of the ſame forfeitures committed and done, that then the one half of the ſame forfeiture to be unto our Sovereign Lord the King, his heirs or ſucceſſors, and the other half for him which will ſue the ſame, as is aforeſaid, within one other half year next after ſuch default be had by the ſaid Overſeers.

The forfeiture of him which refuſeth to be Overſeer.

And if any the ſaid perſons ſo commanded to appear to be made Overſeers, as is aforeſaid, and having no reaſonable excuſe to refuſe to come, and to take upon him or them to be an Overſeer, as is aforeſaid, that then every ſuch perſon refuſing, and having no reaſonable excuſe ſo to do, to forfeit for every ſuch refuſing, fourty ſhillings, the one half thereof to be to the King our ſaid Sovereign, his heirs or ſucceſſors, and the other half to the Juſtices of Peace, or other head officer or officers, by whoſe commandment he was commanded to appear, or to be an Overſeer; and the ſame Overſeer ſo offending, to remain in the ward of the Sheriff, until ſuch time as he have made payment of the ſaid forfeiture, or otherwiſe put in ſufficient bond for the ſatisfaction of the ſame. And if the ſame Overſeers, or two of them at the leaſt, do not once every quarter of the year, make due ſearch for the true executing of this ſtatute; that then every of the ſaid Overſeers, to forfeit for every ſuch default, ten pound, the one half to be to the Kings Highneſs, his heirs or ſucceſſors, and the other half to him that will ſue for the ſame by bill, plaint, action of debt, information, or otherwiſe: In which ſuit no eſſoin or protection ſhall be allowed for the defendant. And if the ſaid Overſeers ſhall be interrupted, and not ſuffered to enter into the ſaid houſes, ſhops, or other places, where any ſuch clothes or woolls ſhall be made or dyed, or any other of the ſaid defaults ſhall happen to be done or committed, there to make ſearch for the better executing of this ſtatute, that then every one that ſo ſhall make any ſuch interruption, ſhall forfeit twenty pound, the one half of which forfeiture to be to our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King, his heirs or ſucceſſors, and the other half thereof to be to the ſaid Overſeers, to whom any ſuch interruption ſhall be made, and the ſame to be obtained, and purſued for, in ſuch manner and form as before in this act is expreſſed for the recovery of other of the ſaid forfeitures.

The forfeiture for the interruption of the Overſeers.

Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That it ſhall and may be lawful to every perſon and perſons, to put to ſale any cloth or clothes, made, dyed, or preſſed, which before the ſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady ſhall be made, dyed, or preſſed at any time within one year next after the ſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady, ſo as the Aulneger or his Deputy, or other head officer in any ſuch City, Borough, Town, Village or Hamlet, to put ſome notorious mark to every ſuch cloth, whereby the ſame may be known to be made before the ſaid Feaſt of the Annunciation of our Lady next coming.

Within what time the forfeiture ſhall be taken.

Provided alſo, That no manner of perſon ſhall take any advantage of any of the ſaid forfeitures by reaſon of this ſtatute, unleſs the ſame perſon doth commence his ſuit within one year next after the ſaid offences and forfeitures committed.

Clothes ſhall be marked with the letter E. crowned.

And to ẏ intent ẏ all ſuch clothes as ſhal be made within this realm, or any other of ẏ Kings Dominions after ẏ ſaid Feaſt, ſhall be ẏ better known from ẏ other clothes made before the ſame time; Be it therefore enacted by ẏ authority aforeſaid, That every Clothier ſhall before ſuch time as he ſhall put his cloth to ſale, being made after ẏ ſaid Feaſt, cauſe every cloth to be marked with a letter of E. crowned, wrought in the cloth, upon pain of forfeiture for every cloth ſo being ſold, & not marked with ẏ ſaid letter E. by any ſuch Clothier, xx.s. the one half of which forfeiture to be to our Sovereign Lord ẏ King, his heirs or ſucceſſors, and ẏ other half to him ẏ will ſue for ẏ ſame in manner & form before rehearſed.

CAP. III.

Every perſon bringing an Aſſiſe upon any branch of either of the ſtatutes touching approvement of waſtes, &c. ſhall have treble damages.

WHere in the Parliament holden at Merton in the twentieth year of the Reign of King Henry the third, it is contained, That for becauſe many great men of England which had enfeoffed Knights, and other their free Tenants of ſmall Tenements in their great Manors, did complain that they might not make their profits of the reſidue of their Manors, as of waſte woods and paſtures, where the ſame feoffees had ſufficient paſture, as much as belonged unto their tenements, it was provided and granted, That whatſoever perſons ſo enfeoffed, brought aſſiſe of novel diſſeiſin of their common of paſture, and before the Juſtices it were recognized, that they had as much paſture as did ſuffice unto their tenements, and that they had free ingreſs, and egreſs into and from their tenements unto their paſture, that then they ſhould therewith be contented, and that they upon whom they had complained, ſhould depart quiet with that, that they might make their profit of their lands, waſtes, woods and paſtures, and if it were ſaid that they had not ſufficient paſture, or ſufficient ingreſs and egreſs, as much as doth belong unto their tenements, as is aboveſaid, that then the truth thereof ſhould be enquired by aſſiſe: and if it were recognized by the aſſiſe, that their ingreſs and egreſs were in any thing letted by the ſame deforciators, or that they had not ſufficient paſture, and ſufficient ingreſs and egreſs, as is aboveſaid, that then they ſhould recover their ſeiſin by view of the Jurors, ſo that by the diſcretion and oath of them, the complainants ſhould have ſufficient paſture, and ſufficient ingreſs and egreſs, in form aforeſaid, and that the diſſeiſors ſhould be in amerciament of the King, and ſhould yield damages, as they were wont to do before the ſame proviſion. And if it were recognized by the aſſiſe, that the complainants had ſufficient paſture, with free ingreſs and egreſs, as is above mentioned, that then the other might lawfully do their profit of the reſidue, and ſhould go quit from the ſame aſſiſe, as in the ſaid Eſtatute more plainly appeareth.

By the Stat. of 20 H. 3. 4. Lords of manors may approve againſt their tenants.

And where alſo in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter after Eaſter, the thirteenth year of the Reign of King Edward the firſt, it was ordained, That were in the ſtatute made at Merton, it was agreed that Lords of waſtes, woods and paſtures, might approve themſelves of their waſtes, woods and paſtures, notwithſtanding the gainſaying and contradiction of their tenants, whiles the ſame tenants had ſufficient paſture to their tenements, with free ingreſs and egreſs, into and from the ſame. And for that no mention was made between neighbour and neighbour, many Lords of waſtes, woods and paſtures, unto that time were let by contradiction or gainſaying of neighbours, having ſufficient paſture. And foraſmuch as foreign tenants have no greater right of commoning in the wood, waſte or paſture of any Lord, then the proper tenants of the ſame Lord, it was from henceforth ordained, That the ſaid ſtatute provided at Merton, between the Lord and his tenants, ſhould have place from thenceforth between the Lords of waſtes, woods and paſtures, and neighbours: ſaving ſufficient paſture to their men and neighbours, ſo that the Lords of the ſame waſte, waſtes, woods and paſtures, may approve themſelves of the reſidue, and that the ſame ſhould be obſerved of them that claim paſture, as pertaining to their tenements. But if any man claim common of paſture by ſpecial feoffment or grant, to a certain number of beaſts or otherwiſe, then of common right he ought to have it: where covenant doth abrogate the law, he ſhall have ſuch recovery as he ought to have by form of the grant to him made. And that by occaſion of a wind-mill, ſheep-houſe, dairy, augmentation or increaſe of any Court neceſſary, or Curtilage, from thenceforth no man ſhould be grieved by aſſiſe of novel diſſeiſin of common paſture. And foraſmuch as it happeneth ſometime, that ſome man having right to approve to himſelf, hath made or levied a ditch or a hedge, and other by night or ſuch other time, when they believe their deed ſhould not be known, do or will caſt down the ſame ditch or hedge, and that it cannot be known by verdict of aſſiſe or jury, who did caſt down the ſame ditch or hedge, nor the men of the next Town will indict them that be guilty of the ſame deeds, then the next Townſhip adjoyning about the ſame, ſhall be diſtreined to levy, and make up the ſame ditch or hedge at their proper coſts, and to yield damages, as in the ſaid eſtatute amongſt other things more plainly appeareth.

By the Stat. of 33 Ed. 1. 46. Lords of manors may approve againſt their neighbours.

For what cauſes any may approve common. A ditch or hedge of of ground approved, caſt down by perſons unknown

And foraſmuch as the aforeſaid eſtatutes been thought beneficial for the Common-wealth of this Realm of England: Be it enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That all and every the ſaid Statutes, and all branches, clauſes, articles, ſentences, matters and points contained and ſpecified in them, and every of them now not repealed, ſhall from henceforth be good and effectual, and alſo ſtand and be in their full ſtrength, force and effect.

A confirmation of the foreſaid Stat. of Merton and Weſt. 2.

And becauſe that ſuch perſons as ſhall bring of novel diſſeiſin upon the ſaid eſtatutes or upon any of them, ſhall by force of the eſtatute, recover but only ſingle damages, which is thought to be a ſmall recompence for the ſame. Therefore be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That ſuch perſon and perſons as ſhall at any time hereafter bring aſſiſe upon any branch or article of the ſaid eſtatutes, or any of them, and have judgement to recover, ſhall have his or their damages trebled by the judgement of the Court, where ſuch aſſiſe and judgement ſhall be had.

Treble damages upon an aſſiſe of common of paſture, &c.

And where in divers Countries of this Realm, there hath been builded upon commons or waſte grounds, certain neceſſary houſes with ground, under the quantity of three acres, and not above three acres encloſed to and with the ſame: and in ſome place there is encloſed a garden, orchard, or pond, out, of, or in ſuch waſtes or grounds, which exceed not the quantity of two acres, or thereabouts, which doth no hurt, and yet is much commodity to the owner thereof, and to others: be it therefore enacted by the authority aforeſaid, Houſes builded upon waſtes with three acres of ground.

That the two former acts, nor any of them, nor any thing in them contained, ſhall extend to any ſuch houſe, ground, or other thing ſo incloſed, as is laſt herein before mentioned, ne ſhall cauſe any perſon or perſons to loſe or forfeit any pain, damage or penalty for the ſame.

The overplus above three acres ſhall be laid open.

Provided always, and be it enacted, That if any ſuch houſe hath been heretofore builded upon any ſuch waſte ground, as is aforeſaid, and that there be above the number of three acres encloſed to the ſame, that then the ſaid houſe, and three acres, parcel of the ſame encloſure, ſhall ſtill remain, ſtand, abide and continue in like, and the ſame form and degree as it now doth, and that the overplus of the ſaid three acres ſo encloſed, as is aforeſaid, ſhall and may be laid open by the owner or owners of the ſame waſtes; Any thing in this act, or in any of the ſaid former acts to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

CAP. IV.

Grants made by Patentees out of Patents ſhall be good.

Where the right Noble and famous King of full worthy memory, King Henry the eighth, Father to our moſt dread and now natural Sovereign liege Lord, ſithence the fourth day of February, in the ſeven and twentieth year of his late Reign, and alſo the Kings moſt excellent Majeſty, by their ſeveral Letters Patents, have given, granted, bargained, ſold and exchanged, to and with divers and ſundry the Subjects of this Realm, bodies politick and corporate, in fee-ſimple, fee-tail, for term of life, or years, divers honours, caſtles, manors, lands, tenements, and other hereditaments and offices: After and ſince which grants, bargains, ſales, and exchanges, divers of the ſaid Patentees, their heirs, ſucceſſors or aſſigns have bargained, ſold, given, exchanged, or demiſed divers particular parts, parcels or portions of the ſaid honours, caſtles, manors, lands, tenements, hereditaments and offices, or other things thereunto appertaining or belonging to other perſon or perſons, bodies politick or corporate, that is to ſay, to ſome of them in fee-ſimple, to ſome other in fee-tail, for term of life, or years, or otherwiſe. And after the ſame Patentees, for conſiderations them moving, have ſurrendred or given up their ſaid Letters Patents into the Chancery, or otherwiſe the ſame Letters Patents have been forfeited by attainder, loſt, cancelled, imbezilled, or by other ways or means have come to the hands of the Kings Majeſty his late Father: And thereupon oft-times the enrollment of the ſame hath been made void and fruſtrate, ſometime in part, and ſometime in the whole, by reaſon whereof ſuch perſons, bodies politick or corporate, as have had intereſt or title, in or to the ſame caſtles, manors, or particular portions or parcels of the ſame ſo to them given and granted, have been in times paſt, and in time to come are like to be diſherited, or in danger of loſs of their intereſt, in, or to the ſame, to their no little hinderance and peril.

An exemplification of the Kings Letters Patents under the great Seal, ſhall be of as good force as if the ſame Letters Patents were ſhewed.

For remedy whereof, be it ordained, eſtabliſhed and enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That all and every perſon and perſons, bodies politick or corporate, which lawfully ſhall or may claim by force of any Patent or Patents made ſithence the fourth day of February, or hereafter to be made by the Kings Majeſty, his heirs or ſucceſſors Kings of this Realm, or by any of them, and all other that now have, or hereafter ſhall happen to have any good or lawful eſtate, right, title, rent, profit, intereſt or poſſeſſion, of, in, to, or out of any honours, manors, lands, tenements, hereditaments, or offices, or of other things, to any of the premiſes appertaining or belonging, or to any part, parcel, or member of them, or any of them, by, from or under any ſuch Patentee or Patentees, or any of them, or by, from, or under the heirs, ſucceſſors or aſſigns of them or any of them, or by, from, or under the eſtate of any others which had, have, or hereafter ſhall have the eſtate, title, or intereſt, of any ſuch Patentee or Patentees, or by any other means under the date of [a] ſuch Letters Patents, ſhall and may at all times hereafter, in any the Kings Courts, his heirs or ſucceſſors, and elſewhere, by vertue of this preſent act, make and convey unto themſelves title by way of declaration, plaint, avowry, title, barre, or otherwiſe, as well againſt the Kings Highneſs, his heirs and ſucceſſors, and every of them, as againſt any other perſon or perſons, unto the ſaid honours, caſtles, manors, lands, tenements, offices, and other the premiſes, or any part or parcel of the ſame, unto them, or any their predeceſſors or anceſtors, or others whoſe eſtate they have in the ſame, by, from, or under the ſaid Patentees, or any of them, or the heirs, anceſtors or aſſigns of any of them, or otherwiſe, under the date of the ſaid Letters Patents, compriſed and contained in any exemplification, or conſtat thereof made, or to be made by the ſhewing forth of the ſaid exemplification or conſtat of the Roll, or of ſo much thereof as ſhall ſerve for the matter in variance, under the great Seal of England. And the ſame exemplification or conſtat of the ſaid enrollment ſo (as is aforeſaid) pleaded and ſhewed, ſhall be of like and the ſame force and effect, to all intents and conſtructions in the law, as the ſaid firſt Letters Patents were and ſhould be of, if the ſame were or ſhould be pleaded or ſhewed. 13 El. 6.

25 H.8.11.

Where in the five and twentieth year of the Reign of your Majeſties Father, of moſt famous memory, King Henry the eighth, an Act was made, containing two branches, whereof the one was againſt the taking of wild fowl, between the laſt day of May, and the laſt day of Auguſt, with any nets or engines, upon a pain limited thereupon, as in the ſaid Statute more largely doth appear: Forasmuch as the occaſion of the ſaid branches, appeareth ſithen to have riſen but upon a private caſe, and that no manner of common commodity is ſithen perceived to be grown of the ſame, being notably, by daily experience found, and known that there is, at this preſent, leſs plenty of fowl brought unto the markets, then was before the making of the ſaid act, which is taken to come of the puniſhment of God, whoſe benefit was thereby taken away from the poor people, that were wont to live by their skill, in taking of the ſaid fowl, whereby they were wont at that time to ſuſtain themſelves, with their poor houſholds, to the great ſaving of other kinds of victual, of the which aid they are now deſtitute, to their great and extream impoveriſhing: Humbly beſeeching your Grace, your Majeſties true and faithful ſubjects, eſpecially ſuch as have their places of habitation nigh unto the Fens, that all that branch of the ſaid act, made in the ſaid five and twentieth year of your Graces ſaid Father of moſt noble memory, touching the taking of wild fowl, in manner as is abovesaid, may be from henceforth by your Majeſty, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, & by the authority of the ſame, repealed and utterly void and of none effect, with all and every article, ſentence, matter, pains and forfeitures contained, or otherwiſe mentioned in the ſaid branch, as if the ſame act had never been had ne made.

A repeal of ſo much of the St. of 25 H.8.11 as toucheth the taking of wild fowl with engines at certain times.

Provided, and be it enacted by the authority abovesaid, That one other branch, contained in the ſaid act, concerning ſuch perſons as ſhall preſume by day or night willingly to withdraw, purloyn, take, deſtroy, or convey any manner of eggs of any kind of wild fowl, from or in any neſt, place or places where they ſhall chance to be layed by any kind of wild fowl, with every article, ſentence, matter, pains, forfeitures and proviſions, contained or mentioned in this ſaid laſt branch, ſhall ſtand in full ſtrength and effect, to all purpoſes, intents and conſtructions, as if this preſent act had never been had nor made.

No perſon ſhall deſtroy or take away the eggs of any wild fowl.

Where there hath been a very godly order ſet forth by the authority of Parliament, for Common-prayer and Adminiſtration of the Sacraments, to be uſed in the mother tongue within this Church of England, agreeable to the word of God, and the primitive Church, very comfortable to all good people, deſiring to live in Chriſtian converſation, & moſt profitable to the eſtate of this Realm, upon the which the mercy, favour and bleſſing of Almighty God is in no wiſe ſo readily and plenteouſly poured, as by Common-prayers, due uſing of the Sacraments, and often preaching of the Goſpel, with the devotion of the hearers: and yet this notwithſtanding, a great number of people in divers parts of this Realm, following their own ſenſuality, and living either without knowledge or due fear of God, do wilfully and damnably before Almighty God, abſtain and refuſe to come to their Paroch Churches, and other places, where Common-prayer, Adminiſtration of the Sacraments, and preaching of the word of God, is uſed upon Sundays and other days ordained to be holy-days.

Every perſon ſhall reſort to his Pariſh Church or Chappel upon Sundays and Holy-days.

For reformation hereof, be it enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, with the aſſent of the Lords and Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, that from and after the Feaſt of All Saints next coming, all and every perſon and perſons inhabiting within this Realm, or any other the Kings Majeſties Dominions, ſhall diligently and faithfully (having no lawful or reaſonable excuſe to be abſent) endeavour themſelves to reſort to their Paroch Church or Chappel accuſtomed, or upon reaſonable let thereof, to ſome uſual place where Common-prayer, and ſuch ſervice of God ſhall be uſed in ſuch time of let, upon every Sunday, and other days ordained and uſed to be kept as holy-days, and then and there to abide orderly and ſoberly, during the time of the Common-prayer, preachings, or other ſervice of God, there to be uſed and miniſtred, upon pain of puniſhment by the cenſures of the Church.

And for the due execution hereof, the Kings moſt excellent Majeſty, the Lords temporal, and all the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, doth in Gods name earneſtly require and charge all the Archbiſhops, Biſhops, and other Ordinaries, that they ſhall endeavour themſelves to the uttermoſt of their knowledges, that the due and true execution thereof may be had throughout their Dioceſſes and charges, as they will anſwer before God for ſuch evils and plagues, wherewith Almighty God may juſtly puniſh his people, for neglecting this good and wholeſom law.

They which come not to the Church, may be puniſhed by the cenſures of the Church.

And for their authority in this behalf, be it further likewiſe enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that all and ſingular the ſame Archbiſhops, Biſhops, and all other their Officers exerciſing Eccleſiaſtical juriſdiction, as well in place exempt as not exempt, within their Dioceſſes, ſhall have full power and authority by this Act, to reform, correct and puniſh, by cenſures of the Church, all and ſingular perſons which ſhall offend within any their juriſdictions or Dioceſſes, after the ſaid Feaſt of All Saints next coming, againſt this Act and Statute; any other law, ſtatute, priviledge, liberty or proviſion heretofore made, had or ſuffered to the contrary notwithſtanding.

The book of Common-prayer, with the form of conſecrating Biſhops, Prieſts, Deacons. 1 Ed.6.2.

And becauſe there hath riſen in the uſe and exerciſe of the aforeſaid common ſervice in the Church, heretofore ſet forth, divers doubts for the faſhion and manner of the miniſtration of the ſame, rather by the curioſity of the miniſter and miſtakers, then of any other worthy cauſe; therefore as well for the more plain and manifeſt explanation thereof, as for the more perfection of the ſaid order or common ſervice, in ſome places where it is neceſſary to make the ſame prayer and faſhion of ſervice more earneſt and fit, to ſtir Chriſtian people to the true honouring of Almighty God: The Kings moſt excellent Majeſty, with the aſſent of the Lords and Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, hath cauſed the aforeſaid order of common ſervice, entituled, The Book of Common-prayer, to be faithfully and godly peruſed, explained, and made fully perfect, and by the aforeſaid authority hath annexed and joyned it, ſo explained and perfected to this preſent Statute, adding alſo a form and manner of making and conſecrating of Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Prieſts and Deacons, to be of like force, authority and value, as the ſame like foreſaid Book, entituled, The Book of Common-prayer, was before, and to be accepted, received, uſed and eſteemed, in like ſort and manner, and with the ſame clauſes of proviſions and exceptions, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as by the Act of Parliament made in the ſecond year of the Kings Majeſties Reign, was ordained, limited, expreſſed and appointed for the uniformity of Service and Adminiſtration of the Sacraments throughout the Realm, upon ſuch ſeveral pains as in the ſaid Act of Parliament is expreſſed. And the ſaid former Act to ſtand in full force and ſtrength, to all intents and conſtructions, and to be applied, practiſed, and put in ure, to and for the eſtabliſhing of the Book of Common-prayer, now explained, & hereunto annexed, and alſo the ſaid form of making of Archbiſhops, Biſhops, or Prieſts & Deacons, hereunto annexed, as it was for ẏ former book.

2 & 3 Ed.6.1.

The penalties for being preſent at any other Common-prayer or Sacraments. Act. 1 Eliz.

And by the authority aforeſaid it is now further enacted, that if any manner perſon or perſons, inhabiting and being within this Realm, or any other the Kings Majeſties Dominions, ſhall after the ſaid Feaſt of All Saints, willingly and wittingly hear and be preſent at any other manner or form of Common-prayer, or Adminiſtration of the Sacraments, of making of Miniſters in the Churches, or of any other rites contained in the book annexed to this Act, then is mentioned and ſet forth in the ſaid book, or that is contrary to the form of ſundry proviſions and exceptions, contained in the foreſaid former ſtatute, and ſhall be thereof convicted, according to the laws of this Realm, before the Juſtices of Aſſiſe, Juſtices of Oyer and Determiner, Juſtices of Peace in their Seſſions, or any of them, by the verdict of twelve men, or by his or their own confeſſion, or otherwiſe, ſhall for the firſt offence ſuffer impriſonment for ſix moneths, without bail or mainpriſe, & for ẏ ſecond offence, being likewiſe convicted as is aboveſaid, impriſonment for one whole year, and for the third offence, in like manner, impriſonment during his or their lives. And for the more knowledge to be given hereof, and better obſervation of this law, be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that all and ſingular Curats, ſhall upon one Sunday every quarter of the year, during one whole year next following, the foreſaid feaſt of All Saints next coming, read this preſent Act in the Church, at the time of the moſt aſſembly, and likewiſe once in every year following, at the ſame time, declaring unto the people by the authority of the Scripture, how the mercy and goodneſs of God hath in all ages been ſhewed to his people in their neceſſities and extremities, by means of hearty and faithful prayers made to Almighty God, eſpecially where people be gathered together with one faith and mind, to offer up their hearts by prayer, as the beſt ſacrifices that Chriſtian men can yield. 1 M.2. 1 El.2.13 El.12. 8 El.1.1 Jac.25.

The Stat. of 22 H. 8. 12. and 3 & 4 Ed. 6. 16. touching Vagabonds and idle perſons, confirmed. The poor of every Pariſh ſhall be relieved with that which every pariſhioner of his charitable devotion will give. REP. 14 El. 5. EXP. St. 1 M. 12.

CAP. III.

Which days onely in the year ſhall be Holy days, and which ſhall be Faſting days.

Foraſmuch as at all times men be not ſo mindful to laud and praiſe God, ſo ready to reſort and hear Gods holy Word, and to come to the holy Communion, and other laudable rites, which are to be obſerved in every Chriſtian congregation, as their bounden duty doth require: therefore to call men to remembrance of their duty, and to help their infirmity, it hath been wholeſomly provided, that there ſhould be ſome certain times and days appointed, wherein the Chriſtian ſhould ceaſe from all other kind of labours, and ſhould apply themſelves onely & wholly unto the aforeſaid holy works, properly pertaining unto true Religion: that is, to hear, to learn, and to remember Almighty Gods great benefits, his manifold mercies, his ineſtimable gracious goodneſs, ſo plenteouſly poured upon all his creatures, and that of his infinite and unſpeakable goodneſs, without any mans deſert. And in remembrance hereof, to render unto him moſt high and hearty thanks, with prayers and ſupplications for the relief of all our daily neceſſities. And becauſe theſe be the chief and principal works wherein man is commanded to worſhip God, and do properly pertain unto the firſt Table: therefore as theſe works are both moſt commonly, and alſo may well be called Gods ſervice, ſo the times appointed ſpecially for the ſame are called Holy-days: Not for the matter and nature either of the time or day, nor for any of the Saints ſake, whoſe memories are had on thoſe days (for ſo all days and times conſidered are Gods creatures, and all of like holineſs) but for the nature and condition of thoſe godly and holy works, wherewith onely God is to be honoured, and the congregation to be edified, whereunto ſuch times and days are ſanctified and hallowed: that is to ſay, ſeparated from all prophane uſes, and dedicated and appointed, not unto any Saint or creature, but onely unto God and his true worſhip. Neither is it to be thought, that there is any certain time or definite number of days preſcribed in holy Scripture, but that the appointment both of the time, and alſo of the number of the days, is left by the authority of Gods Word, to the liberty of Chriſts Church, to be determined and aſſigned orderly in every Countrey, by the diſcretion of the Rulers and Miniſters thereof, as they ſhall judge moſt expedient to the true ſetting forth of Gods glory, and the edification of their people. Be it therefore enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That all the days hereafter mentioned, ſhall be kept, and commanded to be kept Holy-days, and none other: that is to ſay, All Sundays in the year, the days of the Feaſt of the Circumciſion of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, of the Epiphany, of the Purification of the bleſſed Virgin, of Saint Matthie the Apoſtle, of the Annunciation of the bleſſed Virgin, of Saint Mark the Evangeliſt, of Saint Philip and Jacob the Apoſtles, of the Aſcenſion of our Lord Jeſus Chriſt, of the Nativity of Saint John Baptiſt, of Saint Peter the Apoſtle, of Saint James the Apoſtle, of Saint Bartholomew the Apoſtle, of Saint Matthew the Apoſtle, of Saint Michael the Archangel, of Saint Luke the Evangeliſt, of Saint Simon and Jude the Apoſtles, of All Saints, of Saint Andrew the Apoſtle, of Saint Thomas the Apoſtle, of the Nativity of our Lord, of Saint Stephen the Martyr, of Saint John the Evangeliſt, of the holy Innocents, Munday and Tueſday in Eaſter-week, and Munday and Tueſday in Whitſon-week. And that none other day ſhall be kept and commanded to be kept Holy-day, or to abſtain from lawful bodily labour.

Wherefore ſome days are more called holy-days then other.

All theſe days ſhall be kept Holy-days, and none other.

Which days ſhall be commanded and kept Faſting days.

And it is alſo enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that every Even or Day next going before any of the aforeſaid days of the Feaſts of the Nativity of our Lord, of Eaſter, of the Aſcenſion of our Lord, Pentecoſt, and the Purification, and the Annunciation of the aforeſaid bleſſed Virgin, of All Saints, and of all the ſaid Feaſts of the Apoſtles, (other then of Saint John the Evangeliſt, and Philip and Jacob) ſhall be faſted and commanded to be kept and obſerved, and that none other Even or Day ſhall be commanded to be faſted.

Puniſhment of offendors by the Eccleſiaſtical law.

And it is enacted by the authority aboveſaid, that it ſhall be lawful to all Archbiſhops and Biſhops in their Dioceſſes, and to all other having Eccleſiaſtical or Spiritual Juriſdiction, to inquire of every perſon that ſhall offend in the premiſes, and to puniſh every ſuch offendor by the cenſurers of the Church, and to enjoyn him or them ſuch penance, as ſhall be to the Spiritual Judge by his direction thought meet and convenient.

Abſtinence from fleſh in Lent, Fridays and Saturdays. 2 & 3 Ed.6.19.

Provided always, that this Act, or any thing therein contained, ſhall not extend to abrogate or take away ẏ abſtinence from fleſh in Lent, or on Fridays and Saturdays, or any other day, which is already appointed ſo to be kept, by vertue of an Act made & provided, in ẏ third year of ẏ Reign of our Sovereign Lord ẏ Kings Majeſty that now is, ſaving only of thoſe evens or days, whereof the Holy-day next following is abrogated by this Statute; any thing above mentioned to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

Provided alſo, and it is enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that when and ſo often as it ſhall chance any of the ſaid feaſts, (the events whereof be by this Statute commanded to be obſerved and kept faſting-day) to fall upon the Sunday: that then, as it hath always been heretofore accuſtomably uſed, ſo hereafter the Saturday then next going before any ſuch Feaſt or Holy-day, and not the Sunday, ſhall be commanded to be faſted for the even of any ſuch Feaſt or Holy-day, any thing in this ſtatute before mentioned or declared to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

When the Saturday ſhall be faſted inſtead of the Sunday.

Provided always, and it is enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That it ſhall be lawful to every husbandman, labourer, fiſherman, and to all and every other perſon and perſons, of what eſtate, degree or condition he or they be, upon the Holy-days aforeſaid, in Harveſt, or at any other times in the year when neceſſity ſhall require, to labour, ride, fiſh, or work any kind of work, at their free wills and pleaſure, any thing in this Act to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

In what caſes ſome perſons may labour upon the holy-day.

Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That it ſhall be lawful to the Knights of the right honourable Order of the Garter, and to every of them, to keep and celebrate ſolemnly, the feaſt of their Order, commonly called St. Georges Feaſt, yearly from henceforth the xxii, xxiii, and xxiv days of April, and at ſuch other time and times, as yearly ſhall be thought convenient by the Kings Highneſs, his heirs and ſucceſſors, and the ſaid Knights of the ſaid honourable Order, or any of them now being, or hereafter to be: any thing in this Act heretofore mentioned to the contrary notwithſtanding. REP. 1 M. 2. 1 Iac. 25. Revived, becauſe 1 M. 2. is Repealed by 1 Iac. 25.

It ſhall be lawful for the Knights of the Garter to ſolemnize Saint Georges feaſt.

CAP. IV.

The penalty for ſtriking or drawing a weapon in Church or Church-yard.

Foraſmuch as of late divers and many outragious and barbarous behaviours and acts, have been uſed and committed by divers ungodly and irreligious perſons, by quarrelling, brawling, fraying and fighting openly in Churches and Church-yards: Therefore it is enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by ẏ authority of the ſame, That if any perſon whatſoever, ſhall any time after the firſt day of May next coming, by words onely quarrel, chide or brawl in any Church or Church-yard, that then it ſhall be lawful unto the Ordinary of the place, where the ſame offence ſhall be done, and proved by two lawful witneſſes, to ſuſpend every perſon ſo offending: that is to ſay, if he be a Layman, ab ingreſſu Eccleſiæ, and if he be a Clerk, from the miniſtration of his office, for ſo long time as the ſaid Ordinary ſhall by his diſcretion think meet and convenient, according to the fault.

The penalty for chiding in the Church or Church-yard.

And further it is enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that if any perſon or perſons after the ſaid firſt day of May, ſhall ſmite or lay any violent hands upon any other, either in any Church or Church-yard: that then ipſo facto, every perſon ſo offending ſhall be deemed excommunicate, and be excluded from the fellowſhip and company of Chriſts congregation.

The penalty for ſmiting in Church, &c.

And alſo it is enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that if any perſon after the ſaid firſt day of May, ſhall maliciouſly ſtrike any perſon with any weapon in any Church or Church-yard, or after the ſame firſt day of May, ſhall draw any weapon in any Church or Church-yard, to the intent to ſtrike another with the ſame weapon, that then every perſon ſo offending, and thereof being convicted by verdict of twelve men, or by his own confeſſion, or by two lawful witneſſes, before the Juſtices of Aſſiſe, Juſtices of Oyer and Determiner, or Juſtices of Peace in their Seſſions, by force of this Act ſhall be adjudged by the ſame Juſtices, before whom ſuch perſon ſhall be convicted to have one of his ears cut off. And if the perſon or perſons ſo offending have none ears, whereby they ſhould receive ſuch puniſhment as is before declared, that then he or they to be marked and burned in the cheek with an hot iron, having the letter F. whereby he or they may be known and taken for fray-makers and fighters, and beſides that every ſuch perſon to be and ſtand ipſo facto, excommunicated, as is aforeſaid.

The penalty for drawing or ſmiting with weapon in Church, &c.

CAP. VI.

The true length, breadth and weight of Wollen Clothes.

Where heretofore divers and many goodly Statutes have been made for the true making of Cloth within this Realm, which nevertheleſs foraſmuch as Clothiers, ſome for lack of knowledge and experience, and ſome of extreme covetouſneſs, do daily more and more ſtudy rather to make many, than to make good Clothes, having more reſpect to their private commodity and gain, than the advancement of truth, and continuance of the commodity in eſtimation, according to the worthineſs thereof, have and do daily inſtead of truth practiſe falſhood, and inſtead of ſubſtantial making of Cloth, do practiſe ſleight and ſlender making, ſome by mingling of Yarn of divers ſpinnings in one cloth, ſome by mingling Fell-wooll, and Lambs-wooll, or either of them, with fleece-wooll, ſome by putting to little ſtuff, ſome by taking them out of the Mill before they be full thicked, ſome by overſtretching them upon the Tentor, and then ſtopping with flocks ſuch bracks as ſhall be made by means thereof: finally, by uſing ſo many ſubtile ſleights and untruths, as when the clothes ſo made be put in the water to try them, they riſe out of the ſame neither in length nor breadth as they ought to do, and in ſome place narrower than ſome, beſide ſuch cockeling, bandoning, and divers other great and notable faults, as almoſt cannot be thought to be true.

And yet nevertheleſs, neither fearing the Laws in that caſe provided, nor regarding the eſtimation of their Countrey, do not onely procure the Aulneger to ſet the Kings Seal to ſuch falſe, untrue and faulty cloth, but do themſelves weave into the ſame, the likeneſs and ſimilitude of the Kings-Highneſs moſt noble and Imperial Crown, and alſo the firſt letter of his name, which ſhould be teſtimonies of truth, and not a defence of untruth, to the great ſlander of the King our Sovereign Lord, and the ſhame of this Land, and to the utter deſtruction of ſo great and notable commodity, as the like is not in any forrein Nation.

The counſel of ſeveral ſage, diſcreet, & men of experience, and of the ſame trades uſed in the making of this Statute.

Our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King, therefore minding to advance all truth, and to abandon falſhood, and alſo to provide for the continuance of the ſaid commodity of clothmaking, to his honour and the common profit of the Realm, hath by yͤ advice of the Lords and Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, cauſed as well divers honeſt Clothiers, as alſo divers Drapers, Merchant-taylors, Cloth-workers, Sheremen, and other Artificers to whom it appertaineth, to be examined by certain wiſe, diſcreet and ſage Knights and Burgeſſes of this preſent Parliament, of ſuch matters as touch as well the falſe as the true making of Clothes, by whoſe declaration, conſent, agreement and advice, after divers and ſundry meetings, and great deliberate advice taken in the premiſes, by authority of this preſent Parliament, it is enacted as hereafter followeth, to remain firm and perfect, notwithſtanding any ſuggeſtions hereafter to be made by any Clothier or Clothmaker to the contrary, as they have in like caſes heretofore done: that is to ſay, that every Cloth, Kerſie, piece of Frieze and Cotten, ſhall be made in ſuch ſort and form, and ſhall contain in length, breadth and weight, as is herein hereafter particularly mentioned, upon ſuch pains, penalties and forfeitures as be hereafter expreſſed and appointed.

CAP. IX.

No perſon robbing any houſe, &c. ſhall have the benefit of his Clergy.

WHere at the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, by prorogation the three and twentieth year of the Reign of the late King of famous memory, King Henry the eighth, it was among other things then and there enacted, eſtabliſhed and ordained by authority of the ſame Parliament, That no perſon or perſons, which after that time ſhould happen to be found guilty, after the laws of this Realm, for any manner petty treaſon, or for any wilful murther of malice prepenſed, or for robbing of any Churches, Chappels, or other holy places, or for robbing of any perſon or perſons in their dwelling-houſes, or dwelling-places, the owner or dweller in the ſame houſe, his wife, his children or ſervants, then being within, and put in fear or dread by the ſame, or for robbing of any perſon or perſons in or near about the high-ways, or for wilful burning of any dwelling-houſes, or barns wherein any grain or corn ſhould happen to be, nor any perſon or perſons being found guilty of any abatement, procurement, maintaining or concealing of any, or to any ſuch pety treaſon, murthers or felonies, ſhould from thenceforth be admitted to the benefit of his or their Clergy, but utterly to be excluded thereof, and ſuffer death in ſuch manner and form, as they ſhould have done for any the cauſes or offences aboveſaid, if they were no Clerks, ſuch as be within the holy Orders, that is to ſay, of the Orders of Sub-deacon, or above, all onely excepted, as by the ſame Act among other things more plainly appeareth, which Act was made to endure until the laſt day of the next Parliament: and after that at the ſeſſion of the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter by prorogation, in the two and thirtieth year of the Reign of the ſaid late King, the ſame Act, with other Acts was made to continue for ever. 32 H.8.3.

Three ſeveral doubts and queſtions moved upon the Statute of 23 H.8.1.

Sithen the making of which Statute it hath been doubted, That if ſuch robberies and felonies have been committed and done in dwelling-houſes, and dwelling-places, the owner or dweller in the ſame houſe, his wife, his children or ſervants, being then put in fear or dread by the ſame, ſhall not loſe the benefit of their Clergy, if the offendors be therein found guilty by the laws of this Realm, unleſs the ſame robbery or felony be committed and done in the very chamber, houſe or place, where the owner or dweller in the ſame houſe, his wife, children or ſervants, ſhall happen to be or lye at the time of ſuch robbery and felony committed and done, and put in fear and dread, although the owner and dweller in ſuch houſe and houſes, his wife, his children or ſervants, at the time of ſuch robbery and felony committed and done, were or lay in other places within the precinct of the ſame dwelling houſes, nigh unto the houſe or place where ſuch robbery and felony ſhall happen to be done. Or if it happen that the owner or dweller within the ſame houſe, where ſuch robbery and felony ſhall happen to be done, his wife, children or ſervants to be aſleep, at the time of ſuch robbery and felony committed and done, although the ſame robbery were done in the chamber or place where the owner or dweller in the ſame houſe, his wife, children or ſervants then lay, the offendors being found guilty thereof, according to the laws of the Land, ſhould not loſe the benefit and advantage of their Clergy.

And where alſo it hath been in queſtion and doubted, That if ſuch robberies and felonies happen to be committed and done in any booth or booths, tent or tents, in any fair or market, the owner of the ſame, his wife, children or ſervants happening to be within the ſame, at the time of the committing of ſuch felonies, and put in fear and dread, the offendors therein being found guilty after the laws of this Realm, ſhould not loſe the benefit of their Clergy.

For the true declaration and explication of the ſame doubts or queſtions before recited, be it enacted, ordained and eſtabliſhed by the King our Sovereign Lord, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That if it happen any perſon or perſons to be found guilty according to the laws of this Realm, for robbing of any perſon or perſons after the firſt day of May next enſuing, in any part or parcel of their dwelling-houſes, or dwelling-places, the owner or dweller in the ſame houſe, or his wife, his children or ſervants being then within the ſame houſe or place, where it ſhall happen the ſame robbery and felony to be committed and done, or in any other place within the precinct of the ſame houſe or dwelling-place, that ſuch offendors ſhall in no wiſe be admitted to their [d] Clergy, whether the owner or dweller in the ſame houſe, his wife or children then and there being, ſhall be waking or ſleeping.

Burglary the owner, &c. being in another part of the houſe, or aſleep.

And that no perſon or perſons which after the ſaid firſt day of May ſhall happen to be found guilty, after the laws of this Realm, of and for robbing any perſon or perſons, in any booth or tent, in any Fair or Market, the owner, his wife, his children or ſervants, or ſervant then being, within the booth or tent, ſhall not from henceforth be admitted to the benefit of his or their Clergy, but utterly be excluded thereof, and ſuffer death in ſuch manner and form, as is before mentioned in the ſaid act, made in the ſaid three and twentieth year of the Reign of the ſame late King, for robberies and felonies committed and done in dwelling-houſes, and dwelling-places, the owner or dweller in the ſame, his wife, children or ſervants then being within the ſame, and put in fear and dread, without having any reſpect or conſideration whether the owner or dweller in ſuch booths and tents, his wife, children or ſervants being in the ſame booths or tents at the time of ſuch robberies and felonies committed, ſhall be ſleeping or waking.

Burglary in a tent or booth, in a Fair or Market.

CAP. X.

Such as rob in one Shire, and fly into another, ſhall not have their Clergy.

25 H.8.3.

25 H.8.1.

Where in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, upon prorogation the xv. day of January, in the xxv. year of the Reign of our late Sovereign Lord, King Henry the eighth: It is recited, that at the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, in the xxiii. year of the Reign of the ſaid late King, amongſt other things it was ordained, eſtabliſhed and enacted, That no perſon nor perſons, which after that time ſhould happen to be found guilty after the laws of this Land, of any manner of petit Treaſon, or for any wilful murder of malice prepenſed, or for robbing of any Churches, Chappels, or other holy places, or for robbing of any perſon or perſons in their dwelling-houſes, or dwelling-place, the owner or dweller in the ſame houſe, his wife, his children or ſervants then being within, and put in fear and dread by the ſame, or for robbing of any perſon or perſons, in or near about the high-way, or for wilful burning of any dwelling-houſes or barns, wherein any grains of corn ſhould happen to be, nor any perſon or perſons, being found guilty of any abetment, procurement, helping, maintaining or concealing of, or to any ſuch pety Treaſon, murders or felonies ſhould from thenceforth be admitted to the benefit of his or their Clergy, but ſhould utterly be excluded thereof, and ſuffer death in ſuch manner and form, as they ſhould have done for any the cauſes or offences aboveſaid, if they were no Clerks, which act extended but only where ſuch offendor was convicted in ſuch County or place, where ſuch offence was ſo committed and done, and not where he or they did ſuch offence in one County, and were taken with the manner in another County. Wherefore it was conſidered, That foraſmuch as divers and many felons and robbers, that commit and do divers and many great hainous robberies and burglaries in one Shire, and convey the ſpoil and robbery into any other Shire, and there be taken, indicted, and arraigned of felony, of the felonious ſtealing of the ſame goods in the ſame other Shire, then where the ſame robberies or burglaries were done and committed, and not of the ſame robbery nor burglary, for that it was not done nor committed in the ſame Shire where they be ſo indicted and arraigned, and that by reaſon thereof ſuch felons, robbers and burglarors had and enjoyed the priviledge and advantage of their Clergy.

For redreſs whereof, it was enacted in the ſaid Parliament, holden in the ſaid five and twentieth year of the ſaid late King, That if any perſon or perſons after that time, after ſuch robbery or burglary, by him or them done in any one County, ſhould be indicted of felony for ſtealing of any goods or chattels, in any other County within this Realm, and thereupon arraigned and found guilty, or ſtand mute of malice, or challenge peremptorily above the number of twenty perſons, or would not upon his or their ſaid arraignment directly anſwer to the ſame felony, That then the ſame perſon and perſons ſo arraigned and found guilty, or ſtanding mute of malice, or challenging peremptorily above the number of twenty perſons, or that would not directly anſwer to the law, ſhould loſe and be put from the benefit of his or their Clergy, in like manner and form as they ſhould have been, if they had been indicted, arraigned and found guilty in the ſame County where ſuch robbery or burglary, as is aforeſaid, was done or committed, if it ſhould appear to the Juſtices before whom any ſuch felons or robbers ſhould be arraigned by evidence given before them, or by examination, that the ſame felons and burglarors ſhould have been put from their Clergy in caſe they had been indicted, arraigned and found guilty in the ſame County, where the ſame robberies or burglaries were committed or done, as in the ſame ſtatute made in the ſaid five and twentieth year, among other things more plainly appeareth.

And where in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, the fourth day of November, in the firſt year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is: It is ordained and enacted amongſt other things, That no perſon or perſons, that before that time had been, or at any time hereafter ſhould be in due form of the laws attainted or convict of murther, of malice prepenſed, or of poyſoning of malice prepenſed, or of breaking of any houſe by day or by night, any perſon being then in the ſame houſe where the ſame breaking had been, or after that time ſhould be committed, being put in fear or dread, or of, or for robbing of any perſon or perſons in the high-way, or near the high-way, or for felonious ſtealing of horſes, geldings, or mares, or of felonious taking of any goods out of any Pariſh-Church, or other Church or Chappel, or being indicted or appealed of any of the ſame offences, and thereupon found guilty by verdict of xii. men, or ſhould confeſs the ſame upon his or their arraignment, or would not anſwer directly according to the laws of this Realm, or ſhould ſtand wilfully or of malice mute, ſhould not be admitted to have or enjoy the priviledge or benefit of his or their Clergy or Sanctuary, but ſhould be put from the ſame.

Wherein the ſtatute made 1 Ed. 6. 12. doth take away the force of the ſtatute of 25 H. 8 3.

And that in all other caſes of felony, other then ſuch as be before mentioned, all and ſingular perſon and perſons, which after the firſt day of March then next following, ſhould be arraigned or found guilty upon his or their arraignment, or ſhould confeſs the ſame, or ſtand mute in form aforeſaid, or would not anſwer directly in form abovesaid, ſhould have and enjoy the priviledge and benefit of his or their Clergy, and the liberty and priviledge of Sanctuary, in like manner and form as he or they might or ſhould have done, before the xxiv. day of April, in the firſt year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Henry the eighth, as in the ſaid act made in the ſaid firſt year, among other things more plainly appeareth. By reaſon of which article and clauſe, contained in the ſaid act made in the ſaid firſt year, the ſaid ſtatute made in the ſaid xxv. year of the ſaid late King, which did put ſuch felons and burglarors from their Clergy, that do ſuch offence in one County, and after are taken with the goods ſtollen in another County, and there indicted, arraigned, and found guilty, was made void. By reaſon whereof divers and many perſons that ſithen the ſaid firſt year, have committed ſuch robberies and burglaries in one County, and after have been taken with the manner in another County, and there indicted, arraigned, and found guilty, have had and enjoyed their Clergy, which they would not have had in caſe the ſaid act made in the ſaid xxv. year had ſtood in force, to the great bolding and comfort of ſuch offendors. For redreſs whereof from henceforth to be had, be it enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That the ſaid act made in the ſaid xxv. year, touching the putting of ſuch offendors from their Clergy, and every article, clauſe and ſentence contained in the ſame, touching [a] Clergy, ſhall from henceforth, touching ſuch offences, from henceforth to be committed and done, ſtand, remain and be in full ſtrength and vertue, in ſuch manner and form, as it did before the making of the ſaid act, made in the ſaid firſt year of the Reign of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King that now is; Any clauſe, article or ſentence compriſed in the ſaid act made in the ſaid firſt year, to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding.

The ſtatute of 25 H. 8.3. ſhall ſtand in force, notwithſtanding a clauſe compriſed in the ſtatute of 1 Ed. 6. 12.

CAP. XI.

An Act for the puniſhment of divers kinds of Treaſons.

IT ſhall be high Treaſon for any perſon directly to affirm by writing, printing, painting, carving or graving, that the King is an heretick, ſchiſmatick, tyrant, infidel, or uſurper of the Crown: or rebelliouſly to detain from the King any of his caſtles, or holds, or any of his ſhips, ordnance, artillery, or other fortifications of war. EXP. & REP. 1 M. 1.

And over that, be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any of the Kings ſubjects, Denizens or other, do commit or practice out of the limits of this Realm, in any [b] outward parts, Before whom treaſons committed out of the Realm ſhall be tried. St. 26 H. 8. 13. 35 H. 8. 2.

parts, any the offences which by this act are made, or heretofore, now ſtanding in force, have been made treaſon, That then ſuch treaſons, whatſoever they be, or whereſoever they ſhall happen ſo to be done or committed, ſhall be enquired, and preſented by the oaths of twelve good and lawful men, upon good and probable evidence and witneſs, in ſuch Shire and County of this Realm, and before ſuch perſons as it ſhall pleaſe the King, his ſaid heirs or ſucceſſors to appoint by Commiſſion under his great Seal, in like manner and form as treaſons committed within this Realm, have been uſed to be enquired of, and preſented. And that upon every indictment and preſentment founden and made of ſuch treaſons, and certified into the Kings Bench like proceſs, and other circumſtance ſhall be there made and had againſt the offendors, as if the ſame Treaſon ſo preſented, had been lawfully found to be done and committed within the limits of this Realm.

Proceſs of outlawry awarded againſt an offendor in treaſon, being out of the Realm. St. H. 8. 13.

And that all proceſs of outlawry hereafter to be made and had within this Realm, againſt any offendors in Treaſon, being reſiant or inhabitant out of the limits of this Realm, or in any the parts beyond the ſea, at the time of the [c] outlawry pronounced againſt them, ſhall be as good and effectual in the law, to all intents and purpoſes, as if any ſuch offendors had been reſident and dwelling within this Realm at the time of ſuch proceſs awarded, and outlawry pronounced.

The party outlawed yieldeth himſelf to the Chief Juſtice of England.

Provided alway, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if the party ſo hereafter to be outlawed, ſhall within one year next after the ſaid outlawry pronounced, or judgement given upon the ſaid outlawry, yield himſelf unto the Chief Juſtice of England for the time being, and offer to traverſe the indictment or appeal, whereupon the ſaid outlawry ſhall be pronounced, as is aforeſaid, That then he ſhall be received to the ſaid traverſe, and being thereupon found not guilty by the verdict of twelve men, he ſhall be clearly acquitted and diſcharged of the ſaid outlawry, and of all penalties and forfeitures by reaſon of the ſame, in as large and ample manner and form, as though no ſuch outlawry had been made; Any thing herein contained to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

Forfeiture by attainder of treaſon of lands in fee-taile.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That every offendor or offendors, being hereafter lawfully convict of any manner of high Treaſon, by preſentment, confeſſion, verdict or proceſs of outlawry, according to the due courſe and cuſtom of the laws of this Realm, ſhall loſe and forfeit to the Kings Highneſs, his heirs and ſucceſſors aforeſaid, all ſuch lands, tenements, and hereditaments, which any ſuch offendor or offendors ſhall have of any eſtate of [d] inheritance in his own right, in uſe or poſſeſſion within this Realm of England, or elſewhere within any the Kings Dominions, at the time of any ſuch Treaſons committed, or any time after.

Within what time, and before whom the offendor muſt be accuſed.

And it is further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no perſon or perſons ſhall in any wiſe be impeached for any of the offences aboveſaid, committed onely by open preaching or words, unleſs the offendor or offendors be thereof accuſed within three moneths next after the ſame open preaching and words, and that the ſame accuſation or accuſations be had, made and declared to one of the Kings Councel, or to one of the Kings Juſtices of Aſſiſe, or elſe to one of the Kings Juſtices of the Peace, being of the Quorum, or to two Juſtices of the Peace within the Shire where the ſame offence or offences ſhall happen to be done or committed: Any thing contained in this act to the contrary thereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

Concealment of high treaſon is miſpriſion of treaſon.

Provided alſo, and be it declared and enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That concealment or keeping ſecret of any high Treaſon, be deemed and taken only miſpriſion of Treaſon, and the offendor therein to forfeit and ſuffer, as in caſes of miſpriſion of Treaſon, as heretofore hath been uſed; any thing above mentioned to the contrary notwithſtanding.

No perſon ſhall be attainted of treaſon, but upon the teſtimony of two lawful accuſers.

Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no perſon or perſons, after the firſt day of June next coming, ſhall be indicted, arraigned, condemned, convicted or attainted, for any of the treaſons or offences aforeſaid, or for any other treaſons that now be, or hereafter ſhall be, which ſhall hereafter be perpetrated, committed or done, unleſs the ſame offendor or offendors be thereof accuſed by two lawful accuſers, which ſaid accuſers, at the time of that arraignment of the party accuſed, if they be then living, ſhall be brought in [e] perſon before the party ſo accuſed, and avow and maintain that that they have to ſay againſt the ſaid party, to prove him guilty of the treaſons or offences contained in the bill of indictment laid againſt ye party arraigned, unleſs ye ſaid party arraigned ſhall willingly without violence confeſs ye ſame.

The right of others ſaved.

Saving to every perſon and perſons, their heirs and ſucceſſors, other then the offendors and their heirs, and ſuch perſon and perſons as claim to any their uſes, all ſuch rights, titles, intereſt, poſſeſſions, leaſes, rents, reverſions, offices, and other profits which they or any of them ſhall have at the day of committing ſuch treaſons, or at any time after, in as large and ample manner, as if this act had never been had nor made.

The wife ſhall loſe her dower where the husband is attainted of treaſon. St. 1 Ed. 6. 12.

Provided alſo, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the wife or wives, whoſe husband or husbands hereafter ſhall be attainted of [f] treaſons ſpecified in this act, or of any other treaſons whatſoever they be, ſhall in no wiſe be received, to ask, challenge, demand, or have dowry of any the lands, tenements, or hereditaments of any the perſon or perſons to be attainted of treaſon, as is aforeſaid, during the ſaid attainder in his force; Any thing before mentioned to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

CAP. XII.

The marriage of Prieſts and other Spiritual perſons ſhall be adjudged lawful.

2 & 3 Ed. 6. 21.

ALbeit that at the Seſſion of this Parliament holden by Prorogation at Weſtminſter the fourth day of November, in the ſecond year of the Reign of the Kings Majeſty that now is, it was ordained and enacted by Authority of the ſame Parliament, That all and every Law and Laws poſitive, Canons, Conſtitutions and Ordinances before that, made by the authority of man onely, which then did prohibit and forbid Marriage to any eccleſiaſtical and ſpiritual perſon or perſons, of what eſtate, condition or degree they then were, or by what name or names ſoever they then were called, which by Gods law might lawfully marry, and all and every article, branch and ſentence, concerning onely the prohibition for the marriage of the perſons aforeſaid, ſhould be utterly void and of none effect: And that all manner of forfeitures, pains, penalties, crimes or actions, which were in the ſaid laws contained, or of the ſame did follow, concerning the prohibition for the marriage of the perſons aforeſaid, ſhould be clearly and utterly void, fruſtrate, and of none effect, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as well concerning marriage afore that time made by any of the eccleſiaſtical or ſpiritual perſons aforeſaid, as alſo ſuch which hereafter ſhould be duly and lawfully had, celebrated and made betwixt the perſons which by the laws of God might lawfully marry: Yet ſince the making of the ſaid Act, divers evil diſpoſed perſons perverſly taking occaſion of certain words and ſentences in the ſame Act compriſed, have and do untruly and very ſlanderouſly report of Prieſts matrimony, ſaying that the ſame ſtatute is but a permiſſion of Prieſts matrimony, as Uſury and other unlawful things be now permitted, for the eſchewing of greater inconvenience and evils, ſo that thereby the lawful matrimony of Prieſts, in the opinion of many, and the children procreate and born in ſuch lawful matrimony, rather be of a greater number of the Kings ſubjects accounted as Baſtards, then lawfully born, to the great ſlander, peril, and diſheriſon of ſuch children. Which untrue, ſlanderous report of holy matrimony, doth not only redound to the high diſhonour of Almighty God, but alſo to the Kings Majeſties diſhonour, and his high Court of Parliament, and the learned Clergy of this Realm, who have determined the ſame to be moſt lawful by the law of God, in their Convocation, as well by the common aſſent, as by the ſubſcription of their hands. And that moſt of all is to be lamented, through ſuch uncomly railings of Matrimony, and ſlanderous reproaches of the Clergie, the Word of God is not heard with reverence, followed with diligence, the godly proceedings of the Kings Majeſty not received with due obedience, and thereby the wealthy men of this Realm diſcouraged to nouriſh and bring up their Children in Learning, ſo as it is to be feared, leſt in place of good learning and knowledge, ſhall creep in ignorance, and for learned men, unlearned ambitious men and flatterers, to the great diſpleaſure of Almighty God, and to the peril of the whole ſtate of Gods true Religion within this Realm, if ſpeedy remedy be not provided herein.

The matrimony of Prieſts, and other ſpiritual perſons ſhall be adjudged lawful.

Prieſts children ſhall be legitimate, and inherit their anceſtors lands.

Prieſts ſhall be tenants by the courteſie, and their wives endowable of their lands.

Asking in the Church.

Provided alway, That this Act, nor any thing therein contained, ſhall extend to give liberty to any perſon to marry without asking in the Church, or without the Ceremonies according to the Book of Common-Prayer and Adminiſtration of the Sacraments, nor ſhall make any ſuch Matrimony already made, or hereafter to be made good, which are prohibited by the law of God for any other cauſe.

Divorces already made.

Provided alſo, That this Act, or any thing therein contained, ſhall extend to alter, change, revoke, repeal, or otherwiſe to diſannul any decree, judgment or ſentence of divorce heretofore had or made, or to change or alter the poſſeſſion or inheritance of any lands or tenements already deſcended: but that they and every of them ſhall remain, continue, and be of ſuch like force, effect, ſtrength and degree, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as they were before the making of this Act: this Act, or any thing therein contained to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding. REP. 1 M. 2. 1 Jac. 25. revived.

CAP.

CAP. XIII.

Every religious perſon ſhall be inheritable to his Anceſtor, only from the time of his deraignment.

31 H.8,6.

WHere by an Act of Parliament made the one and thirtieth year of the reign of the moſt noble Prince of famous memory, King Henry the eighth, for and concerning the enablement of profeſſed and religious perſons to purchaſe to them and to their Heirs, in fee-ſimple, fee-tail, for term of life, for years or at will, manors, lands, tenements, rents, annuities, and other hereditaments and things whatſoever: and that they and every of them ſhould or might from thenceforth uſe and exerciſe, receive, take, have and enjoy all and every lawful thing and things to be grown, fallen or happened to them or any of them after the ſame deraignment or departing out of religion. And in which ſaid Act of Parliament, there is a Proviſo contained, that none of the ſame religious perſons ſhould or might at any time after the making of the ſame Act, be taken, deemed, or judged for, or as heir or heirs, or inheritable to any perſon or perſons, to any purpoſe, reſpect, conſtruction, or intent in the law, as by the ſame Act among other things therein contained, more fully at large it may and doth appear.

And foraſmuch as ſith the time of the making of the ſaid Act, there hath been certain ambiguities and doubts grown and ariſen, and hereafter are like to grow and ariſe, upon the expoſition of the ſaid Act, whether the ſaid late religious and profeſſed perſons ſhould or might be adjudged able to inherit, and to be inheritable as heir or heirs to any of his or their anceſtor or anceſtors, and to have and enjoy all and every thing and things deſcended, grown, fallen, or happened to them or any of them after the ſaid deraignment or departing out of religion, yea or no:

Every religious perſon ſhall be adjudged inheritable to his anceſtor only from the time of his deraignment.

For the full and plain declaration whereof, be it enacted, declared and expounded by this preſent Parliament, & by the authority of the ſame, That all and every of the ſame late religious and profeſſed perſon & perſons, ſhall and may by authority of this Act, be enabled to all intents, conſtructions & purpoſes, at all time and times hereafter, to be taken, deemed and judged, as heir or heirs, and inheritable to all and every their anceſtor or anceſtors, and to have, challenge or enjoy, receive and take all manors, lands, tenements and hereditaments, and to every other thing and things to them or any of them fallen, come, grown, or deſcended from any their anceſtors, by any manner of ways, ſince the time of their ſeveral deraignments, or departing out of their Religion, in as ample and large manner, form and condition, as they had never been profeſſed, nor entred into religion, the ſame profeſſion or religion, or any law, cuſtom or uſe within this Realm, to the contrary thereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

No religious perſon ſhall inherit by force of any former right grown before his deraignment.

Provided always, and be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that none of the ſaid religious perſons, ſhall or may by vertue of this act, at any time hereafter be taken, deemed or judged for heir or heirs, or inheritable to any perſon or perſons, to any conſtruction and intent in the Law, by reaſon of any former right, title, intereſt, matter or cauſe, had, made, done, deſcended or grown to any reſpect or purpoſe, before their ſaid ſeveral deraignments or departing out of their religion: Any thing before in this Act or in the ſaid former Act, contained in the contrary hereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

CAP. XIV.

Who ſhall be judged a Fore-ſtaller, who a Regrator, and who an Ingroſſer; and the puniſhment of them.

Statutes made againſt foreſtallers, Stat. 31 Ed.1. 25. Ed 3.3. 2 R.2.2.

ALbeit divers good Statutes heretofore have been made againſt Foreſtallers of Merchandiſes and Victuals: yet for that good laws and ſtatutes againſt Regrators and Ingroſſers of the ſame things have not been heretofore ſufficiently made and provided, and alſo for that it hath not been perfectly known what perſon ſhould be taken for a Foreſtaller, Regrator, or Ingroſſor, the ſaid ſtatutes have not taken good effect, according to the minds of the makers thereof: Therefore be it enacted and declared by the King our Sovereign Lord, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That whatſoever perſon or perſons, that after the firſt day of May next coming, ſhall buy or cauſe to be bought, any merchandiſe, victual, or any other thing whatſoever, coming by land or by water, toward any Market or Fair to be ſold in the ſame, or coming toward any City, Port, Haven, Creek, or Rode of this Realm, or Wales, from any parts beyond the Sea to be ſold, or make any bargain, contract or promiſe, for the having or buying of the ſame, or any part thereof, ſo coming as is aforeſaid, before the ſaid merchandiſe, victuals, or other things, ſhall be in the Market, Fair, City, Port, Haven, Creek, or Rode, ready to be ſold: or ſhall make any motion by word, letter, meſſage, or otherwiſe to any perſon or perſons, for the inhaunſing of the price, or dearer ſelling of any thing or things above mentioned, or elſe, diſſwade, move, or ſtir any perſon or perſons coming to the Market or Fair, to abſtain or forbear to bring or convey any of the things above rehearſed, to any Market, Fair, City, Port, Haven, Creek, or Rode to be ſold, as is aforeſaid, ſhall be deemed and taken, and adjudged for a Fore-ſtaller.

Cro.Jac.84. Cro.Car.13. 314.

Further be it enacted and declared by the authority aforeſaid, that whatſoever perſon or perſons that after the ſaid firſt day of May, ſhall by any means regrate, obtain, or get into his or their hands or poſſeſſion, in any Fair or Market, any Corn, Wine, Fiſh, Butter, Cheeſe, Candles, Tallow, Sheep, Lambs, Calves, Swine, Pigs, Geeſe, Capons, Hens, Chickens, Pigeons, Conies, or other dead victual whatſoever, that ſhall be brought to any Fair, or Market within this Realm, or Wales to be ſold, and do ſell the ſame again in any Fair or Market, holden or kept in the ſame place, or in any other Fair or Market within four miles thereof, ſhall be accepted, reputed and taken for a Regrator or Regrators.

Who ſhall be reputed a Regrator.

Who ſhall be taken an Ingroſſor.

And be it alſo enacted and declared by the authority aforeſaid, That whatſoever perſon or perſons, that after the ſaid firſt day of May ſhall ingroſs or get into his or their hands, by buying, contracting, or promiſe-taking, other then by demiſe, grant, or leaſe of land or tithe: any Corn growing in the fields, or any other Corn or Grain, Butter, Cheeſe, Fiſh, or other dead victuals whatſoever within the Realm of England, to the intent to ſell the ſame again, ſhall be accepted, reputed and taken an unlawful Ingroſſer, or Ingroſſors.

The puniſhment of the offendors aforeſaid for the firſt offence.

And if any perſon or perſons ſhall at any time after the ſaid firſt day of May, offend in any of the things before recited, and being thereof duly convicted or attainted by the Laws of this Realm, or after the form hereafter mentioned, ſhall for his or their firſt offence have or ſuffer impriſonment by the ſpace of two moneths, without bail or mainpriſe, and ſhall alſo loſe and forfeit the value of the goods, cattel and victual, ſo by him or them bought or had.

The puniſhment for the ſecond offence.

And if any perſon lawfully convicted or attainted of or for any the offences abovesaid, be thereof eftſoons lawfully convicted or attainted, that then every perſon or perſons ſo offending, ſhall have and ſuffer for his or their ſaid offence, impriſonment by the ſpace of one half year, without bail or mainpriſe, and ſhall loſe the double value of all the goods, cattel, and victual, ſo by him bought or had, as is aforeſaid.

The puniſhment for the third offence.

And if any perſon being lawfully twice convicted or attainted, of or for any of the ſaid offences, ſhall eftſoons offend the third time, and be thereof lawfully convicted or attainted, that then every ſuch perſon, for the ſaid third offence, ſhall be ſet on the Pillory in the City, Town or place where he ſhall then dwell and inhabit, and loſe and forfeit all the goods and cattel that he or they have to their own uſe, and alſo be committed to priſon, there to remain during the Kings Majeſties pleaſure.

To what retailing or other acts this Statute doth not extend. 13 El. 25.

And foraſmuch as divers evil and covetous diſpoſed perſons, exerciſing the myſteries of making Hats, and weaving of Coverlets and Dornecks within the ſaid City, and not being brought up, or practiſed in the ſaid Arts or Myſteries, to the intent they might occupy and exerciſe the ſaid myſteries out of the ſaid City of Norwich, where no ſuch Ordinances and Conſtitutions be made or provided, have withdrawn themſelves from the ſaid City, into certain Towns nigh about the ſame City, where they do and may occupy and exerciſe the making of Hats, weaving of Coverlets and Dornecks deceitfully and inſufficiently, without controlment, to the utter decay as well of the ſaid Crafts and Myſteries, as of the ſaid City, if remedy be not therein provided.

Who onely may make Hats, Coverlets and Dornecks in Norfolk and Norwich.

It may therefore be enacted by the Kings Majeſty, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That no perſon by himſelf, or by his ſervant, or apprentice, ſhall from and after the Feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel next coming, make or work any Felts, or thrummed Hats, or weave or make any Coverlets, or Dornecks, or occupy, uſe or exerciſe the myſteries or occupations of making of Felts, or thrummed Hats, or weaving of Dornecks and Coverlets, or any of them within the City of Norwich, or within the County of Norfolk, unleſs he or they that ſhall ſo make or work any ſuch Felts or Hats, or ſo occupy the occupation or myſtery of making of Felts or Hats as aforeſaid, within the ſaid City or County, be licenced and admitted ſo to do by the Mayor, Recorder, Steward, and two Juſtices of Peace of the ſaid City, or by four of them, or that have been apprentice to the ſame occupation and myſtery of Felts and Hats making by the ſpace of ſeven years. And unleſs he or they that ſhall ſo make or weave Coverlets, or to occupy the arts or myſtery of Coverlets weaving or making, be licenſed and admitted ſo to do by the Mayor, Recorder, Steward, and two Juſtices of the Peace of the ſaid City, or by four of them, or that have been apprentice to the occupation and myſtery of Coverlets weaving, or making, by the ſpace or term of ſeven years.

Hats, Dornecks, Coverlets, &c. ſhall be made onely in a Corporation or Market town.

And be it alſo enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no perſon or perſons ſhall from henceforth make any Felts or Hats, or weave or make any Dornecks or Coverlets, as aforeſaid, or occupy, exerciſe or uſe the occupation, arts or myſteries of making of Hats or Felts, or weaving or making of Dornecks or Coverlets, or any of them, as aforeſaid, in any place out of the ſaid City of Norwich, within the ſaid County of Norfolk, but onely in a corporate or market Town, upon pain of forfeiting, as well of the Felts, Hats, Dornecks and Coverlets, and every of them, which ſhall be made, wrought or woven contrary to the form, effect and tenour of this Act, or of any part or clauſe thereof, as alſo ten ſhillings for every half dozen of the ſaid Felts or Hats, and of three ſhillings four pence for every Coverlet, and of ſix ſhillings eight pence for every ſix yards of Dornecks, ſo as is aforeſaid to be made, woven or wrought contrary to this Act, the one half of which forfeitures to be to the King our Sovereign Lord, his Heirs and Succeſſors, and the other half thereof to the perſon or perſons that ſhall or will ſeiſe the ſame, or that will or ſhall ſue for the ſame, or for any part thereof, in the Kings Court of the Guild-hall, within the ſaid City of Norwich, or in any other of the Kings Courts of Record, within this Realm of England, by action of detinue, debt, plaint, bill, information, or otherwiſe, in which ſaid action or actions, ſuit, bill, plaint, or information, no eſſoin, wager of Law, protection, or forrein plea to the juriſdiction of the Court ſhall be admitted or allowed.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if the Mayor, Recorder, Steward, or Juſtices of Peace of the ſaid City, for the time being, or any of them, ſhall take any ſum of money, or reward for admitting of any perſon to occupy, or uſe any of the arts or myſteries aforeſaid, that for every ſuch time, and every ſuch caſe, the perſon ſo offending ſhall loſe and forfeit five pound, the one half of which forfeiture to be to our Sovereign Lord the King, and the other half to him or them that ſhall ſue for the ſame, as is aforeſaid.

CAP. XXV.

None ſhall ſell Ale or Beer without licence, and they ſhall be bound by Recogniſance.

FOraſmuch as intolerable hurts and troubles to the Common-wealth of this Realm, daily do grow and encreaſe through ſuch abuſes and diſorders, as are had and uſed in common Ale-houſes, and other houſes called Tipling-houſes: it is therefore enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, with the aſſent of the Lords and Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That the Juſtices of Peace within every Shire, City, Borough, Town corporate, Franchiſe or Liberty within this Realm, or two of them at the leaſt, (whereof one of them to be of the Quorum) ſhall have full power and authority by vertue of this Act, within every Shire, City, Borough, or Town corporate, Franchiſe and Liberty where they be Juſtices of Peace, to remove, diſcharge, and put away common ſelling of Ale and Beer, in the ſaid common Ale-houſes and Tipling-houſes, in ſuch Town or Towns and places where they ſhall think meet and convenient. And before his or their deliverance, the ſaid Juſtice ſhall take Recogniſance of him or them ſo committed, with two ſureties, that he or they ſhall not keep any common Ale-houſe, Tipling-houſe, or uſe commonly ſelling of Ale or Beer, as by the diſcretion of the ſaid Juſtices ſhall ſeem convenient.

And the ſaid Juſtices of Peace upon the ſaid certificate made, ſhall in open Seſſions aſſeſs the fine for every ſuch offence at twenty ſhillings.

CAP. XXVI.

Writs upon Exigends and Proclamations ſhall be currant in Lancaſter.

Where the County of Lancaſter is, and of long time hath been, one ancient County Palatine of it ſelf, in which County the Kings Writ hath not, nor yet doth not run, ſo that the Writ of Proclamation awarded upon any Exigend, againſt any perſon or perſons, inhabiting within the ſame County, in any action wherein proceſs of outlawry doth lie, according to the Statute made in the ſixth year of the Reign of our late Sovereign Lord of famous memory, King Henry the Eighth, cannot be directed to the Sheriff of the ſaid County Palatine, but unto the Sheriff of the County next adjoyning unto the ſaid County Palatine, ſo that the party dwelling within the ſaid County Palatine, againſt whom any ſuch Exigend and Proclamation hath been, or ſhall be awarded, hath not had, nor hereafter can have any knowledge of the ſame ſuit or proceſs, by reaſon whereof many perſons inhabiting within the ſaid County Palatine, without knowledge have been outlawed, and hereafter be in like manner like to be outlawed, to their utter undoings, if ſome ſpeedy remedy be not the ſooner provided.

And that every ſuch Writ of Proclamation ſo to be hereafter awarded to the Sheriff of the ſaid County Palatine, ſhall have the ſame Teſte and day of Return as the Exigends, whereupon every ſuch Writ of Proclamation ſhall be awarded, ſhall have.

The Sheriff of the County of Lancaſter ſhall make Proclamation according to the tenor of his Writ.

And that every ſuch Sheriff of the ſaid County Palatine of Lancaſter, to whom any ſuch Writ and Writs of Proclamation ſhall be directed, ſhall make Proclamations of the ſaid Writ and Writs of Proclamation, according to the tenour of the ſame, and ſhall make true returns of the ſame, in ſuch Court and Courts, and before ſuch Juſtices as the tenour of the ſame Writ and Writs of Proclamations, ſhall require and demand. And that all ſuch Writs of Proclamations aforeſaid, ſhall be delivered unto every ſuch deputy or deputies of Record in the ſame Courts, and either of them, and alſo like fees ſhall be paid for making every ſuch Writ of Proclamations, and for enrolling the ſame of Record, as is limited in the ſame Statute, made in the ſaid ſixth year of our ſaid late Sovereign Lord King Henry the Eighth.

The Sheriff of Lancaſhire ſhall have a Deputy in the Kings Bench, and another in the Common Place.

CAP. II.

The Kings power to diſſolve or unite certain Courts erected by the late King.

Where in the ſeven and twentieth year of the late King of famous memory, King Henry the Eighth, Father to the Kings Majeſty that now is, there was ordained, made, eſtabliſhed and enacted by authority of Parliament, a certain Court commonly called the Court of Augmentations of the Revenues of the Kings Crown. And where alſo in the two and thirtieth year of the ſaid late King, there was made and erected by authority of Parliament, two ſeveral Courts, the one commonly called the Court of the Firſt-fruits and Tenths, and the other the Court of the Kings Wards. And where alſo in the three and thirtieth year of the ſaid late King, there was made, ſtabliſhed and erected by authority of Parliament, one Court commonly called the Court of the general Surveyors of the Kings lands: And where there is one other Court commonly called the Court of the Dutchy of Lancaſter.

27 H. 8. 27.

32 H. 8. 45.
32 H. 8. 46.

33 H. 8. 39.

After which ſaid ſeveral Courts ſo erected, as is aforeſaid, the ſaid late King did repeal & diſſolve, extinguiſh & determine, as well the ſaid Court of Augmentation of yͤ Revenues of the Kings Crown, as alſo the ſaid Court of general Surveyors of the Kings lands, and the Officers of the ſaid late Courts of yͤ Augmentations of yͤ Kings Crown, & general Surveyors of yͤ Kings lands, did ſurrender their Patents & Offices into the ſaid late Kings hands.

The Courts of Augmentations and general Surveyors were diſſolved.

And after the ſaid late King did by his Letters Patents erect one other Court, called the Court of Augmentation and Revenues of the Kings Crown, and did by the ſame his Letters Patents conſtitute and appoint divers Officers and Miniſters for the ſupplying thereof, as by the ſame Letters Patents more plainly at large it may and doth appear.

A ſecond Court of Augmentations erected.

And foraſmuch as ſince the erection of the ſaid Court of Augmentations and Revenues of the Kings Crown, ſtabliſhed and erected by Letters Patents, as is aforeſaid, divers ambiguities and doubts have riſen and grown among ſuch as be learned in the Laws of the Realm, whether the diſſolving, extinguiſhing and repealing of the ſaid late Courts erected by authority of Parliament, as is aforeſaid, might by the order of the Law be diſſolved, extinguiſhed and repealed by Letters Patents, conſidering that the commencement of them were firſt had and made by authority of Parliament, yea or no: Whereupon great inconveniences might enſue, as well to the Kings Majeſty, as to divers of his Graces moſt loving and obedient ſubjects, who have had by exchange, purchaſe, gift, or otherwiſe, divers manors, lands, tenements, and other hereditaments.

Queſtion about the diſſolution of the firſt Court of Augmentation by Letters Patents onely.

For remedy and declaration whereof, be it enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, and the Lords and Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That the ſaid Letters Patents ſo made by the ſaid late King, and all and every thing and article therein contained, ſhall be as good, available and effectual in the Law, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as though the ſame had been made and done by authority of Parliament.

The Kings Letters Patents for the erection of the ſecond Court of Augmentations ſhall be good.

And be it further enacted by authority aforeſaid, That the Kings Majeſty ſhall or may at any time during his natural life (which GOD long preſerve) by his Graces Letters Patents, under his Great Seal of England, at his moſt gracious will and pleaſure, alter, change, unite, tranſpoſe, diſſolve or determine all or any of the ſaid Court or Courts, and to reduce the ſame Courts, or any of them, into one, two or more Court or Courts, or to unite and annex the ſaid Courts, or any two or more of them together, or to any other of his Majeſties Courts of Record: Or to erect any other new Court or Courts, as to his Highneſs ſhall be thought moſt convenient and beſt, for the better, ſurer, and more ſpeedy anſwering of his yearly revenues, caſualties or profits now anſwerable in the ſaid Courts, or in any of them: And that all and ſingular ſuch alterations, changings, unitings, annexings, tranſpoſings, diſſolvings or determinations of the ſaid Courts, or of any of them ſo to be altered, changed, united, annexed, tranſpoſed, diſſolved or determined, or otherwiſe newly to be erected, as is aforeſaid, as concerning an order for the true paiment of the revenues, rents, iſſues, caſualties and profits of our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King, as ſhall be ſet forth & declared in any ſuch Letters Patents or writings under his Great Seal of England, hereafter to be made, ſet forth and declared, ſhall be of ſuch like, and of the ſame force and ſtrength, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as though the ſame were, or ſhould have been ſet forth or declared by authority of Parliament, the ſaid ſeveral erections, or any other thing heretofore had or made to the contrary thereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

The King may by his Letters Patents alter, change or diſſolve any of the Courts aforeſaid, and erect any new.

Provided alway, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That any thing contained in the ſaid Letters Patents made by the ſaid late King, or in the Letters Patents hereafter to be made by the Kings Highneſs that now is, concerning any pains, penalties, rules or orders, made or to be made for the levying of the Kings revenues, rents, iſſues, caſualties or profits, ſhall not in any wiſe extend to charge any of the Kings ſubjects in any other manner or form then they or any of them ought lawfully to have been charged by the Laws of the Realm, before the firſt day of this preſent Parliament, or by any Statute made or to be made in this preſent Seſſion of Parliament.

Dyer fol. xxv.

No Orders made for the levying of the Kings debts ſhall be prejudicial to any.

Provided alſo, and be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the ſaid Letters

The Officers of theſe Courts ſhall hear and determine cauſes onely where the King is a party.

A ſaving of all mens Offices in certain caſes.

Patents made in the time of the ſaid late King, or any other Letters Patents hereafter to be made by the Kings Highneſs that now is, or any thing or matter contained in this Act, ſhall not in any wiſe extend to give any power or authority to the Chancellor and general Surveyors of the ſaid Court of the Augmentation and Revenues of the Kings Crown, or to any Officer or Officers of the ſame Court, or to any other Court or Courts hereafter to be erected by the Kings Majeſty, as is aforeſaid, or to any other Officer or Officers to be appointed in any of the ſame Courts hereafter to be erected by the Kings Highneſs, as is aforeſaid, to hear or determine any plea, matter or cauſe between any of the Kings ſubjects, but onely in ſuch caſe where the Kings Highneſs is onely a mere and a ſole party: ſaving to all and every perſon and perſons, and bodies politick and corporate, and to every of them, ſuch Offices of Stewardſhips, Offices of Maſterſhips of any game or games, Keepers of Forreſts, Chaſes, Parks, Houſes and Caſtles, and the profits thereunto belonging, and all rents, annuities and fees, as they or any of them have or ought to have, if this Act had never been had ne made.

A ſaving of the annuities, fees, penſions, &c. of others.

Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act, nor any thing therein contained, ſhall in no wiſe extend, or be conſtrued to take away, extinct or determine from any perſon or perſons, their heirs, ſucceſſors or aſſigns, or from any of them, any fees, annuities, penſions, ſtipends or annual paiments of any ſums of money, which they or any of them have, or of right might or ought lawfully to have by any Letters Patents, or other ſufficient writing made before the ſix and twentieth day of March, in the ſeventh year of the Reign of our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, but that all and every perſon and perſons, their heirs, ſucceſſors, executors and aſſigns, and every of them, which have, or hereafter ſhall have any fee, annuity, ſtipend, penſion or annual paiment of any ſum or ſums of money, paiable yearly in any of the ſaid Courts, or by the hands of any Officer or Officers of any of the ſame Courts, ſhall and may perceive, take and receive the ſame, and ſhall yearly thereof be paid of the Kings treaſure at the days and times compriſed in ſuch Letters Patents, or other writings in any of the ſaid Courts, where now the ſame is or ought to be paiable, as long as the ſaid Court ſhall remain and have any being: And after in ſuch Court or Courts as ſhall pleaſe the King newly to erect by the hands of the Officers of the ſame Court, and for default thereof in any of the Kings Courts wherein ſufficient revenue ſhall be to anſwer the ſame of the Kings treaſure there, by the hands of the Officers of the ſame Court, in ſuch like manner and form as the ſame perſon and perſons, their heirs, executors and aſſigns, or any of them, ſhould and might have done, or been paid in any other place or Court, if this Act had never been had or made: any thing in this Act contained, or any other thing hereafter to be done by reaſon, colour or authority of this Act to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding. CAP. III.

Confirmation of certain Letters Patents of bargain and ſale made by King H. 8. ſince the fourth of February, anno 27. of his Reign: and by King Ed. 6. ſince the twenty eighth of January, anno 1 of his Reign, notwithſtanding his minority.

34 H, 8. 21.

A bill ſhall be ſigned and ſealed by the Patentee of thoſe lands which the King ſhall after grant to him by his bill ſigned.

By what means the King ſhall be ſatisfied for the overplus of lands by him ſold, exchanged or given.

Whereas in the Seſſion of Parliament holden upon Prorogation at Weſtminſter, the two and twentieth day of January, in the four and thirtieth year of the Reign of the late King of famous memory, King Henry the Eighth, and there continued, kept until the twelfth day of May, in the five and thirtieth year of the reign of the ſaid late King, amongſt divers and ſundry, and many Statutes, there was then one Statute made for the confirmation of Letters Patents, notwithſtanding any miſ-naming, miſ-priſion or miſ-rehearſal, or any other default contained or rehearſed in the ſame Act: Wherein it was provided, and enacted by the authority of the ſame Parliament, That all and ſingular ſuch Patentees, Grantees, & Donees, as at any time from ẏ making of the ſame Statute, during ſeven years then next following, ſhould fortune to have or obtain any caſtles, manors, lands, tenements, tithes, penſions, portions, or other hereditaments, of the gift, grant, ſale or exchange of the Kings Majeſty, or of the onely gift of the Kings Majeſty, of his moſt liberal diſpoſition, & not ſold, which at the day of the date of the Letters Patents thereof made, ſhould be of more and better yearly value to the King in yearly rent and ferm, then ſhould be contained, mentioned or ſpecified in any ſuch Letters Patents, and particulars thereof made by the Auditor or Auditors, and in ſuch bill or bills as ſhould be ſigned and ſealed with the hand or hands of the Patentee or Patentees thereof, to be exhibited to the Kings Majeſty, or his Officer or Officers, within whoſe ſurvey the ſaid manors, lands and tenements, and other the premiſſes, or any part thereof ſhould be, or within any of them, which bill ſhould be ſigned, ſealed, had and made, as is aforeſaid, before any bills ſhould be thereof ſigned by the Kings Majeſty, that then every of the ſaid Patentees, Grantees and Donees, their heirs, executors and adminiſtrators, within one year next after due proof and decree thereof had and made in the Court, within whoſe ſurvey the ſame caſtles, manors, lands, tenements, and other the premiſſes, or any parcel thereof then ſhould be, ſhould content and pay unto the King for the ſame overplus, and more value for the ſame manors, lands, tenements, tithes, penſions, portions, and other hereditaments to him ſold or exchanged, after ſuch rate as the other lands and tenements were before to him ſold or exchanged, and for the overplus and more value of ſuch lands and tenements ſhould happen to be given by the Kings Majeſty, and not ſold, as is abovesaid, The ſaid Patentee, his heirs, executors or adminiſtrators, ſhould content and pay to the King after the rate of twenty years purchaſe: So that the ſame proof and decree were had and made in form abovesaid, within ten years next after the date of the ſaid Letters Patents, as by the Statute more at large it doth and may appear.

1 Ed. 6. 8.

And alſo, whereas in the Parliament begun at Weſtminſter, the fourth day of November, in the firſt year of the Reign of our moſt dread Sovereign Lord the King that now is, King Edward the Sixth, and from thence continued to the four and twentieth day of December then next enſuing: that is to ſay, the firſt Seſſion of the ſame Parliament, amongſt divers and ſundry Statutes, there was then alſo one other Statute made for the confirmation of Letters Patents, notwithſtanding any miſ-naming, miſ-rehearſal, or any other default contained or rehearſed in the ſame Act: wherein it was alſo provided and enacted by the authority of the ſame Parliament, That all and ſingular ſuch Patentees, Grantees and Donees, as at any time after the ſaid Parliament, and during the life of our ſaid Sovereign Lord, King Edward the Sixth, ſhould fortune to have or obtain any caſtles, manors, lands, tenements, tithes, penſions, portions, or other hereditaments, of the gift, grant, ſale or exchange of the Kings Majeſty, or of the onely gift of the Kings Majeſty of his moſt liberal diſpoſition, and not ſold, which at the day of the date of the Letters Patents thereof made, ſhould be of more or better yearly value to the King in yearly rent and ferm, then ſhould be contained, mentioned and ſpecified in any ſuch Letters Patents, and particulars thereof made by the particular Surveyor or Surveyors thereof. And in ſuch bill or bills as ſhould be ſigned and ſealed with the hand or hands of the Patentee or Patentees thereof to be exhibited to the Kings Majeſty, or his Officer or Officers, within whoſe ſurvey the ſaid manors, lands and tenements, and other the premiſſes, or any part thereof ſhould be, or within any of them, which bill ſhould be ſigned, ſealed, had and made, as is aforeſaid, before any bill ſhould be thereof ſigned by the Kings Majeſty: That then every of the ſaid Patentees, Grantees and Donees, their heirs, executors or adminiſtrators, within one year next after due proof and decrees thereof made and held in the Court, within whoſe ſurvey the ſame caſtles, manors, lands, tenements, and other the premiſſes, or any parcel thereof, before the ſaid gifts and grants were, ſhould content and pay to the King for the ſame overplus, and more value of the ſame manors, lands, tenements, tithes, penſions, portions, and other hereditaments, to him ſold and exchanged, after ſuch rate as other lands and tenements were before to him ſold or exchanged, and for the overplus and more value of ſuch lands and tenements as ſhould happen to be given by the Kings Majeſty, and not ſold, as is aboveſaid, the ſaid Patentee, his heirs, executors or adminiſtrators, ſhould content and pay to the King after the rate of twenty years purchaſe, ſo that the ſame proof and decree were had and made in manner and form aforeſaid, within ten years next after the date of the ſame Letters Patents, as by ẏ ſame Statute more at large it doth & may appear.

A confirmation of Patents notwithſtanding miſ-naming, miſ-rehearſal, or other default made by King Ed. 6.

Several inconveniences enſuing to the Kings Patentees by the Statute of 34 H. 8. 21. & 1 Ed. 6. 8.

Sithence the making of which Statutes, divers of the ſaid Patentees, Grantees and Donees, according to the true meaning and intent of the ſaid Statutes and Proviſions of the ſame, have by their bills ſeverally ſigned and ſealed with the hands and ſeals of the ſaid Patentees, exhibited to the Kings Majeſty, or to his Officer mentioned in the ſaid ſeveral Acts and Proviſions, before the ſame bill were ſigned by the ſaid late King, or by the Kings Highneſs that now is: Which bills ſigned by the ſaid Patentees, ſometime by the negligence of the ſame Officers, or their Clerks, ſometime by the death of the ſame Officers, and ſometime by the alteration and change of the ſaid Officers, many of the ſaid bills ſo ſigned and ſealed, be now by negligence imbezelled and loſt, and many times there have been no ſuch bills made, but omitted and forgotten: by reaſon whereof divers queſtions, ambiguities and doubts may ariſe, as well for the Kings ſurety and ſatisfaction, as for the Patentees, their heirs and aſſigns.

A confirmation of the Letters Patents of King H. 8. and King Ed. 6. made and to be made during his life.

For the avoiding of all which ambiguities, queſtions and doubts: Be it enacted by the King our Sovereign Lord, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That as well all and ſingular Letters Patents made by the ſaid late King, as by the Kings Majeſty that now is, ſithence the making of the ſaid ſeveral Statutes and Acts, or that hereafter ſhall be made by our Sovereign Lord the King that now is, during his life (whoſe life GOD long preſerve) ſhall be good and effectual to all and every Patentee, their heirs and aſſigns, the lack or want of any ſuch bill or bills, or whether the particular or particulars were had or made, or hereafter to be had or made by any of the Kings Auditor or Auditors, Surveyor or Surveyors in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

And that the ſame Patentees, Grantees and Donees, their heirs and aſſigns, and every of them, ſhall from henceforth have and take all and ſingular ſuch profits, benefits, commodities and advantages mentioned in the ſaid ſeveral Statutes, as though the ſaid bills had been ſigned and ſealed, and were ready to be ſhewed, according to the true intent of the ſaid Statutes, or any of them.

CAP. IV.

Patents of Collectorſhips of Tenths ſhall be bound for their Collectors.

St. 26 H. 8. 3. 2 Eliz. 4.

Where the Archbiſhops and Biſhops of this Realm of England, are bound to the Kings Majeſty for the collecting and true paiment of the Diſmes or Tenths due to his Highneſs, for all and ſingular Benefices, and other Eccleſiaſtical promotions whatſoever, being within their ſeveral Dioceſs: For the collection whereof, divers of the predeceſſors of the ſaid Archbiſhops and Biſhops have by their Letters Patents (confirmed with the Chapiter Seal) given and granted to ſundry perſons the collection of the ſame Diſmes and Tenths, without proviſion of ſufficient bonds, for the true collection and paiment of the ſaid Diſmes or Tenths to our Sovereign Lord, or otherwiſe to diſcharge the granters of the ſaid Patents, and their ſucceſſors, whereby the Kings Majeſty hath been greatly defrauded of his ſaid duties, and many of the ſaid Biſhops ſore troubled, to their great hinderance and utter undoing.

The Collectors of Tenths ſhall be bound to ſave the Biſhops harmleſs againſt the King. Stat. 14 El. 7.

Be it therefore enacted by our Sovereign Lord the King, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That all Collectors of the ſaid Tenths, under any Archbiſhop or Biſhop within this Realm of England, or other the Kings Dominions, having Letters Patents, or other writings of their ſaid Office of Collectorſhip of the ſaid Tenths, ſhall before the Feaſt of the Nativity of St. John Baptiſt next coming, be bound by their ſufficient Writing obligatory or Recognizance, in the Court of the Firſt Fruits and Tenths, or in any other Court where the Kings Revenues of the Tenth ſhall be anſwerable, in ſuch ſum or ſums of money as ſhall be due and growing yearly to our Sovereign Lord the King, within their ſaid collection or office, to ſave and keep the ſaid Archbiſhop or Biſhops, and every of them harmleſs, and without hurt or damage, againſt the Kings Majeſty, his Heirs and Succeſſors, of and for all manner of accompts and paiments of money, which they or any of them have, ſhall or may conveniently receive, during the time of their ſeveral collections, and that may be lawfully demanded or required of the ſaid Archbiſhops or Biſhops, or any of them, for or concerning the ſaid Tenths, by reaſon of the Statute of the Firſt Fruits and Tenths, or elſe their ſaid Letters Patents, and other writings, to be utterly void and of none effect.

And for that the Parſons, Vicars and Curates within this Realm, for the moſt part be not able to pay their Tenths, before that they ſhall have received the profits of their Benefices, which yearly groweth and reneweth to them at the Feaſt of Eaſter, which Feaſt in many years falleth after the firſt day of April, which ſaid firſt day of April is now the day that is ſtalled and appointed to the ſaid Archbiſhops and Biſhops, to make paiment to the Kings Majeſty of the ſaid Tenths: Be it therefore enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the ſaid Archbiſhops and Biſhops, and every of them, ſhall from henceforth make yearly paiment of the ſaid Tenths unto our ſaid Sovereign Lord, his Heirs and Succeſſors, in the Court of the Firſt-fruits and Tenths, or elſe where it ſhall pleaſe the Kings Majeſty to appoint the paiment of the ſame before or at the laſt day of May, and not otherwiſe. And that the certificate of Recuſants made by any of the ſaid Archbiſhops or Biſhops, or any of them, before or at the laſt day of May yearly, ſhall be as good and effectual in the Law, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as though it had been made at the days and times heretofore limited and appointed by the Statute made the ſix and twentieth year of the Reign of his moſt noble Father of famous memory, King Henry the Eighth, for paiments of Tenths and Firſt-fruits, any Law or Statute heretofore had or made to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

The Tenths ſhall be paid the laſt day of May.

Certificate of recuſants made in May.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any promotion Spiritual be now, or ſhall chance hereafter to be or remain in ſuch ſort void, that no Incumbent is or can be conveniently provided for the ſame: That then the ſaid Archbiſhops and Biſhops, and every of them ſhall and may certifie yearly, before the laſt day of May, the ſame Vacations ſpecially and according to the truth of the matter, into the ſaid Court of the Firſt-fruits and Tenths, or in any other Court where the Kings Revenues of Tenths ſhall be anſwerable, upon which certificate the ſaid Archbiſhops and Biſhops, and every of them, ſhall be diſcharged towards and againſt the Kings Majeſty, his Heirs and Succeſſors, in like ſort as they now be, upon their certificate of the recuſants: And that then, and from thenceforth it ſhall be lawful to the Kings Majeſty, his Heirs and Succeſſors, to levy and take all the glebe lands, tithes, iſſues or profits, of the ſaid Benefice or Spiritual Promotion ſo eſpecially certified, as is aforeſaid, until his Grace, his Heirs and Succeſſors, may be fully anſwered, ſatisfied and paid of the whole arrearages of the ſaid Tenths, then due to his Majeſty, and the ſaid Archbiſhops and Biſhops, and every of them, to be from the time of the ſaid eſpecial certificate, clearly exonerated and diſcharged againſt the King, his Heirs and Succeſſors, of the ſame arrearages: Any Law or Statute heretofore had or made to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

A Spiritual promotion void, for which no Incumbent can be provided.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all and every grant, patent or writing whatſoever, that ſhall hereafter be made to any perſon or perſons, by any Archbiſhop or Biſhop, by themſelves, or elſe by any Archbiſhop or Biſhop confirmed by Chapter ſeal within the Realm of England, or elſewhere within the Kings Dominions, of the Office of Collectorſhip of the Tenths, growing or ariſing yearly to be due unto our ſaid Sovereign Lord the King, within the Dioceſs and Biſhoprick of any ſuch Grantor, by reaſon of the Statute of the Firſt-Fruits and Tenths, ſhall ſtand, abide and endure in his or their force, ſtrength and effect, no more nor longer time then the ſaid Grantor ſhall be and remain Archbiſhop or Biſhop of the ſame See and Biſhoprick, whereof he was poſſeſſed at the time of his ſaid grant, any confirmation of the ſaid grant, or any cuſtom, uſage, law or ſtatute at any time heretofore had, uſed or made to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

The Patent of a Collector ſhall be good no longer then during the continuance of the Grantor in the See.

CAP. VII.

What ſhall be the Aſſiſe of Fuel of all ſorts.

Where the aſſiſe and meaſure of talwood, billet, fagot, coles, and other fuel appointed, and aſſiſed by an Act of Parliament made at Weſtminſter the two and twentieth day of January, in the four and thirtieth year of the Reign of our late Sovereign Lord King Henry the Eighth, is the ſame aſſize that was kept in the time of King Edward the Fourth, which aſſize hath not been kept, ne could conveniently be kept theſe threeſcore years, nor at theſe days can be kept, by reaſon of the great ſcarcity of woods that is happened ſince the time of the ſaid King Edward the Fourth. And alſo by reaſon of the greatneſs of the ſaid aſſize, the ſame fuel nor coles cannot be carried at theſe days without alteration of the carts wherein ſuch fuel and coles are now carried, by reaſon whereof, and for that in the ſaid Statute, the penalty, which is the forfeiture of the ſaid fuel or coles, lacking the ſaid aſſize contained in the ſaid Act, dependeth upon the buyer thereof, and not upon the ſeller, ne maker, marker, or ſeller of the ſame. By reaſon whereof divers Cities and Countries are like preſently to lack fuel and coles, unleſs ſpeedy remedy be ſhortly had in this behalf.

34 H. 8. 2.

For redreſs whereof, be it enacted by authority of this preſent Parliament, That no perſon or perſons ſhall ſuſtain any loſs, pain or penalty for buying or ſelling of any talwood, billet or fagot now cut and made, although the ſame be not of the aſſize contained in the ſaid Act, any thing contained in the ſame Act notwithſtanding. And that all talwood, billet, fagot and coles to be made and put to ſale in the Cities of London, Weſtminſter, or in the ſuburbs of the ſame, after the laſt day of September next coming, ſhall keep the aſſizes hereafter expreſſed, that is to wit, That every ſack of coles contain four buſhels of good or clean coles. And that every talſhide contain in length four foot, beſides the carfe. And every talſhide named of one, to contain in greatneſs within a foot of the midſt, ſixteen inches about. And every talſhide named of two, to contain in greatneſs within a foot of the midſt, three and twenty inches about. And every talſhide named of three, to contain in greatneſs within a foot of the midſt, eight and twenty inches about. And every talſhide named of four, to contain in greatneſs within a foot of the midſt, three and thirty inches about. And every talſhide named of five, to contain in greatneſs within a foot of the midſt, eight and thirty inches about. And every billet to contain in length three foot and four inches. And every billet named a ſingle, to contain ſeven inches and a half about. And every billet named to be a caſt, to contain ten inches about. And every billet named of two caſt, to contain fourteen inches about. And every fagot bound, to contain in length three foot. And the band of every ſuch fagot to be of four and twenty inches about, beſides the knot, which aſſizes are little leſs then the aſſizes contained in the ſaid former Act, and alſo are much greater then any aſſize that now is, or of long time hath been commonly kept.

The aſſize of talwood, billet, fagot and coles, to be ſold in London and Weſtminſter and the ſuburbs thereof.

And be it further enacted, That it ſhall be lawful from henceforth for every owner without danger of any forfeiture, to make billets of two caſts. And that all billets of two caſts from henceforth to be made and put to ſale, ſhall be of the aſſiſe herein comprized, or more, and ſhall be marked onely within ſix inches of the midſt thereof. And that every billet of one caſt from henceforth to be made and put to ſale, ſhall be onely marked within four inches of the end thereof, upon pain that every maker and every ſeller, that ſhall make any ſuch fuel or coles, and put the ſame to ſale, to forfeit for every ſhide of talwood, billet, faggot, or ſack of coles from henceforth put to ſale, lacking of the aſſize aforeſaid, three ſhillings four pence. And that this preſent Statute onely, and no other Statute of aſſiſe of fuel or coles, ſhall from henceforth ſtand in force, ne take place.

And foraſmuch as by the greedy appetite and covetouſneſs of divers perſons, fuel, coles and wood runneth many times through four or five ſeveral hands or more before it cometh to the hands of them that for their neceſſity do burn or retail the ſame:

None ſhall buy fuel, but ſuch as will burn or retail the ſame.

No perſon ſhall alter any mark or aſſize of fuel marked.

Be it further enacted, That from the firſt day of May next coming, no perſon or perſons ſhall buy any ſuch wood, coles or fuel, but onely ſuch as will burn or conſume the ſame, or ſuch perſons as ſhall ſell the ſame again by retail, to ſuch as ſhall burn or conſume the ſame for their own occupying, without fraud or covin, or wharffingers, or bargemen, upon pain to forfeit the treble value of all ſuch wood, coles and fuel as ſhall be otherwiſe bought for any lucre or gain. And that no perſon or perſons ſhall alter any mark or aſſiſe of any of the ſaid fuel marked or aſſiſed, according to this Statute, in pain of like forfeiture as is aforeſaid: the one half of all which forfeiture herein contained, ſhall be to the King our Sovereign Lord, and the other half to him or them that will ſue for the ſame by action of debt, bill, plaint or information, in any of the Kings Courts of Record, wherein no eſſoin, protection, or wager of Law to be allowed or admitted for the defendants.

Within what time an offendor ſhall be ſued.

The puniſhment of an offendor not able to pay the forfeiture.

Provided always, and be it enacted, That no perſon or perſons ſhall yield, ne forfeit any penalty herein contained, unleſs action or ſuit be commenced for the ſame, within one whole year next after the offence thereof committed or done. And that if any cutter or maker, as aforeſaid, or other that ſhall forfeit any ſum herein contained, ſhall not be able to yield ſuch forfeiture or ſum, as is aforeſaid, that then ſuch perſon thereof convicted by witneſſes or otherwiſe, to be ſet on a Pillory in the next market Town to the place where he ſhall ſo offend, by a Juſtice of the Peace, or any other of the Kings Officers, at eleven of the clock upon the market day, with a billet or fagot bounden to ſome part of his body, and ſo to be diſcharged of the ſaid forfeiture.

Proviſion for Calice.

Provided alſo, and be it enacted, That it ſhall be lawful to every perſon and perſons to buy, ſell, make and cut billets for the onely ſerving of the Town of Calice, and the Marches of the ſame, ſo that they contain in length thirty inches at the leaſt, as hath been there moſt accuſtomed xl. years laſt paſt, without forfeiture of any penalty herein contained, any thing herein contained to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding. Anno primo MARIÆ.

ACTS made in the Parliament begun and holden at Weſtminſter the fifth day of October, in the firſt year of the Reign of our moſt gracious Soveraign Lady MARY by the grace of God, Queen of England, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, and of the Church of England, and alſo of Ireland, in Earth the ſupream Head: and there continued to the one and twentieth day of the ſame moneth; that is to ſay, in the firſt Seſſion of the ſame Parliament, as followeth.

CAP. I.

A Repeal of certain Treaſons, Felonies, and Premunire.

FOraſmuch as the ſtate of every King, Ruler and Governor of any Realm, dominion or commonalty ſtandeth, and conſiſteth more aſſured by the love and favour of the Subject toward their Soveraign Ruler and Governor, than in the dread and fear of Laws made with rigorous pains and extreme puniſhment, for not obeying of their Sovereign Ruler and Governor: And Laws alſo juſtly made for the preſervation of the Commonweale without extream puniſhment or great penalty, are more often, for the moſt part obeyed and kept, than Laws and Statutes made with great and extream puniſhments. And in ſpecial, ſuch Lawes and Statutes ſo made, whereby not only the ignorant and rude unlearned people, but alſo learned and expert people, minding honeſty, are often and many times trapped and ſnared, yea many times for words onely, without other fact or deed done or perpetrated.

The eſtate of a King ſtandeth more aſſured by the love of his ſubjects, than in fear of Laws.

The Queens moſt excellent Majeſty, calling to remembrance that many, as well honourable and noble perſons, as other of good reputation within this her Graces Realm of England, have of late, (for words only without other opinion, fact or deed) ſuffered ſhamefull death, not accuſtomed to Nobles. Her Highneſs therefore of her accuſtomed clemency and mercy, minding to avoid and put away the occaſion, and cauſe of like chances hereafter to enſue, truſting her loving Subjects will, for her clemency to them ſhewed, love, ſerve, and obey her Grace the more heartily and faithfully, than for dread or fear of pains of body: is contented and pleaſed that the ſeverity of ſuch like extreme, dangerous and painful Laws, ſhall be aboliſhed, annulled, and made fruſtrate and void.

Be it therefore ordained and enacted by the Queen our Soveraign Lady, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and of the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame: That from henceforth none act, deed or offence being by act of Parliament or Statute made treaſon, petit treaſon, or miſpriſion of treaſon, by words, writing, ciphering, deeds, or otherwiſe whatſoever, ſhall be taken, had, deemed or adjudged to be high treaſon, petit treaſon, or miſpriſion of treaſon, but only ſuch as be declared and expreſſed to be treaſon, petit treaſon, or miſpriſion of treaſon, in or by the Act of Parliament, or Statute made in the five and twentieth year of the reign of the moſt noble King of famous memory, King Edward the third, touching or concerning treaſon, or the declarations of treaſons, and none other, nor that any paines of death, penalty or forfeiture in any wiſe enſue, or be to any offendor or offendors, for the doing or committing any treaſon, petit treaſon, or miſpriſion of treaſon, other than ſuch as be in the ſaid Eſtatute made in the ſaid five and twentieth year of the raign of the ſaid King Edward the third, ordained and provided, any act or acts of Parliament, Statute or Statutes, had or made at any time heretofore, or after the ſaid five and twentieth year of the reign of the ſaid late King Edward the third, or any other declaration or matter to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

No act or offence ſhall be Treaſon, petit treaſon, or miſpriſion, but ſuch as be declared by the ſtatute of 25 Ed. 3 2.

Provided always, and be it ordained and enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that this act of Praliament, or any thing therein mentioned, ſhall not in any wiſe extend to give any manner of benefit, advantage, or commodity to any perſon or perſons, being the laſt day of Septem- laſt paſt, arreſted or impriſoned for treaſon, petit treaſon or miſpriſion of treaſon or to any perſon or perſons, heretofore being indicted of treaſon, petit treaſon, or miſpriſion of treaſon, or being outlawed or attainted of treaſon, petit treaſon, or miſpriſion of treaſon, before the ſaid laſt day of September laſt paſt, or being commanded to keep his or their houſes, or other mens houſes, or otherwiſe excepted out of the Queens Highneſs moſt gracious pardon given the day of her Coronation, but that they and every of them, for any offences before mentioned, perpetrated, committed, or done by them or any of them, before the ſaid laſt day of September, ſhall ſuffer ſuch pains of death, loſſes, and forfeitures of lands and goods, as in caſes of Treaſon, as though this act had never been had ne made, any thing in this Act to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

Certain perſons exempted out of the benefit of this Statute.

And be it further ordained and enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that all offences made felony, or limited or appointed to be within the caſe of premunire, by any act or acts of Parliament, Statute or Statutes, made ſithence the firſt day of the firſt year of the reign of the late King of famous memory, King Henry the eight, not being felony before, nor within the caſe of premunire, and alſo all and every branch, article, and clauſe mentioned, or in any wiſe declared in any of the ſame Eſtatutes, concerning the making of any offence or offences to be felony, or within the caſe of premunire, not being felony, nor within the caſe of premunire before and all pains and forfeitures concerning the ſame, or any of them, ſhall from henceforth be repealed, and utterly void, and of none effect.

All offences made felony, or in the caſe of Premunire, ſithence An. 1. H. 8. repealed.

Anno primo MARIÆ, Seſſio ſecunda.

ACTS made in the ſecond and laſt Seſſion of this preſent Parliament, holden upon prorogation at Weſtminſter, the four and twentieth day of October, in the firſt year of the Raign of our moſt gracious Soveraign Lady MARY, by the grace of God, Queen of England, France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, and in earth ſupream Head of the Church of England and of Ireland, and there continued and kept to the diſſolution of the ſame, being the ſixth day of December then next enſuing, as followeth.

CAP. I.

The Queen born in lawful Matrimony, and all ſentences of divorce to the contrary repealed.

Truth may be ſuppreſſed for a time, but not for ever extinguiſhed.

FOraſmuch as truth (being of her own nature of a moſt excellent vertue, efficacy, force, and working) cannot but by proceſs of time break out and ſhew her ſelf, howſoever for a while ſhe may by the iniquity and frailty of man be ſuppreſſed and kept cloſe: And being revealed and manifeſted, ought to be embraced, acknowledged, confeſſed, and profeſſed in all caſes, and matters whatſoever, and whomſoever they touch or concern without reſpect of perſons, but in ſuch caſes, and matters ſpecially, as whereby the glory and honour of God in Heaven (who is the author of truth, and truth it ſelf) is to be ſpecially ſet forth, and whereby alſo the honour, dignity, ſurety, and preſervation of the Prince, and the Ruler under God in earth, dependeth and the welfare, profit, and ſpecial benefit of the univerſal people and body of a Realm is to be continued and maintained.

We your Highneſſe moſt loving, faithful, and obedient ſubjects, underſtanding the very truth of the ſtate of Matrimony between the two moſt excellent Princes of moſt worthy memory, King Henry the eight, and Queen Katharine his loving, godly, and Lawful wife, your Highneſs lawful father and mother, cannot but think our ſelves moſt bounden, both by our duty of allegiance to your Majeſty, and of conſcience towards God, to ſhew unto your Highneſs; firſt, how that the ſame Matrimony, being contracted, ſolemnized, and conſummated, by the agreement and aſſent of both their moſt noble Parents, by the council and advice of the moſt wiſe and graveſt men of both their Realms, by the deliberate and mature conſideration and conſent of the beſt and moſt notable men in learning, in thoſe days, of Chriſtendom; did even ſo continue by the ſpace of twenty years and more between them, to the pleaſure of Almighty God, and ſatisfaction of the world, the joy and comfort of all the ſubjects of this Realm, and to their own repoſe and good contentment, God giving for a ſure token and teſtimony of his good acceptation of the ſame, not only godly fruit, your Highneſs moſt noble perſon (whom we beſeech the Almighty and everliving God, long to proſper and preſerve her amongſt us) and other Iſſue alſo, whom it hath pleaſed God to take out of this tranſitory life unto his eternal glory, but alſo ſending us a happier, flouriſhing and moſt proſperous Commonwealth in all things.

The ground or cauſe of the divorce between King Henry the eight, and Queen Katharine his wife.

And then afterward, how that the malicious and perverſe affections of ſome (a very few perſons) envying the great felicity, wherein by the goodneſs of God. your ſaid moſt noble father and mother, and all their good ſubjects lived and continued in many years, did for their own ſingular glory, and vain reputation conceive ſundry ſubtil & diſloyal practiſes, for the interruption and breach of the ſaid moſt lawful and godly concord. And travelling to put the ſame in ure, deviſed firſt to inſinuate a ſcruple into the King your Fathers conſcience, of an unlawful marriage between him & his moſt lawful wife the Queen, your Highneſs Mother, pretending for the ground thereof, that the ſame was againſt the word of God. And thereupon ceaſed not to perſwade continually unto the ſaid King your Father, that he could not without danger of the loſſe of his ſoul continue with his ſaid moſt lawful wife, but muſt be ſeparated and divorced from her.

And to this intent cauſeth the Seals, as well of certain Univerſities in Italy and France to be gotten (as it were for a teſtimony) by the corruption of money with a few light perſons Scholers of the ſame Univerſities, as alſo the Seals of the Univerſities of this Realm to be obtained by great travel, ſiniſter working, ſecret threatnings, and entreatings of ſome men of authority, eſpecially ſent at that time thither for the ſame purpoſes. And how that finally, Thomas Cranmer, then newly made Archbiſhop of Canterbury, moſt ungodly and againſt all laws, equity aud conſcience proſecuting the ſame wicked device of divorce, and ſeperation of the ſaid King your Father, and Queen Mother, called before him (ex officio) the hearing of the ſame matter of marriage, and taking his foundation partly upon his own unadviſed judgement of the Scripture, joyning therewith the pretended teſtimonies of the ſaid Univerſities, and partly upon bare and moſt untrue conjectures, gathered and admitted by him upon matters of no ſtrength or effect, but only by ſuppoſal, and without admitting or hearing any thing that could be ſaid by the Queen your Mother, or by any other on her behalf, in the abſence, of the ſaid late Queen your Mother, proceeded, pronounced, diſcerned, declared, and gave ſentence, the ſame moſt lawful and undoubted Matrimony, to be naught, and to be contracted againſt Gods Law, & of no value, but lacking the ſtrength of the Law: and the ſaid moſt noble King your Father, and the ſaid noble Queen your Mother, ſo married together, did ſeperate and divorce, and the ſame your moſt noble Father King Henry the eight and the ſaid noble Queen your Mother, from the bands of the ſame moſt lawful matrimony, did pronounce & declare, by the ſame his unlawful ſentence to be free, diſcharged, and ſet at liberty.

The unlawful ſentence of Thomas Cranmer Biſhop of Canterbury, touching the Kings marriage.

The ſentence confirmed by the Statutes made 25 .8. 22 & 28 H.8.7.

Which ſentence and judgement ſo given by unlawful and corrupt means and wayes, by the ſaid Archbiſhop of Canterbury, was afterwards upon certain affections ratified and confirmed by two ſeveral acts, the one made in the five and twentieth year of the Reign of the ſaid King your Highneſſe Father, and intituled, An Act declaring the ſtabliſhment of the ſucceſſion of the Kings moſt Royal Majeſty of the Imperial Crown of this Realm. The other Act of Parliament made in the eight and twentieth year of the raign of the ſaid King your Highneſs Father, entituled, An Act for the ſtabliſhment of the ſucceſſion of the Imperial Crown of the Realm.

In the which ſaid two Acts, was contained the Illegitimations of your moſt noble perſon which your ſaid moſt noble perſon being born in ſo ſolemn a marriage, ſo openly approved in the world, and with ſo good faith both firſt contracted, and alſo by ſo many years continued between your moſt noble Parents, and the ſame marriage in very deed not being prohibited by the Law of God, could not by any reaſon or equity in this caſe be ſo ſpotted. And now we your Highneſs ſaid moſt loving, faithful, and obedient Subjects, of a godly heart and true meaning, freely and frankly, without fear, fanſie, or any other corrupt motion or ſenſual affection, conſidering that this foreſaid marriage had his beginning of God, and by him was continued, and therefore was ever, and is to be taken for a moſt true, juſt, lawful, and to all reſpects, a ſincere and perfect marriage, nor could, ne ought by any mans power, authority, or juriſdiction be diſſolved, broken, or ſeparated, for whom God joyneth, no man can ne ought to put aſunder, and conſidering alſo, how during the ſame marriage in godly concord, the Realm in all degrees flouriſhed to the glory of God, the honour of the Prince, and the great reputation of the Subjects of the ſame, and on the other ſide underſtanding manifeſtly, that the ground of the ſaid device & practice for the ſaid divorce proceeded firſt of malice and vain glory, and afterwards was proſecuted & followed of fond affection, and ſenſual fantaſie, and finally executed and put in effect by corruption, ignorance and flattery: and not only feeling to our great ſorrow, damage & regret, how ſhameful ignominies, rebukes, ſlanders, contempts, yea, what death, peſtilence, wars, diſobediencies, rebellions, inſurrections, and divers other great and grievous plagues God of his juſtice hath ſent upon us, ever ſithence this ungodly purpoſe was firſt begun and practiſed: but alſo ſeeing evidently before our eyes, that unleſſe ſo great an unjuſtice as this hath been and yet continueth, be redubbed, and that the ſaid falſe and wrongful proceſſe, judgement and ſentence, with their dependences be repealed and revoked, nothing is leſſe to be doubted, than that greater plagues and ſtrokes are like to encreaſe and continue daily more and more within this Realm: do beſeech your moſt excellent Majeſty, as well in reſpect of your own honour, dignity, and juſt title, as for truths ſake, wherewith (we doubt not) but your Highneſſe alſo will be eſpecially moved in conſcience, and alſo for the entire love, favour, and affection, which your Majeſty beareth to the Commonwealth of this Realm, and for the good, peace, unity, and reſt of us your moſt bounden ſubjects and our poſterity, that it may be Enacted by your Highneſſe, with the conſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled.

The marriage made between King Henry the eight, and Queen Katherine was true, juſt, and lawful.

Plagues ſent by God upon this Realm ſithence the divorce of the King and Queen.

And be it enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, that all and every decree, ſentence and judgment of divorce & ſeparation between the ſaid King your Father and the ſaid late Queen your Mother, and all the proceſſe commenced, followed, given, made, or promulged by the ſaid Thomas Cranmer, then Archbiſhop of Canterbury, or by any other perſons or perſons whatſoever, whereby the ſame moſt juſt, pure, & lawful marriage, between the ſaid late King your Father, and the ſaid late Queen your Mother, was, or is pronounced, or in any wiſe declared to be unlawful, or unjuſt, or againſt the Law of God, be and ſhall be from the beginning, and from henceforth of no force, validity, or effect, but be utterly naught, void, fruſtrate, and annihilate, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as if the ſame had never been given or pronounced.

Every ſentence of divorce between King Henry 8. and Queen Katharine his wife, given by Biſhop Cranmer or any other, ſhall be void.

And Be it alſo Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that as well the ſaid act of Parliament intituled An Act declaring the eſtabliſhment of the ſucceſſion of the Kings moſt royal Majeſty of the Imperial Crown of this Realm, made in the five and twentieth year of the reign of the King your Father, be repealed, and be void, and of none effect, as alſo all and every ſuch clauſes, articles, branches, and matters contained and expreſſed in the foreſaid act of Parliament made in the ſaid eight and twentieth year of the raign of the ſaid late King your Father, or in any other act or acts of Parliament, as whereby your Highneſs is named or declared to be illegitimate, or the ſaid marriage between the ſaid King your father, and the ſaid Queen your mother, is declared to be againſt the word of God or by any means unlawful, ſhall be, and be repealed, and be void, and of no force nor effect, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes as if the ſame ſentence, or Acts of Parliament, had never been had ne made. And that the ſaid marriage had and ſolemnized between your ſaid moſt noble father King Henry, and your ſaid moſt noble Mother Queen Katharine, ſhall be definitively, clearly and abſolutely declared, deemed and adjudged to be and ſtand with Gods law, and his moſt holy word, and to be accepted, reputed and taken of good effect and validity to all intents and purpoſes.

The Stat. of 25 H.8.22, & 28 H.8.7. repealed.

The marriage between King Hen. 8. and Queen Katharine doth ſtand with the Law of God, and ſhall be reputed good.

CAP. II.

A Repeal of the Stat. of 1 Ed. 6. 1. made againſt ſuch as ſhall ſpeak unreverently of the body and blood of Chriſt: and of the St. of 1 Ed. 6.2. touching the election of Biſhops: and the St. of 2 Ed.6.1. concerning the uniformity of ſervice, and adminiſtration of the Sacraments: and of the Statute of 2 Ed 6. 21. made to take away all poſitive Laws ordained againſt the marriage of Prieſts: and of the Statute of 3 Ed.6. 10. made for the aboliſhing of divers Books and Images: and of the Statute of 3 Ed. 6. 12, made for the ordering of Eccleſiaſtical Miniſters: and of the St. of 5 Ed. 6. 1. made for the uniformity of Common Prayer, and adminiſtration of the Sacraments: and of the St. of 5 Ed. 6. 3. made for the keeping of holy dayes and faſting dayes: and of the St. of 5 Ed. 6. 12. touching the marriage of Prieſts, and legitimation of their children. All ſuch divine ſervice and adminiſtration of Sacraments, as were moſt commonly uſed in England in the laſt year of King HENRY the eight, ſhall be uſed thorow the Realm, after the 20. day of Decem. Anno Dom. 1553. and no other kind of Service, nor adminiſtrations of Sacraments. REP. 1 Jac. 25. St. 1 El. 2.

CAP. III.

The penalty of diſturbing of Preachers and Miniſters in the Church.

FOraſmuch as it is moſt neceſſary in every Chriſtian Common-wealth, to provide that tranquility and peace may be preſerved and continued amongſt the people, and ſpecially in holy Church, in the time of divine Service, and adminiſtration of the Sacrament and Sacramentals, as before this time it hath been accuſtomed in holy Church within this Realm, and that all things being contrary thereunto, or that are, or may be in diſturbance thereof, may by fore ſight be eſchewed and avoided, and remedy therefore in due time provided, as well for the preſervation of the Queens Highneſs peace, as for an univerſal quietneſs and order to be uſed within this Realm.

Diſturbing by word or deed a Preacher in his Sermon.

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen our Soveraign Lady, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That if any perſon or perſons of their own power and authority, at any time or times after the twentieth day of December next coming, do, or ſhall willingly and of purpoſe, by open and overt word, fact, act or deed, maliciouſly or contemptuouſly moleſt, let, diſturb, vex or trouble, or by any other unlawful wayes or means, diſquiet or miſuſe any Preacher or Preachers that now is, or that at any time or times hereafter ſhall be licenſed, allowed or authoriſed to preach by the Queens Highneſs, or by any Archbiſhop or Biſhop of this Realm, or by any other lawful Ordinary, or by any of the Univerſities of Oxford and Cambridge, or otherwiſe lawfully authoriſed or charged by reaſon of his or their cure, benefice, or other Spiritual promotion or charge, in any of his or their open Sermon, Preaching or Collation, that he or they ſhall make, declare, preach or pronounce in any Church, Chappel, Church-yard, or in any other place or places, uſed, frequented or appointed, or that hereafter ſhall be uſed or appointed to be preached in.

And if the ſaid perſon or perſons ſo in Gaol, as is aforeſaid, will not be reconciled and repent at the ſaid quarter Seſſions, that then the ſaid perſon or perſons immediately in time convenient, ſhall be further awarded, and committed to the ſaid Gaol by the ſaid Juſtices, or by the more part of them, there to remain without bail or mainprize, until he or they ſo committed and awarded to Gaol, as is aforeſaid, ſhall be reconciled, and be penitent for his or their ſaid offence or offences.

The penalty if an offendor be not taken but doth eſcape.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all and ſingular Juſtices of peace, Juſtices of Aſſize, Juſtices of Oyer and Determiner, and all and ſingular Mayors, Bayliffs, and Juſtices of peace, within any City, Borough or Town corporate, in any parts within this Realm, within the limits of their Commiſſion or Commiſſions, ſhall have full power and authority by vertue of this Act, after the ſaid twentieth day of December, to enquire of all and ſingular the offences and miſdemeanors aforeſaid, and to hear and determine the ſame, and to ſet the fines and amerciaments of the ſaid offendor or offendors, as is aforeſaid.

What Magiſtrates ſhall have authority to enquire of and puniſh the offendors.

CAP. IV.

Writings, &c. made from the ſixth of July laſt, and before the firſt of Auguſt ſhall be good and effectual; excepting ſuch as were made by the Lady Jane Dudley.

Where it hath pleaſed Almighty GOD the ſixth day of July laſt paſt, to call out of this tranſitory life unto his mercy our late Soveraign Lord King Edward the ſixth, by and immediately after whoſe deceaſe the Imperial Crown of this Realm, with all dignities, dominions, honors, preeminences, prerogatives, ſtyles, authorities and juriſdictions, to the ſame united, annexed or belonging, did not onely deſcend, remain and come unto our moſt dread Soveraign Lady the Queens Majeſty, but alſo the ſame was then immediately and lawfully inveſted, deemed and adjudged in her Highneſs moſt royal perſon, by the due courſe of inheritance, and by the laws and ſtatutes of this Realm.

Neverthelesse, the ſame her Highneſs moſt lawful poſſeſſion was for a time diſturbed and diſquieted, by the traiterous rebellion and uſurpation of the Lady Jane Dudley, wife unto Guilford Dudley Eſquire, otherwiſe called the Lady Jane Grey; and other her complices, during the time of the which ſaid rebellion & uſurpation, divers Eſtatutes, Recognizances, Indentures, Obligations, Acquittances, Grants, Patents, Evidences, and other writings were made and deviſed between, and to ſundry of the ſubjects of this Realm, wherupon divers queſtions, ſuits and doubts, may hereafter ariſe, grow and enſue, to many of the Queens Highneſſe true loving ſubjects. For the avoiding of all which ambiguities and doubts, which by reaſon thereof may be ſtirred and moved,

Be it ordained and enacted, that all Eſtatutes, Recognizances, Indentures, and other writings whatſoever, knowledged or made, by or to any perſon or perſons, bodies politick or corporate, being, the Queens Subjects, ſince the ſixth day of July laſt paſt, and before the firſt day of Auguſt then next following, under the name of the reign of any other perſon, than under the name of our Soveraign Lady the Queen, ſhall be as good and effectual in the Law, to all intents, purpoſes, conſtructions and meanings, as if upon the making thereof the name of our Soveraign Lady the Queens Majeſty, with her ſtyle appropriate, and united unto her Majeſties Imperial Crown, had been fully and plainly expreſſed, and contained in the ſame Obligations, Recogniſances. Indentures, Eſtatutes, and other writings. And that the ſame Obligations, Recognizances, Indentures, Eſtatutes, and other writings, ſhall and may be ſued and miniſtred in barre, exhibited, averred, uſed, and pleaded in the name title and ſtyle of our Soveraign Lady the Queens Majeſty in ſuch and the ſame manner and form, as though the name of the ſame our Soveraign Lady the Queen, with her Graces uſual ſtyle had been expreſſed, written and contained in the ſame, the lack of the naming, or mentioning of the name of our Soveraign Lady the Queen, of her Majeſties ſtyle, in the date or time of the making of the ſaid Eſtatutes, Recognizances, Indentures, or other writings in the ſaid Eſtatutes, Recognizances, or other writing in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

No writings made by the Lady Jane Dudley ſithence the vi. of July laſt, ſhall be good.

Provided always, that this Act, nor any thing therein contained, ſhall not extend to make good any Letters Patents, commiſſions, gifts, grants, leaſes, deviſes, or other writings made by the ſaid Lady Jane Dudley, otherwiſe called the Lady Jane Grey, ſithence the ſaid ſixth day of July laſt paſt, of any manors, lands, tenements, hereditaments, offices, fees, or other writings whatſoever, now or then being by any wayes or means parcel, member or belonging to the ſaid Imperial Crown, or to make good any other writings whatſoever made by the ſaid Lady Jane ſithence the ſaid ſixth of July: But that they and every of them ſhall remain and be utterly void and of none effect, any thing aforeſaid to the contrary notwithſtanding.

CAP. V.

Certain Writs and Acts whereunto the Statute of Limitation made 32 H. 8. 2. ſhall not extend.

Where at a Parliament holden at Weſtminſter the xxiiii. day of July, in the xxii, year of the reign of the late King of famous memory, King Henry the eighth, it was enacted that no manner of perſon or perſons, ſhould from thenceforth ſue, have or maintain any writ of right, or make any preſcription, title or claim, of, to or for any manors, lands, tenements, rents, annuities, commons, penſions, portions, corrodies, or other hereditaments, of the poſſeſſion of his or their anceſtor or predeceſſor, and declare and alleage any further ſeiſin or poſſeſſion of his or their anceſtor or predeceſſor, but only of the ſeiſin or poſſeſſion of his anceſtor or predeceſſor, which hath been or then was, or ſhall be ſeiſed of the ſaid manors, lands, tenements, rents, annuities, commons, penſions, portions, corrodies, or other hereditaments, within threeſcore years next before the teſte of the ſame writ, or next before the ſaid preſcription, title or claim, ſued, commenced, brought, made or had after the making of the ſame Act.

A rehearſal of part of the Statute of 32 H. 8. 2. touching limitation of preſcription.

And where alſo it was further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, amongſt other things, that no perſon or perſons ſhould after that, make any avowry or cogniſance for any rent, ſuit or ſervice, or alledge any ſeiſin of any rent, ſuit or ſervice in the ſame avowry or cogniſance in the poſſeſſion of his or their anceſtors, or predeceſſor or predeceſſors, or in his own poſſeſſion, or in the poſſeſſion of any other whoſe eſtate he ſhould after that pretend or claim to have above fifty years next before the making of the ſaid avowry or cognizance.

Certain doubts moved upon the ſaid ſtatute of 32 H. 8. 2.

Upon which ſaid Act, doubt and ambiguity hath riſen and been moved, Whether a Writ of Right, of Advowſon, a Quare Impedit, Jure Patronatus, or Aſſiſe of Darein Preſentment, may be maintained by any perſon or perſons, bodies politick or corporate, whereas the ſame perſon or perſons, bodies politick or corporate, their anceſtor or predeceſſor, or he or they, by whom he or they do claim, cannot lay the Eſplees, ſeiſin or preſentment in him or themſelves, or the anceſtor or predeceſſor of them, or any of them, or in him or them, by whom he or they do claim, within threeſcore years next before the teſte of the ſame Writ of Right, of Advowſon, Quare Impedit, or Aſſiſe of darein preſentment, and Jure Patronatus. And alſo whether any perſon or perſons, bodies politick or corporate, having a Seigniory by reaſon of any Caſtles, Honors, Manors, lands, tenements or hereditaments of him or them, holden by Knights ſervice, may maintain a writ of right of ward, or a writ of raviſhment of ward, for any caſtles, honors, manors, lands, tenements or hereditaments, holden by Knights ſervice, or for the body of any ward, that he or they claim by reaſon of any ſuch tenure by Knights ſervice, whereas he or they have not been ſeized of the ſame ſervices, within threeſcore years next before the teſte of any ſuch writs. For the explanation and plain declaration whereof, and in avoiding of the ſaid ambiguities and doubts, Be it enacted & declared by the Queens Highneſs, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That the ſaid former Act made in the two and thirtieth year of the reign of the ſaid late King Henry, or any article, clauſe, ſentence or matter therein contained, ſhall not extend to any Writ of Right, of Advowſon, Quare Impedit, or Aſſiſe of darein preſentment, nor jure patronatus, nor to any writ of right of ward, writ of raviſhment of ward, for the wardſhip of the body, or for the wardſhip of any caſtles, honors, manors, lands, tenements or hereditaments, holden by Knights ſervice, nor to the ſeiſor of the wardſhip of the body of any ward or wards, or to the ſeiſor or wardſhip of any caſtles, honors, manors, lands, tenements,

CAP. VI.

Counterfeiting of ſtrange Coyns, &c. adjudged Treaſon.

FOraſmuch as by the Lawes of this Realm, ſmall and no due and condigne puniſhment is at this preſent time provided, for ſuch evil diſpoſed perſons as ſhall counterfeit or forge ſuch kind of Gold or Silver of other Realms, as is not the proper Coyn of this Realm, and yet permitted and ſuffered by the Queen our Soveraign Ladies conſent, and heretofore hath been permitted and ſuffered by the conſent of her moſt noble Progenitors, to be currant in payment, within this her Realm, nor for ſuch perſons as ſhall counterfeit the Queens Highneſſe Sign Manual, her privy Signet, or privy Seal: By reaſon whereof divers evil diſpoſed perſons are encouraged and boldned daily to perpetrate and commit the ſaid ſeveral offences.

For remedy whereof, Be it enacted by our Soveraign Lady the Queen, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That if any perſon or perſons, hereafter falſely forge and counterfeit any ſuch kind of coyn of Gold or Silver, as is not the proper coyn of this Realm, and is or ſhall be currant within this Realm, by the conſent of the Queen, her heirs or ſucceſſors. Or if any perſon or perſons, at any time hereafter, do falſely forge or counterfeit the Queens Sign manual, privy Signet or privy Seal, that then every ſuch offence ſhall be deemed and judged high treaſon, and the offendors therein, their councellors, procurors, aidors, and abettors, being convict according to the laws of this Realm, of any of the ſaid offences, ſhall be likewiſe deemed and adjudged traytors againſt the Queen, her heirs and ſucceſſors, and the Realm, and ſhall ſuffer and have ſuch pains of death, forfeiture of lands, goods and cattels, and alſo loſe the privilege of all Sanctuary, as in the caſe of high treaſon it is uſed and ordained.

Treaſon to forge the coyn of other Realms currant in this Realm, or the Kings ſign Manual, &c. 27 H. 8. 25 Ed. 3. 2.

CAP. VII.

Fines levyed before the Juſtices of the Common place, ſhall be of force notwithſtanding Proclamations be not made.

WHereas upon fines levied with Proclamations, doubts have of late riſen by occaſion of adjournment of Terms, in which Proclamations ſhould have been made according to the form limited for Proclamations upon fines, by the Statute made in the fourth year of King Henry the ſeventh, and were not by reaſon of ſuch adjournments had ne made, according to the purvey of the ſame Eſtatute.

4 H. 7. 24.

Be it therefore enacted that all fines, as well heretofore levied, as hereafter to be levied, before the Juſtices of the Common place, of any manors, lands, tenements, or other hereditaments, whereupon the Proclamations hath not, or ſhall not, by reaſon of adjournment of any Term by Writ, be duly made, ſhall be of as good force, effect and ſtrength, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as if any Term heretofore ſo adjourned, or that at any time hereafter ſhall be ſo adjourned, had been holden and kept from the beginning to the end thereof, not adjourned, and Proclamations therein made, according to the form and effect of the ſaid Statute.

Fines ſhall be of force notwithſtanding proclamations be not duly made by the adjournment of any Term.

Provided alwayes, That this Act ſhall not in any wiſe extend to any fine heretofore levied of any manors, lands, tenements or hereditaments, now in ſuit, demand or variance in any of the Queens Courts, or whereof any charters, evidences or muniments concerning the ſame, be now in demand in the Queens high Court of Chancery, nor to any fine or fines heretofore levied of any manors, lands, tenements or hereditaments, which before the firſt day of this preſent Parliament have been recovered, gotten or obtained, by reaſon of any judgment, entry, decree, arbitrament, or other lawful means, contrary to the purport, intent or effect of any ſuch fine or fines thereof heretofore levied.

Certain fines to which this Statute ſhall not extend.

No Sheriff ſhall be Juſtice of Peace, where or when he is Sheriff.

VVHere in one Act of Parliament intituled, An Act for the continuance of actions after the death of any King, made in the firſt year of our late Soveraign Lord King Edward the ſixth, amongſt other things it is ordained and enacted, That albeit any perſon or perſons, being Juſtice of Aſſiſe, Juſtice of Goal delivery, or Juſtice of Peace, within any of the Kings Dominions, or being in any other of the Kings commiſſions whatſoever, ſhall fortune to be made Duke, Archbiſhop, Marqueſſe, Earl, Viſcount, Baron, Biſhop, Knight, Juſtice of the one Bench or of the other, or Serjeant at the law, or Sheriff, yet that notwithſtanding he and they ſhould remain Juſtice and Commiſſioner, and have full power and authority to execute the ſame in like manner and form, as he or they might and ought to have done before the ſame, as in the ſaid Act more plainly appeareth. Sithence the making of the which Act, divers perſons being in the commiſſion of the peace in one County, have been made Sheriffs of the ſame County, and have exerciſed either of the ſaid offices, which ſeemeth not to be convenient.

1 Ed. 6. 7.

Wherefore

No Sheriff ſhall be Juſtice of Peace of any County where and when he is Sheriff.

Wherefore be it enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That no manner of perſon or perſons, having, uſing or exerciſing the office of the Sheriff of any County or Counties, ſhall uſe or exerciſe the office of the Juſtice of the Peace, by force of any Commiſſion, or otherwiſe, in any County or Counties, where he or they ſhall be Sheriff, during the time onely that he or they ſhall uſe or exerciſe the ſaid office or Sheriffwick: any thing in the ſaid former Act to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding. And that all and every Act and Acts, to be done by any ſuch Sheriff and Sheriffs, by authority of any Commiſſion of the peace, during the time aboveſaid, ſhall be void and of none effect: The ſaid former Act notwithſtanding.

ACTS made in the Parliament begun and holden at Weſtminſter, the ſecond day of April, in the firſt year of the reign of our moſt gracious Soveraign Lady Mary, by the grace of God, Queen of England, France, and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, and there continued and kept to the diſſolution of the ſame, being the fifth day of May then next enſuing, as followeth.

CAP. I.

The Regal power is in the Queens Majeſty as fully as it hath been in any her Progenitors.

Foraſmuch as the Imperial Crown of this Realm, with all dignities, honours, prerogatives, authorities, juriſdictions and preheminences thereunto annexed, united and belonging, by the divine Providence of Almighty GOD, is moſt lawfully, juſtly, and rightfully deſcended and come unto the Queens Highneſſe that now is, being the very true and undoubted undoubted heir and inheritrix thereof, and inveſted in her moſt royal perſon, according unto the Laws of this Realm. And by force and vertue of the ſame, all regal power, dignity, honour, authority, preheminence and juriſdictions doth appertain, and of right ought to appertain and belong unto her Highneſſe, as to the Soveraign, ſupreme Governour, and Queen of this Realm, and the dominions thereof, in as full, large and ample manner, as it hath done heretofore to any other her moſt noble Progenitors, Kings of this Realm. Nevertheleſſe the moſt ancient Statutes of this Realm, being made by Kings then reigning, do not only attribute and refer all prerogative, preheminence, power and juriſdiction royal unto the name of King, but alſo do give, aſſign and appoint the correction and puniſhment of all offendors againſt the regality and dignity of the Crown, and the Lawes of this Realm unto the King. By occaſion whereof, the malicious and ignorant perſons may be hereafter induced and perſwaded unto this error and folly, to think that her Highneſſe could, ne ſhould have, enjoy and uſe ſuch like royal authority, power, preheminence, prerogative and juriſdiction, nor do, execute and uſe all things concerning the ſaid Statutes, and take the benefit and priviledge of the ſame, nor correct and puniſh offendors againſt her moſt royal Perſon, and the regality and dignity of the Crown of this Realm, and the Dominions thereof, as the Kings of this Realm, her moſt noble Progenitors have heretofore done, enjoyed, uſed and exerciſed.

For the avoiding and clear extinguiſhment of which ſaid error or doubt, and for a plain declaration of the Lawes of this Realm in that behalf.

The Regal power of this Realm, and all the dignities of the ſame, ſhall be as well in a Queen as in a King.

Be it Declared and Enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That the Law of this Realm is, and ever hath been, and ought to be underſtood, that the kingly or regal office of this Realm, and all dignities, prerogative-royal, power, preheminencies, priviledges, authorities and juriſdiction thereunto annexed, united or belonging, being inveſted either in male or female, are and be, and ought to be as fully, wholly, abſolutely and entirely deemed, judged, accepted, inveſted and taken in the one, as in the other, ſo that what, or whenſoever Statute or Law doth limit and appoint, that the King of this Realm may or ſhall have, execute and do any thing as King, or doth give any profit or commodity to the King, or doth limit or appoint any pains or puniſhment for the correction of offendors or tranſgreſſors againſt the regality and dignity of the King or of the Crown, the ſame the Queen (being ſupream Governeſs, Poſſeſſor and Inheritrix to the Imperial Crown of this Realm, as our ſaid Soveraign Lady the Queen moſt juſtly preſently is) may by the ſame authority and power likewiſe have, exerciſe, execute, puniſh and correct, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, without doubt, ambiguity, ſcruple or queſtion: any cuſtom, uſe or ſcruple, or any other thing whatſoever to be made to the contrary notwithſtanding.

CAP. II.

The articles of Marriage between PHILIP Prince of Spain and the Queen rehearſed and confirmed. The Queen ſhall and may only and as a ſole Queen uſe and enjoy the Crown and Soveraignty over her Dominions and Subjects, with all the prerogatives, juriſdictions, manors, lands, &c. belonging to the ſame in ſuch only eſtate, and in ſuch large manner in all degrees after the ſolemnization of the ſaid marriage, as ſhe now hath and enjoyeth the ſame, without any right, claim, or demand to be given, come or grown unto the ſaid Prince as tenant by the curteſie of this Realm, or by any other means. All gifts, grants, letters patents, leaſes and other writings, which during the ſaid marriage ſhall paſſe and be made of benefices, offices, lands, revenues and fruits ſhall be entituled and made in the names of the ſaid Prince and the Queen, and ſhall be ſigned with the ſign Manual of the Queen, and ſhall be beſtowed upon natural born Subjects of this Realm. Making of cloth uſed at any time of 5 & 6 Ed 6. in Cities, Boroughs, corporate Towns, or Market Towns may be continued, &c.

Where the City of Worceſter, and divers other Cities, Boroughs, and Towns corporate, within this Realm of England, of long time have been upholden, repaired and onely maintained by making of broad cloths, called long Cloths, ſhort Clothes, and coloured Clothes, and the Citizens, Free-men and Inhabitants of the ſame Cities, Towns and Boroughs corporate, have thereby been greatly enriched, and the poor people and handicrafts-men of the ſame, and the Countries adjoyning dayly ſet a work, as Weavers, Walkers, Fullers, Fulling-mill-men, Shere-men, and Dyers, forcers of Woolls, caſters of Woolls, and ſorters of Woolls, Spinners, Carders, and Spuliers of yarn, and have had their onely living thereby, till now of late in the fifth year of the raign of our late Soveraign Lord King Edward the ſixth, that an Eſtatute was made, That no man ſhould occupy cloath-making, ne put any broad cloth or Clothes to weaving or walking, except he hath been Apprentice to Cloth making by the ſpace of ſeven years, or elſe have occupied and practiced Cloth-making by the ſpace of ſeven years or more, under pain of forfeiture of great penalties in the ſame Eſtatute limited, by reaſon whereof, divers and many good Clothiers, dwelling in the ſaid Cities and Towns corporate, which had occupyed and made cloth by the ſpace of five or ſix years, and ſome which have married Clothiers wives, which had occupied cloth making by the ſpace of twenty years before, by reaſon of the ſame eſtatute, have been enforced to leave off and clearly diſcontinue their cloth making, to their great impoveriſhment, and to the utter undoing of a great number of poor people, and handicrafs-men which dayly had their living by the ſaid Clothiers, And foraſmuch as the perfect and principal ground of cloth making, is the true ſorting of Woolls, and the experience thereof conſiſting only in women, as Clothiers wives, and their women ſervants, and not in apprentices, they be thereby very like to be utterly undone for ever, unleſſe ſpeedy remedy be therein provided.

The inconveniences enſuing the Statute of 5 & 6 Ed. 6. 8.

In conſideration whereof, be it enacted, eſtabliſhed and ordained by the Queens moſt excellent Majeſty, with the aſſent of Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame Parliament, That every perſon or perſons inhabiting in any of the ſaid Cities, Boroughs or Towns corporate, or in market Towns within the Realm of England, where cloth making at any time before the making of the ſaid act hath been uſed, ſhal or may from henceforth lawfully make all manner of broad cloths aforeſaid, and put them to weaving, walking, fulling, dying and ſhearing without any impediment, ſo that the ſame cloth be ſubſtantially made, bearing lawful length, breadth, and weight, according to the ſtatute for good and true cloth making, made in the fifth year of the reign of our ſaid late Soveraign Lord, King Edward the ſixth, any article or clauſe in the ſaid former Eſtatute, or any other Eſtatute for cloth making, made to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding. CAP. VII.

Curriers as well as other Artificers may buy Leather.

VVhere at the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, upon the prorogation the fifteenth day of April, in the ſixth year of the reign of our late Soveraign Lord King Edward the ſixth, it was amongſt other things enacted, that no perſon or perſons, of what eſtate, degree or condition ſoever he or they be, ſhould buy, engroſſe, or cauſe to be bought or engroſſed any kind of tanned leather to ſell the ſame again, ſaving onely Sadlers, Girdlers, Cordwainers, and certain other Artificers, as by the ſame act more plainly may appear: Sithence the making whereof, foraſmuch as many poor Artificers, Shooemakers and Coblers, who afore that might buy from time to time their ſtuffe of the Currier ready provided, and wrought ſufficiently and to buy the ſame at a price reaſonable, and now being very poor men and not able to buy two or three hides, or backs of leather at one time, nor to pay ready money for the ſame, are inforced to give up their occupations in great number to their utter impoveriſhment & undoing: and foraſmuch alſo as ſithence the making of the ſaid Eſtatute, all kind of ſtuff made of leather is more ſlenderly and deceitfully wrought & made than ever it was, and neverthelesſe as dear, or rather the dearer, whereby it may appear that the ſaid former act was procured for the ſingular commodity of a few rich Shoemakers, and other Artificers that are now common Regrators, and ingroſſers of leather, without reſpect of perfect workmanſhip, or of the commonwealth, which is well perceived both in mens purſes, and alſo in their ſhooes: The experience is well proved, for they having the only Trade of buying of leather, ſtuff and tallow in their hands, do notwithſtanding deliver to the Currier ſo little ſtuff and tallow, whereby the leather cannot be ſufficiently wrought: And foraſmuch as the Curriers are by divers Laws bound to the ſufficient workmanſhip and currying of leather upon divers pains, whereas they may buy no leather, and the Shoomaker will not allow them ſufficiently to do the ſame.

A rehearſal of a branch of the ſtatute of 5 & 6 Ed. 6. 15.

The inconveniences of the ſame branch.

Be it therefore enacted, that from henceforth it ſhall be lawful as well for the Currier, Shooemaker, Girdler, Sadler, Budget-maker, and all other Artificers occupying the craft or myſtery of leather buying, lawfully to buy all kinds of tanned leather, in fairs and markets, within all places of this Realm accuſtomed to be ſold, it being lawfully tanned and dreſſed, ſo that the ſaid Curriers, Shooemakers, and Girdlers, nor any perſon for them, or for their uſe ſhall buy any kind of tanned leather to ſell again to any Merchant, or other ſtranger, to be conveyed over the ſea, ne ſhall ſend or convey any leather beyond the ſea, upon the forfeiting of all ſuch leather ſo bought, the one half of the ſame to be to the Queens Highneſſe, and the other half to him that preſenteth the ſame: And further, the aforeſaid Act from henceforth to be repealed, made void, and of none effect concerning the Curriers, Shoomakers, Sadlers, Budget-makers, Girdlers, and all other Artificers, occupying the Myſtery of leather buying, curryed and dreſſed.

Curriers, Shoo-makers, &c. buy leather, but not to convey beyond Sea.

A repeal of the aforeſaid branch of 5 & 6 Ed. 6. 15.

The Curriers of London and the Suburbs thereof ſhall uſe their own ſtuff.

And be it further enacted, that from henceforth no perſon or perſons (occupying the feat or myſtery of currying of tanned leather) within the City of London or the Suburbs of the ſame, ſhall occupy about the currying of the ſame leather, any other ſtuff or tallow brought unto him by any other perſon or perſons, but ſuch as ſhall be his own, upon pain of forfeiture of all ſuch leather ſo curryed, contrary to the true meaning thereof.

How the leather ſhall be ordered that the Curriers ſhall dreſſe.

And furthermore, that no Currier ſhall curry any hides for any Shoomaker, to make ſhooes or boots of, from the feaſt of Saint James the Apoſtle, unto the five and twentieth day of March, but ſuch as ſhall be ſufficiently dipped twice in the pan, for the true and juſt workmanſhip thereof upon pain of forfeiture of all ſuch Leather as ſhall be wrought to the contrary, the one half of the ſame, to the Queens Highneſſe, and the other moiety to him that ſhall find and preſent the ſame, all the ſame penalties to be recovered in form aforeſaid by him or them that will ſue for the ſame, by action of debt, bill, plaint or information in any Court of Record, wherein no eſſoin or protection, or wager of law, ſhall be admited or allowed for the Defendant.

Within what time leather ſhall be curried.

Provided alwayes, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that when and as often as any Shoomaker, or his deputy, doth bring any Leather ſufficiently tanned to any Currier to be curried, delivering ſufficient liquor for well dreſſing of the ſame, the ſame ſhall be by every ſuch Currier well and ſufficiently curried, and made ready for the Shoomaker, within the ſpace of five dayes in Summer, that is to ſay, from the firſt day of March to the laſt day of September, and alſo in like manner within the ſpace of ten dayes in Winter, that is to ſay, from the firſt day of October unto the laſt day of February, upon pain to forfeit to the party grieved for every hide not curried and dreſſed in manner and form aforeſaid, the ſum of ten ſhillings.

Provided further, that this proviſo ſhall not extend to bind any Currier to dreſſe any leather, which he doing his beſt, is not able to dreſſe within every of the times aforeſaid, but ſhall extend to all ſuch leather as he conveniently may dreſſe after the common rate of dreſſing. Stat. 1 El. 8. 5 El. 8. 1 Jac. 22.

CAP. XI.

The Commiſſioners of Sewers in the County of Glamorgan, ſhall take order for ſaving the land from deſtruction by ſands riſing out of the Sea.

The effect of the ſtat. of 23 H. 8. 5.

Where in the three and twentieth year of the reign of the excellent Prince of famous memory King Henry the eight, it was enacted and eſtabliſhed, that commiſſions of Sewers from time to time, when need ſhould require, ſhould be directed to ſuch ſubſtantial and indifferent perſons, as ſhould be named by the Lord Chancellor of England, the Lord Treaſurer, the Lord Privy Seal, and the two chief Juſtices, or three of them whereof the Lord Chancellor to be one, authoriſing them, or ſix of them to ſurvey walls, ſtreams, ditches bancks, gutters, ſewers, gutters, cauſeys, bridges, trenches, mills, mill-dammes, floodgates, ponds, cocks, ebbing wears, and other lets and nuſances; by reaſon of the outragious courſe and rage of the Sea, in and upon Mariſhes and other low places, which good law doth not extend, nor is not taken to give authority and power unto the ſaid commiſſioners of Sewers to reform the great hurt, nuſance and loſſes that cometh and chanceth to the Queens Highneſſe and her ſubjects by reaſon of ſand riſing out of the Sea, and driven to land by ſtorms and winds, whereby much good ground lying on the ſea coaſts in ſundry places of this Realm, and eſpecially in the county of Glamorgan, is covered with ſuch ſand riſing out of the ſea, that there cometh no profit of the ſame, to the great loſſe of the Queens Highneſſe and her loving ſubjects, and more is like to inſue, if ſpeedy remedy be not therein provided.

The Commiſſioners of Sewers in the County of Glamorgan, ſhall take order for the ſaving of the land from deſtruction by ſands of the Sea.

May it therefore pleaſe the Queens Highneſſe, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled and by the authority of the ſame: Be it enacted, that as well the ſaid Act of Sewers, made in the three and twentieth year, as all commiſſions of Sewers, hereafter to be directed according to the tenor of the ſaid Act, may extend and give authority, that the commiſſioners therein named for the county of Glamorgan, or ſix of them, whereof three to be of the Quorum, ſhall by this Act, and the ſaid former Act and commiſſion to them directed, have full power and authority from time to time to make laws, proviſions, ordinances, judgements and decrees within the ſaid County of Glamorgan, for the redreſſe and ſaving of the ſaid grounds from hurt and deſtruction by reaſon of the ſaid ſands, as they might or may do by the ſaid former Act and Commiſſion for the withſtanding and avoiding the outragious courſe and rage of the ſea, or other waters: any uſage or cuſtom to the contrary notwithſtanding.

And be it alſo enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if the Egyptians, and other perſons commonly called Egyptians, and every of them now being within this Realm of England or Wales, do not depart out and from the ſame within forty dayes next after the proclamation ſhall be made of this Act, that then he or they which ſhall not depart and avoid within the ſaid time of forty dayes, according to the true making of this Act, ſhall be judged and deemed according to the Laws of this Realm of England, a felon and felons, and ſhall ſuffer therefore pains of death, loſſe of Lands and Goods, as in other caſes of felony; and ſhall be tryed as is aforeſaid, and without having any benefit or priviledge of Sanctuary or Clergy.

CAP. VII.

No Country perſon ſhall ſell Wares by retail in any City or Town corporate, but in open Fairs.

The rich eſtate wherein Cities, Boroughs and market Towns did heretofore flouriſh.

The cauſe of the decay of Cities, Boroughs & market Towns.

WHere before this time the ancient Cities, Boroughs, Towns corporate and market Towns within this Realm of England, have been very populous and chiefly inhabited with Merchants, Artificers and Handicrafts-men, during which time the children in the ſaid Cities, Boroughs, Towns corporate and market Towns were civilly brought up and inſtructed, and alſo in the ſaid Cities, Boroughs and Towns corporate kept in good order and obeyſance, and the inhabiters of the ſame well ſet on work, and kept from idleneſſe. By reaſon whereof the ſaid Cities, Boroughs and Towns corporate did then proſper in riches and great wealth, and were as then not onely able to ſerve and furniſh the King and Queens Majeſties, and other their noble Progenitors, Kings of this Realm, as well with great numbers of good able perſons, and well furniſhed, meet for the wars, as alſo then charged, and yet chargeable with fee ferms, Quindemes, taxes, and divers other payments to the King and Queens Majeſties, which at this preſent they be not able to pay and bear, but to their utter undoing, being few in number to pay and bear the ſame, but alſo the ſame Cities, Boroughs and Towns corporate, are like to come very ſhortly to utter deſtruction, ruine and decay, by reaſon whereof the occupiers, Linnen Drapers, Woollen Drapers, Haberdaſhers and Grocers, dwelling in the Countries out of the ſaid Cities, Boroughs, Towns corporate and market Towns, do not onely occupy the art and myſtery of the ſaid Sciences, in the places where they dwell and inhabit, but alſo come unto the ſaid

Cities, Boroughs, Towns corporate and market Towns, and there ſell their Wares, and take away the relief of the Inhabitants of the ſaid Cities, Boroughs, Towns corporate and market Towns, to the great decay, and utter undoing of the inhabitants of the ſame, if ſpeedy reformation therein be not had in time condement. For remedy whereof, and for the better amendment of the ſaid Cities, Boroughs, Towns corporate, and market Towns, and to the end the ſame Cities, Boroughs and Towns corporate may be the better able to pay the ſaid fee ferms, and alſo to bear the other ordinary charges within the ſame Cities, Boroughs and Towns corporate, and to furniſh the King and Queens Majeſties with number of able perſons, like as they heretofore have done in times paſt, in times of war:

No perſon dwelling in the country ſhall ſell Wares in any City or market Town by retail, but in open Fairs.

Be it therefore enacted by our Soveraign Lord and Lady, the King and Queen, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That any perſon or perſons which do now inhabit and dwell, or hereafter ſhall inhabit or dwell in the country any where, or county within this Realm of England, out of any of the ſaid Cities, Boroughs, Towns corporate or market Towns, from and after the feaſt of S. Michael the Archangel next coming, ſhall not ſell or cauſe to be ſold by retail any woollen cloth, linnen cloth, Haberdaſh wares, Grocery wares, Mercery wares, at or within any of the ſaid Cities, Boroughs, Towns corporate or market Towns, or within the ſuburbs or liberties of the ſaid Cities, Boroughs, Towns corporate and market Towns, within the ſaid Realm of England (except it be in open Fairs) upon pain to forfeit and loſe for every time ſo offending the ſum of vi. s. viii. d. and the whole wares ſo ſold, proffered and offered to be ſold, contrary to the form, intent and effect of this preſent Act, as above is ſaid, the one moyety of all which forfeitures to be to the uſe of our ſaid Soveraign Lord and Lady, the King and Queens Majeſties, and the other half to him or them that ſhall ſeize and ſue for the ſame in any of the King and Queens Courts of Record, by bill, plaint, action of debt, information or otherwiſe, wherein no eſſoin, protection or wager of law ſhall be allowed.

Selling by whole-ſale in groſſe, and not by retail.

Provided alway, That this Act ſhall not in any wiſe extend nor be hurtful to any perſon or perſons, that bring any of the ſaid woollen cloth, linnen cloth, Haberdaſh, Grocery, Mercery ware or wares to any of the ſaid Cities, Boroughs, Towns corporate or market Towns, to be ſold, or cauſe to be ſold by whole-ſale in groſſe, and not by retail: but they and every of them may lawfully ſell the ſame in as large and ample manner, form and condition, by whole-ſale in groſſe and not by retail, as they and every of them might have done at any time or times before the making of this Act: any thing herein to the contrary notwithſtanding.

One dwelling in the Countrey doth after become free of a City, Borough, &c.

Provided alway, That this preſent Act ſhall not extend to any perſon or perſons that now dwell or inhabit in the Countrey, or hereafter ſhall dwell or inhabit out of any of the ſaid Cities, Boroughs, Towns corporate or market Towns: but that they and every of them at any time hereafter, when they or any of them ſhall be free of any of the Guilds and Liberties of any of the ſaid Cities, Boroughs, Towns corporate or market Towns, and dwell or inhabit within any of the ſame Cities, Boroughs, Towns corporate or market Towns, that they and every of them ſo being free, ſhall and may ſell, or cauſe to be ſold any of the wares aforeſaid by retail, in as ample and large manner as they and every of them might have done, being free of the ſaid Cities, Boroughs and Towns aforeſaid, before the making of this Act: any clauſe or article in this Act to the contrary notwithſtanding.

Any perſon may ſell cloth of his own making.

Much falſe doctrine hath been preached and written ſince the xx. year of King H. 8.

Whereas ſince the twentieth year of King Henry the eight of famous memory, father unto your Majeſtie, our moſt natural Soveraign and gracious Lady and Queen, much falſe and erronious Doctrine hath been taught, preached and written, partly by divers the natural born Subjects of this Realm, and partly being brought in hither from ſundry other foreign Countries, hath been ſowen and ſpread abroad within the ſame. By reaſon whereof as well the Spiritualty as the Temporalty of your Highneſſe Realms and Dominions have ſwerved from the obedience of the See Apoſtolick, and declined from the unity of Chriſts Church, and ſo have continued until ſuch time as your Majeſtie being firſt raiſed up by God, and ſet in the Seat-royal over us, and then by his divine and gracious providence knit in marriage with the moſt noble and vertuous Prince, the King our Soveraign Lord your Husband, the Popes holineſſe and the See Apoſtolick ſent hither unto your Majeſties (as unto Perſons undefiled, and by Gods goodneſſe preſerved from the common infection aforeſaid) unto the whole Realm, the moſt reverend Father in God the Lord Cardinal Poole, Legate de latere, to call us home again into the right way, from whence we have all this long while wandred and ſtrayed abroad: and we after ſundry long and grievous plagues and calamities, ſeeing by the goodneſſe of God our own errors have knowledged the ſame unto the ſaid moſt Reverend Father, and by him have been, and are the rather at the contemplation of your Majeſties, received and embraced into the unity and boſom of Chriſts Church, and upon our humble ſubmiſſion and promiſe made for a declaration of our repentance, to repeal

The tenour whereof enſueth.

The ſupplication of the Parliament to the King and Queen to be a mean to reduce them into the Catholick Church.

We are at the interceſſion of Your Majeſties by the authoritie of our holy Father Pope July the third, and of the See Apoſtolick, aſſoyled, diſcharged, and delivered from excommunications, interdictions, and other Cenſures Eccleſiaſtical, which hath hanged over our heads for our ſaid defaults ſince the time of the ſaid Schiſme mentioned in our Supplication. Foraſmuch as the ſaid act is here before amongſt other and made void.

What Buls, diſpenſations, and licences obtained from Rome may be put in execution.

Be it therefore enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, that all Buls, diſpenſations, and priviledges, obtained before the ſaid twentieth year, or at any time ſithence or which ſhall hereafter be obtained of the See of Rome, not containing matter contrary or prejudicial to the authority, dignity, or preheminence Royal, or Imperial of the Realm, or to the Laws of this Realm, now being in force, and not in this Parliament repealed, may be put in execution, uſed and alledged in any court within this Realm, or elſewhere, whether the ſame remain yet whole, or can appear to have been cancelled, in as available and effectual manner, to all intents and purpoſes, as if the ſaid act had never been had or made: Any objection by pretence of extinguiſhment, or cancelling of the ſaid Buls, diſpenſations, or priviledges, or of any other matter or cauſe by the pretence of the Laws of this Realm, whatſoever in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

And whereas by diſſolution of Monaſteries and other religious houſes, certain Pariſh Churches and Chappels, which were before exempt from the juriſdiction of the Archbiſhop and Biſhop of the Dioceſſe, and by ſpecial exemption and priviledge from Rome, which were under the government and order of the Abbots and Priors of thoſe religious houſes, which ſaid Churches by colour of the ſaid exemptions, be now of ſpecial grant from K. Henry and K. Edward, under the rule and Government, and juriſdiction of temporal and lay-men, who can no more enjoy that ſupremacy over thoſe particular Churches, than the King might over the whole Realm.

Who ſhall have the juriſdiction of Churches and Chappels exempt from Biſhops, &c.

Be it therefore enacted, that all Archbiſhops and Biſhops, in their Dioceſſe, and all other ſpiritual perſon and perſons, having juriſdiction, and their Miniſters and Officers, and no lay perſon, or perſons, in every Church and place, within the precinct of the ſame, being exempt, or not exempt, may freely, and without impediment execute their ſpiritual juriſdiction in all points and articles, as though no ſuch exemption or grant had never been made.

The priviledges of certain perſons and places reſerved.

Provided alway and be it enacted, that this act extend not to take away or diminiſh the priviledges of the Univerſities of Cambridge and Oxford, ne the priviledges or prerogatives granted heretofore to the Churches of Weſtminſter and Windſor ne the Tower of London, ne prejudicial to ſuch temporal Lords and poſſeſſioners in this Realm, as by ancient cuſtom have enjoyed probate of Teſtaments of their tenants or other.

By the reconciliation of the Realm to Gods Church, devotion is hoped for.

And foraſmuch as after this reconciliation, and unity of this noble Realm, to the body of Chriſts Church it is to be truſted that by the abundance of Gods mercy and grace, devotion ſhall encreaſe and grow in the Hearts of many the Subjects of this Realm, with deſire to give and beſtow their wordly poſſeſſions, for the reſuſcitating of alms, prayer and example of good life in this Realm, to the intent ſuch godly motions and purpoſes ſhould be advanced:

Lands may be given to ſpiritual Bodies politick or corporate.

Be it therefore enacted by authority of this preſent Parliament, That it ſhall be lawful to ſuch as ſhall be [a] ſeiſed of any manors, lands, tenements, parſonages, tithes, penſions, portions, or other hereditaments whatſoever, in fee ſimple, in poſſeſſion, reverſion, or remainder, in their own rights, not being Copyhold, may thereof make feoffments, grants, or any other aſſurances, or by his laſt Will and Teſtament in writing, may bequeath and give in fee-ſimple, all and every the ſaid manors, lands, tenements, parſonages, tithes, penſions, portions, or other hereditaments, to any ſpiritual body politick or corporate in this Realm or Dominions of the ſame, now erected or founded, or hereafter to be erected or founded, without any licence of mortmain therein to be obtained: or any Writ of ad quod damnum to be ſued out for the ſame, the acts de terris ad manum mortuam non ponendis, or any other Act or ſtatute heretofore had or made in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

[a] Dyer fol. 255. Cok li. 11. f. 71.

Saving to the Lords of the fee, all rent-ſervices due, or going out of any of the ſaid lands, tenements or hereditaments, ſo to be amortized, as is aforeſaid.

Provided alway, that this clauſe of this act, for giving the liberty of or for the amortizing of lands or tenements, ſhall continue for, and during the ſpace of twenty years next, and immediately following, and no longer.

Nothing done or moved in this Statute, ſhall be prejudicial to the Liberties of the Crown.

In what manner Juſtices of Peace may bail perſons arreſted of Felony, or ſuſpition thereof, &c.

Stat. 3 H. 7.3.

WHere, in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, in the third year of the Reign of the Noble Prince, King Henry the Seventh, it was among other things ordained and enacted, That no priſoner arreſted for Felony, ſhould be letten to bail or mainpriſe, by any one Juſtice of Peace, but by the whole Juſtices, or at leaſt by two of them, whereof one to be of the Quorum: ſince the making of which Eſtatute, one Juſtice of Peace in the name of himſelf and one other of the Juſtices his Companion, not making the ſaid Juſtice party nor privy unto the caſe wherefore the Priſoner ſhould be bailed, hath oftentimes by ſiniſter labour and means ſet at large the greateſt and notableſt Offenders, ſuch as be not repleviſable by the Lawes of this Realm; and yet the rather to hide their affections in that behalf, have ſignified the cauſe of their apprehenſion to be but only for ſuſpicion of Felony, whereby the ſaid Offenders have eſcaped unpuniſhed, and do daily, to the high diſpleaſure of Almighty God, the great peril of the King and Queens true Subjects and encouragement of all Theeves and evil-doers.

For reformation whereof, be it ordained and enacted by the King and Queens Majeſties, the Lords ſpiritual and temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled and by authority of the ſame, that from and after the firſt day of April next coming, no Juſtice or Juſtices of peace ſhall let to bail or mainpriſe any ſuch perſon or perſons, which for any offence or offences by them or any of them committed, be declared not to be repleviſed or bailed, or be forbidden to be repleviſed or bailed by the Statute of Weſtminſter primer, made in the Parliament holden in the third year of the reign of King Edward the firſt.

None ſhall be let to bail, which be forbidden to be bailed by the Stat. of 3 Ed. 1. 15.

And furthermore, that any perſon or perſons arreſted for man-ſlaughter or felony, or ſuſpition of man-ſlaughter or felony, being bailable by the Law, ſhall not, after the ſaid firſt day of April, be let to bail or mainpriſe by any Juſtices of peace, if it be not in open Seſſions, except it be by two Juſtices of peace at the leaſt, whereof one to be of the Quorum, and the ſame Juſtices to be preſent together at the time of the ſaid bailment or mainpriſe, which bailment or mainpriſe they ſhall certifie in writing, ſubſcribed or ſigned with their own hands, at the next generall goal-delivery, to be holden within the County where the ſaid perſon or perſons ſhall be arreſted or ſuſpected.

The Juſtices Duty in bailment of a priſoner, in examination of him and others, and certifying thereof. St. 2. & 3. P. & M. 10.

And that the ſaid Juſtices, or one of them being of the Quorum, when any ſuch Priſoner is brought before them for any man-ſlaughter or felony, before any bailment or mainpriſe, ſhall take the examination of the ſaid priſoner, and information of them that bring him, of the fact and circumſtances thereof, and the ſame, or as much thereof as ſhall be material to prove the felony, ſhall put in writing before they make the ſame bailment; which ſaid examination, together with the ſaid bailment, the ſaid Juſtices ſhall certifie at the next general gaol-delivery to be holden within the limits of their Commiſſion.

The Coroners Duty upon an Inquiſition found before him.

And that every Coroner, upon any Inquiſition before him found, whereby any perſon or perſons ſhall be indicted for murther or man-ſlaughter, or as acceſſary or acceſſaries to the ſame, before the murther or man-ſlaughter committed, ſhall put in writing the effect of the evidence given to the Jury before him, being material: and as well the ſaid Juſtices as the ſaid Coroner, ſhall have authority by this Act, to bind all ſuch by recognizance or obligation, as do declare any thing material, to prove the ſaid murther or man-ſlaughter, offences or felonies, or to be acceſſary or acceſſaries to the ſame, as is aforeſaid, to appear at the next general Gaol-delivery to be holden within the County, City, or Town corporate, where the tryal thereof ſhall be, then and there to give evidence againſt the party ſo indicted at the time of his tryal, and ſhall certifie as well the ſame evidence, as ſuch bond or bonds in writing, as he ſhall take, together with the inquiſition or indictment before him taken and found, at or before the time of his ſaid tryal thereof to be had or made: and likewiſe the ſaid Juſtices ſhall certifie all and every ſuch bond taken before them, in like manner as before is ſaid of bailments and examination. And in caſe any Juſtice of peace of Quorum, or Coroner, ſhall after the ſaid firſt day of April, offend in any thing contrary to the true intent and meaning of this preſent Act: That then the Juſtices of Gaol-delivery of the Shire, City, Town or place where ſuch offence ſhall happen to be committed, upon due proof thereof, by examination before them, ſhall for every ſuch offence, ſet ſuch fine on every of the ſame Juſtices of Peace and Coroner, as the ſame Juſtices of Gaol-delivery ſhall think meet, and eſtreat the ſame, as other fines and amerciaments aſſeſſed before Juſtices of Gaol-delivery ought to be.

The penalty of any Juſtice of Peace or Coroner omitting his Duty.

Juſtices of peace of London, Middleſex, &c.

Provided alwaies, and be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That Juſtices of peace and Coroners within the City of London and the County of Middleſex, and in other Cities, Boroughs and Towns corporate within this Realm and Wales, ſhall within their ſeveral juriſdictions, have authority to let to bail felons and priſoners, in ſuch manner and form, as they have been heretofore accuſtomed; this act, or any thing therein contained to the contrary notwithſtanding. Removing of a priſoner, or recognizance.

And be it alſo enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no writs of Habeas Corpus, or Certiorari ſhall be hereafter granted to remove any priſoner out of any Gaol, or to remove any recogniſance, except the ſame writs be ſigned with the proper hands of the Chief Juſtices, or in his abſence, one of the Juſtices of the Court, out of which the ſame writs ſhall be awarded or made, upon pain that he that writeth any ſuch writs, not being ſigned, as is aforeſaid, to forfeit to our ſaid Soveraign Lord the King and the Queen, for every ſuch writs, five pounds.

WHere of late years paſſed, Ruſſels, called Ruſſels Sattens, and Sattens reverſes, have been practiſed to be made beyond the Seas, of the Woolls bred in the County of Norfolk, and by reaſon thereof ſo great quantity of the ſaid Ruſſels Sattens, Sattens reverſes, have been brought into this Realm, ſold and worn as well in every part of this Realm, as in the parts beyond the Seas, that thereby the myſteries of Worſteds making and weaving, whereby Merchants and Inhabitants of the City of Norwich, have heretofore been well maintained and relieved, is now at this preſent almoſt wholly decayed and brought out of eſtimation, and very little worn, either within this Realm, or in any other foreign Realms, to the great hinderance and decay of the ſaid City and Citizens of the ſame City. For remedy whereof, Thomas Marſham Mayor of the City of Norwich, John Corbet Eſquire, Auſtin Steward, Robert Leche, Robert Rugge, John Ball, and Alexander Mather, Aldermen of the ſaid City, Thomas Wale, Thomas Pecke, Ralph Marſham, Robert Henry, John Sutton, Richard Tomſon, Citizens and Merchants of the ſaid City, at their great coſts and charges, as well in bringing of certain ſtrangers from the parts beyond the Seas into the ſaid City, as alſo in making of Lombes, and all other proviſion for the ſame: and alſo have called unto them eight perſons of the moſt diſcreet and worthy men of the Myſtery of worſted-weaving, within the ſaid City; that is to ſay, John Cook, James Lin, John Croſſe, Simon Petit, John Marſhal, Roger Lecke, Edmund Barker, and Edmund Selers, being the number of one and twenty perſons, which have not only made Ruſſels Sattens, and Sattens reverſes, and Fuſtians of Naples within the ſaid City of Norwich, of Norfolk Woolls; but alſo have learned and taught other Citizens and Inhabitants of the ſaid City to make the ſame, in ſuch good and perfect manner, that much better Ruſſels Sattens, Sattens reverſes, and Fuſtian of Naples, and ſuch like, and for eaſier prices, be now at this preſent wrought and made within the ſaid City, than heretofore have been, or now be made in any of the parts beyond the Seas, whereby the ſaid City and Inhabitants therof may, and be, in like, again to be relieved and brought to the old eſtate, to the great advancement of the Commodities of this Realm, and enriching the ſame, if ſome good and politike Laws and Ordinances were made for the good continuance of the true making of the ſaid Ruſſels Sattens, Sattens reverſes, and Fuſtian of Naples, and ſuch like.

And that alſo it may be enacted by the Authority aforeſaid, That the ſaid Wardens and Fellowſhip ſhall be a Body Corporate, and to be named and be enabled by this Act to ſue and be ſued, and to give and to take by the name of Wardens and Fellowſhip of the myſtery of Ruſſels Sattens, Sattens reverſes, and Fuſtian of Norwich making, within the ſaid City of Norwich. CAP. XI.

Who ſhall uſe the Trade of Weaving.

Foraſmuch as the Weavers of this Realm have as well at this preſent Parliament, as at divers other times, complained, that the rich and wealthy Clothiers do many wayes oppreſſe them, ſome by ſetting up and keeping in their houſes divers Looms, and keeping and maintaining them by Journeymen and perſons unskilful, to the decay of a great number of Artificers which were brought up in the ſaid Science of weaving, their families and houſhold; ſome by ingroſſing of Looms into their hands and poſſeſſions, and letting them out at ſuch unreaſonable rents, as the poor Artificers are not able to maintain themſelves, much leſſe their wives, families and children; ſome alſo by giving much leſſe wages and hire for the weaving and workmanſhip of clothes than in times paſt they did, whereby they are inforced utterly to forſake their art and occupation wherein they have been brought up.

No Clothier ſhall keep above one woollen Loom.

It is therefore for remedy of the premiſſes, and for the avoiding of a great number of inconveniences which may grow (if in time it be not foreſeen) ordained, eſtabliſhed, and enacted by authority of this preſent Parliament, that no perſon uſing the feat or myſtery of cloth-making, and dwelling out of a City, Borough, Market-Town, or Corporate Town, ſhall from the feaſt of St. Michael the Archangel now next enſuing, keep, retain, or have in his or their houſe or poſſeſſion, any more, or above one woollen Loom at one time; nor ſhall by any means, directly or indirectly receive or take any manner, profit, gain or commodity, by letting or ſetting any Loom, or any houſe wherein any Loom is or ſhall be uſed and occupyed, which ſhall be together by him ſet or let, upon pain of forfeiture for every week that any perſon ſhall do contrary to the tenour and true meaning hereof, xx s.

No weaver ſhall have above two woollen Looms.

And be it further ordained and enacted by like authority, That no woollen Weaver, uſing or exerciſing the feat or myſtery of weaving, and dwelling out of a City, Borough, Market Town, or Town Corporate, ſhall after the ſaid feaſt have or keep at any time above the nnmber of two woollen Looms, or receivs any profit, gain or commodity, directly or indirectly, as is aforeſaid, by any more than two Looms at one time, upon pain to forfeit for every week that any perſon ſhall offend, or do to the contrary, xx s.

No weaver ſhall have a tucking mill.

And it is further ordained and enacted by like authority, That no perſon which ſhall after the ſaid feaſt, uſe, exerciſe or occupy only the feat or myſtery of a Weaver, and not Cloth-making, ſhall during the time that he ſhall uſe the feat or myſtery of a Weaver, keep or have any Tucking Mill, or ſhall uſe or exerciſe the feat or myſtery of a Tucker, Fuller or Dyer, upon pain to forfeit for every week that he ſhall ſo do, xx s.

No tucker or fuller ſhall have above one Loom.

And it is further ordained and enacted by like authority, that no perſon which after the ſaid feaſt ſhall uſe, exerciſe, or occupy the feat or myſtery of a Tucker or Fuller, ſhall during the time that he ſhall ſo uſe the ſaid feat or myſtery, keep or have any Loom in his houſe or poſſeſſion, or ſhall directly or indirectly take any profit or commodity by the ſame, upon pain to forfeit for every week xx s.

In what places only woollen clothes may be woven, 4 & 5 P. & M. 5.

And it is further ordained and enacted by like authority, that no perſon whatſoever, which heretofore hath not uſed or exerciſed the feat, myſtery, or art of ſuch Cloth-making, ſhall after the ſaid feaſt, make or weave, or cauſe to be made or woven, any kind of broad white woollen Clothes, but only in a City, Borough, Town corporate, or market Town, or elſe in ſuch place or places where ſuch Clothes have been uſed to be commonly made, by the ſpace of ten years next before the making of this Act, upon pain of forfeiture for every Cloth otherwiſe made, v. l.

A weaver ſhall have but two Prentices. REP. 9 El 4.

Provided alwayes, and be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that it ſhall not be lawful to any perſon or perſons, being a Weaver, or that doth or ſhall uſe the art or myſtery of a Weaver or weaving, dwelling out of a City, Borough, Town corporate, or market Town, to have in his and their ſervice any more, or above the number of two Apprentices at one time, upon pain to forfeit for every time that he ſhall offend or do contrary to this branch or article, the ſum of x li.

None ſhall be a weaver, but he which hath been a prentice, 5 Ed. 6. c.

And further be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that it ſhall not be lawful to or for any perſon or perſons to ſet up the art or myſtery of weaving, after the ſaid feaſt of S. Michael; unleſs the ſame perſon or perſon ſo ſetting up the ſame art or myſtery of weaving, have been Apprentice to the ſame art or myſtery, or exerciſed the ſame by the ſpace of ſeven years at the leaſt, upon pain of twenty pounds to be forfeited to the King and Queens Majeſties, her graces heirs or ſucceſſors. The one moyety of all which forfeitures ſhall be to the King and Queens highneſſe, her heirs and ſucceſſors: and the other moyety to him or them that will ſue for the ſame in any Court of record, by action of debt, bill, plaint, or information; wherein no wager of Law, eſſoine or protection, ſhall be admitted or allowed for the Defendant.

The Inhabitants of certain Counties which ſhall not be prejudiced by this Statute.

Provided alwayes, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that this Act, nor any thing therein contained, ſhall in any wiſe extend or be prejudicial to any perſon or perſons, that doth or ſhall dwell in the Counties of York, Cumberland, Northumberland, and Weſtmerland, but that they and every of them ſhall and may have and keep Looms in their houſes, and do and exerciſe all and every thing and things, for or concerning ſpinning, weaving, Cloth-working, and Cloth-making in the ſaid Counties, as they or any of them might have done or exerciſed lawfully before the making of this Eſtatute, any thing contained in this Eſtatute to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

CAP. XII.

In what manner Clothes called Bridgwaters, ſhall be uſed, before they ſhall be bought and and ſold.

WHere before this time, the Boroughs and Towns of Bridgwater, Taunton, and Card, in the County of Sommerſet, have been well and ſubſtantially inhabited, occupied, maintained and upholden, for the moſt part by reaſon of the making of Woollen clothes, commonly called Bridgwater, Taunton, and Card clothes, which in time paſt were much deſired, as well beyond the Seas, as in the Realm of England, and thereby the Inhabitants and poor people of the ſaid Boroughs and Towns, and of the Country thereabouts, were daily ſet on work, and had ſufficient living by the ſame: and where alſo the ſaid Towns in times paſt, were of great force and ſtrength to ſerve the King and Queens highneſſe Progenitors and Anceſtors, Kings of this Realm. Foraſmuch as of late, divers perſons inhabiting and dwelling in Villages, Hamlets, and ſmall Towns of husbandry in the ſaid County of Sommerſet, which were never Prentices or skilful in making of the ſaid Clothes, as well for their private wealths and commodities, as alſo becauſe they would be out of due ſearch of their clothes to be made according to the Statute therefore provided, not regarding the maintenance of the ſaid Boroughs and Towns, nor the Common-wealth of the handicrafts-men, and other poor people which chiefly had their living and ſuſtenance by making of the ſaid Cloth, have of late dayes exerciſed, uſed and occupied the myſteries of Cloth-making, weaving, fulling, and ſhearing within their houſes, and have ſo deceitfully made, wrought, and ſtretched the ſaid Clothes, to the infamy and ſlander of Cloth-making in ſuch ſort and manner, that not only the ſame ſort of Clothes are grown out of eſtimation, but alſo the ſaid Towns are in great decay, ruine and depopulation.

For remedy whereof, Be it enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That no perſon whatſoever inhabiting, or which ſhall hereafter inhabit within the ſaid County, ſhall after the Feaſt of the Purification of our Lady next coming, commonly called Candlemas, put to ſale any kind of ſuch Clothes as is aforeſaid, or Clothes of like nature, making and ſort, made or to be made within the ſaid County, except ſuch Cloth be firſt viewed, ſearched and ſeen in one of the Boroughs or Towns aforeſaid, whether the ſame be perfectly and truly made according to the Statute; and alſo that the ſame be ſealed with the Seal of one of the ſaid Boroughs or Towns, in ſuch ſort, manner and form, as in the Statute made in the fifth year of the reign of our late Soveraign Lord King Edward the ſixth, entituled, An Act for the true making of Woollen Cloth, is, for ſealing of Clothes, provided and enacted; upon pain that every perſon offending or doing contrary to the true meaning of this Act, ſhall forfeit the Cloth ſold, or the value thereof: the moyety of all which forfeitures ſhall be to our Soveraign Lord and Lady the King and Queens Majeſties, the Heirs and Succeſſors of the Queens Majeſty: and the other half to him or them that will ſue for the ſame in any of the King and Queens Majeſties Courts of Record, her Heirs and Succeſſors, wherein no eſſoine, protection, or wager of Law ſhall be admitted or allowed. St. 4 & 5 P. & M. 5.

No Bridgwater Cloth ſhall be ſold before it be viewed, ſearched, and ſealed.

CAP. XIII.

The Inhabitants of Halifax may buy Wooll, and ſell the ſame again.

FOraſmuch as the Pariſh of Halifax, and other places thereunto adjoyning, being planted in the great waſte Moors where the fertility of ground is not apt to bring forth any Corn nor good Graſſe, but in rare places, and by exceeding and great induſtry of the Inhabitants: And the ſame Inhabitants altogether do live by Cloth-making, and the great part of them neither getteth Corn, nor is able to keep a horſe to carry Woolls, nor yet to buy much Wooll at once, but hath ever uſed to repair to the Town of Halifax, and ſome other nigh thereunto, and there to buy upon the Wooll-driver, ſome a ſtone, ſome two, and ſome three and four, according to their ability, and to carry the ſame to their houſes, ſome three, four, five, and ſix miles off, upon their heads and backs, and ſo to make and convert the ſame either into Yarn or Cloth, and to ſell the ſame, and ſo to buy more Wooll of the Wooll-driver: by means of which induſtry, the barren grounds in thoſe parts be now much inhabited, and above five hundred Houſholds there newly increaſed within theſe forty years paſt, which now are like to be undone and driven to beggery, by reaſon of the late Eſtatute made, that taketh away the Wooll-driver, ſo that they cannot now have their Wooll by ſuch ſmall portions as they were wont to have, and that alſo they are not able to keep any Horſes whereupon to ride, or fet their woolls further from them in other places, unleſſe ſome remedy may be provided. For the remedy whereof, Be it enacted by the King and Queens Majeſties, by the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament, and by the authority of the ſame, That from henceforth it ſhall be lawful to any perſon or perſons inhabiting within the Pariſh of Halifax, to buy any Wooll or Woolls, at ſuch times as the Clothiers may buy the ſame, otherwiſe than by ingroſſing and foreſtalling, ſo that the perſons ſo buying the ſame, do carry or cauſe to be carried the ſaid Woolls ſo brought by them to the Town of Halifax, and there to ſell the ſame to ſuch poor Folks of that and other Pariſhes adjoyning, as ſhall work the ſame Cloth or Yarn (to their knowledge), and not to the rich and wealthy Clothier, nor to any other to ſell again. And if either the ſaid Wooll-driver ſhall ſell his ſaid Woolls at any other place forth of the ſaid Town of Halifax, or if any which ſhall buy their Woolls at Halifax, ſhall ſell their Woolls that they bought again unwrought in Yarn or Cloth, that then every ſuch offendor to loſe and forfeit the double value of the Wooll ſo ſold, or uttered: the one moyety thereof to be to the King and Queens Majeſties, her Heirs and Succeſſors, Kings of this Realm; and the other moyety to him or them that will ſue for the ſame in any of the King and Queens Majeſties Courts of Record, or before the Juſtices of Peace in their Seſſions, who by vertue hereof in their open Seſſions, ſhall have authority upon information, to hear and determine the ſame, and to make proceſſe againſt the Offendors, as in any other caſe to be determined before them.

The Statute of 5 Ed. 6. 7. very prejudicial to the Inhabitants of Halifax.

The Inhabitants of Halifax may buy Wooll, and ſell it again there.

The Juſtices of Peace may hear and determine theſe offences.

CAP. XV.

Purveyors ſhall take no Victuals within five miles of Cambridge and Oxford.

two Univerſities be ſet, and the circuit of five miles next adjoyning, hath been free from any charge or moleſtation of any common Takers or Purveyors for victual, whereby the ſaid Markets were more plentifully ſerved with Victual, and the poor eſtate of a great multitude of Scholars, having very bare and ſmall ſuſtentation, thereby relieved: and now by the means that contrary to the ſame laudable cuſtome, divers Purveyors and Takers have of late exceſſively frequented the ſame Markets, and thereby given occaſion to make victuals both more ſcant and much dearer, to a notorious decay of Scholars, which alſo daily in this great dearth is like to encreaſe and be more lamentable, to the hinderance of Gods ſervice, to the diſhonour of the Realm, the diſcomfort of all good and holy men loving learning and vertue.

Purveyors ſhall not take victual in Cambridg or Oxford, or within five miles thereof.

Who may enquire of and puniſh the offences.

It may therefore pleaſe your Majeſties of your great pity, and abundant favour and love towards your ſaid two Univerſities, being the very two onely nurſes of good learning in this Realm with the aſſent of the Lords ſpiritual and temporal, and the commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, to enact, ordain and eſtabliſh, That from henceforth no manner of Purveyor, Taker, Badger, Loader, or other Miniſter may or ſhall take, or bargain for any kind of victual or grain, in any of the ſaid Markets, or towns of Cambridg and the City of Oxford, nor ſhall take or bargani for any victual within the compaſſe of five miles thereto adjoyning, without the conſent, agreement, or good will of the owner or owners, neither ſhall attempt to carry, take away or bargain for any manner of grain or other victual, bought or provided within the ſaid ſpace of five miles by any common Miniſter of any Colledg, Hoſtell, or Hall, to be ſpent within any of the ſaid Colledges, Hoſtels, or Halls, upon pain of the forfeiture of the quadruple value of any ſuch manner of grain or victual, ſo taken or bargained, for, in any of the ſaid markets, or within the ſaid ſpace of five miles (againſt the will of the owners) as is aboveſaid, or attempted to be taken, carried away or bargained for, being provided as is aboveſaid for to be ſpent in any the Colledges, Hoſtels, or Halls. And further ſhall ſuffer impriſonment for the ſpace of three months without bail or mainpriſe. And that the Chancellor or Vice-chancellor, or his Commiſſary for the time being in either of the ſaid Univerſities, with two Juſtices of Peace of the County, wherein the ſaid Univerſities be ſet, ſhall have full power by authority of this Act, to enquire by the oaths of twelve men, of and upon the defaults and offences commited contrary to the tenour thereof, and to ſee due puniſhment and reformation thereof in form aforeſaid from time to time; the one half of which aforeſaid forfeitures to be to the common treaſure of either of the ſaid Univerſities, reſpectively to the fault committed againſt this their priviledg; the other half to the party that will ſue for the ſame by action of debt, bill, plaint, or otherwiſe, in any Court of Record, or before the aforeſaid Chancellor, his Vice-chancellor or commiſſary for the time being, and two Juſtices of Peace as is before expreſſed.

This Act ſuſpended during the Queens preſence.

Miſchances have happened to many by Water-men, and the cauſes thereof.

Several abuſes committed by young, unſkilful and lewd Watermen.

WHereas heretofore for lack of good government and due order, amongſt Wherrimen and Watermen, exerciſing, uſing, and occupying rowing upon the River of Thames, there have divers and many miſfortunes and miſchances happened & chanced of late years paſt, to a great number of the King & Queens Subjects, as well to the Nobility as to other the common people, that have paſſed and repaſſed, and been carried by water, by reaſon of the rude, ignorant, and unskilful number of Watermen, which for the moſt part been maſterleſs men, and ſingle men of all kinds of occupations and faculties, which do work at their own hands: And many boyes being of ſmall age, & of little ſkill, and being perſons out of the rule and obedience of any honeſt Maſter and governor, and do for the moſt part of their time uſe dicing & carding, and other unlawful games, to the great and evil example of other ſuch-like and againſt the Commonwealth of this Realm: And all which ſaid evil and ignorant perſons in the time of preſſing by Commiſſion, for the ſervice of the King and Queens moſt royal Majeſties upon the ſea, for that they have no known place of abiding, do for the moſt part abſent and convey themſelves into the Countrey, and other ſecret places, practiſing there robberies and felonies, and other evil deteſtable facts, to the great annoyance of the Common-wealth: And ſo after the ſaid Commiſſion of preſſing ended, oft times the ſaid evil perſons do repair again to their former trade of rowing, colouring their evil deeds, and alſo divers of them being very ignorant, for lack of convenient time of learning and exerciſe, in the which they might obtain ſufficient knowledg of their occupation, do oftentimes preſume and enterpriſe to receive divers of our ſaid ſoveraign Lord and Lady the King and Queens Majeſties loving Subjects into their boats and wherries and do carry and convey their ſaid Subjects from place to place by water upon the ſaid River of Thames, whereby divers perſons have been robbed, and ſpoyled of their goods, and alſo drowned.

And for & by the occaſion aforeſaid, be daily put in fear and peril of their lives, the which is very lamentable and not to be permitted or ſuffered in any Commonwealth. And by reaſon alſo, that a great number, and the moſt part of the Wherries and Boats now occupied and uſed, and of late time made for rowing upon the ſaid River, been made ſo little and ſmall in portion, and ſo ſtraight and narrow in the bottom, varying much from the old ſubſtantial ſort and ſure making of Boats and Wherries which was uſed before the ſpace of twenty years laſt paſt, inſomuch, as the moſt part of Boats and Wherries uſed at this day, been ſo ſhallow and tickle, that thereby great peril and danger of drowning hath many times enſued, and daily is like to enſue, unleſſe ſome ſpeedy remedy be herein had and provided.

There ſhall be eight Overſeers of Watermen upon the River of Thames.

For reformation whereof, be it enacted by the King and Queens Majeſties, the Lords ſpiritual and temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That there ſhall be yearly appointed, choſen and elected by the Mayor & the Court of Aldermen of the City of London for the time being, the number of eight perſons of the moſt wiſe, diſcreet and beſt ſort of Watermen, being houſholders, and occupying as Watermen upon the ſaid river, between Graveſend and Windſor, which election ſhall be yearly at the firſt Court of Aldermen, to be holden within the ſaid City next after the firſt day of March: and the ſame eight perſons ſo elected, ſhall be named & called, The Overſeers and Rulers of all the Wherrimen and Watermen, that from and after the ſaid firſt day of March, ſhall uſe, occupy, or exerciſe any rowing upon the ſaid river of Thames, betwixt Graveſend and Windſor aforeſaid; which ſaid Overſeers and Rulers, ſhall keep and maintain good order and obedience amongſt the ſaid Watermen according to the true meaning of this preſent Act.

Two Watermen ſhall not carry any, but where one of them is allowed by the Overſeers, and two years hath exerciſed, &c.

And alſo be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That after the Feaſt of Pentecoſt next coming, no perſon nor perſons, where two Watermen, and not above the number of two, ſhall row together in one Boat or Wherry, in any place or places betwixt Graveſend and Windſor aforeſaid, ſhall preſume or enterpriſe to receive or take any perſon or perſons into his or their Boat or Wherry, to the intent to carry or convey him or them therein, unleſs one of the ſame two Watermen have been for the moſt part exerciſed and uſed in rowing upon the ſaid River of Thames, by the ſpace of two whole years before that time, And that alſo one of the ſame two Watermen at leaſt, be duly admitted and allowed by the ſame eight Overſeers and Rulers, or the moſt part of them by writing under their known ſeal to be a ſufficient and able Waterman upon pain that every perſon and perſons preſuming or offending contrary to the true meaning of this preſent Act, ſhall by the ſaid eight Overſeers or Rulers be committed to priſon in one of the Counters of the City of London, there to remain by the ſpace of one month or leſſe, as the offence ſhall require.

No ſingle man ſhall be a Waterman, &c.

And alſo be it further enacted, that no perſon or perſons being ſingle men, not keeping houſhould and not retained, ſhall from and after the ſaid feaſt of Pentecoſt next coming, uſe or exerciſe to row between Graveſend and Windſor aforeſaid, unleſſe he or they be prentice or prentices, or in ſervice retained with a Maſter by the whole year to the leaſt, upon pain of like impriſonment.

Who ſhall have authority to puniſh offenders.

And alſo be it further enacted, That the Lord Mayor of London and the Aldermen of the ſame City, and the Juſtices of Peace within the Shires next adjoyning to the ſaid River of Thames, every of them within their ſeveral juriſdiction and authorities, ſhall have full power and authority by vertue of this preſent Act, upon complaint made to them or any of them by the ſaid Over ſeers and Rulers, or two of them, or the maſter or Maſters of any ſuch ſervants, not only to examine, heare and determine all complaints or offences to be done or committed by any ſuch perſon or perſons that ſhall offend contrary to the true meaning of this preſent Act, and to ſet at large all and every ſuch perſon and perſons, as ſhall fortune to be impriſoned by the ſaid Overſeers and Rulers according to this Act, if juſt cauſe ſhall appear unto them ſo to do: but alſo by their good diſcretions and wiſdom to puniſh, correct, and reform the ſaid Overſeers and Rulers, and every of them that ſhall unjuſtly, or without good cauſe or ground, puniſh any perſon or perſons by colour of this preſent Act, or any thing therein contained.

The length, breadth and goodneſs of Boats.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any perſon or perſons whatſoever, from henceforth do or ſhall make any Wherry or Boat, to the intent commonly to uſe rowing and carrying people upon the ſaid River of Thames, which ſhall not be two and twenty foot and a half in length, and four foot and a half broad in the midſhip, or which ſhall not be ſubſtantially and well able, and ſufficient to carry two perſons on one ſide tight, according to the old quantity, ſcantling, thickneſſe of boord, goodneſſe and good proportion heretofore had and uſed, that then the ſame Boat or Boats ſo being made contrary to the proportion and ſort before expreſſed, ſhall be taken as forfeit the one half thereof to the King and Queens Majeſties, our ſaid Soveraign Lord and Ladies uſe, and to the uſe of the heirs and ſucceſſors of the Queens Majeſty: and the other half to him or them that will ſue for the ſame in any of the King and Queens Majeſties Courts of Record, by action of detinue, bill, plaint, information or otherwiſe; wherein no wager of Law, eſſoin, protection or injunction ſhall be allowed for the Defendant.

The puniſhment of Watermen withdrawing themſelves in the time of Preſſing.

And be it further enacted, That if any perſon or perſons, which from and after the ſaid Feaſt ſhall uſe and exerciſe the occupation of rowing betwixt Graveſend and Windſor aforeſaid, which in the time of the execution of any Commiſſion of preſſing, that ſhall be had for the ſervice of the King and Queens Majeſties, and the heirs and ſucceſſors of the Queens Majeſty, in their affair ſhall willingly, voluntarily and obſtinately withdraw, hide or convey him or themſelves, in the ſame time of Preſſing, into ſecret places and out-corners, and after when ſuch time of Preſſing is overpaſſed, ſhall return and come again to the ſaid River of Thames, to row betwixt Graveſend and Windſor aforeſaid, and that duly proved by two indifferent witneſſes, before the ſaid Mayor and court of Aldermen or Juſtices ces of the Peace, and two of the ſaid Rulers, that then he or they ſo doing and offending, ſhall ſuffer impriſonment by the ſpace of two weeks, and be baniſhed any more to row from thenceforth upon the ſaid River of Thames, by the ſpace of one whole year and day then next following.

The Overſeers ſhall correct the Watermen, and regiſter their names.

And be it further enacted, That it ſhall be lawful to the ſaid eight Rulers for the the time being, and their ſucceſſors from time to time, to convent and call before them at ſome convenient place, by them to be appointed, all and every ſuch perſon and perſons, which from and after the ſaid feaſt of Pentecoſt, ſhall occupy and uſe the ſaid trade and occupation of rowing betwixt Graveſend and Windſor aforeſaid, and ſhall enter and regiſter the name and names of them and every of them that ſhall be by them allowed or admitted for Watermen to row betwixt Graveſend and Windſor aforeſaid, in a book to be made for the ſame intent and purpoſe, and to take ſuch further order and direction therein with every the ſaid parties, by the authority of this preſent Act, as it ſhall ſeem meet and neceſſary by the diſcretion of the ſaid Overſeers and Rulers for the time being. Be it likewiſe further enacted, That it ſhall not be lawful for any of the ſaid Searchers, or Sealers, or any other perſon, to ſearch any manner of Woollen Cloth or Kerſie, whereunto the Seal of a City, Borough, or Town corporate, ſhall be fixed, within the common Cloth-Market of London, commonly called Black-well-Hall; or in any common Cloth-Fair, or Cloth-Market of any other City, Borough, or Town corporate, in and during the time of the Fair or Market: any Act or Statute to the contrary notwithſtanding.

No ſearching in common Markets or Fairs.

A confirmation of the Statute of 5 & 6 Ed. 6. 6.

Be it further Enacted, That all and every article, clauſe and ſentence in the ſaid former Statute made in the fifth and ſixth years of the reign of our ſaid late Soveraign Lord King Edward the ſixth, being not repugnant or contrary to any article, clauſe or ſentence contained in this preſent Act, ſhall ſtand in full force and effect.

Every Cloth marked with M.

And be it further Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That every Clothier ſhall cauſe every cloth which he ſhall put to ſale, from and after the Feaſt of the Nativity of S. John Baptiſt next coming, to be marked with the letter M. crowned, wrought in the cloth, upon pain to forfeit xx.s. for every cloth, being ſold or put to ſale by any ſuch Clothier after the ſaid Feaſt, not marked with the ſaid letter M. as is aforeſaid.

No coloured cloth ſhall be put to ſale, but theſe within named. REP. 21 Jac. 28.

And moreover be it Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no perſon or perſons after the ſaid Feaſt of the Nativity of S. John Baptiſt, ſhall ſet, or put to ſale, within the Realm of England, any coloured cloth of any other colour or colours, than are hereafter in this Act mentioned, that is to ſay, ſcarlet, red, crimſon, morrey, violet, pewke, brown blew, black, green, yellow, blew, orange tawny, ruſſet, marble gray, ſad new colour, azney, watchet, ſheeps colour, Lyon-colour, motley, iron gray, fryers gray, crane colour, purple, and old medley colour, moſt commonly uſed to be made above and before xx. years laſt paſt.

Item, Whereas divers ancient Cities, Boroughs, and Towns corporate within this Realm of England, have been in times paſt well and ſubſtantially inhabited, occupied, maintained and upholden as well by reaſon of making of broad Woollen Clothes, and Kerſies, as alſo by divers other artificers, inhabiting then in the ſaid Towns, at which time alſo the Villages and husband Towns flouriſhed, and husbandry and tillage was well maintained, to the great benefit of the Realm, and all the people therein: foraſmuch as divers years paſt, ſuch perſons as do uſe the feat or myſtery of Cloth-making, not contented to live as artificers, and with the trade wherein they have been brought up, do daily plant themſelves in the Villages and Towns, being no Cities, Boroughs, nor corporate Towns, and there occupying the ſeat and place of a husband man, do not only engroſſe divers fermes and paſtures into their hands, diſpleaſing the husband man, and decaying the ploughs and tillage, but alſo draw with them out of Cities, Boroughs, and Towns corporate, all ſorts of Artificers, whereby not only divers ancient Cities, Boroughs and Towns corporate are utterly decayed, deſtroyed and depopulated, but alſo husbandry and tillage much decayed, to the great hurt, damage and prejudice of this Realm, and the people therein, if ſpeedy remedy be not foreſeen. And foraſmuch alſo as the Weavers and Workmen of Clothiers when they have been trained up in the trade of Cloth-making and Weaving three or four years, do forſake their Maſters, and do become Clothiers and Occupiers for themſelves, without ſtock, skill, or knowledge, to the great ſlander of the true Cloth-making, beſides a great number of inconveniences which do grow to the Common-wealth of this Realm thereby, as daily experience teacheth.

None ſhall make Cloth to ſell, but in a City, Borough, and where it hath been uſed to be made. Stat 25 H. 8. 18. 1 El. 14. 18 El. 1. 27 El. 23. 1 M. 7. REP. 21 Jac. 28.

Be it therefore ordained and enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That from and after the firſt day of May next coming, no perſon or perſons whatſoever ſhall uſe or exerciſe the feat or myſtery of making, weaving or rowing of Woollen cloth, long or ſhort, or Kerſies, pinned whites, or plain ſtreits, to the intent to put the ſame to ſale, but only in a market Town, where cloth hath commonly been uſed to be made by the ſpace of ten years laſt paſt, or in a City, Borough or Town corporate, upon pain of forfeiture for every ſuch Woollen Cloth or Kerſie made, woven or rowed out of ſuch City, Borough, Town corporate or Market Town, v. li.

And it is further enacted, That from and after the firſt day of May, no perſon whatſoever, [a] ſhall weave or make, or put to Weaving or making any Woollen clothes or kerſies laſt rehearſed, to be ſold, unleſſe ſuch perſon ſhall have been Apprentice to the occupation of making, weaving and rowing of Cloth or Kerſies, or have been exerciſed therein by the ſpace of ſeven years before, upon pain of forfeiture of ſuch Cloth, or the value thereof.

[a] Coke l fol. 19.

Who ſhall have the forfeitures.

And be it further Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all and every pains, penalties and forfeitures to be due by force of this Statute, or of the ſaid former Act, being not otherwiſe appointed, ſhall be divided equally into two parts, whereof the one ſhall be to the Queens Highneſſe, her Heirs and Succeſſors, and the other unto him that will ſeize (in caſes where ſeizure is limited or appointed), or elſe to him or them that will ſue for the ſame pains, penalties and forfeitures, or any of them, by action, bill, plaint, information, or otherwiſe, in any Court of Record: wherein no eſſoine, protection, wager of Law, or injunction ſhall be admitted, allowed or obeyed.

Provided alwayes, That it ſhall be lawful to any perſon now uſing or exerciſing the feat or myſtery of making, weaving, or rowing of cloth or Kerſie, to inhabit and dwell where he now doth, and there to uſe the making, weaving, or rowing of cloth or Kerſie, as he hath done heretofore: Any thing in this Act to the contrary notwithſtanding.

Who may make Cloth out of a Market Town.

Provided alwayes, That it ſhall be lawful to all and every perſon or perſons which now do, or hereafter ſhall inhabit or dwell in any of the Shires of Northwales, or Southwales, Cheſhire, Lancaſhire, Weſtmerland, Cumberland, Northumberland, Biſhoprick of Durham, Cornwall, Suffolk, Kent, the Town of Goddelmine in the County of Surry or Yorkſhire, being not within twelve miles of the City of York or in any the Towns or Villages near adjoyning to the Water of Stroud in the County of Glouceſter, where cloths have been uſually made by the ſpace of twenty years laſt paſt, and having been prentice to the occupation of cloth-making, or exerciſed in the ſame by the ſpace of Seven years, to ſet up, uſe and exerciſe the feat or myſtery of making, weaving, or rowing of cloth out of a City, Borough, or Market Town, as heretofore they might have done: any thing in this Act to the contrary notwithſtanding.

Provided alſo, That it ſhall be lawful to any perſon, now uſing or exerciſing, or that hath uſed or exerciſed the feat or miſtery of cloth making, the ſame to continue, uſe and exerciſe, although he hath not been thereunto apprentice, or have exerciſed the ſame by the ſpace of ſeven years: any thing in this Act to the contrary notwithſtanding.

Uſing the making of cloth at the time of the Statute.

Provided alwayes, and be it alſo further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That it ſhall be lawful to every perſon and perſons, to ſell and put to ſale by retail or otherwiſe, all and every ſuch coloured cloth and cloths as he or they now have, as freely as he or they may lawfully ſell any cloths of the colours in this preſent Act allowed to be ſold, until the Feaſt of Saint Michael the Archangel next enſuing. This Act or the ſaid former Statute, in any wiſe notwithſtanding. Stat. 27 Eliz. 17.

The coloured clothes which any perſon had at the time of this ſtatute, might be ſold.

CAP. I.

All ancient Juriſdictions reſtored to the Crown. A repeal of divers Statutes, and revivor of others; and all Foreign Power aboliſhed.

MOſt humbly beſeech your moſt excellent Majeſty, your faithful and obedient Subjects, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this your preſent Parliament aſſembled, That where in time of the reign of your moſt dear Father of worthy memory King Henry the eighth, divers good Laws and Statutes were made and eſtabliſhed, as well for the utter extinguiſhment and putting away of all uſurped and foreign Powers and Authorities out of this your Realm, and other your Highneſſe Dominions and Countries, as alſo for the reſtoring and uniting to the Imperial Crown of this Realm, the ancient Juriſdictions, Authorites, Superiorities and Preheminencies to the ſame of right belonging and appertaining, by reaſon whereof, we your moſt humble and obedient Subjects, from the five and twentieth year of the reign of your ſaid dear Father, were continually kept in good order, and were diſburdened of divers great and intolerable charges and exactions, before that time unlawfully taken, and exacted by ſuch foreign Power and Authority as before that was uſurped, until ſuchtime as all the ſaid good Laws and Statutes by one Act of Parliament, made in the firſt and ſecond years of the reigns of the late King Philip, and Queen Mary, your Highneſſe ſiſter, intituled, An Act repealing all Statutes, Articles, and proviſions made againſt the See Apoſtolick of Rome, ſince the twentieth year of King Henry the eighth, and alſo for the eſtabliſhment of all Spiritual and Eccleſiaſtical poſſeſſions and hereditaments conveyed to the Laity, were all clearly repealed and made void, as by the ſame Act of repeal more at large doth and may appear. By reaſon of which Act of repeal, your ſaid humble Subjects were eftſoones brought under an uſurped foreign Power and Authority, and yet do remain in that bondage, to the intolerable charges of your loving Subjects, if ſome redreſſe (by authority of this your High Court of Parliament, with the aſſent of your Highneſſe) be not had and provided:

Great exactions were taken by foreign power before the xxv. year of King H. 8. of the Inhabitants of this Realm.

1 & 2 P. & M. 8.

May it therefore pleaſe your Highneſſe, for the repreſſing of the ſaid uſurped foreign Power, and the reſtoring of the Rites, Juriſdictions and Preheminences appertaining to the Imperial Crown of this your Realm, that it may be enacted by authority of this preſent Parliament, That the ſaid Act made in the firſt and ſecond years of the reign of the ſaid late King Philip and Queen Mary, and all and every branches, clauſes and articles therein contained (other than ſuch branches, clauſes, and ſentences, as hereafter ſhall be excepted) may from the laſt day of this Seſſion of Parliament, by authority of this preſent Parliament, be repealed, and ſhall from thenceforth be utterly void and of none effect.

A repeal of the Statute of 1 & 2 P. & M. 8.

And that the branches, ſentences and words of the ſaid ſeveral Acts, and every of them, from thenceforth ſhall and may be judged, deemed and taken to extend to your Highneſſe, your Heirs and Succeſſors, as fully and largely as ever the ſame Acts or any of them did extend to the late King Henry the eighth, your Highneſſe Father.

Provided alwayes, That this Act, nor any thing therein contained, nor any attainder to be had by force and vertue of this Act, ſhall not extend to make any corruption of blood, the diſheriting of any heir, forfeiture of dower, nor to the prejudice of the right or title of any perſon or perſons, other then the right or title of the offendor or offendors, during his, her, or their natural lives onely.

And that it ſhall and may be lawful to every perſon and perſons, to whom the right or intereſt of any lands, tenements, or hereditaments, after the death of any ſuch offendor or offendors, ſhould or might have appertained, if no ſuch attainder had been, to enter into the ſame, without any Ouſter le maine to be ſued, in ſuch ſort as he or they might have done, if this Act had never been had, ne made.

How the Oath expreſſed Anno 1 Eliz. ſhall be expounded.

Provided alſo, That the Oath expreſſed in the ſaid Act made in the ſaid firſt year ſhall be taken and expounded in ſuch form as is ſet forth in an Admonition annexed to the Queens Majeſties Injunctions, publiſhed in the firſt year of her Majeſties reign; That is to ſay, to confeſſe and acknowledge in her Majeſtie, her heirs and ſucceſſors, none other authority than that was challenged and lately uſed by the noble King Henry the eighth, and King Edward the ſixth, as in the ſaid Admonition more plainly may appear.

In what Courts and places this Act ſhall be publiſhed.

And be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act ſhall be openly read and publiſhed, and declared at every Quarter-Seſſions by the Clerk of the Peace, and at every Leet and Law-day by the Steward of the Court, and once in every Term in the open Hall of every houſe and houſes of Court and Chancery, at the times, and by the perſons thereunto to be limited and appointed by the Lord Chancellor or Keeper of the great Seal for the time being.

Every Knight, Citizen and Burgeſſe of the Parliament ſhall take the ſaid Oath before the Lord Steward or his Deputy.

And be it further Enacted, That every perſon which hereafter ſhall be elected or appointed a Knight, Citizen, or Burgeſſe, or Baron for any of the five Ports, for any Parliament or Parliaments hereafter to be holden: ſhall from henceforth, before he ſhall enter into the Parliament Houſe, or have any voice there, openly receive and pronounce the ſaid Oath before the Lord Steward for the time being, or his deputy or deputies for that time to be appointed. And that he which ſhall enter into the Parliament houſe without taking the ſaid Oath, ſhall be deemed no Knight, Citizen, Burgeſſe, nor Baron for that Parliament, nor ſhall have any voice: but ſhall be to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, as if he had never been returned nor elected Knight, Citizen, Burgeſſe or Baron for that Parliament, and ſhall ſuffer ſuch pains and penalties, as if he had preſumed to ſit in the ſame without election, return or authority.

Provided alſo further, and be it enacted, That no perſon ſhall be compelled by vertue of this Act to take the Oath above mentioned, at or upon the ſecond time of offering the ſame, according to the form appointed by this Statute, except the ſame perſon hath been, is, or ſhall be an Eccleſiaſtical perſon, that had, hath, or ſhall have, in the time of one of the reigns of the Queens Majeſties moſt noble Father, Brother or Siſter, or in the time of the reign of the Queens Majeſty, her Heirs or Succeſſors, charge, cure, or office in the Church: Or ſuch perſon or perſons as had, hath, or hereafter ſhall have any office or miniſtery in any Eccleſiaſtical Court of this Realm, under any Archbiſhop or Biſhop, in any the times or reigns aforeſaid: Or ſuch perſon or perſons as ſhall wilfully refuſe to obſerve the orders and rites for Divine Service, that be authorized to be uſed and obſerved in the Church of England, after that he or they ſhall be publickly by the Ordinary or ſome of his Officers for Eccleſiaſtical cauſes admoniſhed to keep and obſerve the ſame: Or ſuch as ſhall openly and adviſedly deprave by words, writings, or any other open fact, any of the rites and ceremonies at any time uſed, and authorized to be uſed in the Church of England: Or that ſhall ſay or hear the private Maſſe prohibited by the Laws of this Realm, and that all ſuch perſons ſhall be compellable to take the Oath upon the ſecond tender or offer of the ſame, and incur the penalties for not taking of the ſaid Oath, and none other.

CAP. IV.

A repeal of ſo much of former Statutes as concern the hiring, keeping, departing, working, or order of ſervants, labourers, &c. And a declaration who ſhall be compellable to ſerve in handicrafts, and who in husbandry, and their ſeveral duties, &c.

The ſubſtance of many former Statutes reduced into this one.

Although there remain and ſtand in force preſently a great number of Acts and Statutes concerning the retaining, departing, wages, and orders of Apprentices, Servants and Labourers, as well in Husbandry, as in divers other Arts, Myſteries and Occupations: yet partly for the imperfection and contrariety that is found and doth appear in ſundry of the ſaid Lawes, and for the variety and number of them, and chiefly for that the wages and allowances limited and rated in many of the ſaid ſtatutes, are in divers places too ſmall, and not anſwerable to this time reſpecting the advancement of prices of all things belonging to the ſaid ſervants and labourers the ſaid Laws cannot conveniently, without the great grief and burden of the poor labourer, and hired man, be put in good and due execution. And as the ſaid ſeveral Acts and Statutes were at the time of the making of them, thought to be very good & beneficial for the Commonwealth of this Realm (as divers of them yet are): So if the ſubſtance of as many of the ſaid laws as are meet to be continued ſhall be digeſted and reduced into one ſole law and ſtatute, and in the ſame an uniform order preſcribed and limited, concerning the wages and other orders for apprentices, ſervants, and labourers, there is good hope that it will come to paſſe, that the ſame Law (being duly executed) ſhould baniſh idleneſſe, advance husbandry, and yield unto the hired perſon both in the time of ſcarcity, and in the time of plenty, a convenient proportion of wages.

A repeal of ſo much of all former Stat. as do concern the keeping, departing, &c. of ſervants, &c.

Be it therefore enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That as much of all the Eſtatutes heretofore made and every branch of them, as touch or concern the hiring, keeping, departing, working, wages, or order of ſervants, workmen, artificers, apprentices, and labourers, or any of them, and the penalties and forfeitures concerning the ſame, ſhall be from and after the laſt day of September next enſuing, repealed and utterly void and of none effect, and that all the ſaid Statutes, and every branch thereof, or any matter contained in them, and not repealed by this Statute, ſhall remain and be in full force and effect: Any thing in this Statute to the contrary notwithſtanding.

And

No perſon ſhall retain a ſervant in theſe Sciences, under one whole year.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no manner of perſon or perſons after the aforeſaid laſt day of September now next enſuing, ſhall retain, hire, or take into ſervice, or cauſe to be retained or hired, or taken into ſervice, nor any perſon ſhall be retained, hired, or taken into ſervice, by any means or colour, to work for any leſſe time or term than for one whole year, iu any of the Sciences, Crafts, Myſteries, or Arts of Clothiers, Woollen Cloth Weavers, Tuckers, Fullers, Clothworkers, Sheremen, Dyers, Hoſiers, Taylors, Shoomakers, Tanners, Pewterers, Bakers, Brewers, Glovers, Cutlers, Smiths, Farriers, Curriers, Sadlers, Spurriers, Turners, Cappers, Hatmakers, or Feltmakers, Bowyers, Fletchers, Arrow head makers, Butchers, Cooks, or Millers.

What ſort of perſons are compellable to ſerve in any of the Crafts aforeſaid.

And be it further enacted, That every perſon being unmarried, and every other perſon being under the age of xxx. years, that after the Feaſt of Eaſter next ſhall marry, and having been brought up in any of the ſaid Arts, Crafts, or Sciences, or that hath uſed or exerciſed any of them by the ſpace of three years, or more, and not having lands, tenements, rents, or hereditaments, copy hold, or free hold, of one eſtate of inheritance, or for term of any life or lives, of clear yearly value of xl. s, nor being worth of his own goods the clear value of x. pound, and ſo allowed by two Juſtices of the Peace of the County where he hath moſt commonly inhabited by the ſpace of one whole year, and under their hands and ſeals, or by the Mayor or other head-Officers of the City, Borough, or Town corporate, where ſuch perſon hath moſt commonly dwelt by the ſpace of one whole year, and two Aldermen, or two other diſcreet Burgeſſes of the ſame City, Borough, or Town corporate, if there be no Aldermen, under their hands and ſeals, nor being retained with any perion in huſbandry, or in any of the aforeſaid Arts and Sciences, according to this Statute; nor lawfully retained in other Art or Science, nor being lawfully retained in houſhold, or in any office, with any Nobleman, Gentleman, or others, according to the Law of this Realm; nor have a convenient farm, or other holding in tillage, whereupon he may inploy his labour: ſhall during the time that he or they ſhall be ſo be unmarried, or under the age of xxx. years, upon requeſt made by any perſon uſing the art or myſtery wherein the ſaid perſon ſo required hath been exerciſed, as is aforeſaid) be retained, and ſhall not refuſe to ſerve according to the tenour of this Statute, upon the pain and penalty hereafter mentioned.

No perſon ſhall put away his ſervant, nor any ſervant ſhall depart from his Maſter, before the end of his time.

And be it further enacted, That no perſon which ſhall retain any ſervant, ſhall put away his or her ſaid ſervant, and that no perſon retained according to this Statute, ſhall depart from his Maſter, Miſtreſſe, or Dame, before the end of his or her term, upon the pain hereafter mentioned, unleſſe, it be for ſome reaſonable and ſufficient cauſe or matter, or be allowed before two Juſtices of Peace, or one at the leaſt, within the ſaid County or before the Mayor or other chief officer of the City, Borough, or Town corporate, wherein the ſaid Maſter, Miſtreſſe, or Dame inhabiteth, to whom any of the parties grieved ſhall complain; Which ſaid Juſtices or Juſtice, Mayor or chief Officer, ſhal have and take upon them or him, the hearing and ordering of the matter betwixt the ſaid Maſter or Miſtreſſe, or Dame and Servant, according to the equity of the cauſe.

The cauſe of the ſervants putting away, or departing, to be determined by a Juſtice of Peace, Mayor, Bayliff, &c.

No ſervant ſhall depart, or be put away, but upon a quarters warning.

And that no ſuch Maſter, Miſtreſſe or Dame, ſhall put away any ſuch ſervant at the end of his term, or that any ſuch ſervant ſhall depart from his ſaid Maſter, Miſtreſſe or Dame at the end of his term, without one quarters warning given before the end of his ſaid term either by the ſaid Maſter, Miſtreſſe, or Dame, or Servant, the one to the other, upon the pain hereafter enſuing,

What ſort of perſons are compellable to ſerve by the year in huſbandry.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That every perſon between the age of xii. years, and the age of lx. years, not being lawfully retained, uor apprentice with any Fiſherman or mariner hanting the Seas, nor being in ſervice with any Kidder or Carrier of any corn, grain or meal, for proviſion of the City of London, nor with any husbandman in husbandry nor in any City, Town corporate, or market Town, in any of the Arts or Sciences limited or appointed by this Eſtatute to have or take apprentices, nor being retained by the year, or half the year at the leaſt, for the digging, ſeeking, finding, getting, melting, fining, working, trying, making of any Silver, Tinne, Lead, Iron, Copper, Stone, Sea-coal, Stone-coal, Moor-coal, or Cherk-coal, nor being occupyed in or about the making of any glaſſe, nor being a Gentleman born, nor being a Student or Scholler in any of the Univerſities, or in any School, nor having lands, tenements, rents, or hereditaments, for term of life, or of one eſtate of inheritance, of the clear yearly value of forty ſhillings, nor being worth in goods and chattels to the value of ten pound, nor having a father or mother then living, or other anceſtor, whoſe heir apparant he is, that having lands, tenements or hereditaments, of the yearly value of ten pound, or above, or goods or chattels of the value of forty pound, nor being a neceſſary or convenient Officer or Servant lawfully retained as is aforeſaid; nor having a convenient farm or holding, whereupon he may or ſhall imploy his labour; nor being otherwiſe lawfully retained, according to the true meaning of this Eſtatute: ſhall after the aforeſaid laſt day of September now next enſuing, by vertue of this Eſtatute be compelled to be retained to ſerve in husbandry by the year, with any perſon that keepeth huſbandry, and will require any ſuch perſon ſo to ſerve, within the ſame Shire where he ſhall be ſo required.

The forfeiture for putting away his ſervant within his term, or at the end of his term, without warning.

And be it further enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That if any perſon after he hath retained any ſervant, ſhall put away the ſame ſervant before the end of his term, unleſſe it be for ſome reaſonable and ſufficient cauſe, to be allowed as is aforeſaid: or if any ſuch Maſter, Miſtreſſe or Dame, ſhall put away any ſuch ſervant at the end of his term without one quarters warning given before the ſaid end, as is above remembred; that then every ſuch Maſter, Miſtreſſe or Dame ſo offending, unleſſe he or they be able to prove by two ſufficient witneſſes ſuch reaſonable and ſufficient cauſe of putting away of their ſervant or ſervants, during their term, or a quarters warning given afore the end of the ſaid term, as is aforeſaid, before the Juſtices of Oyer and Terminer, Juſtices of the Aſſiſe, Juſtices of Peace in the quarter Seſſions, or before the Mayor or other head-Officer of any City, Borough or Town corporate, and two Aldermen, or two other diſcreet Burgeſſes of the ſame City, Borough, or Town corporate, if there be no Aldermen, or before the Lord Preſident and Councel eſtabliſhed in the Marches of Wales, or before the Lord Preſident and Councel for the time being eſtabliſhed in the North parts, ſhall forfeit the ſum of xl. s.

CAP. X.

Servants imbezelling their Maſters Goods, of the value of xl. ſhillings or above, ſhall be puniſhed as Felons.

21 H. 8. 7.

Where in the Parliament holden at London the third day of November, in the xxi. year of the reign of the late King of moſt famous and worthy memory King Henry the eighth, and from thence adjourned to Weſtminſter, and there holden and continued by divers prorogations unto the diſſolution thereof: It was ordained and enacted among other things, That all and ſingular Servants to whom any Caskets, Jewels, Money, Goods or Chattels by his or their Maſter or Maſters, ſhould from henceforth be delivered to keep, that if any ſuch Servant or Servants withdraw him or them from their ſaid Maſters or Miſtreſſes, and go away with the ſaid Caskets, Jewels, Money, Goods or Chattels, or any part thereof, to the intent to ſteal the ſame, and defraud his or their ſaid Maſters and Miſtreſſes thereof, contrary to the truſt and confidence to him or them put, by his or their Maſters and Miſtreſſes: or elſe being in ſervice of his ſaid Maſters or Miſtreſſes, without the aſſent or commandment of his Maſters or Miſtreſſes, imbezel the ſame Caskets, Jewels, Money, Goods or Chattels, or any part thereof, or otherwiſe convert the ſame to his own uſe, with like purpoſe to ſteal it, that if the ſaid Caskets, Jewels, Money, Goods or Chattels, that any ſuch Servant ſhall go away with, or which he ſhall imbezel, with purpoſe to ſteal it, as is aforeſaid, be of the value of forty ſhillings or above: That then the ſame falſe, fraudulent, and untrue act and demeanor, ſhould from thenceforth be deemed and adjudged Felony; and that he or they ſo offending, ſhould be puniſhed as other Felons for Felony committed, by the courſe of the common Law, as by the ſaid Act amongſt other things therein contained more at large it doth and may appear.

Which ſaid Act, in the Parliament begun and holden at Weſtminſter the fifth day of October, in the firſt year of the reign of the late Queen Mary, and there continued to the xxi. day of the ſame moneth, that is to ſay, in the firſt Seſſion of the ſame Parliament, by the general words of one Act then and there made, intituled, An Act repealing certain Treaſons, Felonies, and Præmunire, was from thenceforth utterly repealed and made void.

1 Mar. 1.

And foraſmuch as ſithence the Repeal of the ſame, the Act is thought neceſſary for the Common wealth of this Realm: Be it therefore enacted by our Soveraign Lady the Queens Majeſty, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That the ſaid Act made in the xxi. year, and every Clauſe, Article, Branch, Sentence, and proviſion therein contained, be from henceforth revived, and put in due execution, according to the intent and meaning thereof, and from thenceforth ſhall ſtand good, and continue for ever. Stat. 27 H. 8. 17.

A revivre of the Statute of 21 H. 8. 7. whereby it is made felony for a ſervant to imbezel his maſters goods to the value of xl. s. or above.

CAP. XI.

The clipping, &c. of Coyns for gains-ſake, ſhall be high Treaſon.

Whereas the offences of clipping, rounding, waſhing, and filing of Money or Coins of this Realm, was declared by an Act of Parliament in the time of King Henry the fifth, to be Treaſon to the King and the Realm, and according to the ſaid Act, the ſame offences were and did continue Treaſon, untill the firſt year of the reign of Queen Mary: At which time, the pains and penalties due for the ſaid offences, were abrogated and taken away, by the general Act of repeal then made: By reaſon whereof, divers falſe and evil diſpoſed perſons, perceiving themſelves to be looſe and free from the ſeverity and danger of the ſaid Law, and penalty, have been of late the more hardy and bold, to attempt and practice, for wicked lucre and gains ſake, to diminiſh, impair, and falſifie the Monies and Coins currant within this Realm, and the Dominions of the ſame, by ſuch clipping, waſhing, rounding, and filing thereof, not only to the great diſhonour of the Queens Majeſty our Soveraign Lady that now is, by whoſe great goodneſſe new Monies or Coins of the ſame are now reduced to as much fineneſſe as ever hath been in any time of her noble Progenitors, but alſo to the great loſſe and damage of the good Subjects of this Realm, and more is like to be hereafter, if the ſame be not ſpeedily met withall.

Stat. 3 H. 5. 6.

1 Mar. 1.

The prejudices redounding to the Queen, and the Realm by clipping, waſhing, &c. of money.

For remedy whereof, Be it enacted, declared and eſtabliſhed, by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That from and after the firſt day of May next coming, clipping, waſhing, rounding or filing for wicked lucre or gains ſake, of any the proper Monies or Coins of this Realm, or the Dominions thereof, or of the Monies or Coins of any other Realm, allowed and ſuffered to be currant within this Realm, or the Dominions thereof at this preſent, or that hereafter at any time ſhall be the lawful Monies or Coins of this Realm, or of the Dominions thereof, or of any other Realm, and by Proclamation allowed and ſuffered to be currant here, by the Queens Majeſty, her Heirs and Succeſſors; ſhall be taken, deemed and adjudged by vertue of this Act, to be Treaſon, and the offendors therein, their Counſellors, Conſentors and Ayders, ſhall be from and after the ſame firſt day of May, taken, deemed and adjudged as Offendors in Treaſon, and being thereof lawfully convicted or attainted, according to the due order and courſe of the Laws of this Realm, ſhall ſuffer pains of death, and loſe and forfeit all his and their [a] Goods and Chattels, and alſo ſhall loſe and forfeit all his and their Lands and Tenements, during his and their natural life or lives only.

The clipping, waſhing, rounding, or filing of currant money, ſhall be adjudged Treaſon.

Dyer, fol. 30.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all and every perſon and perſons, which have any lawful grant to have and enjoy the forfeiture of Lands, Tenements, Goods or Chattels of Offendors, and men attainted in high Treaſon, within any Manor, Lordſhip, Town, Pariſh, Hundred, or other Precinct within this Realm of England or Wales: ſhall and may at all times hereafter have like liberty, to take, ſeiſe, and enjoy all ſuch Forfeitures of Lands, Tenements, Goods and Chattels, as ſhall come to grow within their liberties, by force of the attaindor of any perſon or perſons, for, and upon any offence or offences made Treaſon by this Act, as they or any of them ſhould, ought, or might have, by vertue of any good and lawful grant to them or any of them heretofore had or made.

They which have forfeitures of lands or goods by grant, ſhall in this caſe enjoy them.

Theſe offences make no corruption of blood, or forfeiture of dower.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any of the Lords of the Parliament or Peer of this Realm for the time being, ſhall fortune at any time hereafter to be indicted of any offence made Treaſon by this Act: that then they and every of them ſhall have his or their Tryal by their Peers, as hath been uſed heretofore in caſes of high Treaſon, 18 Eliz. 1.

Tryal of a Peer by Peers.

CAP. XII.

None ſhall be Badgers of Corn, nor Drovers of Cattel without Licence.

Who ſhall be accounted an Ingroſſor by the Statute of 5 & 6 Ed. 6. 14.

WHere in the Seſſion of Parliament holden upon prorogation at Weſtminſter the xxiii. day of January, in the fifth year of the reign of our late Soveraign Lord King Edward the ſixth, amongſt other things it was enacted, That whatſoever perſon or perſons, after the firſt day of May then next enſuing, ſhould ingroſſe or get into his or their hands, by buying, contracting, or promiſe taking (other than by demiſe, grant, or leaſe of Land or Tythes) any Corn growing in the Fields, or any other Corn or Grain, Butter, Cheeſe, Fiſh, or other dead Victuals whatſoever, within the Realm of England, to the intent to ſell the ſame again, ſhall be accepted, reputed, and taken an unlawful Engroſſor or Engroſſors: with a Proviſo, and Ordinance contained in the ſame Act, that it ſhould be lawful to every perſon or perſons, being a common Badger, Kidder, Lader, or Carrier, which ſhall be licenced, aſſigned, and allowed thereunto by three Juſtices of the Peace of the County where the ſaid Badger, Lader, Kidder, or Carrier ſhall dwell, which ſhall ſell or deliver in open Fair or Market, or to any other Victualler, or to any other perſon or perſons, for the proviſion of his or their houſe or houſes, all ſuch Corn, Butter, or Cheeſe, as any ſuch perſon or perſons ſhall buy or cauſe to be bought, and that within one moneth next after he or they ſhall ſo buy any ſuch Corn, Grain, Butter, or Cheeſe, ſo that the ſame ſhall be bought without foreſtalling: ſhall not be in any wiſe deemed, adjudged, or taken any offence contrary to the ſaid Act.

A proviſo for a Badger, Carrier, &c. licenced.

A proviſo for a Drover of cattel, or for buying of corn to be tranſported from one Port to another.

And where alſo it is provided and enacted by the ſame Act of Parliament, That it ſhall be lawful to all and every perſon and perſons, known for a common Drover or Drovers, being licenced, authorized, and allowed in writing by three Juſtices of Peace, whereof one to be of the Quorum, of the County or Counties where the ſame Drover or Drovers ſhall be moſt abiding and dwelling, to buy Cattel in ſuch Shires or Counties, where Drovers have been wont in times paſt accuſtomarily to buy Cattel, at their free liberty and pleaſure, and to ſell the ſame again. And that it ſhall be lawful to every perſon and perſons which ſhall be aſſigned and allowed by three Juſtices of the Peace of the County where he ſhall dwell, to buy (otherwiſe than by foreſtalling) Corn, Grain, or Cattel to be tranſported or carried by water from any Port or Place within this Realm or Wales, unto any other Port or place within the ſaid Realm or Dominions, as in the ſaid Act amongſt other things doth appear.

The inconveniences enſuing the number of Drovers of cattel, and Badgers, &c. of corn and other victuals.

Since the making of which Act, ſuch a great number of perſons, ſeeking only to live eaſily, and to leave their honeſt labour, have and do daily ſeek to be allowed and licenced to the ſaid Offices or doings, being moſt unfit and unmeet for thoſe purpoſes, and alſo very hurtful to the Common wealth of this Realm, as well by the inhaunſing of prices of Corn and Grain, and other the ſaid Victuals, as alſo by the diminiſhing of the number of good and neceſſary Husbandmen; which ſaid number of Drovers of Cattel, and Badgers, Laders, Kidders, and Carriers of Corn and Grain, are many times without good orders, and due conſideration, aſſigned and allowed thereunto, to the great prejudice of the Commonwealth.

To what kind of perſons, and at what places only licence ſhall be granted to be Badgers, Drovers, &c.

In conſideration whereof, Be it enacted by the Queen our Soveraign Lady, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That no Drover of Cattel, Badger, Lader, Kidder, Carrier, Buyer or Tranſporter of Corn or Grain, Butter and Cheeſe, be from and after the Feaſt of Eaſter next after the firſt day of this preſent Parliament, licenced, admitted, aſſigned, or allowed to thoſe offices or doings, or to any of them, but only in the general and open Quarter-Seſſions of the Peace) to be holden in the Shire, where ſuch perſon or perſons ſo to be admitted, aſſigned, or allowed, doth or ſhall dwell, and hath or ſhall have dwelled there by the ſpace of three years next before the Teſte of his ſaid licence. And that no perſon or perſons after the firſt day of May next coming, be admitted to the ſaid offices or doings, or to any of them, but ſuch only as be or have been married men, and ſhall be, at the time of ſuch licence to be granted, Houſholders, and not houſhold-ſervants, nor retainers to any perſon or perſons, and of the age of xxx. years at the leaſt. And that all licences being made and granted, as is above ſaid, ſhall have continuance and be good only for one year next after the date hereof, and for no more nor longer time.

The date of the licences, and the Juſtices hands and ſeals.

Which ſaid licences, and every of them, ſhall bear date of the day and place where the ſaid Seſſions ſhall be holden, and ſhall be ſigned and ſealed with the proper Hands and Seals of three of the ſaid Juſtices of the Peace, being preſent at the ſame Seſſions, at the leaſt; whereof one to be of the Quorum, upon pain that every perſon or perſons that ſhall take any licence contrary to this Ordinance, to loſe and forfeit to our Soveraign Lady the Queen, her Heirs and Succeſſors, five pounds ſterling. And that all licences made and granted, or hereafter to be made and granted, otherwiſe than is before expreſſed, ſhall from and after the ſaid firſt day of May, next coming, be void and of none effect.

Bonds with ſureties, ſhall be taken of Drovers, Carriers &c. not to infringe this Act.

And further, Be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the Juſtices of the Peace, in the ſaid general and open Seſſions, ſhall or may, by their diſcretions, take Bond and Surety from to time by Recogniſance, of ſuch as ſhall be admitted or allowed hereafter a common Drover of Cattel, Badger, Lader, Kidder, Carrier, or Buyer of Corn, Grain, Butter or Cheeſe, that they nor any of them, ſhall by colour of his or their licence, foreſtall or ingroſſe, or otherwiſe practiſe or do any act or thing contrary to the tenour and true meaning, or in defrauding the ſaid former Eſtatute, or of any matter or thing therein contained. All which Licences, and every of them, and the ſaid Recogniſances, ſhall be made and written by the Clerk of the Peace of every County where ſuch Licence ſhall be granted, or by his lawful deputy, and by none other perſon or perſons.

The fees of the Clerk of the Peace.

And every perſon that ſhall have any ſuch Licence, ſhall pay to the Clerk of the Peace, or his deputy for making thereof, twelve pence at the moſt; and for every Recogniſance in form abovesaid to be made and acknowledged, eight pence at the moſt; and for regiſtring of the ſame Licence and Recogniſance, four pence at the moſt. For which ſaid Fee, the ſaid Clerk or his deputy ſhall have and keep one regiſter Book, and therein ſhall regiſter and write all the names, ſirnames, and dwelling-places of ſuch as ſhall be licenced as aforeſaid, with a brief declaration or entry of the ſaid Licence, and of the day, time, and place where ſuch Licence or Licences ſhall be granted. Which Book or Regiſter, the ſaid Clerk of the Peace, or his Deputy, ſhall have and bring to every Seſſions, to the intent that it may appear what number of Licences be and ſhall be, from time to time granted, whereby the better conſideration may be had thereof.

None ſhall buy corn to ſell again, without ſpecial licence.

Provided alwayes, and be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no perſon or perſons, ſhall or may by authority of any ſuch licence above mentioned, buy any Corn or Grain out of open Fair or Market to ſell again, unleſſe ſuch perſon and perſons ſhall be thereunto licenced, and ſhall have ſpecial and expreſſe words contained in ſuch licence or licences, that he or they may ſo do, upon pain to forfeit for every ſuch time that any ſuch perſon or perſons ſhall do to the contrary, five pounds. The moyety of which forfeitures afore rehearſed, ſhall be to the Queen our Soveraign Lady, her Heirs and Succeſſors, and the other moyety to him or them that will ſue for the ſame in any of the Queens Courts of Record, by bill, plaint, action of debt, or information; in the which bill, plaint, action, or information, no wager of Law, Eſſoine, or Protection ſhall be admitted.

Juſtices of Peace in their Seſſions ſhall inquire of and Determine their offences.

Be it alſo enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the Juſtices of Peace in every County within this Realm or Wales, at the Quarter-Seſſions, ſhall have full power and authority by vertue of this Act, to enquire, hear, and determine all and every the defaults and offences, perpetrated, committed or done contrary to this Act, within the County where any ſuch Seſſions ſhall be kept, by inquiſition, preſentment, bill, or information, before them exhibited, and by examination of two lawful witneſſes, or by any of the ſame wayes or means, by the diſcretion of the ſaid Juſtices, and to make Proceſſe thereupon, as though they were indicted before them by inquiſition, or by verdict of twelve men or more. And upon the conviction of the offendor, by information of ſuit of any other than the Queen, to make extracts of the moyety of the forfeitures to be levied to the Queens uſe, as they uſe to do of other Fines and Amerciaments grown in the Seſſions of Peace, and to award execution of the other moyety for the Complainant or Informer againſt the Offendor by Fieri facias or Capias, as the Queens Juſtices at Weſtminſter may do and uſe to do. And if any ſuch conviction or attainder ſhall hereafter happen to be at the Queens ſuit only, that then the whole forfeitures to be extracted and levied to the Queens uſe only.

A City, &c. may appoint Purveyors for their proviſion.

Provided alwayes, That this Act or any thing therein contained, ſhall not in any wiſe extend to the prejudice of the liberty of any City or Town corporate, but that they and every of them ſhall and may lawfully aſſign and licence Purveyors for the proviſion of the ſame City or Town corporate, in ſuch manner and form as they might lawfully have done before the making of this Act.

To the Inhabitants of which Counties this Statute doth not extend.

Provided further, That this Act nor any thing therein contained, ſhall be in any wiſe hurtful or prejudicial unto any the Inhabitants within the Counties of Weſtmerland, Cumberland, Lancaſter, Cheſter, and York, or any of them, but that they may do as heretofore they have lawfully uſed to do; any thing in this preſent Act to the contrary notwithſtanding, 13 Eliz. 25.

CAP. XIII.

The Statute of 2 & 3 P. & M. 8. touching amending of Highwayes, continued: and the authorities of Supervisors of high-wayes enlarged.

The Stat. of 2 & 3 P. & M. 8. touching repairing of High-wayes, revived.

Where in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter in the ſecond and third years of the reign of the late Princes, King Philip and Queen Mary, amongſt other good Acts then had and made, one neceſſary Statute was provided and eſtabliſhed for the amendment and reparation of the High-wayes within this Realm; which Act was made to endure and continue for ſeven years, and after the expiration of the ſaid ſeven years, to the end of the Parliament then next enſuing, as by the ſame Statute more plainly appeared: Which ſeven years, foraſmuch as they be now expired and ended, and the ſaid Act is very beneficial, and moſt neceſſary to be continued for the eaſe and common-weal of the people of this Land: Be it therefore enacted by the Queens moſt excellent Majeſty, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority thereof, That the ſaid Act made in the ſaid ſecond and third years of the reign of King Philip and Queen Mary, touching and concerning the reparation and amendment of the High-wayes, and every article and branch of the ſame, ſhall from henceforth be, ſtand, and continue in full force, effect and ſtrength, for and during the term of twenty years next following, from and after the beginning of this preſent Parliament, and after the expiration of the ſaid twenty years, to the end of the Parliament then next after the end of the ſaid twenty years to be holden and kept.

And foraſmuch as the ſaid Statute made in the ſecond and third years of King Philip and Queen Mary, in divers parts of this Realm ſerveth not to ſo good purpoſe and effect as it may be made, for that ſuch ſubſtance and matter as is moſt fit and convenient for the reparations of the ſaid wayes, cannot be lawfully had, fetched, and taken out of the ſeveral grounds and ſoyl thereunto nigh or adjoyning, being no great loſſe or detriment to the Owners of the ſame ſeveral grounds and ſoyl, whereby the amendment of the ſaid Wayes is little increaſed, or elſe of very ſmall and ſlender continuance, to the great and continual charge and trouble of the poor people inhabiting thereabouts.

The Supervisors may take rubbiſh in other mens grounds for the mending of wayes.

For reformation whereof, and that the reparations of the ſaid High-ways may hereafter in good due manner well and ſufficiently be made: Be it further by the authority of this preſent Parliament enacted, That from henceforth it ſhall and may be lawful to all and every Superviſor and Superviſors, and orderers of the works for the time being, for the amendment of the ſaid High-ways thereunto elected and appointed, according to the Statute made in the ſecond and third years of King Philip and Queen Mary, for the better reparation and amendment of the wayes within their ſeveral Pariſhes and limits where they ſhall be ſo made Superviſors (if it ſhall be ſo to them thought neceſſary) to take or carry away of the rubbiſh or ſmalleſt broken ſtones of any quarry or quarries lying and being within the Pariſh where they ſhall be Superviſors, without licence, controlment or impeachment of the owner or owners, ſo much as by their diſcretions ſhall be deemed and adjudged neceſſary for the amendment of the ſaid ways. And that for default of any quarry or quarries not being within their ſaid Pariſh or limits, or in default of rubbiſh not to be found in any ſuch quarry or quarries, it ſhall and may be lawful for every ſuch Superviſor or Superviſors for the uſe aforeſaid, in the ſeveral grounds of any perſon or perſons being within the Pariſh and limits where they ſhall be Superviſors, and nigh adjoyning to the way or wayes wherein ſuch reparations ſhall be thought neceſſary to be made, and wherein gravel, ſand or ſinders is likely to be found, to dig or cauſe to be digged, for gravel, ſand or ſinders, and likewiſe to gather ſtones lying upon any lands or grounds within the Pariſh, and meet to be uſed to ſuch ſervice and purpoſe, and thereof to take and carry away ſo much as by the diſcretion of the ſaid Superviſors ſhall be thought neceſſary to be imployed in the amendment of the ſaid High-wayes.

What rubbiſh Superviſors may not dig, nor in what places.

Provided alwayes, That it ſhall not be lawful to any ſuch Superviſor or Superviſors by vertue of this Act, to cauſe any rubbiſh to be digged out of any quarry or quarries, but onely ſhall extend to ſuch rubbiſh as ſhall be found there ready digged by the owner or owners of the ſaid quarry or quarries, or otherwiſe by his or their licence and commandment, nor ſhall not extend or give authority to any Superviſor or Superviſors, to dig or cauſe to be digged any gravel, ſand, or ſinders, in the Houſe, Garden, Orchard or Meadow of any perſon or perſons, nor that it ſhall be lawful by this Act to any ſuch Superviſor or Superviſors, to cauſe any more pits to be digged for gravel in any ſeveral and encloſed ground, than one only; and that the ſame pit or hole ſo digged for gravel as is aforeſaid, ſhall not by any way be in bredth or length above ten yards over at the moſt. And that every ſuch Superviſor as ſhall cauſe any ſuch pit to be made and digged for Gravel, Sand or Sinders, as is abovesaid, ſhal within one moneth next after ſuch digging or pit made, cauſe the ſame to be filled and ſtopped up with Earth, at the coſts and charges of the Pariſhioners, upon pain to forfeit to the Owner or Owners of the ſoil wherein any ſuch pit ſhall be made and digged, for every default five marks, to be recovered by Action of Debt, as in other like Caſes of Debt hath been accuſtomed.

A Superviſor ſhall cauſe a pit digged for gravel, &c. to be ſtopped up again.

And foraſmuch as the High-wayes in ſundry places of this Realm be full of continual Springs and Water-courſes, by continual encreaſe and ſinking whereof into the ground, the ſaid wayes are not only very deep and dangerous; but alſo for the moſt part impoſſible to be amended and repaired in any good and ſufficient manner, without ſome further remedy provided for the ſame.

Turning of a water-courſe into anothers ground.

Be it therefore by the authority aforeſaid Enacted, That from henceforth every ſuch Superviſor and Superviſors, as is aforeſaid, ſhall by force of this Act, within the Pariſh or limits where he or they ſhall be Superviſors, have full power and authority to turn any ſuch water-courſe or Spring of water, being in any of the ſaid High-ways, into any Ditch or Ditches of the ſeveral Ground or Soil of any perſon or perſons whatſoever next adjoyning to the ſaid Ways, in ſuch manner and form, as by the diſcretions of the ſaid Superviſors ſhall be thought meeteſt and moſt convenient.

Fences and Ditches near the ways, ſhall be repaired, and the woods cut down.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the Heyes, Fences, Dikes or Hedges next adjoyning on either ſide to any high or common fairing way, ſhall from time to time be diked, ſcoured, repaired and kept low, and all Trees and Buſhes growing in the high-wayes, cut down by the Owner or Owners of the Ground or Soyl which ſhall be incloſed with the ſaid heyes, fences, dikes, or hedges aforeſaid, whereby the ſaid ways may be open, and the People have more ready and eaſie paſſage in the ſame: And whereas in the ſaid Statute made in the ſaid ſecond and third years of the Reign of the ſaid King Philip and Queen Mary; there are but four daies yearly appointed for the reparations and amendment of the ſaid High-ways: Be it further by this preſent Parliament enacted, That from henceforth there ſhall be yearly ſix dayes, during the time and force of this Eſtatute, obſerved, uſed and imployed in reparation and amendment of the ſaid High-ways, in like manner and form as the ſaid four daies were limited and appointed to be obſerved and kept, by the ſaid Eſtatute made in the ſecond and third years of King Philip and Queen Mary.

The Superviſors ſhall preſent every offence to the next Juſtice.

And be it further Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That from henceforth all and every ſuch Superviſor and Superviſors for the time being, within one moneth next after default or offence made, done or committed, by any perſon or perſons, contrary to the proviſion, purport and true meaning of the ſaid Eſtatute made in the ſecond and third years of King Philip and Queen Mary, or contrary to the proviſion, purport and true meaning of this preſent Act, ſhall preſent every ſuch default or offence, to the next Juſtice of Peace for the time being, upon pain to forfeit for every ſuch default or offence, in ſuch ſort not by them preſented, forty ſhillings. And that every ſuch Juſtice of Peace, to whom any ſuch default or offence ſhall be preſented, as is aforeſaid, ſhall certifie the ſame preſentment ſo to him made, at the next general Seſſions within the ſaid County then next after to be holden, upon pain to forfeit for not certifying of every ſuch preſentment, of every ſuch default or offence, as is aforeſaid, five pounds. And that the Juſtices of Peace of every County, where the ſaid defaults or offences ſhall be committed, ſhall immediately have authority to enquire of any ſuch default or offence committed within the limits of their Commiſſion, at every their Quarter Seſſions, and to aſſeſſe ſuch fines for the ſame, as they or two of them, whereof one to be of the Quorum, ſhall think meet.

Certificate of every offence preſented at the next Seſſions.

And be it further Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That every Juſtice of Peace ſhall have authority by this Statute, upon his own proper knowledg, in the open general Seſſions, to make preſentment of any high way not well and ſufficiently repaired and amended, or of any other default or offence committed and done within the County and limits of his Commiſſion, contrary to the proviſion and intent of this Statute, or the ſaid Statute made in the ſecond and third years of King Philip and Queen Mary. And that every ſuch preſentment made by any ſuch Juſtice of Peace, upon his own knowledg, as is aforeſaid, ſhall be as good and of the ſame force, ſtrength and effect in the Law, as if the ſame had been preſented, found and adjudged by the oath of twelve men. And that for every ſuch default ſo preſented, as is aforeſaid, the Juſtices of the Peace of the ſaid County ſhall immediately, at the ſaid general Seſſions, have authority to aſſeſſe ſuch fines, as to them, or two of them, whereof the one to be of the Quorum, ſhall be thought meet: Saving every perſon and perſons that ſhall be touched by any ſuch preſentment to have his or their lawful Travers to the ſame preſentment, as they might have upon any indictment of Treſpaſſe, or forcible Entry, by the Laws of this Realm, before the making of this Eſtatute.

Traverſe to a preſentment.

And that all ſuch fines, forfeitures and amerciaments to be aſſeſſed by the ſaid Juſtices of the Peace at their general Seſſions in any the caſes aforeſaid, ſhall be eſtreated by the Clerk of the Peace of the ſaid County, and ſhall be levied in ſuch manner and form, and imployed to ſuch uſes and intents, as in the ſaid Statute made in the ſecond and third years of King Philip and Queen Mary, is limited and appointed. This Act to continue for twenty years next after the beginning of this preſent Parliament, and from hence untill the end of the Parliament then next after to be holden, 29 El. 5. made perpetual, 18 El. 10. 27 El. 24.

Eſtreating & levying of the fines and amerciaments.

CAP. XIV.

The ſeveral penalties for forging of Deeds the firſt or ſecond time, &c.

FOraſmuch as the wicked, pernicious, and dangerous practice of making, forging and publiſhing falſe and untrue Charters, Evidences, Deeds and Writings, hath of late time been very much more practiſed, uſed and put in ure in all parts of this Realm, than in times paſſed: not only to the high diſpleaſure of God, but alſo to the great injury, wrong, hurt, damage, diſheriſon and utter undoing of divers the Queens Majeſties Subjects of this Realm, and to the great ſubverſion of Juſtice and Truth, which ſeemeth to have grown and happened chiefly by reaſon that the pains and puniſhments limited for ſuch great and notable offences, by the Lawes and Statutes of this Realm, before this time, have been, and yet are, ſo ſmall, mild, and eaſie; and ſuch evil People have not been, nor yet are, afraid to enterpriſe the practiſing and doing of ſuch offences:

The mildneſs of the Law hath increaſed the forging of Deeds.

Be it therefore Enacted by the Queens moſt excellent Majeſty, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That if any perſon or perſons whatſoever, after the firſt day of June, now next coming, upon his or their own head and imagination, or by falſe conſpiracy and fraud with others, ſhall wittingly, ſubtilly, and falſly forge or make, or ſubtilly cauſe, or wittingly aſſent to be forged or made, any falſe Deed, Charter, or Writing ſealed, Court-roll, or the Will of any perſon or perſons in writing, to the intent that the ſtate of Freehold or Inheritance of any perſon or perſons, of, in, or to, any Lands, Tenements or Hereditaments, Freehold or Copyhold, or the right, title, or intereſt of any perſon or perſons, of, in, or to the ſame, or any of them, ſhall or may be moleſted, troubled, defeated, recovered [a] or charged: or after the ſaid firſt day of June, ſhall pronounce, publiſh, or ſhew forth in evidence, any ſuch falſe and forged Deed, Charter, Writing, Court-Roll or Will, as true, knowing the ſame to be falſe and forged, as is aforeſaid, to the intent above remembred, and ſhall be thereof convicted either upon action or actions of forger of falſe Deeds, to be founded upon this Statute at the ſuit of the party grieved, or otherwiſe, according to the order and due courſe of the Laws of this Realm, or upon bill or information to be exhibited into the Court of the Star-Chamber, according to the order and uſe of that Court: ſhall pay unto the party grieved, his double coſts and damages to be found or aſſeſſed in that Court where ſuch conviction ſhall be, and alſo ſhall be ſet upon the Pillory in ſome open Market Town, or other open place, and there to have both his ears cut off, and alſo his noſtrils to be ſlit and cut, and ſeared with a hot Iron, ſo as they may remain for a perpetual note or mark of his falſhood, and ſhall forfeit to the Queen our Soveraign Lady, her Heirs and Succeſſors, the whole iſſues and profits of his Lands and Tenements during his life, and alſo ſhall ſuffer and have perpetual impriſonment during his life. For remedy whereof, Be it ordained and enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That if any perſon and perſons, after the firſt day of May next coming, do adviſedly and directly advance, publiſh, and ſet forth by writing, printing, ſinging, or any other ſpeech or deed to any perſon or perſons, any fond, phantaſtical, or falſe prophecie, upon or by the occaſion of any arms, fields, beaſts, badges, or other like things accuſtomed in arms, cognizances, or ſignets, or upon, or by reaſon of any time, year or day, name, bloodſhed or warr, to the intent thereby to make any rebellion, inſurrection, diſſention, loſſe of life, or other diſturbance within this Realm, and other the Queens Dominions: that then every ſuch perſon, being thereof lawfully convicted, according to the due courſe of the Lawes of this Realm, for every ſuch offence, ſhall ſuffer impriſonment of his body, by the ſpace of one year, without bail or mainpriſe, and ſhall forfeit for every ſuch offence, the ſum of ten pounds.

CAP. XVII.

The Statute of 25 H. 8. 6. whereby the committing of Buggery with mankind or beaſt, is made felony; revived.

25 H. 8. 6.

Where in the Parliament begun at London, the third day of November in the one and twentieth year of the late King of moſt famous memory, King Henry the eight, and after by prorogation holden at Weſtminſter, in the five and twentieth year of the raign of the ſaid late King, there was one Act and Statute made, intituled: An Act for the puniſhment of the vice of Buggery, whereby the ſaid deteſtable vice was made Felony, as in the ſaid Eſtatute more at large it doth and may appear. For as much as the ſaid Statute concerning the puniſhment of the ſaid crime and offence of Buggery, ſtandeth at this preſent repealed and void by vertue of the Statute of Repeal made, in the firſt year of the reign of the late Queen Mary: Sithence which Repeal ſo had and made, divers evil diſpoſed perſons, have been the more bold to commit the ſaid moſt horrible and deteſtable vice of Buggery aforeſaid, to the high diſpleaſure of Almighty God.

The Stat. of 25 H. 8. 6. made againſt the vice of Buggery, revived.

Be it enacted, ordained, and eſtabliſhed by the Queen our Soveraign Lady, and by the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That the ſaid Statute before mentioned, made in the five and twentieth year of the ſaid late King Henry the eight, for the puniſhment of the ſaid deteſtable vice of Buggery, and every branch, clauſe, article, and ſentence therein contained, ſhall from and after the firſt day of June next coming, be revived, and from thenceforth ſhall ſtand, remain, and be in full force, ſtrength, and effect for ever, in ſuch manner, form and condition, as the ſame Statute was at the day of the death of the ſaid late King Henry the eight; the ſaid Statute of Repeal made in the ſaid firſt year of the ſaid late Queen Mary, or any words general or ſpecial therein contained, or any other Act or Acts, thing or things to the contrary notwithſtanding. Stat. 2 & 3 Ed. 6. 29. Coke pla. fol. 391.

CAP. XVIII.

The authority of the Lord Keeper, and the Lord Chancellor is, ever was and ought to be, one.

VVhere ſome queſtion hath of late riſen, Whether like place, authority, preheminence, juriſdiction, and power doth belong, and of right ought to belong to the Office of the Lord Keeper of the great Seal of England for the time being, as of right doth and ought to belong to the Office of the Lord Chancellor of England for the time being, or not:

The authority of the Lord Keeper of the great Seal, and the Lord Chancellor, is all one.

Co. Inſt. 4 Part. 87.

For declaration whereof, and in avoiding ſuch queſtion hereafter: Be it enacted and declared by the Queen our Soveraign Lady, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That the Common Law of this Realm is, and alwayes was, and ought to be taken, that the Keeper of the great Seal of England for the time being, hath alwayes had, uſed, and executed, and of right ought to have, uſe, and execute, and from henceforth may have, perceive, take uſe, and execute, as of right belonging to the Office of the Keeper of the great Seal of England for the time being, the ſame and like place, authority, preheminence, juriſdiction, execution of Lawes and all other cuſtoms, commodities and advantages, as the Lord Chancellor of England for the time being lawfully uſed, had, and ought to have uſe, and execute, as of right belonging to the Office of the Lord Chancellor of England for the time being, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, and as if the ſame Keeper of the Great Seal for the time being, were Lord Chancellor of England.

CAP. XIX.

In the Statute of 1 Ed. 6. 5. touching carrying of horſes out of this branch ſhall be repealed, viz. (for their only occupation in their journeys, and not to the intent to ſell.)

1 Ed. 6. 5.

Where in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, in the firſt year of the reign of the late King Edward the ſixth, brother to our Soveraign Lady the Queens Majeſty that now is, amongſt divers other Statutes, there was one Act and Statute made againſt the carrying and conveying of any Horſes, Geldings, or Mares out of this Realm: In which Act, among other things, there is one Proviſo or Branch contained in theſe words hereafter following.

lowing. That is to ſay, Provided alwayes, That it ſhall be lawful to every of the Kings Subjects, that ſhall paſſe over beyond the Sea to ſhip and carry with them Horſes or Geldings, for the only occupation in their journeys, and not to the intent to ſell the ſame beyond the Sea, and that intent to be judged by Oath of him or them that ſo will carry over any Horſe or Gelding; which Oath ſhall be taken before the Cuſtomers or Searcher, or their deputies of every ſuch Port where the ſame Horſe or Gelding ſhall be ſhipped, before the ſhipping thereof, as by the ſame Act and Proviſo it doth and may appear. And although the ſame Act and Statute, in all parts thereof (except the ſaid Proviſo) is very beneficial and profitable for this Realm: yet neverthéleſſe, by colour of the ſaid Proviſo and Branch contained in the ſaid Statute, many evil diſpoſed perſons, of a covetous and greedy deſire, do daily tranſport out of this Realm very great number of Horſes and Geldings, and do exchange and ſell the ſame in the parts beyond the Seas, for their own private lucre and gain. And becauſe the trial of ſuch offences is by force of the ſaid Proviſo and Branch mentioned in the ſaid Statute, no otherwiſe to be tryed or judged, but only by the oath of the offendor himſelf; therefore the offendors therein do eſcape unpuniſhed, and thereby many perſons are greatly encouraged daily to commit the like offences, contrary to the true meaning and intent of the ſaid Statute.

A Repeal of a Proviſo contained in the Statute of 1 Ed. 6. 5. touching the tranſporting of Horſes.

For redreſſe whereof, Be it Enacted by the Queens Majeſty, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by authority of the ſame, That all the ſaid Proviſo and Branch before rehearſed and mentioned, and contained within the ſaid Act and Statute, and every Article and Sentence contained within the ſaid Proviſo, ſhall from henceforth be repealed, made void, and of none effect: And that all the reſidue of the ſaid Act and Statute ſhall ſtand, remain, and be in full force and ſtrength: Any thing herein ſpecified to the contrary notwithſtanding.

CAP. XX.

How Vagabonds, calling themſelves Egyptians, ſhall be puniſhed.

Whereas ſithence the Act made in the firſt and ſecond years of the late King Philip and Queen Mary, for the puniſhment of that falſe and ſubtile company of Vagabonds, calling themſelves Egyptians, there is a ſcruple and doubt riſen, whether ſuch perſons as being born within this Realm of England, or other the Queens Highneſſe Dominions, and are or ſhall become of the fellowſhip or company of the ſaid vagabonds, by transforming or diſguiſing themſelves in their apparel, or in a certain counterfeit ſpeech or behaviour, are puniſhable by the ſaid Act in like manner as others of that ſort are, being ſtrangers born, and tranſported into this Realm of England:

The Stat. of 1 & 2 P. & M. 4. concerning Egyptians, ſhall continue in force.

Therefore for the avoiding of all doubts and ambiguities in that behalf, and to the intent that all ſuch ſturdy and falſe Vagabonds of that ſort, living only upon the ſpoyl of the ſimple people, may be condignly met withal and puniſhed: Be it enacted by the Queen our Soveraign Lady, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That the ſaid Statute made in the firſt and ſecond years of the ſaid late King and Queen, concerning thoſe Vagabonds calling themſelves Egyptians, ſhall continue, remain and be in full force, ſtrength and effect.

It ſhall be felony for Egyptians, or others counterfeiting themſelves like to them, to remain a moneth in this Realm.

And yet moreover, be it Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all and every perſon and perſons, which from and after the firſt day of May now next enſuing, ſhall be ſeen or found within this Realm of England or Wales, in any company or fellowſhip of Vagabonds, commonly called, or calling themſelves Egyptians, or counterfeiting, transforming or diſguiſing themſelves by their apparel, ſpeech, or other behaviour, like unto ſuch Vagabonds, commonly called, or calling themſelves Egyptians, and ſo ſhall or do continue and remain in the ſame, either at one time, or at ſeveral times, by the ſpace of one moneth: that then the ſaid perſon or perſons, ſhall by vertue of this Act, be deemed and judged a felon and felons, and ſhall therefore ſuffer pains of death, loſſe of lands and goods, as in caſes of felony by the order of the Common Laws of this Realm, and ſhall upon the triall of them, or any of them therein, be tryed in the County, and by the inhabitants of the County or place where they or he ſhall be apprehended or taken, and not per medietatem linguæ, and ſhall loſe the priviledg and benefit of Sanctuary and Clergy.

Co. Inſt. 4 Part, 87.

To what perſons this Act ſhall not extend.

Provided alwayes, and be it Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act ſhall not in any wiſe extend to any child or children being within the age of fourteen years, nor to any of the ſaid perſons being in priſon the laſt day of this preſent Parliament, ſo that he or they ſo being in priſon, do within fourteen dayes next after his or their delivery out of priſon, either depart out of this Realm of England and Wales, or put him or themſelves to ſome honeſt ſervice, or exerciſe ſome lawful work, trade, or occupation, and utterly forſake the ſaid idle and falſe trade, converſation and behaviour of the ſaid counterfeit and diſguiſed Vagabonds, commonly called, or calling themſelves Egyptians.

None born in the Realm, compellable to depart thence.

Provided alſo, and be it Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the ſaid Act made in the firſt and ſecond years of the ſaid late King and Queen, ſhall not extend to compell any perſon or perſons born within any the Queens Majeſties Dominions, to depart out of this Realm of England or Wales, but onely to binde them and every of them, to leave their ſaid naughty, idle, and ungodly life and company, and to place themſelves in ſome honeſt ſervice, or to exerciſe themſelves at home with their parents, or elſewhere honeſtly in ſome lawfull work, trade or occupation: Any thing mentioned in this ſaid former Act to the contrary hereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

CAP. XXI.

How perſons for unlawful fiſhing, hunting in a Park, and taking of Hawks or Hawks eggs out of anothers ground, ſhall be puniſhed.

CAP. XXIII.

The order of awarding and returning the Writ of Excommunicato capiendo: what is to be done upon parties appearance: and what if he cannot be found; and the cauſe of awarding this Writ.

The cauſe of the not executing of the Writ of Excommunicato capiendo. Cook. Inſt. 4. Part, 219. Cro El. 144.

Foraſmuch as divers perſons offending in many great crimes and offences appertaining meerly to the juriſdiction and determination of the Eccleſiaſtical Courts and Judges of this Realm, are many times unpuniſhed for lack and want of the good and due execution of the Writ de Excommunicato capiendo, directed to the Sheriff of any County, for the taking and apprehending of any ſuch offendors. The great abuſe whereof, as it ſhould ſeem, hath grown, for that the ſaid writ is not returnable in any Court that might have the judgment of the well executing and ſerving of the ſaid writ, according to the contents thereof; but hitherto, have been left only to the diſcretion of the Sheriffs and their deputies, by whoſe negligences and defaults, for the moſt part, the ſaid writ is not executed upon the offendors as it ought to be. By reaſon whereof, ſuch offendors be greatly encouraged to continue their ſinful and criminous life, much to the diſpleaſure of Almighty God, and to the great contempt of the Eccleſiaſtical Lawes of this Realm.

Awarding and returning of Excommunicato capiendo.

Wherefore, for the redreſſe thereof, be it enacted by the Queens moſt excellent Majeſty with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That from and after the firſt day of May next comming, every Writ of Excommunicato capiendo, that ſhall be granted and awarded out of the high Court of Chancery, againſt any perſon or perſons within the Realm of England, ſhall be made in the time of the Term, and returnable before the Queens highneſſe, her heirs and ſucceſſors, in the Court commonly called the Kings Bench in the Term next after the Teſte of the ſame Writ, and the ſame Writ ſhall be made to contain at the leaſt twenty dayes between the Teſte and the return thereof: And after the ſame Writ ſhall be ſo made and ſealed, that then the ſaid Writ ſhall be forthwith brought into the ſaid Court of the Kings-Bench, and there in the preſence of the Juſtices, ſhall be opened and delivered of Record to the Sheriff or other Officer, to whom the ſerving and execution thereof ſhall appertain, or to his or their deputy or deputies. And if afterwards it ſhall or may appear to the Juſtices of the ſame Court for the time being, that the ſame Writ ſo delivered of Record be not duly returned before them at the day of the return thereof, or that any other default or negligence hath been uſed or had in the not well ſerving and executing of the ſaid Writ: that then the Juſtices of the ſaid Court ſhall and may by authority of this Act aſſeſſe ſuch amerciament upon the ſaid Sheriff or other Officer, in whom ſuch default ſhall appear as to the diſcretion of the ſaid Juſtices ſhall be thought meet and convenient; which amerciament ſo aſſeſſed ſhall be eſtreated into the Court of Exchequer, as other amerciaments have been uſed.

What ſhall be done with the body of the excommunicate.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the Sheriff or other Officer, to whom ſuch Writ of Excommunicato capiendo, or other proceſſe by vertue of this Act, ſhall be directed, ſhall not in any wiſe be compelled, to bring the body of ſuch perſon or perſons, as ſhall be named in the ſaid Writ or proceſſe, into the ſaid Court of the Kings-Bench at the day of the return thereof: but ſhall only return the ſame Writ and Proceſſe thither, with declaration briefly how and in what manner he hath ſerved and executed the ſame, to the intent that thereupon the ſaid Juſtices may then further therein proceed, according to the tenour and effect of this preſent Act.

If the Sheriff return Non eſt inventus.

Capias 1. Cro. Jac. 566.

And if the ſaid Sheriff, or other Officer to whom the execution of the ſaid Writ ſhall ſo appertain do or ſhall return that the party or parties named in the ſaid Writ cannot be found within his Bailywike: that then the ſaid Juſtices of the Kings-Bench for the time being, upon every ſuch return ſhall award one Writ of Capias againſt the ſaid perſon or perſons named in the ſaid Writ of Excommunicato capiendo, returnable in the ſame Court in the Term time, two months at leaſt next after the Teſte thereof, with a Proclamation to be contained within the ſaid Writ of Capias, that the Sheriff or other Officers, to whom the ſaid Writ ſhall be directed, in the full County Court, or elſe at the general Aſſiſes and Gaol delivery to be holden within the ſaid County or at a quarter Seſſions to be holden before the Juſtices of the Peace within the ſaid County, ſhall make open Proclamation ten dayes at the leaſt before the return, that the party or parties named in the ſaid Writ, ſhall within ſix dayes next after ſuch Proclamation, yield his or their body or bodies to the priſon of the ſaid Sheriff, or other ſuch Officer, there to remain as a priſoner, according to the tenor and effect of the firſt Writ of Excommunicato capiendo upon pain of forfeiture of ten pounds. And thereupon after ſuch Proclamation had, and the ſaid ſix dayes paſt and expired, then the ſaid Sheriff, or other Officer to whom ſuch Writ of Capias ſhall be directed, ſhall make return of the ſame Writ of Capias into the ſaid Court of the Kings-Bench, of all that he hath done in the execution thereof, and whether the party named in the ſaid Writ have yielded his body to priſon or not.

Ten pounds forfeiture for not appearance upon the firſt Capias.

And if upon the return of the ſaid Sheriff, it ſhall appear, that the party or parties named in the ſame Writ of Capias, or any of them, have not yielded their bodies to the Gaol and priſon of the ſaid Sheriff or other Officer, according to the effect of the ſame Proclamation: that then every ſuch perſon that ſo ſhall make default, ſhall for every ſuch default forfeit to the Queens Highneſſe, her heirs and ſucceſſors, ten pounds, which ſhall likewiſe be eſtreated by the ſaid Juſtices into the ſaid Court of Exchequer, in ſuch manner and form as fines and amerciaments there taxed and aſſeſſed, are uſed to be.

2. Capias.

And thereupon the ſaid Juſtices of the Kings-Bench ſhall alſo award forth one other Writ of Capias againſt the ſaid perſon or perſons that ſo ſhall be returned to have made default with ſuch like Proclamation as was contained in the firſt Capias, and a pain of twenty pounds, to be mentioned in the ſaid ſecond Writ and Proclamation. And the Sheriff or other Officer to whom the ſaid ſecond Writ of Capias ſhall be ſo directed, ſhall ſerve and execute the ſaid writ, in ſuch like manner and form as before is expreſſed for the ſerving and executing of the ſaid firſt Writ of Capias. And if the Sheriff or other Officer ſhall return upon the ſaid ſecond Capias, that he hath made the Proclamation according to the tenor and effect of the ſame Writ, and that the party hath not yielded his body to priſon, according to the tenor of the ſaid Proclamation: that then the ſaid party that ſo ſhall make default, ſhall for ſuch his contempt and default, forfeit to the Queens Highneſſe, her Heirs and Succeſſors, the ſumme of twenty pounds; which ſaid ſum of twenty pounds, the ſaid Juſtices of the Kings-Bench for the time being ſhall likewiſe cauſe to be eſtreated into the ſaid Court of Exchequer, in manner and form aforeſaid.

Twenty pound forfeiture upon the ſecond Capias.

3. Capias.

And then the ſaid Juſtices ſhall likewiſe award forth one other Writ of Capias againſt the ſaid party, with ſuch like Proclamation and pain of forfeiture, as was contained in the ſaid ſecond Writ of Capias: and the Sheriff or other Officer to whom the ſaid third Writ of Capias ſhall ſo be directed ſhall ſerve and execute the ſaid third Writ of Capias, in ſuch like manner and form, as before in this Act is expreſſed and declared, for the ſerving and executing of the ſaid firſt and ſecond Writs of Capias. And if the Sheriff or other Officer to whom the execution of the ſaid third Writ ſhall appertain, do make return of the ſaid third Writ of Capias, that the party upon ſuch Proclamation hath not yielded his body to priſon, according to the tenor thereof: that then every ſuch party, for every ſuch contempt and default ſhall likewiſe forfeit to the Queens Majeſty, her heirs and ſucceſſors, other xx. li. which ſum of xx. li. ſhall likewiſe be eſtreated into the ſaid Court of the Exchequer, in manner and form aforeſaid: and thereupon the ſaid Juſtices of the Kings-Bench ſhall likewiſe award forth one Writ of Capias againſt the ſaid party, with like Proclamation, and like pain of forfeiture of xx. li. And that alſo the ſaid Juſtices ſhall have authority by this Act, infinitely to award ſuch Proceſſe of Capias, with ſuch like Proclamation and pain of forfeiture of xx. l. as is before limited, againſt the ſaid party that ſo ſhall make default, in yielding of his body to the priſon of the Sheriff, until ſuch time as by return of ſome of the ſaid Writs before the ſaid Juſtices, it ſhall and may appear, that the ſaid party hath yielded himſelf to the cuſtody of the ſaid Sheriff or other Officer, according to the tenour of the ſaid Proclamation, and that the party upon every default and contempt by him made, againſt the Proclamation of any of the ſaid Writs ſo infinitely to be awarded againſt him, ſhall incur like pain and forfeiture, of xx. li. which ſhall likewiſe be eſtreated in manner and form aforeſaid.

xx. li. forfeit upon the third Capias.

Awarding of Capias infinitely, and xx. li. forfeit upon every of them.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That when any perſon or perſons ſhall yield his or their body or bodies to the hands of the Sheriff or other Officer, upon any of the ſaid Writs of Capias: that then the ſame party or parties that ſhall ſo yield themſelves, ſhall remain in the priſon and cuſtody of the ſaid Sheriff or other Officer, without bail, baſton, or mainpriſe, in ſuch like manner and form to all intents and purpoſes, as he or they ſhould or ought to have done, if he or they had been apprehended and taken upon the ſaid Writ of Excomunicato capiendo.

The offendor yielding his body, ſhall be committed to priſon.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any Sheriff or other Officer, by whom the ſaid Writ of Capias, or any of them, ſhall be returned, as is aforeſaid, do make untrue return upon any of the ſaid Writs, that the party named in the ſaid Writ hath not yielded his body upon the ſaid Proclamations, or any of them, where indeed the party did yield himſelf according to the effect of the ſame: That then every ſuch Sheriff or other Officer, for every ſuch falſe and untrue return ſhall forfeit to the party grieved and damnified by the ſaid return, the ſum of xl. li. for the which ſum of xl. li. the ſaid party grieved ſhall have his recovery and due remedy by action of debt, bill, plaint, or information, in any of the Queens Courts of Record, in which action, bill, plaint, or information, no eſſoine, protection or wager of Law ſhall be admitted or allowed for the party defendant.

The forfeiture of a Sheriff for a falſe return.

Saving and reſerving to all Archbiſhops and Biſhops, and all others having authority to certifie any perſon excommunicated, and like authority to accept and receive the ſubmiſſion and ſatisfaction of the ſaid perſon ſo excommunicated, in manner and form heretofore uſed, and him to abſolve and releaſe, and the ſame to ſignifie, as heretofore it hath been accuſtomed, to the Queens Majeſty, her heirs and ſucceſſors, into the high Court of Chancery, and thereupon to have ſuch Writs, for the deliverance of the ſaid perſon ſo abſolved and releaſed from the Sheriffs cuſtody or priſon, as heretofore they or any of them had, or of right ought or might have had: Any thing in this preſent Statute ſpecified or contained to the contrary hereof, in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

The Biſhops authority to receive ſubmiſſion, and deliver the excommunicate.

Provided alwayes, That in Wales, the Counties Palatines of Lancaſter, Cheſter, Durham, and Ely, and in the Cinque-Ports, being juriſdictions and places exempt, where the Queens Majeſties Writ doth not run, and proceſſe of Capias from thence not returnable into the ſaid Court of the Kings-Bench, after any Significavit being of Record in the ſaid Court of Chancery, the tenour of ſuch Significavit by Mittimus ſhall be ſent to ſuch of the head-Officers, of the ſaid Country of Wales, Counties Palatines, and places exempt, within whoſe offices, charge, or juriſdiction the offendors ſhall be reſiant; that is to ſay, to the Chancellor or Chamberlain for the ſaid County Palatine of Lancaſter and Cheſter; and for the Cinque-Ports to the Lord Warden of the ſame, and for Wales and Ely, and the County Palatine of Durham, to the chief Juſtice or Juſtices there. And thereupon every of theſaid Juſtices and Officers to whom ſuch tenor of Significavit with Mittimus ſhall be directed and delivered, ſhall by vertue of this Eſtatute have power and authority to make like proceſſe to the inferiour officer and officers to whom the execution of proceſſe there doth appertain; returnable before the Juſtices there ſit at their next Seſſion or Courts, two months at the leaſt after the Teſte of every ſuch proceſſe. So alwayes as in every degree they ſhall proceed in their Seſſions and Courts againſt the offendors, as the Juſtices of the ſaid Court of Kings-Bench are limited by the tenour of this Act, in Term-times to do and execute.

Certain perſons diſcharged of the penalty aforeſaid.

CAP. XXV

In certain caſes, a Tales de Circumſtantibus may be granted in the 12 Shires in Wales, and in the County Palatine of Cheſter, &c. by the Juſtices at their great Seſſions.

A rehearſal of the Statute of 35 H. 8. 6. touching filling up a Jury de Circumſtantibus.

Where in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, in the xxxv. year of the reign of our Soveraign Lord King Henry the eight, Father to our moſt dear Soveraign Lady the Queens Majeſty that now is, one wholeſome and profitable Act and Eſtatute, amongſt other was then eſtabliſhed and enacted, entituled by the name of an Act concerning the appearance of Jurors in Niſi Prius: where amongſt other things in the act, it was eſtabliſhed, That where a full Jury, returned betwixt party and party, did not appear before the Juſtices of Aſſiſe, or Niſi Prius, or elſe after appearance of a full Jury by challenge of any of the parties, the Jury was like to remain untaken for default of Jurors, that the ſame Juſtices, upon requeſt made by the party Plaintiff or Demandant, ſhould have authority by vertue of the ſame Act, to command the Sheriff or other Miniſter or Miniſters, to whom the making of the ſaid return ſhould appertain, to name and appoint, as often as need ſhould require, ſo many of ſuch other able perſons of the ſaid County, then preſent at the ſaid Aſſiſe, or Niſi Prius, as ſhould make up a full Jury: which perſons ſo to be named and impannelled by ſuch Sheriffs, or other Miniſter or miniſters, ſhould be added to the former pannel, and their names annexed to the ſame, and further, as in the ſame Act more plainly may appear. Which ſaid beneficial Act doth not extend unto the xii. Shires of Wales, ne to the County Palatine of Cheſter, nor to the County Palatine of Lancaſter, nor to the County Palatine of Durham, by reaſon whereof, many Juries remain untaken betwixt the parties, what for lack of appearance of Jurors, and ſome becauſe of challenges, to the great hinderance of Juſtice, and great expences and charges to the parties.

Tales de Circumſtantibus ſhall be grantable in the 12. Shires of Wales, Cheſhire, Lancaſhire, Durham.

For reformation whereof, Be it enacted by the Queen our Soveraign Lady, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That in every of the Shires of Wales, that is to ſay, Pembrok, Carmarthen, Cardigan, Brecknock, Radnor, Glamorgan, Mountgomery, Denbigh, Flint, Merioneth, Angleſey, Carnarvon, and in the Palatine of Cheſter, and in the ſaid County Palatine of Durham, and in the ſaid County Palatine of Lancaſter, where a full Jury ſhall not appear before the Juſtices of the great Seſſion in any of the ſaid Shires or Counties Palatines, or their deputies there: or elſe after appearance of a full Jury, by challenge of any of the parties, the Jury is like to remain untaken for default of Jurors: that then the ſame Juſtices, in every of the ſaid Shires and Counties Palatines, for the time being, or their deputy or deputies, upon requeſt made by the party plaintiff or demandant ſhall have full authority by vertue of this Act, to command the Sheriff, or other Miniſter or Miniſters, to whom the making of the ſaid return ſhal appertain, to name and appoint as often as need ſhall require, ſo many of ſuch other able perſons of the ſaid Counties, then preſent at the ſaid great Seſſions, as ſhall make up a full Jury: which perſons ſo to be named and impanelled by ſuch Sheriffs, or other Miniſter or Miniſters, ſhall be added to the former Pannel, and their names annexed to the ſame. And that every of the parties ſhall or may have his or their Challenge to the Jurors ſo named, added, and annexed to the ſaid former Panel, by the ſaid Sheriff or other Miniſter or Miniſters, in ſuch wiſe as if they had been impannelled upon the Venire facias awarded to try the ſaid Iſſue. And that the ſaid Juſtices, and every of them, and their deputy or deputies, ſhall and may proceed to the tryal of every ſuch Iſſue with thoſe perſons that were before impannelled and returned, and with thoſe newly added and annexed to the ſaid former Panel, by vertue of this Act, in ſuch wiſe as they might or ought to have done, if all the ſaid Jurors had been returned upon the Writ of Venire facias awarded awarded to try the the ſaid Iſſue. And that all and every ſuch tryal had, ſhall be as good and effectual in the Law, to all intents, conſtructions, and purpoſes, as if ſuch tryal had been had and tryed by xii. of the Jurors impannelled and returned upon the Writ of Venire facias, awarded to try ſuch Iſſue. And in caſe ſuch perſons as the ſaid Sheriff, Miniſter or Miniſters ſhall name and appoint, as is aforeſaid, or any of them, after they ſhall be called, be preſent, and do not appear, or after his or their appearance, do wilfully withdraw him or themſelves from the preſence of the Court: that then ſuch Juſtices, or their deputies, ſhall and may ſet ſuch fine upon every ſuch Juror making default, or wilfully withdrawing himſelf, as aforeſaid as they ſhall think good by their diſcretions, the ſaid fine to be levied in ſuch manner and form, as Iſſues forfeited and loſt by Jurors for default of their appearance, as is provided by the Law and Cuſtome of the ſaid Countries of Wales, and Counties Palatines aforeſaid, where ſuch Iſſues are forfeited.

A Juror newly impannelled, doth withdraw himſelf.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That where any Jury that ſhall be returned by the Sheriff, or other Miniſter or Miniſters, ſhall be made full, by the commandement of the ſaid Juſtices, or their Deputies, by vertue of this preſent Act, that yet neverthleſſe ſuch perſons as were returned in the ſaid Panel, by the Sheriff, or other Miniſter or Miniſters, to try any ſuch Iſſue, that ſhall not appear, but make default, ſhall loſe the Iſſues upon them returned, in ſuch wiſe, as though the ſame Jury had remained for default of Jurors.

The new Jurors making default, ſhall loſe their iſſues.

Provided alwayes and be it further enacted, That upon a reaſonable excuſe, for the default of appearance of any Juror or Jurors, ſufficiently proved before the Juſtices of the great Seſſions, or their Deputies in the Countries and Counties Palatines aforeſaid, at the day of their appearance, by the Oaths of two lawful and honeſt witneſſes, that the ſame Juſtices ſhal have authority by their diſcretions to diſcharge every ſuch Juror of every ſuch forfeiture of Iſſues upon him returned, and that the ſaid Sheriff or Sheriffs, or other Miniſter or Miniſters, having commandment by the ſaid Juſtices to omit the returning of ſuch Iſſues, as is aforeſaid, upon ſuch Juror or Jurors, ſhall be therein diſcharged of the penalties aforeſaid for the non-returning of the ſaid Iſſues, and that yet notwithſtanding the ſaid return to be good and effectual in the Law: Any Law, Uſage, Ordinance, or Cuſtom to the contrary notwithſtanding.

Upon a reaſonable excuſe, Jurors ſhall be diſcharged of iſſues.

Provided alſo, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if the ſaid Juſtices, or their deputies, afore whom any ſuch Jury ſhould appear in the Shires or Counties Palatines where ſuch Iſſue is to be tried, do not come at the day and place appointed: that then every one of the ſame Jurors ſhall be diſcharged for forfeiting of any Iſſues upon him returned in the ſame Writ. And the Sheriff, or other Miniſter or Miniſters, ſhall be likewiſe diſcharged of the penalties of this Eſtatute, for the non-returning of ſuch Iſſues, as are before limited in this Act: Any Article or Sentence herein contained to the contrary notwithſtanding.

If the Juſtices come not, the Jury ſhall be diſcharged of their iſſues.

And alſo be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if upon any ſuch Writ of Habeas corpora, or Diſtringas, Iſſues be returned upon any Hundredors, Juror or Jurors, by the Sheriffs or other miniſter or miniſters, to whom the execution of the ſame Writ or Writs ſhall appertain, whereas the ſame Hundredors and Jurors ſhall not be lawfully ſummoned, warned or diſtrained in that behalf: that then every ſuch Sheriff, or other Miniſter or Miniſters aforeſaid, ſhall loſe for every ſuch offence ſo committed, double ſo much as the ſaid Iſſues returned upon ſuch Hundredors or Jurors not lawfully ſummoned, warned, or diſtrained, ſhall amount unto: the moiety of all which forfeitures contained in this preſent Act, other than the iſſues to be returned upon the Jurors, as is aforeſaid, ſhall be to the Queen our Soveraign Lady, her Heirs and Succeſſors, and the other half to him that will ſue for the ſame, by action of debt, bill, plaint, or information in the Queen her Graces great Court within the ſaid County where ſuch forfeiture ſhall happen to be, before the ſaid Juſtices, his or their deputy or deputies, in which no wager of Law, eſſoine or protection ſhall be allowed ne admitted. Saving to all manner of perſons, and bodies politick and corporate, their Heirs and Succeſſors, having lawful right, title, and intereſt to have ſuch iſſues to be before any ſuch Juſtices or their deputies, at any time or times hereafter loſt and forfeited, all ſuch right, title, and intereſt, as they or any of them ſhould or ought to have had to ſuch iſſues to be loſt and forfeited, as though this Act had never been had or made.

CAP. I.

All Acts made by any perſon ſince, 1 El. for the conſecrating, inveſting, &c. of any Arch-biſhop or Biſhop ſhall be good,

A queſtion whether the making of Biſhops were duly and orderly done.

FOraſmuch as divers queſtions by overmuch boldneſſe of ſpeech and talk, amongſt many of the common ſort of People, being unlearned, hath lately grown upon the making and conſecrating of Archbiſhops and Biſhops within this Realm, whether the ſame were and be duly and orderly done according to the Law or not, which is much tending to the ſlander of all the ſtate of the Clergy, being one of the greateſt ſtates of this Realm: Therefore for the avoiding of ſuch ſlanderous ſpeech, and to the intent that every man that is willing to know the truth, may plainly underſtand that the ſame evil ſpeech and talk is not grounded upon any juſt matter or cauſe: It is thought convenient hereby partly to touch ſuch authorities, as do allow and approve the making and conſecrating of the ſame Archbiſhops and Biſhops to be duely and orderly done, according to the Laws of this Realm, and thereupon further to provide for the more ſurety thereof, as hereafter ſhall be expreſſed.

26 H. 8. 1.

Firſt, it is very well known to all degrees of this Realm, that the late King of moſt famous memory, King Henry the eight, as well by all the Clergy then of this Realm, in their ſeveral convocations, as alſo by all the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons aſſembled in divers of his Parliaments, was juſtly and rightfully recogniſed and knowledged to have the ſupream power, juriſdiction, order, rule and authority, over all the Eſtate Eccleſiaſtical of the ſame, and the ſame power, juriſdiction and authority did uſe accordingly: And that alſo the ſaid late King in the five and twentieth year of his Reign, did by authority of (25 H. 8. 20.) Parliament, amongſt other things, ſet forth a certain order of the manner and form how Archbiſhops and Biſhops within this Realm, and other his Dominions, ſhould be elected and made, as by the ſame more plainly appeareth: And that alſo the late King of worthy memory, King Edward the ſixth, did lawfully ſucceed the ſaid late King Henry his Father, in the Imperial Crown of this Realm, and did juſtly poſſeſſe and enjoy all the ſame power, juriſdiction and authority before mentioned, as a thing to him deſcended with the ſame Imperial Crown, and ſo uſed the ſame during his life: And that alſo the ſaid late King Edward the (5 & 6 Ed. 6. 1.) ſixth, in his time, by authority of Parliament, cauſed a godly and vertuous Book, entituled; The Book of Common Prayer, and adminiſtration of Sacraments, and other Rites and Ceremonies in the Church of England, to be made and ſet forth, not only for one uniform order of Service, Common Prayer, and the adminiſtration of Sacraments to be uſed within this Realm, and other his Dominions, but alſo did add and put to the ſame Book, a very good and godly order, of the manner and form how Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Prieſts, Deacons, and Miniſters ſhould from time to time be conſecrated, made and ordered, within this Realm, and other his Dominions, as by the ſame more plainly will and may appear. And although in the time of the late Queen Mary, as well the ſaid Act and Statute made in the five and twentieth (1 & 2 P. & M. 8.) year of the Reign of the ſaid late King Henry the eighth, as alſo the ſeveral Acts and Statutes made in the ſecond, third, fourth, fifth, and ſixth years of the Reign of the ſaid late King Edward, for the authorizing and allowing of the ſaid Book of Common Prayer, and other the premiſſes, amongſt divers other Acts and Statutes, touching the ſaid ſupream Authority, were repealed: Yet nevertheleſſe, at the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, in the firſt year of the Reign of our Soveraign Lady the Queens Majeſty that now is, by one other (1 Eliz. 1.) Act and Statute there made, all ſuch juriſdictions, priviledges, ſuperiorities, and preheminences Spiritual and Eccleſiaſtical, as by any Spiritual or Eccleſiaſtical power or authority, hath heretofore been, or may lawfully be uſed over the Eccleſiaſtical eſtate of this Realm, and the order, reformation and correction of the ſame, is fully and abſolutely, by the authority of the ſame Parliament, united and annexed to the Imperial Crown of this Realm. And by the ſame Act and Statute, there is alſo given to the Queens Highneſſe, her Heirs and Succeſſors, Kings and Queens of this Realm, full Power and Authority by Letters Patents under the great Seal of England from time to time, to aſſign, name and authorize ſuch perſon or perſons, as ſhe or they ſhall think meet and convenient, to exerciſe, uſe, occupy, and execute under her Highneſſe, all manner of juriſdictions, priviledges, preheminences and authorities, in any wiſe, touching or concerning any Spiritual or Eccleſiaſtical power or juriſdiction within this Realm, or any other her Highneſſe Dominions or Countries. And alſo by the ſame Act and Statute, the ſaid Act made in the xxv. year of the Reign of the ſaid late K. Henry the eighth, for the order and form of the electing and making of the ſaid Archbiſhops and Biſhops, together with divers other Statutes, touching the juriſdiction over the ſtate Eccleſiaſtical is revived, and made in full force and effect, as by the ſame Act and Statute plainly appeareth. And that alſo by another Act and Statute made in the ſaid Parliament, in the firſt year of the Reign of our ſaid Soveraign Lady, entituled, An Act for the (1 Eliz. 2.) uniformity of Common Prayer, and ſervice in the Church, and adminiſtration of Sacraments, the ſaid Book of Common Prayer, and the adminiſtration of Sacraments, and other the ſaid orders, rites and ceremonies before mentioned, and all things therein contained, with certain additions therein newly added and appointed by the ſaid Eſtatute, is fully ſtabliſhed and authorized to be uſed in all places within this Realm, and all other the Queens Majeſties Dominions and Countries; as by the ſame Act, amongſt other things, more plainly appeareth. Whereupon, our ſaid Soveraign Lady, the Queens moſt excellent Majeſty, being moſt juſtly and lawfully inveſted in the Imperial Crown of this Realm, with all authorities, preheminences and dignities thereunto appertaining; And thereby having in her Majeſties order and diſpoſition, all the ſaid juriſdictions, power and authorities over the ſtate Eccleſiaſtical and Temporal, as well in caſes Eccleſiaſtical as Temporal, within this Realm, and other her Majeſties Dominions and Countries, hath by her Supream authority, at divers times ſithence the beginning of her Majeſties Reign, cauſed divers and ſundry grave and well-learned men to be duly elected, made and conſecrated Archbiſhops and Biſhops of divers Archbiſhopricks and Biſhopricks within this Realm, and other her Majeſties Dominions and Countries, according to ſuch order and form, and with ſuch Ceremonies, in and about their conſecrations, as were allowed and ſet forth by the ſaid Acts, Statutes, and Orders annexed to the ſaid Book of Common-Prayer before mentioned. And further, for the avoiding of all ambiguities and queſtions that might be objected againſt the lawful confirmations, inveſting and conſecrations of the ſaid Archbiſhops and Biſhops, her Highneſſe in her Letters Patents under the great Seal of England, directed to any Archbiſhop, Biſhop, or others for the confirming, inveſting and conſecrating of any perſon, elected to the Office or Dignity of any Archbiſhop or Biſhop, hath not only uſed ſuch words and ſentences as were accuſtomed to be uſed by the ſaid late King Henry, and King Edward, her Majeſties father and brother, in their like Letters Patents, made for ſuch cauſes: but alſo hath uſed and put in her Majeſties ſaid Letters Patents, divers other general words and ſentences, whereby her Highneſs by her Supream power and authority, hath diſpenſed with all cauſes or doubts, of any imperfection or diſability, that can or may in any wiſe be objected againſt the ſame, as by her Majeſties ſaid Letters Patents, remaining of Record, more plainly will appear. So that to all thoſe that will well conſider of the effect and true intent of the ſaid Laws and Statutes, and of the Supream and abſolute authority of the Queens Highneſſe, and which ſhe by her Majeſties ſaid Letters Patents hath uſed and put in ure, in and about the making and conſecrating of the ſaid Archbiſhops and Biſhops: it is and may be very evident and apparent, that no cauſe of ſcruple, ambiguity or doubt, can or may juſtly be objected againſt the ſaid elections, confirmations or conſecrations, or any other material thing, meet to be uſed or had in or about the ſame: but that every thing requiſite and material for that purpoſe, hath been made and done as preciſely, and with as great a care and diligence, or rather more, as ever the like was done before her Majeſties time, as the Records of her Majeſties ſaid father and brothers time, and alſo of her own time, will more plainly teſtifie and declare.

The Queen by her Supream authority cauſed divers perſons to be elected and conſecrated Archbiſhops and Biſhops.

The Queens diſpenſation of all doubts of imperfections or diſability of electing of Biſhops.

A confirmation of the Stat. of 1 El. 2. touching the Book of Common-Prayer, and adminiſtration of the Sacraments.

A confirmation of the ſtat. of 5 & 6 Ed. 6. 1. touching the form of conſecrating Archbiſhops, &c.

Wherefore for the plain declaration of all the premiſſes, and to the intent that the ſame may the better be known to every of the Queens Majeſties Subjects, whereby ſuch evil ſpeech, as heretofore hath been uſed againſt the high ſtate of Prelacy, may hereafter ceaſe; Be it now declared and enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, that the ſaid Act and Statute made in the firſt year of the Reign of our ſaid Soveraign Lady the Queens Majeſty, whereby the ſaid Book of Common Prayer, and the adminiſtration of Sacraments, with other Rites and Ceremonies, is authorized and allowed to be uſed, ſhall ſtand and remain good and perfect to all reſpects and purpoſes: and that ſuch order and form for the conſecrating of Archbiſhops and Biſhops, and for the making of Prieſts, Deacons, and Miniſters, as was ſet forth in the time of the ſaid late King Edward the ſixth, and added to the ſaid Book of Common-Prayer, and authorized by Parliament in the fifth and ſixth years of the ſaid late King, ſhall ſtand and be in full force and effect, and ſhall from henceforth be uſed and obſerved in all places within this Realm, and other the Queens Majeſties Dominions and Countries.

All acts done by any perſon about conſecration or inveſting any perſon elected to be Biſhop by vertue of the Queens Letters Patents ſithence the beginning of her Reign, ſhall be good.

All perſons made, and to be made Biſhops, Prieſts, Miniſters, &c. according to the Stat. of 5 & 6 Ed. 6. 1. be rightly made, Stat. 39 El. 8.

No perſon ſhall be impeached by any Certificate of any Biſhop heretofore made touching the Oath of Supremacy made 1 Eliz.

And that all Acts and things heretofore had, made or done by any perſon or perſons in or about any conſecration, confirmation, or inveſting of any perſon or perſons, elected to the Office or Dignity of any Archbiſhop or Biſhop within this Realm, or within any other the Queens Majeſties Dominions or Countries, by vertue of the Queens Majeſties Letters Patents or Commiſſion, ſithence the beginning of her Majeſties Reign, be and ſhall be by authority of this preſent Parliament, declared, judged and deemed, at and from every of the ſeveral times of the doing thereof, good and perfect, to all reſpects and purpoſes: Any matter or thing that can or may be objected to the contrary thereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

And that all perſons that have been or ſhall be made, ordered or conſecrate, Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Prieſts, Miniſters of Gods holy Word and Sacraments, or Deacons, after the form and order preſcribed in the ſaid order and form how Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Prieſts, Deacons, and Miniſters ſhould be conſecrated, made and ordered, be in very deed, and alſo by authority hereof, declared and enacted, to be and ſhall be Archbiſhops, Biſhops, Prieſts, Miniſters and Deacons, and rightly made, ordered and conſecrated: Any Statute, Law, Canon, or other thing to the contrary notwithſtanding.

Provided alwayes, and nevertheleſſe be it Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no perſon or perſons ſhall at any time hereafter be impeached or moleſted, in body, lands, livings or goods, by occaſion or mean of any [a] Certificate by any Archbiſhop or Biſhop heretofore made, or before the laſt day of this preſent Seſſion of Parliament to be made by vertue of any Act made in the firſt Seſſion of this preſent Parliament, touching or concerning the refuſal of the Oath, declared and ſet forth by Act of Parliament, in the firſt year of the Reign of our ſaid Soveraign Lady Queen Elizabeth: Any thing in this Act, or any other Act or Statute heretofore made to the contrary notwithſtanding.

[a] Dier. 334.

And that all tenders of the ſaid Oath, made by any Archbiſhop or Biſhop aforeſaid, or before the laſt day of this preſent Seſſion, to be made by authority of any Act eſtabliſhed in the firſt Seſſion of this preſent Parliament, and all refuſals of the ſame Oath ſo tendered, or before the laſt day of this preſent Seſſion, to be tendered by any Archbiſhop, or Biſhop, by authority of any Act eſtabliſhed in the firſt Seſſion of this preſent Parliament, ſhall be void, and of none effect or validity in the Law.

CAP. II.

The Defendant ſhall recover Coſts and Damages, where the Plaintiff doth delay or diſcontinue his Suit, or is Non-ſuit, &c.

The inconvenience of purſuing of ſuits upon malice without juſt cauſes.

Where divers perſons of their malicious minds, and without any juſt cauſe do many times cauſe and procure others of the Queens Majeſties loving Subjects, to be very much moleſted and troubled, by attachments and arreſts, made of their Bodies, as well by Proceſſe of Latitat, Alias, and Pluries capias, ſued out of the Court commonly called the Kings Bench, as alſo by Plaint, Bill, or other Suit, in the Court commonly called the Marſhalſey, and within the City of London, and other Cities, Towns corporate, and places where any liberty or priviledge is to hold pleas of Debt, Treſpaſſe, and other perſonal Acts and Suits: And when the Parties that be arreſted or attached, are brought forth to anſwer to ſuch Actions and Suits, as ſhould be objected againſt them, then many times there is no declaration or matter laid againſt the Parties ſo arreſted or attached, whereunto they may make an anſwer: And ſo the Party arreſted, is very maliſtiouſly put to great Charges and Expences, without any juſt or reaſonable cauſe. And yet nevertheleſſe, hitherto, by order of the Law, the Party ſo grieved and vexed, could never have any coſts or damages, to him to be judged or awarded for the ſaid unjuſt vexation and trouble.

For remedy whereof, Be it enacted and ordained by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That when and as often as any perſon or perſons, after the firſt day of January next coming, ſhall ſue forth, or by any mean cauſe, or procure to be ſued forth of the ſaid Court, commonly called the Kings Bench, any of the Writs or Proceſſe beforementioned, againſt any perſon or perſons, which upon the ſame Writ or Writs ſhall happen to be arreſted, or which ſhall appear upon the return of any of the ſaid Writs or Proceſſe, and ſhall put in his or their Bail or Bails, to anſwer ſuch Suit as ſhall be objected againſt him, according to the common order of the Court: that then in every ſuch Caſe, if the party or parties, at whoſe ſuit, means, or procurement, the ſame Writ, Writs, or Proceſſe was obtained or uſed forth, do not within three dayes next after ſuch Bail had and taken, put into the ſame Court his or their declaration againſt the ſame party or parties, againſt whom ſuch Writs or Proceſſe hath been or ſhall be ſued: or if after declaration had and put into the ſame Court, the Plaintiff in ſuch Caſe ſhall not proſecute the ſame with effect, but ſhall willingly and apparently to the ſame Court, ſuffer his or their ſaid Suit to be delayed, or ſhall after declaration ſo had, ſuffer the ſame Suit to be diſcontinued, or otherwiſe ſhall be non-ſuit in the ſame: That then, in every ſuch Caſe, the Judges of the ſaid Court for the time being, ſhall by their diſcretions from time to time, as they ſhall ſee or perceive any ſuch default to be in the party or parties, at whoſe ſuit, means, or procurement, ſuch Writs or Proceſſe was ſued forth, award and judge to every ſuch perſon and perſons ſo arreſted, vexed, moleſted, or troubled by ſuch Writs or Suit, his and their coſts, damages, and charges, by any means ſuſtained by occaſion of any ſuch Writs, Proceſſe, Arreſts, or Suits, taken, ſued, or had againſt him, to be paid by ſuch perſon or perſons, that ſo doth, or ſhall cauſe or procure any ſuch Writs or Proceſſe to be ſued forth, as is aforeſaid.

Coſts, damages, and charges ſhall be awarded where the Plaintiff doth delay his ſuit, doth diſcontinue, or is non-ſuit in the Kings bench.

CAP. IV.

He that taketh away privily from the perſon of another, Money or Goods, not knowing thereof, ſhall not have his Clergy, &c.

The impudent boldneſſe of Cut-purſes and Pick-purſes.

Where a certain kind of evil diſpoſed perſons, commonly called Cutpurſes, or Pickpurſes, but indeed by the Laws of this Land very Felons and Theeves, do confeder together, making among themſelves, as it were, a Brotherhood or Fraternity of an Art or Myſtery, to live idly by the ſecret ſpoyl of the good and true Subjects of this Realm: And as well at Sermons and preachings of the Word of God, and in places and time of doing Service and Common Prayer in Churches, Chappels, Cloſets, and Oratories: And not only there, but alſo in the Princes Palace, Houſe, yea and Preſence, and at the places and Courts of Juſtice, and at the times of miniſtration of the Laws in the ſame, and in Fairs, Markets, and other Aſſemblies of the People: Yea, and at the time of doing of execution of ſuch as been attainted of any Murder, Felony, or other criminal cauſe, ordained chiefly for terror and example of evil Doers, do without reſpect or regard of any time, place, or perſon, or of any fear or dread of God, or any law or puniſhment, under the cloak of honeſty, by their outward apparel, countenance and behaviour, ſubtilly, privily, craftily, and feloniouſly, take the Goods of divers good and honeſt Subjects, from their perſons, by cutting and picking their Purſes, and other felonious ſlights and devices, to the utter undoing and impoveriſhment of many.

He that doth feloniouſly take mony, &c. privily from the perſon of another, ſhall not have his Clergy.

And alſo, whereas divers perſons do oft times commit, and do divers and ſundry deteſtable Murders, hainous Robberies and Felonies, and other capital offences, for the which Clergy is not allowable by the Laws and Statutes of this Realm, and after the ſame offences ſo done, [b] either fly out of the County, or other parts of this Realm, into the parts beyond the Seas, or keep themſelves ſecret in other places where they are not known, for a great time, and after happen to commit ſome other felony, for the which they may have their Clergy, and being arraigned for the ſame, have their Clergy to them allowed, and thereupon committed to the Cuſtody of the Ordinary, according to the Law and Cuſtome of this Realm, the former offence, wherein Clergy is not grantable, being not then known, and ſo by that means cannot after be impeached for the ſaid other horrible and great offences, by the Law and Cuſtom of this Realm, to the great encouraging of Offendors, uſing ſuch practiſes of foreknowledge and ſet purpoſe, for their diſcharge of the ſame.

For reformation whereof, Be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That every perſon or perſons, which ſhall hereafter upon his and their arraignment for any felony, be admitted to the benefit of his Clergy, by the Laws of this Realm, and delivered to the Ordinary for the ſame, and ſhall make his due purgation for the ſame Offence or Offences, whereupon he was ſo admitted to his Clergy, and ſhall before the ſame admiſſion to his Clergy, have committed any other ſuch Offence, whereupon Clergy by the Laws or Statutes of this Realm is not allowable, and not being thereof indicted and acquitted, convicted or attainted, or pardoned, ſhall and may be indicted or appealed for the ſame, and thereupon put to anſwer, and ordered, and uſed in all things according to the Laws and Statutes of this Realm, in ſuch like manner and form, as though no ſuch admiſſion of Clergy had been: Any Law, Cuſtome, or Uſage to the contrary notwithſtanding.

CAP. VI.

No Kentiſh nor Suffolk Clothes ſhall be tranſported unwrought: and for every nine Clothes unwrought tranſported by licence, one Cloth ſhall be wrought of like ſort, length, breadth, and goodneſs,

For the better employment and relief of great multitudes of the Queens Subjects, uſing the Art and labour of Cloth-working It may pleaſe the Queens moſt excellent Majeſty, at the moſt humble Suits of her ſaid Subjects, that it be enacted,

And be it enacted by authority of this preſent Parliament, That from henceforth for every nine Clothes unwrought, hereafter to be ſhipped or carried into any the parts beyond the Seas, contrary to the form of any Statute heretofore made, and now remaining in ſtrength, by force of any licence hereafter to be granted, the Party that ſhall ſhip and carry over the ſame, ſhall ſhip and carry over alſo one like woollen Cloth, of like ſort, length, breadth, and goodneſſe, ready wrought and dreſſed; that is to ſay, rowed, barbed, firſt courſed and ſhorn from the one end to the other, ſo that every tenth Cloth paſſing over the Seas, in form aforeſaid, may and ſhall be dreſſed within this Realm, before the ſame ſhall be ſhipped or tranſported over, upon pain to forfeit for every ſuch nine Clothes ſo to be ſhipped or tranſported, contrary to the meaning of this Act, ten pounds.

For nine clothes tranſported by licence, one ſhall be ready wrought. 7 Ed. 4. 3. 3 H. 7. 11. 27 H. 8. 13. 33 H. 8. 19.

Provided alwayes, That every ſuch tenth Cloth ſo to be tranſported ready wrought, ſhall not be accounted any of the Clothes permitted to be tranſported by force of ſuch licence, but that ſuch perſon as ſhall have ſuch licence, may tranſport according to ſuch licence, the full number of Clothes unwrought, mentioned in the ſame licence, over and above the number of ſuch tenth Clothes, which they ſhall be compelled to ſhip and carry over by force of this Statute.

The tenth cloth ſhall be none of the licence.

Kentiſh or Suffolk cloth ſhall not be tranſported unwrought by any licence.

And be it further enacted by authority aforeſaid, That from the laſt day of February now next coming, no perſon ſhall ſhip, or carry into the parts beyonds the Seas, contrary to the form of any Statute heretofore made, now remaining in force, any Cloth, commonly called Kentiſh Cloth, or Suffolk Cloth, made or to be made in the Counties of Kent or Suffolk, unwrought and undreſſed within this Realm, that is to ſay, not rowed, barbed, firſt courſed and ſhorn, upon pain to forfeit for every ſuch Cloth, commonly called Kentiſh or Suffolk Cloth, made or to be made in either of the ſaid Counties, ſo to be ſhipped or tranſported contrary to the form of this Statute, forty ſhillings.

And that no licence for tranſporting of any Cloth or Clothes, ſhall be conſtrued or expounded to extend to any ſuch Kentiſh or Suffolk Cloth, made, or to be made, in either of the ſaid Counties, to be from henceforth tranſported.

Who ſhall ſhall have the forfeiture, and by what means.

And that all forfeitures appointed by this Statute, for tranſporting of Clothes, ſhall be the one half to the Queens Majeſty, her Heirs and Succeſſors, and the other moyety to the Maſter and Wardens of the ſaid Company of Clothworkers, to the relief of the poor of the ſaid Company, to be recovered in any Court of Record, by action of debt, bill, plaint, or information, wherein no eſſoine, protection, or wager of Law, for the Defendant ſhall be admitted or allowed.

CAP. VII.

Who may uſe the Trade or Occupation of Drapers in Shrewsbury, of the Liberties thereof, &c.

A fraternity of the myſtery of Drapers in Shrewsbury.

What benefit the ſame company have received and done to others by buying and ſelling of Welſh cloth and lining.

The inconveniences that unskilful perſons do, that do deal in a trade whereof they are ignorant.

FOraſmuch as in the Town of Shrewsbury in the County of Salop, there hath been, time out of mind of man, and yet is, a Company, Fraternity, or Guild of the Art and Myſtery of Drapers; which ſaid Company, Fraternity, or Guild, hath been by a great time lawfully encorporated, and made a body politick: which ſaid Corporation and Fraternity, hath by reaſon of a certain Trade and Occupation of buying and ſelling of Welſh Cloth and Lyning, commonly called Cottons, Frizes, and Plaines, which they have had, and uſed amongſt them, been able not only to live thereby, but alſo have at their common coſts provided houſes and other neceſſaries for poor people within the ſaid Town of Shrewsbury, whom alſo with further relief they do weekly help and maintain. And by the ſame their Trade aforeſaid, have uſed moſt commonly to ſet on work, above ſix hundred perſons, of the Art or Science of Sheeremen, or Frizers, within the ſaid Town of Shrewsbury, whereby as well they, as their poor Wives and Families, are wholly maintained and kept. To the impeachment and hinderance of which ſaid Trade, divers Artificers, and other perſons within the ſaid Town of Shrewsbury, not being of the ſaid Company or Myſtery, nor brought up in the uſe of the ſaid Trade, have of late with great diſorder, upon a meer covetous deſire and mind, intromitted with, and occupied the ſaid trade of buying of Welſh Cloth or Lyning, having no knowledge, experience or skill in the ſame. By reaſon whereof, the ſaid ignorant and unskilful perſons, have and do buy commonly and daily ſuch Welſh Cloth and Lynings as is defective, and not truly made, according to the good Laws and Statutes of this Realm in that behalf provided. By means whereof, the ſaid trade is greatly decayed and diſcredited, to the great loſſe and hinderance of ſuch poor Sheermen and Frizers, as were wont to be ſet on work thereby, and of all others that were wont to be maintained and relieved by the ſaid Trade, as well in making as working of the ſaid Frizers, Cottons, and Plains: and to the great deceit, damage, and hinderance of all the Queens Majeſties Subjects, that buy and provide the ſame, and to the ſlander and diſcredit of the ſaid Commodities in foreign parts, where, by the occaſion aforeſaid, they are grown out of eſtimation and credit.

The good intent of the ſtat. of 4 & 5 P. & M. 5.

And where moreover in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, in the fourth and fifth years of the reign of our late Soveraign Lord and Lady, King Philip and Queen Mary, upon good and deliberate advice, amongſt other things, It was enacted, That no perſon or perſons which ſhould buy to ſell again, by way of retail, or otherwiſe, any of the ſaid Welſh Lynings, ſhould dreſſe or work, or cauſe to be dreſſed and wrought, within his or their dwelling-houſe or houſes, or in any other place, by himſelf or his Servant, any of the ſaid Welſh Lynings, but ſhould put the ſame to ſome ſuch perſon or perſons, as ſhould be of the Art or Science of Sheermen, Cottoners, or Frizers, to be by them wrought and dreſſed, upon pain of forfeiture for every Welſh Cloth or Lyning, frized or cottoned to the contrary, ſix ſhillings and eight pence, as in the ſame Act doth appear. Sithence which time, divers perſons for the defrauding of the ſaid Statute, have cauſed others to buy the ſaid Frizes, Cottons, and Plaines, and then to take the workmanſhip thereof unto themſelves, of ſuch buyers: uſing the like fraud, by buying and turning work over unto the ſame perſons, of whom they receive work, to the manifeſt defrauding of the good intent and meaning of the ſaid Statute.

By what fraudulent means the good intent of the ſaid ſtat. is defeated.

No perſon inhabiting in Shrewsbury ſhall occupy the trade of buying of Welſh Cottons, &c. unleſſe he be free thereof. REP. 14 El. 12.

For remedy whereof, and for the benefit and relief of the poor men, that be Sheermen and Frizers: Be it enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That from and after the Feaſt of Eaſter next enſuing, no manner of perſon or perſons whatſoever, inhabiting and dwelling within the ſaid Town of Shrewsbury, or the Liberties and Franchiſes of the ſame Town, other than ſuch as have, or ſhall have ſerved as Apprentices in the ſaid Occupation and Science of Drapers, or be, or ſhall be free of the ſaid Science or Myſtery, ſhall occupy, uſe, exerciſe, or frequent the ſaid Trade, Art, Myſtery, or Science of buying of the ſaid Welſh Cloth or Lyning, Cottons, Frizes, and Plaines, nor having any factor or doer for him or them in the ſame, nor by any colour, engine or fraud, be any Occupier of the ſaid Frizes, Cottons, and Plaines, upon pain that every perſon and perſons, inhabiting as is aforeſaid, and occupying, uſing or exerciſing the ſaid Trade, Occupation, or Science of buying of Welſh Cloth and Lyning, and not authorized by this preſent Act, ſhall loſe and forfeit for every piece of the ſame Clothes ſo bought, ſix ſhillings and eight pence.

And other that, Be it further enacted, That no perſon dwelling and inhabiting, as is aforeſaid, and uſing and occupying the ſaid Trade of buying of Frizes, Cottons, or Plaines, ſhall uſe or exerciſe the faculty of frizing or cottoning, upon pain to incur ſuch like forfeitures for every offence, as is above mentioned. The moyety of all ſuch pains and forfeitures above mentioned, ſhall be to our Soveraign Lady the Queen, her Heirs and Succeſſors, and the other moyety to ſuch perſon and perſons as will ſue for the ſame in any Court of Record, by action, bill, or plaint of debt, wherein no Protection, Eſſoine, Injunction or Wager of Law ſhall be allowed and admitted.

He that occupieth the trade of buying of frizes, cottons, &c. ſhall not exerciſe to frize or cotton.

Provided always, and be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that this preſent Act, or any thing, ſentence or matter therein contained, ſhall not extend, or be in any wiſe prejudicial or hurtful to any ſuch perſon or perſons as have heretofore uſed, occupied, or frequented the ſaid Trade, Art, Myſtery, or Science of buying or ſelling of Welſh Clothes or Lynings aforeſaid, but that every ſuch perſon or perſons, which hath or have uſed the ſaid Trade or Science, as is aforeſaid, ſhall and may have and enjoy the like benefit, commodity and advantage, as well in buying and ſelling the ſaid Welſh Clothes and Lynings, as otherwiſe, in as large, free, and ample manner and form, as if this Act had never been made.

A proviſo for them that occupied before the trade of buying of Welſh cloth.

And further, to the intent the ſaid poor Sheermen, Frizers and Cottoners, may be the better relieved and maintained; Be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all and every perſon and perſons, occupying and uſing, or which hereafter at any time ſhall occupy or uſe the ſaid Trade, Science, or Art of buying and ſelling of Welſh Cloth and Lynings aforeſaid, and ſhall from the Feaſt of Eaſter next enſuing, deliver any Welſh Cloth or Lynings aforeſaid, to be cottoned, frized, dreſſed or wrought, to any Sheerman, Cottoner or Frizer, ſhall deliver, content, and pay to the ſaid Sheerman, Cottoner or Frizer, ready and preſent money for all his ſaid work, without any colour, fraud, or engine whatſoever, and ſhall not deliver any Ware or other thing whatſoever in contentation or ſatisfaction of his ſaid work, or any part thereof, upon pain that every perſon offending in that behalf, ſhall forthwith loſe all ſuch liberties, freedoms and priviledges, which he hath or ſhall have, as one of the ſaid Company, Fraternity, or Guild of the ſaid Art and Myſtery of Drapers: and alſo ſhall for ever after be utterly diſabled and excluded to uſe, occupy or enjoy, by himſelf, or by any other for him, or to his uſe, the ſaid Trade, Art, Myſtery, or Science of buying or ſelling of Welſh Clothes or Lynings: This Act, or any other matter or thing whatſoever to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

Occupiers of the Trade of buying and ſelling Welſh cloth ſhall pay to their Sheermen ready money.

Whereupon many Promotors, taking occaſion by reaſon of the aforeſaid Eſtatute, have as well entred into the ſaid Iſle, as alſo other the Moors, Mariſhes, and Fenne grounds, in all the Countrey next bordering and joyning unto the ſame, and taking away by vertue and purvey of the ſaid Eſtatute, from divers poor men, not being able otherwiſe to remedy the ſame, their Horſe, not being comparable of like ſtature to the ſaid Eſtatute, as well to the great loſſe and hinderance of all the breed of Horſes there, no man daring to put any ſuch forth on the ſaid ground, for fear of ſuch perſons: as alſo to the utter ſubverſion and decay of all the Tillage and carriage within the ſaid Iſle, and others the Countries round about the ſame, in time to come.

Nevertheleſſe, Be it ordained and enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That no perſon or perſons whatſoever he or they be, at any time after the laſt day of March next coming, ſhall have or put to paſture into or upon any Mariſh or ſeggy Fenne ground within the ſaid Iſle of Ely, or into or upon any Mariſh or ſeggy Fenne grounds within the ſaid Counties of Cambridge, Huntington, Northampton, Lincoln, Norfolk and Suffolk, or any of them, any ſtoned Horſe or Horſes, being above the age of two years, and not being of the altitude and height of thirteen handful, to be meaſured from the loweſt part of the hoof of the forefoot, unto the higher part of the wither, and every handful to contain four inches of the Standard, to paſture, feed, or to be nouriſhed, in or upon any the ſaid Mariſhes, or ſeggy Fenne grounds within the ſaid Iſle, and within the ſaid Counties of Cambridge, Huntington, Northampton, Lincoln, Norfolk and Suffolk, or any of them, upon ſuch and the like pain as by the ſaid former Act is limited and expreſſed.

CAP. IX.

So much of the Statute of 23 H. 8. 4. as concerneth the prices of Veſſels for Ale and Beer repealed, &c.

The effect of the Statute of 23 H. 8. 4 touching the prices of Barrels and Kilderkins.

IN their moſt humble wiſe ſhewen unto the Queens moſt excellent Majeſty, and unto the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and unto the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled: The Cowpers of the City of London, and of all other Cities and Towns within this Realm of England, that where in the Parliament holden by prorogation at Weſtminſter the fifteenth day of January in the three and twentieth year of the Reign of the late King of famous memory, King Henry the eighth, Father to our ſaid Soveraign Lady the Queens Highneſſe that now is, there was one Statute made and enacted, entituled, An Act, that no Brewers of Beer or Ale, ſhall make their Barrels, Kilderkins, nor Firkins within them; and how much the ſame Barrels, Kilderkins and Firkins ſhall contain. In which Statute, amongſt other things therein contained, It is enacted, That no Artificer of the Cowpers ſhall inhaunce the prices of any ſuch Barrels, Kilderkins, Firkins, or other Veſſels, in the ſale of them to any Ale-brewer or Beer-brewer, or other perſon, as in the ſaid Act are mentioned, but ſhould keep the rates of ſuch prices, as in the ſame Act are expreſſed, and not above, upon pain to forfeit for every Barrel, Kilderkin and Firkin, defective or inhaunced in price, in any point contrary to the ſaid Act, three ſhillings and four pence. (That is to ſay) for every Beer-barrel nine pence, for every Beer-kilderkin five pence, for every Beer-firkin three pence. And the Ale-barrel ſixteen pence, the Ale-kilderkin nine pence, and the Ale-firkin five pence, as by the ſame Act amongſt divers other things therein contained, more fully and at large doth and may appear. Since which time the Clove-bord and ſtuff whereof the ſaid veſſels and the hoops thereof ſhould be made, are riſen and grown to ſuch exceſſive prices, that ſuch as do make the ſaid veſſels, cannot make and ſell any ſuch Barrels, Kilderkins, Firkins, or other veſſels, at the prices expreſſed in the ſaid Eſtatute, but to their great loſſe and hinderance: whereby the Myſtery, Trade, and Faculty of the ſaid Cowpers is utterly overthrown, to the impoveriſhment and utter undoing of them, their Wives, Children, and Families, as is moſt evident.

The difference between the old and new prices of Barrel boards and hoops.

Foraſmuch as at the time of the making of the ſaid Eſtatute, the Cowpers might have bought a thouſand of Barrel-boords for twelve ſhillings, or thirteen ſhillings and four pence; and a thouſand of Kilderkin-boords for nine ſhillings or ten ſhillings; and a load of hoops for nine ſhillings or ten ſhillings: And now a thouſand of Barrel-boords cannot be bought under three and thirty ſhillings and four pence, and forty ſhillings; and a thouſand of Kilderkin-boords under ſix and twenty ſhillings and eight pence; and a load of hoops under three and thirty ſhillings and four pence, and forty ſhillings, as is right well and notoriouſly known.

A repeal of ſo much of the Stat. of 23 H. 8. 4. as toucheth the prices of Veſſels for Ale and Beer.

Be it therefore enacted by the Queens moſt excellent Majeſty, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That as much of every article, clauſe and ſentence, compriſed in the ſaid Eſtatute, made in the ſaid three and twentieth year of the Reign of the ſaid late King, as doth touch and concern the prices of Barrels, Kilderkins, Firkins, and other veſſels, and all and every pain and forfeiture expreſſed and declared in the ſaid Act, for ſelling of any of the ſaid kind of veſſels, above the prices before ſpecified, from the time of new prices to be ſet in form hereafter expreſſed, for ſuch places only as the ſame new prices ſhall be ſet, ſhall be clearly repealed, fruſtrate and made void.

And that from henceforth the prices of all Barrels, Kilderkins, Firkins, and other Veſſels to be ſold, for Ale, Beer, or Sope, to be uttered therein, ſhall be rated and taxed by Mayors, Bayliffs, and other head Officer or Officers of every City and Town corporate, where any ſuch Veſſels ſhall be made, or offered to be ſold.

Who ſhall rate the prices of Veſſels for Ale and Beer.

And where ſuch Veſſels ſhall be made or ſold out of any City, Borough, or Town corporate, the prices thereof ſhall be rated and taxed by the Juſtices of the Peace, or the more part of them, being preſent in the general Quarter-Seſſions, yearly next after Eaſter, at ſuch reaſonable prices as they ſhall think reaſonable by their diſcretions. The ſaid Eſtatute, made in the ſaid three and twentieth year of the reign of the ſaid late King Henry the eighth, or any other Law, Cuſtom or Uſage to the contrary thereof in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

And be it further enacted, That if the ſaid Cowpers, or any of them, ſhall not make ſale, according to ſuch prices as ſhall be rated, as is aforeſaid, after Proclamation thereof made: that then every perſon and perſons ſo offending, ſhall for the ſame incur the pains and forfeitures mentioned in the ſaid Statute, made the ſaid three and twentieth year of the reign of the ſaid late King: That is to wit, for every Barrel, Kilderkin, and Firkin, which ſhall be ſold at greater price than ſhall be rated, as is aforeſaid, the ſum of three ſhillings and four pence, of lawful money of England, whereof the one moyety to be to the Queens Highneſſe, her Heirs and Succeſſors, and the other moyety to ſuch perſon or perſons as will ſue for the ſame by action of Debt in any Court of Record, wherein no Protection, Eſſoine, or Wager of Law ſhall be allowed and admitted.

The forfeiture of Cowpers not ſelling their veſſels at the prices rated.

CAP. X.

The Statutes made in the reigns of Ed. 4. H. 7. and H. 8. concerning ſo much as the prices of Bows, repealed. And who may be Bowyers in London, or the Suburbs thereof, &c.

Moſt humbly complaining, ſheweth unto your Highneſſe, and to your High Court of Parliament, your obedient Subjects, the Bowyers, dwelling and inhabiting within the City of London, and the Suburbs of the ſame, That where in the Parliament of the late King of moſt famous memory, King Henry the eighth, begun and holden at Weſtminſter, the ſixteenth day of January, in the three and thirtieth year of the reign of the ſaid late King, and there continued untill the firſt day of April then next following, there was one Act and Statute then made and provided, intituled, An Act for the maintenance of Artillery, and debarring of unlawful Games. In which Act and Statute, amongſt other things, there is one branch contained and ſpecified: The tenour whereof is, as hereafter followeth, that is to ſay, And to the intent, that every perſon may have Bows of mean price; Be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That every Bowyer dwelling out of the City of London, ſhall after the Feaſt of the Purification of our Lady, then next coming, for every Bow that he maketh of Ewe, make four other Bows meet to ſhoot in, of Elm, Witchhaſel, Aſh, and other wood apt for the ſame, under the pain to loſe and forfeit for every ſuch Bow ſo lacking, three ſhillings and four pence. And every Bowyer, dwelling within the City and Suburbs of London, ſhall from and after the ſaid Feaſt of the Purification of our Lady then next coming, for every Bow of Ewe, make two other Bows apt for ſhooting, of Aſh, Elm, Witchhaſel, or other wood meet for the ſame, under the like pain and forfeiture, as by the ſaid Statute more plainly it doth and may appear. And although the ſaid branch of the ſaid Statute be needful and expedient to remain and continue for ſuch Bowyers as do dwell and inhabit in the Country and other places out of the City of London, and the Suburbs of the ſame: Yet foraſmuch as there be very few or no Bows of Elm, Witchhaſel or Aſh, or any other wood, than only of Ewe, uſed or occupied by any perſon within the ſaid City and Suburbs of the ſame: therefore the ſaid branch of the ſaid Act and Statute before rehearſed, was not, ne is needful to be had and made for the Bowyers, dwelling within the ſaid City and Suburbs.

A rehearſal of the Statute of 33 H. 8. 9. touching the making of Bows.

And yet neverthleſſe, your ſaid Subjects, for the avoiding of the danger and penalty contained in the ſaid branch, are daily inforced to make ſuch great number of Bows of Elm, Witchhaſel and Aſh, that they cannot in convenient time, utter and ſell the ſame, but are conſtrained to keep ſuch Bows by them ſo made, untill they be putrified, and not meet for any good uſe and purpoſe.

By reaſon whereof, much of the ſaid wood of Elm, Witchhaſel and Aſh, is daily waſted and conſumed in making of the ſaid Bows, and your ſaid Subjects, by ſuch loſſes as they daily ſuſtain in making ſuch Bows, greatly impoveriſhed, and the Commonwealth thereby nothing advanced, but rather hindered.

And where alſo the ſeveral Statutes of the noble King of famous memory, King Edward the fourth, made in the two and twentieth year of his reign, and in the third year of the reign of King Henry the ſeventh, Grand-Father to our ſaid Soveraign Lady the Queens Majeſty, and in the ſaid xxxiii. year of the reign of our ſaid late Soveraign Lord King Henry the eighth, Father to our ſaid Soveraign Lady, there is mention made of the prices of Bows, which at thoſe ſeveral times was appointed to be but three ſhillings and four pence, and not above, to ſell the beſt.

3 H. 7. 13.
33 H. 8. 9.

At which ſaid times, ſuch Bows might well have been ſo ſold to any perſon or perſons, according to the rates and prices expreſſed in the ſaid ſeveral Acts, untill now, within this twenty years, the prices of Bow-ſtaves have diverſly been raiſed and enhaunced from five pounds a hundreth, to twelve pounds, or thereabouts; for which cauſes, the prices contained in the ſaid ſeveral Statutes, cannot be obſerved: and yet your Majeſties ſaid Subjects the Bowyers, are preſently in danger of the ſaid ſeveral Statutes concerning the prices of Bows, which they humbly beſeech your Majeſty, with the aſſent of your High Court of Parliament, may be releaſed unto them, and the penalties appointed for the ſame.

Be it therefore enacted, ordained, and eſtabliſhed by the Queens Majeſty our Soveraign Lady, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this

A repeal of ſo much of the Statutes of 22 Ed. 4. 4. 3 H. 7. 13 & 33 H. 8. 9. as do concern the prices of Bows, and the making of Bows of Elm, &c. in London, &c.

preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That the ſaid Statutes of King Edward the fourth, and King Henry the ſeventh, concerning the prices of Bows, and all the branches contained in the ſaid Statute of King Henry the eighth, ſo far forth as the ſame extendeth to the prices of Bows, therein expreſſed only, from the firſt day of this preſent Parliament, and ſo for ever, be thereby clearly repealed, and made void and fruſtrate, to all intents, conſtructions and purpoſes, and alſo all and every clauſe and ſentence of the ſaid Statute of King Hen. the eighth before recited, tending to the making of Bows of Elm, Witchhaſel, Aſh, and other Wood, beſides Ewe before rehearſed, or any penalty therein contained, for any the ſaid laſt rehearſed premiſſes, from henceforth for ever ſhall not be intended, conſtrued, or taken to extend to any Bowyer now dwelling or inhabiting, or which hereafter ſhall happen to dwell or inhabit within the Cities of London and Weſtminſter, or the Suburbs of any of them, or in the Borough of Southwark in the County of Surrey: The ſaid Statutes, or any thing in them, or any of them, contained in any wiſe to the contrary notwithſtanding.

A Bowyer dwelling in London or the Suburbs ſhal. have fifty Bows of Elm, &c.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all and every the ſaid Bowyers within the ſaid Cities and Suburbs of London and Weſtminſter, and Borough of Southwark, ſhall from henceforth from time to time, and all times hereafter, provide and have in his or their cuſtody, the number of fifty good and able Bows of Elm, Witchhaſel or Aſh, at the leaſt, well and ſubſtantially made and wrought, upon pain that every of the ſaid Bowyers, which by the ſpace of twenty days, ſhall not have in his cuſtody ſuch number of the ſaid Bows of Witchhaſel, Elm or Aſh, ready made, and meet to be ſold and uſed, as aforeſaid, ſhall hereafter for every Bow lacking of the number aforeſaid, forfeit ten ſhillings, the one moyety of which forfeiture, ſhall be to our ſaid Soveraign Lady the Queens Majeſty, and the other moyety thereof ſhall be to him or them, uſing the Art of an Armourer, Fletcher, or maker of Bow-ſtrings, that will ſue for the ſame, by action of debt, bill, plaint, or otherwiſe, in any Court of Record: in which action and ſuit, no protection, or wager of Law ſhall in any wiſe be admitted or allowed for the Defendant.

The ſeveral prices of ſeveral ſorts of Bows.

Provided alwayes, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any Bowyer, after the firſt day of May next coming, do ſell any Bows meet for mens ſhooting, being outlandiſh Ewe, and of the beſt ſort, over and above the price of ſix ſhillings and eight pence; or do ſell any Bows meet for mens ſhooting, being of the ſecond ſort, over and above the price of three ſhillings and four pence; or ſhall ſell any Bows for men, as is aforeſaid, being of the courſe ſort, called livery Bows, for and above the price of two ſhillings a piece; or that ſhall after the ſaid firſt day of May, ſell any Bows being Engliſh Ewe, over and above the price of two ſhillings the peice: that then the Seller or Sellers of ſuch Bows, ſhall forfeit for every Bow ſo ſold, over and above the price aforeſaid, forty ſhillings, the one moyety thereof to the Queens Majeſty, her Heirs and Succeſſors, and the other moyety to the party uſing the Art of an Armourer, Fletcher, or Maker of Bow-ſtrings, that will ſue for the ſame in any Court of Record, by action of debt, bill, plaint, or otherwiſe, wherein no wager of Law, eſſoine or protection, ſhall be admitted or allowed: Any thing in this Act, or in any other Act contained to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding. This Act to continue untill the laſt day of the firſt Seſſion of the next Parliament. 3 Car. 4. continued untill the end of the firſt Seſſion of the next Parliament.

CAP. XI.

Who may make Hats and Caps, and how they ſhall be made.

WHere great multitudes of the Queens Majeſties true Subjects, uſing the Art of making woollen Caps are impoveriſhed and decayed by the exceſſive uſe of Hats and Felts, and thereby divers good Cities and Towns brought to deſolation, great plenty of ſtrange Commodities, without neceſſity conſumed, and great numbers of people enforced to depend upon the having of foreign woolls, to the diſcommodity of this Realm, the diſfurniture of Service to be done to the Queens Majeſty, and greater evident dangers, if remedy be not provided.

None ſhall work Hats with foreign wooll, but which hath bin Apprentice to the myſtery of Hat-making.

It may therefore pleaſe the Queens moſt excellent Majeſty, at the lamentable Suit and Complaint of her ſaid poor Subjects, that it be enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That no perſon, by him or her ſelf, or by any other, ſhall after the Feaſt of the Nativity of S. John Baptiſt next coming, make or work any Felt or Hat, of, or with any foreign wooll or ſtuff, unleſſe ſuch perſon ſhall firſt have been Apprentice or Covenant-Servant, to ſuch myſtery of Felt or Hat-making, by the ſpace of ſeven years at the leaſt, upon pain to forfeit all ſuch Hats or Felts as he ſhall make, or cauſe to be made while he worketh, contrary to the form of this Act, and five pounds in money for every moneth that he ſhall ſo continue.

Caps of Felt or of woollen cloth not knit. Dying of Caps.

And that no perſon, after the ſaid firſt day of April, ſhall dy or cauſe to be dyed black, any Cap, with Bark or Swarf, but only with Copperas and Gall, or with Woad and Madder.

Thicking or fulling of Caps.

And (for the ſetting of many poor and impotent perſons to work, and for the better making of Caps) that no perſon, after the ſaid firſt day of April, ſhall thick or full in any Mill, or cauſe to be thicked or fulled in any Mill, any Cap, until ſuch time as the ſame Cap be firſt well ſcoured and cloſed upon the Bank, and half thicked at leaſt in the Footſtock.

Who only may wear a Hat or upper Cap of Velvet. Rep. 1 Jac. 25.

And that no man under the degree of a Knight, or of a Lords Son, ſhall after the ſaid firſt day of April, wear any Hat or upper Cap of Velvet, or covered with Velvet, on pain to forfeit for every Hat, Cap, or other thing to be made, dyed, thicked, fulled, ſold or worn, contrary to the meaning of this Act, ten ſhillings, whereof the one moyety ſhall be to the Queens Majeſty, her Heirs and Succeſſors, the other moyety to ſuch perſon then uſing the feat of Cap-making, as will ſue for the ſame in any Court of Record, wherein no eſſoine, protection, or wager of Law, for the Defendant, ſhall be admitted or allowed.

Who ſhall have the forfeiture. Alt. 1 Jac. 17.

And for the better and truer making of Caps or Hats within this Realm: Be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That it ſhall be lawful to the Maſter and Wardens of the Company of Haberdaſhers, within the City of London, and to their Succeſſors for the time being, calling to them one of the Company of Cappers, and another of the makers of Hats, as often as need ſhall require, within the ſaid City or within three miles of the ſame, to ſearch all and all manner of Cappers and makers of Hats, and the Offendors and defaults by them found, to correct and puniſh by Fines, and otherwiſe, as in like caſes they do other Offendors and defaults within the ſaid Company. And that it ſhall be lawful for all Mayors, Bailiffs, and other head-Officers, in all other Cities and Towns corporate, to do the like.

Who may ſearch and reform Cappers and Hatters.

Provided alwayes, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That every Hat-maker, that now is a maker or worker of Hats, and being a Houſholder, Apprentice, Covenant-ſervant, or Jorneyman, ſhall or may, during ſuch perſons natural life, continue making of Hats and Felts, albeit ſuch perſon were not bounden Apprentice to the ſame Art for the ſpace of ſeven years.

Who may be Hat-maker, though he hath not been an Apprentice.

And be it enacted, That no maker or worker of Hats, ſhall take or receive any Apprentices, contrary to the true meaning of this Act; that is to ſay, above two Apprentices at one time, nor thoſe for any leſſe time than ſeven years at the leaſt, on pain to ſuffer for every Apprentice to be taken or received againſt the form of this Act, one moneths impriſonment in the Common Gaol, without bail or mainpriſe. And that every taking or receiving of an Apprentice, contrary to this Act, ſhall be void: And alſo ſuch perſon ſo taking or receiving, ſhall be from thenceforth diſabled to have any more Apprentices, than one at one time.

How many Apprentices a Hat-makers may take.

Provided alway, that nothing in this Act ſhall extend to charge any perſon, allowed to be Felt-maker or Hat-maker, with any pain or forfeiture, for ſetting or uſing his or their own Children to the making or working of Felts or Hats, in his or their own Houſes. Provided that this Act ſhall not extend to any making of Hats with worſted Yarn, in the City of Norwich. 1 Jac. 17.

A Hat maker may uſe his own child.

CAP. XII.

The Owners Mark and Aulnegers ſeal ſhall be put to Lancaſhire Clothes, before the ſale of them: In what Towns he ſhall have a Deputy: his Fees, &c.

Foraſmuch as divers Clothiers inhabiting within the County Palatine of Lancaſter, ſeeking inordinately their own ſingular gains, have of late practiſed privily, to convey and carry away out of the ſaid Country, divers Cottons, Frizes and Ruggs, there made to be ſold; before ſuch time as the Queens Aulneger of the ſaid County, hath fixed unto every ſuch Cloth the Queens Seal in that behalf appointed, and ſometime counterfeiting and ſetting to ſuch their Clothes, Seals of their own, minding thereby, not only to defraud the ſaid Aulneger of his accuſtomable fees, due to be paid to the Queens Highneſſe uſe, for the ſealing of every ſuch Cloth, Cotton, Frize or Rugg: but alſo to cover and hide the untrue and deceitful making of many of the ſaid Clothes, contrary to the true meaning of ſundry good and wholſome Eſtatutes and Laws heretofore made, as well for the true making of the Clothes beforeſaid, as alſo for the ſearching, trying, and ſealing of the ſame, to the no little prejudice and damage of the ſaid Aulneger, who ſtandeth charged with the payment of a great annual Farm to the Queens Majeſty, for the ſaid Aulnege, in deceit of her Highneſſe Subjects, and diſcredit of the commodity of the ſaid Clothes.

Practiſes by Clothiers in Lancaſhire to deceive the Queen of her duties, and the Aulneger of his.

For reformation whereof, Be it enacted by our ſaid Soveraign Lady the Queen, the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons of this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That no perſon or perſons, from and after the firſt day of April next coming ſhall ſell, or put to ſale within the ſaid County, or convey or carry, or cauſe to be conveyed and carryed out of the ſaid County of Lancaſter, any kind of Clothes, Cottons, Frizes or Ruggs, hereafter to be made within the ſaid County Palatine of Lancaſter, to be ſold before ſuch time that the Owner or Maker of every ſuch Cloth, Cotton, Frize or Rugg, ſhall fix and put to, or cauſe to be fixed and put to every ſuch Cloth, Friſe, Cotton or Rugg, one Seal of lead, having the mark of every ſuch Owner or Clothier ingraved on the one ſide thereof, and the true length of every ſuch Cloth, Frize, Cotton or Rugg, as it is found being wet, to be ingraved on the other ſide of the ſaid Seal. And alſo the Queens Highneſſe Aulneger of the ſaid County Palatine for the time being, upon trial of the weight of every ſuch Cotton, Frize and Rugg, ſhall fix and put, or cauſe to be fixed, and put to every ſuch Cotton, Frize or Rugg, the Queens Highneſſe Seal of lead, having the Portecullis crowned, ingraved on the one ſide thereof, and the true weight of every ſuch Cotton, Frize or Rugg, to be ingraved on the other ſide of the ſame Seal, upon pain and forfeiture of all and every ſuch Clothes, Cottons, Frizes and Ruggs; conveyed, carried, ſent, ſold, and put to ſale, or to the intent to be ſold, being unſealed, contrary to the meaning of this preſent Act: the one moyety thereof, to be to the uſe of the Queens Highneſſe, her Heirs and Succeſſors, and the other moyety thereof, to ſuch perſon or perſons, that ſhall ſeiſe the ſame Cloth, Cotton, Frize or Rugg, or will ſue for the ſame, to be recovered in any of the Queens Highneſſe Courts of Record, by bill, plaint, information, or otherwiſe, wherein no eſſoine, protection, or wager of Law, ſhall be allowed for the Defendant.

No cloth ſhall be ſold before the party and Aulneger have ſet to their Seals.

And be it further enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That the ſaid Aulneger, after the ſaid firſt day of April, ſhall appoint and have his lawful Deputy within every of the ſeveral Towns of Mancheſter, Rachdale, Bolton, Blackborn, and Bery, in the ſaid County where the ſaid Aulneger hath been accuſtomed to have his Deputy heretofore fore, there to be ready upon lawful requeſt unto him made, without delay, to weigh every of the ſaid Cottons, Frizes and Ruggs, as ſhall be brought unto every ſuch Deputy, and ſealed with the Seal of the Owner or Maker of every of the ſame Clothes, in form aforeſaid, and to fix and ſet to every of the ſaid Clothes, Cottons, Frizes and Ruggs, the Queens Highneſſe Seal beforeſaid, to be ingraved in manner and form before mentioned, upon pain of forfeiture of xx s. for every pack of Cottons, Frizes or Ruggs, ſealed by the ſaid Aulneger, or any of his ſaid Deputies, before the ſame be weighed in form aforeſaid. The one moyety whereof, to be to the uſe of the Queens Highneſſe, her Heirs and Succeſſors, and the other moyety thereof to him or them that will ſue for the ſame, in any of the Queens Majeſties Courts of Record, by bill, plaint, information, action of debt, or otherwiſe: wherein no wager of Law, Protection, or Eſſoine ſhall be allowed.

Certain Towns in the county of Lancaſter, wherein the Aulneger ſhall have his Deputies.

How much the Aulneger may take for ſealing of clothes.

Provided alwayes, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That it ſhall be lawful for the ſaid Aulneger, or his Deputy, to have and take of the Owner or Maker of every of the ſaid Clothes, Cottons, Frizes or Ruggs, for the weighing and ſealing of every pack of the ſaid Clothes, Cottons, Frizes or Ruggs, iii. d. and for every piece of ſuch courſe Clothes, Cottons, Frizes and Ruggs, not amounting to a whole pack, one half penny, and the ſame to be paid by the Owner or Bringer of the ſaid Clothes, at the weighing and ſealing of the ſame; Any cuſtom, uſe, or preſcription to the contrary, in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

And foraſmuch as ſuch perſons as commonly do uſe to utter and ſell the ſaid ſeveral kinds of Cottons, Frizes and Ruggs, have been, and are daily moleſted, vexed and troubled, to their great loſſe and hinderance, by means of the cruelty of Informers and Searchers, ſeeking continually their own private gain, by finding of the ſaid Cottons, Frizes and Ruggs, at no time made according to ſuch form of weight, lengths and breadths, as by the former Statutes of this Realm, lately made for the true making of woollen Cloth, is limited and appointed: And for that the ſame perſons do alledge, that the Makers of the ſaid Cottons, Frizes and Ruggs, can by no means be reduced to obſerve the ſaid weights, lengths, and breadths, in making of the ſaid cottons, frizes and ruggs, according to the form of the ſaid former Eſtatutes, without the utter undoing of great numbers of poor people, that are commonly the Makers of ſuch kind of clothes; and that by means hereof, the ſaid cottons, frizes and ruggs, ſithence the making of the ſaid Eſtatutes hath been, and are more ſcarce and dearer than they were before the making of the ſaid Eſtatutes, and in nothing at all amended in ſubſtance or form of making.

The weight, length, and breadth of Cottons.

Frizes or Ruggs.

For reformation thereof, Be it enacted, That from and after the firſt day of April next coming, every of the ſaid cottons, being ſufficiently milled or thicked, clean ſcowred, well wrought, and fully dryed, ſhall weigh xxi. pound at the leaſt, and ſhall contain in length xxi. goads, or xx. goads at the leaſt, and in breadth, at the moſt, three quarters of the yard, or within one nail of three quarters of the yard at the leaſt. And that every of the ſaid frizes or ruggs being thicked and fully dryed, ſhall weigh xliiii. pound at the leaſt, and ſhall contain in length, betwixt xxxv. yards, and xxxvii. yards, and ſhall contain in breadth at the moſt three quarters of the yard, or within one nail of three quarters at the leaſt, and not to be ſtrained upon the Teintors above one nail in breadth: And alſo if any of the ſaid cottons, frizes or ruggs, ſhall be of any greater length, than is before ſeverally expreſſed, that then every goad or yard ſo exceeding the ſaid ſeveral lengths, ſhall weigh after ſuch rate, as every goad or yard of ſuch Cottons, Frizes or Ruggs, containing the ſaid ſeveral lengths, ſhall or ought to weigh, upon pain of forfeiture for every goad or yard not weighing after ſuch rate xii. d.

And alſo if any of the ſaid Cottons, Frizes and Ruggs, ſhall be of any leſſe weight, than is before ſeverally limited and appointed, that then all and every ſuch perſon and perſons, that ſhall ſo ſell, or cauſe to be ſold, any ſuch Cotton, Frize or Rugg, ſhall forfeit for every pound lacking under iii, li. xii. d. and for every pound weight lacking above iii. li. v. s. The one half of which forfeitures ſhall be to our Soveraign Lady the Queens Highneſſe, her Heirs and Succeſſors, and the other half thereof to ſuch perſon or perſons that ſhall ſue for the ſame, by action of debt, bill, plaint, or information, in any of the Queens Majeſties Courts of Record, wherein no Eſſoine, Protection, or wager of Law ſhall be admitted or allowed for the Defendant.

All Acts made for the ſealing and making of cottons, frizes and ruggs, ſhall be void. 34 H. 8. 13.

And further, Be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all and every Branch, Clauſe, Sentence and Article ſpecified and contained in any other Acts of Parliament before this time made, concerning the ſealing and making of the ſaid Cottons, Frizes and Ruggs, ſhall be from henceforth utterly repealed, void, and of none effect: Any thing in the ſaid Acts contained to the contrary, in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

The liberties of Towns corporate in Lancaſhire ſaved.

Provided alwayes, That this Act ſhall not in any wiſe extend to be prejudicial or hurtful unto any Charter, or Liberty of any Borough or corporate Town, within the ſaid County Palatine of Lancaſter, concerning the making and putting to ſale of any woollen Cloth: Any thing therein contained to the contrary notwithſtanding.

FOraſmuch as in one Act made in the firſt Seſſion of this preſent Parliament, intituled, An Act againſt the carrying of Sheep-skins and pelts over the Sea, not being Staple-ware, there is contained one branch againſt the making of any Pelts by any perſon, other than ſuch as are permitted to make the ſame by the ſaid Statute. The execution of which branch hath been put in ſuſpence, by reaſon that ſome other parts of the ſame ſtatute, are ſuppoſed to be againſt the entercourſe of the low Countries of the King of Spain.

A repeal of ſo much onely of the ſtat. of 5 El. 22. as toucheth the tranſporting of tawed leather of ſheep-skins and lamb-skins.

Be it therefore declared and enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, that the ſaid firſt branch of the ſaid ſtatute, being not againſt the ſaid entercourſe, ſhall from henceforth be put in due execution. And forasmuch as great multitudes of the Queens Majeſties liege people, have been ſet on work by converting of Sheep-skins and Lamb-skins into tawed Leather and Parchment, here within this Realm, which by one other branch of the ſaid ſtatute is prohibited to be tranſported out of the Realm in Leather. And where the converting of ſuch skins into Leather and Parchment, hath been great maintainance of many thouſands of the Subjects of this Realm, and greater daily will be, to the great benefit of this Realm, if the ſaid firſt branch concerning making of Pelts, ſhould be duly put in execution, where otherwiſe, if the ſaid Pelts ſhould be tranſported into other Realms, the ſame would be an occaſion of the impoveriſhing of many of the natural Engliſh people of this Realm. Be it therefore enacted by authority of this preſent Parliament, That ſo much of the ſaid Statute, as concerneth the tranſporting of tawed Leather, to be made of Sheep-skins and Lamb-skins, ſhall from henceforth, as touching only the tranſporting of ſuch tawed Leather, be repealed and void: Any thing in the ſaid Statute to the contrary notwithſtanding. CAP. XVI.

The Sheriffwike of ſeveral Counties divided into two Sheriffs, which before had but one.

The cauſe that there was but one Sheriff before time of two Counties.

Whereas the Counties and Shires of Surry and Suſſex, Eſſex and Hertford, Somerſet and Dorſet, Warwick and Leiceſter, Nottingham and Derby, Oxon and Barks, of long time have had but one Sheriff to ſerve for two of the ſaid Counties, that is to ſay, one for Surry and Suſſex, and one other for Eſſex and Hertford, and one other for Somerſet and Dorſet, and one other for Warwick and Leiceſter, and one other for Nottingham and Derby, and one other for Oxon and Barks: The occaſion whereof, in the beginning (as it ſhould ſeem) was, for that every of the ſaid ſeveral Counties were not then ſo well inhabited with Gentlemen of good ability to ſerve in the ſaid Office, as (thanks be to God) they be at this preſent. And forasmuch as the Service and Charges of that Office of Sheriffwike of the ſaid Counties, is more than in times paſt it hath been, and is now commonly greater than one Sheriff is able to ſerve and ſupply: therefore ſuch Gentlemen as do dwell in the ſaid ſeveral Counties, are very deſirous to have for every of the ſaid Counties, one Sheriff to be yearly made and appointed for the ſame. And for that the having of ſeveral Sheriffs accordingly, cannot be hurtful to any, but thereby may grow ſome eaſe of charges and trouble to ſuch as ſhall hereafter be appointed to ſuch Office, and alſo the ſaid office better ſerved and executed, than heretofore hath been.

The reaſons why the Sheriff-wikes be divided.

There ſhall be one Sheriff of every of the Counties aforeſaid.

Be it therefore enacted by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That the Queens moſt excellent Majeſty, her Heirs and Succeſſors, Kings or Queens of this Realm, ſhall and may from and after the firſt day of November, which ſhall be in the year of our Lord God, a thouſand five hundred threeſcore and ſeven, yearly chuſe and make for every of the ſaid Counties before named, one ſufficient and able perſon, to be Sheriff of the ſame, in ſuch like manner and form as is and hath been uſed to be choſen, made, and done for any other County or Shire within this Realm: Any Law, Cuſtom, or Uſage, heretofore had or uſed to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding. And that every perſon which after the ſaid firſt day of November, ſhall be made and appointed Sheriff, for any of the ſaid Counties, ſhall be accomptable and uſed in the order of his account, and all other things and allowance to him to be made, in the Court of Exchequer, and all other Courts and Places, in ſuch manner and form as is commonly uſed for Sheriffs in like caſes.

The ſeverance of the proffers of the foreſaid Sheriff-wikes divided.

Provided alwayes, and be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the Barons of the Queens Highneſſe, her Heirs and Succeſſors, of the Court of Exchequer, for the time being, calling unto them as well her or their Graces Officers of Remembrancer, and the Treaſurers Remembrancer, together with the Clerk of the Pipe of the ſame Court, as alſo the ſeveral Sheriffs, the which next after the ſaid firſt day of November, ſhall be by her Highneſſe, her Heirs and Succeſſors, conſtituted, named and appointed, of every of the ſaid ſeveral Counties of Surry and Suſſex, Eſſex and Hertford, Somerſet and Dorſet, Warwick and Leiceſter, Nottingham and Derby, Oxon and Barks, ſhall have by vertue of this Act of Parliament, full power and authority, to ſever and divide by the diſcretion and judgment of the ſaid Barons, all and ſingular the Proffers of the ſaid Counties of Surry and Suſſex, Eſſex and Hertford, Somerſet and Dorſet, Warwick and Leiceſter, Nottingham and Derby, Oxon and Barks. The which ſaid ſeverance and diviſion of the ſaid Proffers, ſhall be entred of Record in the ſaid Court of Exchequer, and ſhall be final and perpetual, during ſo long time as this preſent Act of Parliament ſhall endure and have continuance.

The tail of reward ſhall be ſevered.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That in ſuch and the ſame manner and form as the ſaid Proffers ſhall be divided, even ſo the tail of reward of every of the aforeſaid Countries, where any tail of reward hereafter ſhall be taken, ſhall be ſevered and divided in manner and form aforeſaid.

Order for the payment of creation money, fees, and other money accuſtomed to be paid.

And be it likewiſe further Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That the ſaid Barons for the time being, of the Queens Highneſſe ſaid Court of Exchequer, and of her Heirs and Succeſſors, calling unto them the ſaid Officers of the Treaſurers Remembrancer, and the Clerk of the Pipe, ſhall have full power and authority from time to time, to take order and appointment for the true and ſpeedy payment and contentation of ſuch Creation-money, fees and annuities, and all other ſums of money as have been accuſtomed to have been paid, or of right ought to have been paid to any perſon or perſons, by the hands of the ſaid ſeveral Sheriffs. And that ſuch order, direction, and appointment ſo made, had, and taken by the ſaid Barons, in manner and form laſt before recited, ſhall be obſerved, performed, fulfilled and kept yearly, as well by both the Sheriffs of the ſaid ſeveral Counties of Surry and Suſſex, for the time being as by the ſaid ſeveral Sheriffs, for the time being, of the ſaid Counties of Eſſex and Hertford, and of Somerſet and Dorſet, and of Warwick and Leiceſter, and of Nottingham and Derby, and of Oxon and Barks: Any uſage, law or cuſtom to the contrary in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

But half the charges ſhall be paid by Sheriff-wikes divided in any Court of Record.

Provided alwayes, and be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no Sheriff hereafter to be choſen and made of any one of the ſaid Counties in this Act mentioned, ſhall pay in any Court of Record, for any duty belonging properly to the Office of Sheriff, any other fees or charges then only the one half of the charges and fees, which he ſhould be compelled to have paid, if he had been Sheriff of two of the ſaid Shires and Counties, as before the making of this Act was uſed, Any law, uſage or cuſtom to the contrary notwithſtanding.

This Act to continue and endure unto the end of three whole years, to be accounted from the Feaſt of All Saints, in the year of our Lord God, a thouſand five hundred threeſcore and ſeven, and from thence to the end of the next Parliament then next following the end of the ſaid three years, 13 El. 22. made perpetual, ſaving for the Sheriffs of Suſſex and Surry.

A rehearſal of the Act of 5 El. 1. touching the aboliſhing of the authority of the Biſhop and See of Rome.

16 R. 2. 5.

WHere in the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter, in the fifth year of the Reign of our Soveraign Lady the Queens Majeſty that now is, by one Act and Statute then and there made, entituled, An Act for the aſſurance of the Queens Majeſties Royal Power over all States and Subjects within her Highneſſe Dominions: it is among other things very well ordained and provided, for the aboliſhing of the uſurped power and juriſdiction of the Biſhop of Rome, and of the See of Rome, heretofore unlawfully claimed and uſurped within this Realm and other the Dominions to the Queens Majeſty belonging, That no perſon or perſons ſhall hold or ſtand with, to ſet forth, maintain, defend or extoll the ſame uſurped power, or attribute any manner of juriſdiction, authority, or preheminence to the ſame, to be had or uſed within this Realm, or any the ſaid Dominions, upon pain to incur the danger, penalties and forfeitures, ordained and provided by the Statute of Proviſion and Præmunire, made in the ſixteenth year of the Reign of King Richard the ſecond, as by the ſame Act more at large it doth and may appear: And yet neverthleſſe, divers ſeditious and very evil diſpoſed people, without the reſpect of their duty to Almighty GOD, or of the faith and allegiance which they ought to bear and have to our ſaid Soveraign Lady the Queen, and without all fear and regard had to the ſaid good Law and Statute, or the pains therein limited: but minding as it ſhould ſeem very ſeditiouſly and unnaturally, not onely to bring this Realm, and the Imperial Crown thereof (being in very deed of it ſelf moſt free) into the thraldom and ſubjection of that forraign, uſurped, and unlawful juriſdiction, preheminence and authority claimed by the ſaid See of Rome: but alſo to eſtrange and alienate the minds and hearts of ſundry her Majeſties Subjects from their dutiful obedience, and to raiſe and ſtirr ſedition and rebellion within this Realm, to the diſturbance of the moſt happy peace thereof, have lately procured and obtained to themſelves from the ſaid Biſhop of Rome and his ſaid See, divers Bulls and Writings, the effect whereof hath been, and is, to abſolve and reconcile all thoſe that will be contented to forſake their due obedience to our moſt gracious Soveraign Lady the Queens Majeſty, and to yield and ſubject themſelves to the ſaid fained, unlawful and uſurped authority: and by colour of the ſaid Bulls and writings, the ſaid wicked perſons very ſecretly, and moſt ſeditiouſly, in ſuch parts of this Realm where the people for want of good inſtruction are moſt weak, ſimple and ignorant, and thereby fartheſt from the good underſtanding of their duties towards God and the Queens Majeſty, have by their lewd and ſubtile practiſes and perſwaſions, ſo far forth wrought, that ſundry ſimple and ignorant perſons have been contented to be reconciled to the ſaid uſurped authority of the See of Rome, and to take abſolution at the hands of the ſaid naughty and ſubtile practiſers, whereby hath grown great diſobedience and boldneſſe in many, not only to withdraw and abſent themſelves from all divine Service, now moſt godly ſet forth and uſed within this Realm; but alſo have thought themſelves diſcharged of, and from all obedience, duty and allegeance to her Majeſty, whereby moſt wicked and unnatural rebellion hath enſued, and to the further danger of this Realm is hereafter very like to be renewed, if the ungodly and wicked attempts in that behalf be not by ſeverity of Lawes reſtrained and bridled.

The effect of Bulls brought from Rome.

For remedy and redreſſe whereof, and to prevent the great miſchiefs and inconveniences that thereby may enſue: Be it Enacted by the Queens moſt excellent Majeſty, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That if any perſon or perſons, after the firſt day of July next coming, ſhall uſe, or put in ure in any place within this Realm, or in any the Queens Dominions, any ſuch Bull, Writing or Inſtrument written or printed, of abſolution or reconciliation, at any time heretofore obtained and gotten, or at any time hereafter to be obtained or gotten from the ſaid Biſhop of Rome, or any his Succeſſors, or from any other perſon or perſons authorized, or claiming authority by or from the ſaid Biſhop of Rome, his Predeceſſors or Succeſſors, or See of Rome: Or if any perſon or perſons after the ſaid firſt day of July, ſhall take upon him or them by colour of any ſuch Bill, Writing, Inſtrument, or authority to abſolve or reconcile any perſon or perſons; or to grant or promiſe to any perſon or perſons within this Realm, or any other the Queens Majeſties Dominions, any ſuch abſolution or reconciliation, by any ſpeech, preaching, teaching, writing, or any other open deed: Or if any perſons within this Realm, or any the Queens Dominions, after the ſaid firſt day of July, ſhall willingly receive and take any ſuch abſolution or reconciliation.

And foraſmuch as many times it may come to paſs, that the Queens Highneſſe, her Heirs or Succeſſors, ſhall not or may not be conveniently ſatisfied of the debt to be determined or due upon any accompt or farm, as is aforeſaid, by way of extent, for that the yearly value of the Lands extended, will not ſatisfie her Highneſſe, her Heirs or Succeſſors, within the compaſſe of many years, ſo as thereby great loſſe might enſue to her Highneſſe, her Heirs and ſucceſſors. For remedy thereof, be it further enacted, That if any Treaſurer, Receiver, Collector, Farmer, Cuſtomer, Teller, Collector of cuſtom, ſubſidy or impoſt, or other perſon accomptant before mentioned, which ſhall from and after the Feaſt of S. Michael the Archangel, now next coming, receive or be chargeable with money or treaſure of our ſaid Soveraign Lady the Queen, her Heirs or Succeſſors, and ſhall upon the determining of his or their accompt (all his and their due petitions to them upon the ſame accompt being allowed) or by reaſon of any farm as aforeſaid, be found in arrearages, to owe unto our ſaid Soveraign Lady the Queen her Heirs or Succeſſors any ſum or ſums of money, and ſhall not within the ſpace of ſix months next after his or their accompts finiſhed, or debt known, (having allowance of his or their due and reaſonable Petitions, as is aforeſaid) truly ſatisfie and pay all ſuch arrearages and ſums of money, as he or they ſhall owe, upon determination of his or their accompt, or upon his or their debt known as is aforeſaid, that then it ſhall and may be lawful to the Queens Highneſs, her heirs and ſucceſſors, at any time, and from time to time after the ſaid ſix moneths ended, to make ſale by her or their Letters Patents, under the great Seal of England, of ſo much of the lands, tenements and hereditaments of every ſuch Accomptant or Debtor ſo being found in arrearages, or in debt, as is above mentioned, as may ſuffice our ſaid Soveraign Lady the Queen, her Heirs or Succeſſors for the ſatisfaction of his or their debt or arrearages, to be determined or adjudged upon his or their accompt or farm, as is aforeſaid, (all due petitions being allowed, as is aforeſaid) untill her Majeſty, her Heirs or Succeſſors, be by ſuch ſale fully ſatisfied and paid, of ſuch arrearages and debt to be found upon accompt or farm, as is aforeſaid.

Delivery of the overplus to the owner of the Land.

And if any overplus of money ſhall be reſerved or had upon any ſuch ſale, then the ſame ſhall be paid and delivered to the Accomptant or Farmer, or his heirs, by the officer that ſhall receive the mony upon any of the ſaid ſales, without any further or other warrant in that behalf to be made or obtained.

The ſale good againſt the Queen and accomptant.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That all the ſaid ſales to be made by the Queens Majeſty, her heirs or ſucceſſors, as is aforeſaid, ſhall be good and available in Law againſt the party accomptant, indebted, as is aforeſaid, and his heirs claiming as heirs, and againſt the Queens Majeſty, her Heirs and Succeſſors, notwithſtanding any former charge or encumbrance to her Majeſty, her Heirs and Succeſſors, by the perſon or perſons for whoſe debt or duty the ſame ſhall fortune to be ſold.

Accomptant purchaſeth Lands in others names.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any perſon or perſons accomptant [a] or indebted as is aforeſaid, ſhall at any time after he or they ſhall become accomptant or chargeable as is aforeſaid, purchaſe & buy, or cauſe to be purchaſed and bought any lands, tenements or hereditaments, and cauſe the aſſurance thereof to be made in the name of any other perſon or perſons, where the ſame is indeed meant or intended, to the uſe, profit or behoof of ſuch perſon accomptant or indebted, or of any other perſon or perſons, & that the ſame manner of purchaſing, and ſecret uſes, profits or behoof, ſhall be found by office or inquiſition, That then all and every lands, tenements and hereditaments, ſo to be bought or purchaſed or cauſed to be purchaſed (as is before mentioned in this laſt proviſo) ſhall by vertue of this Act, be taken, deemed and uſed for the ſatisfaction of the arrearages and debt of every ſuch accomptant or debtor, as is above mentioned, to all intents and purpoſes, as though the perſon or perſons indebted, upon his or their accompt or farm, were thereof actually ſeized of ſuch eſtate that was conveyed to any perſon or perſons, by any ſuch accomptant or debtor, or by his means as is aforeſaid: And that all ſales to be thereof made by the Queens Majeſty, her Heirs or Succeſſors, for ſatisfaction of ſuch debt or arrearages as ſhall be found as is aforeſaid, to be due and owing to our ſaid Soveraign Lady the Queen, her Heirs and Succeſſors, ſhall be of the like effect, and be uſed and done in ſuch like manner and form, as is before expreſſed.

[a] Dyer, fol. 160.

And whereas heretofore ſome Treaſurers, Tellers, Receivers, Collectors, and others, having had charge of the Queens Majeſties money and treaſure, have gotten into their hands great ſums of the Queens Majeſties money & treaſure, ſithence the beginning of her Majeſties reign, and have moſt fraudulently imployed her Majeſties money and treaſure, which they had in their charge, in ſundry wiſe to their own uſes, partly in the purchaſing her Majeſties own lands, and partly in purchaſing lands of others: and to the intent the ſame ſhould not be liable to ſatisfie and pay her Majeſtie, her Heirs or Succeſſors, of that which to her or them ſhould appertain, have purchaſed the ſame ſometimes in their own names and ſometimes in the names of ſundry their friends and kinsfolks, wives or children, and yet neverthelеſſe have taken and received the rents and revenues thereof to their own uſes.

Lands purchaſed by accomptants ſince the beginning of the Queens reign.

Be it therefore further enacted and ordained by the authority aforeſaid, That all and ſingular lands, tenements and hereditaments, which any Treaſurer, Receiver, Teller, Cuſtomer, Collector, Officer or Accomptant before named, hath heretofore ſince the beginning of the Queens Majeſties reign purchaſed, or cauſed to be purchaſed, to the intent the ſame ſhould not be liable, as is aforeſaid (the fraud and covin aforeſaid, being firſt found by office or inquiſition) ſhall and may be ſeized and taken by her Maieſty, her Heirs and Succeſſors, and retained by her Maieſty, her Heirs and Succeſſors, in fee-ſimple, to be ſold or otherwiſe uſed at her and their wills and pleaſures, towards the payment and ſatisfaction of all and every arrearages already ſet or determined and adjudged, or that hereafter ſhall be ſet, determined or adjudged, upon his or their accompt (all reaſonable and due petitions being allowed) at ſuch rate and value, as the ſame were purchaſed or bought, or cauſed to be purchaſed or bought, by any ſuch Treaſurer, Receiver, Teller, Cuſtomer or Collector, before named, or by any other perſon to their uſe.

The Queen ſhall ſeize only ſo much land as will ſatisfie her.

Provided alwayes, That if the Lands and Tenements ſo to be ſeized, taken or ſold by her Majeſty, her Heirs or Succeſſors, as is laſt above mentioned, do ſurmount after the rate and value aforeſaid, the debt and arrearages to be ſet, determined and adjudged, upon the accompt of any Treaſurer, Receiver, Teller, Cuſtomer, Collector or Accomptant before named: that then her Majeſty, her Heirs and Succeſſors, ſhall take and ſeize only ſo much as ſhall amount after the rate and value aforeſaid, to the juſt payment and ſatisfaction of ſuch debt and arrearages, as hath been or ſhall be ſet, determined, or adjudged, upon his or their accompt, as is aforeſaid.

No Biſhops lands ſhall be chargeable.

Provided alwayes, and be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That no Biſhop having the collection of any Subſidie or Tenths or any his lands, tenements or hereditaments, whereof he is ſeized in the right of his Biſhoprick, ſhall be charged by vertue of this Act, for any arrearages of Tenths or Subſidy, or otherwiſe or in any other manner then he might lawfully have been before the making of this Act: Any thing herein contained to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding.

Accomptants whoſe receipt exceedeth not 300 l.

And be it alſo further provided and enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act or any thing therein contained, ſhall not in any wiſe extend to Charge any Treaſurer, Receiver, Teller, Cuſtomer, Collector or Accomptant aforeſaid, having any yearly receipt, nor any their lands, tenements or hereditaments, whoſe yearly receipt, collection and charge, or whoſe whole receipt from the beginning of his charge, is not or hath not been, or hereafter ſhall not be, above the ſume of CCC li. otherwiſe, or in any other manner and form, then he or they might lawfully have been charged before the making of this Act: Any thing herein contained to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding.

And foraſmuch as ſundry the Accomptants before named, namely, the Treaſurer of the Chamber, and Coferer of the houſhold of our ſaid Soveraign Lady the Queen, her Heirs and Succeſſors, Treaſurers of Wars or Garriſons, Treaſurers of the Navy, Treaſurers or Receivers of any ſums of money for proviſion of victual, or for fortifications, or for buildings, and Maſter of the Wardrobe, are by order of their offices and charge, after their accompts ended and determined, to diſburſe, expend and defray the debt remaining upon their accompts, in ſuch charges as are neceſſarily and incidently to be ſpent and provided in their offices and charges, ſo as they are not of ſuch ſums of money, or debt remaining upon their accompt, to make preſent payment and ſatisfaction as other accomptants are:

Accomptants which are not to make preſent payment.

Be it therefore enacted and ordained by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act or any thing therein contained, ſhall not extend to give any power or authority to make ſale of any lands, tenements or hereditaments, for any ſuch debt to be ſet and adjudged in any of his or their accompts mentioned in this branch, unleſſe the Queens Majeſty, her Heirs and Succeſſors, upon the ending or determining of his or their accompts (all his or their due petitions to them upon the ſame accompts being allowed) require or command preſent payment thereof, or otherwiſe eftſoons require a new accompt of the ſame debt, ſo ſet or remaining in any the accompts mentioned in this branch: and that then the ſame debt, or any part thereof ſhall be found to be owing and unexpended in the matters or charges pertaining to any of their ſaid offices or charges mentioned in this branch, and the ſame debt remain unpaid by the ſpace of ſix moneths after ſuch requeſt or commandement.

Provided alway, That this Act ſhall not extend to charge any Sheriff, Eſcheator or Bayliff of Liberties, or the lands, tenements or hereditaments of any Sheriff, Eſcheator or Bayliff of Liberties, nor of any their heirs or aſſigns, for any thing touching his or their office of Sheriffwike, Eſcheatorſhip or Bayliffwike, nor for any money by him or them received, or to be received, by reaſon of any their ſaid offices, otherwiſe, or in any other manner then he or they might lawfully have been charged before the making of this Act: Any thing herein contained to the contrary notwithſtanding.

This Act ſhall not charge any Sheriff, Eſcheator, or Bayliff of Liberties.

Provided alſo, That this Act as touching only the ſale of any lands or tenements, ſhall not extend to any lands, tenements or hereditaments, which any perſon or perſons now have or enjoy, and have purchaſed or obtained Bona fide, and not being privy or conſenting unto any ſuch intent to defraud the Queens Majeſty, as is abovesaid. And that it ſhall be lawful to every perſon and perſons, whoſe lands, tenements or hereditaments, ſhall by any office or inquiſition, be found to be fraudulently conveyed or aſſured as is aboveſaid, to have his or their lawful Traverſe to every ſuch office or inquiſition: and if it be found with the party that tendereth the Traverſe, that then he ſhall have the ſaid lands out of the Prince's hands, without any petition, livery, or Ouſter le maine, or any other ſuit to be had, made or uſed: and the ſame being found, for ſuch perſon or perſons ſo traverſing the ſame lands, tenements and hereditaments, ſhall be adjudged as not liable, chargeable, nor to be ſold by force of this Statute.

Lands purchaſed Bona fide.

Any party grieved may have the Traverſe.

Provided alſo, and be it Enacted, That if the Queens Majeſty, her Heirs or Succeſſors, ſhall by any ſale of lands, by force of this Statute, be fully ſatisfied of the debt or arrearages of any ſuch accomptant, or debtor, or any part thereof, then the Sureties of ſuch accomptant or debtor ſhall be diſcharged of ſo much of the debt, forfeiture and arrearage, as ſo ſhall be ſatisfied, and ſo for the reſidue only, ſhall be ratably, according to their abilities charged: Any thing in this or any other Statute to the contrary notwithſtanding.

If the Queen do ſell the accomptants lands, his ſureties ſhall be diſcharged for ſo much.

Provided alwayes, That this Act nor any thing therein contained, ſhall in any wiſe extend to charge Henry Golding Eſquire, and Thomas Neale one of the Queens Majeſties Auditors, or the Lands or Tenements of either of them, to whom the Queens Majeſty hath demiſed any Cuſtoms, Subſidies or Impoſts, in any thing only touching the ſaid demiſe and leaſe, otherwiſe, or in any other manner than they might have been lawfully charged if this Act had never been had or made, except they or either of them do hereafter take any of the profits of the ſaid Subſidies, Cuſtoms or Impoſts, by force of the ſaid demiſe: Any thing herein contained to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding. 14 Eliz. 7. 27 Eliz. 3. 1 Jac. 25.

Provided always, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That ſuch of the ſaid Commiſſioners as ſhall put the ſaid Commiſſion in execution, ſhall upon lawful requeſt to them made by the ſaid Bankrupts, not only make a true declaration to the ſame Bankrupt, of the imploying and beſtowing of their ſaid lands, tenements, offices, fees, goods, chattels and debts ſo payed and ſatisfied to their ſaid creditors, but alſo make payment of the overplus of the ſame if any ſuch ſhall be to the ſaid bankrupts, their executors, adminiſtrators, or aſſigns.

The remedy where goods or debts of Bankrupts be in the hands of others.

And be it further enacted by authority aforeſaid, that if after any ſuch act or offence committed, and complaint thereof made to the ſaid Commiſſioners ſo to be appointed, as is aforeſaid, or the more part of them by any party grieved, as is aforeſaid, concerning the premiſſes, knowing, ſuppoſing, or ſuſpecting any of the goods, chattels, wares, merchandiſes, or debts of ſuch offendor or offendors, debtor or debtors, to be in the cuſtody, uſe, occupying, keeping or poſſeſſion of any perſon or perſons; or any perſon or perſons to be indebted to any ſuch offendor or offendors; do make relation thereof to the ſaid Commiſſioners ſo to be appointed, or the more part of them: that then the ſaid Commiſſioners, or the moſt part of them, ſhall by vertue hereof, and of the ſaid Commiſſion, have full power and authority to ſend for, and call before them by ſuch proceſſe, wayes or means, as they ſhall think convenient by their diſcretions, all and every ſuch perſon and perſons ſo known, ſuſpected, or ſuppoſed to have any ſuch goods, chattels, wares, merchandizes, or debts, in his or their cuſtody, uſe, occupation, keeping, or poſſeſſion, or ſuppoſed, or ſuſpected to be indebted to ſuch offendor or offendors, and upon their appearance, to examine them, and every of them, as well by their oaths as otherwiſe, by ſuch wayes and means as the ſaid Commiſſioners, or the more part of them by their diſcretions ſhall think meet and convenient, for and upon the ſpecialty, certainty, true declaration and knowledge of all and ſingular ſuch goods, chattels, wares, merchandizes, and debts of any ſuch offendor or offendors, as be ſuppoſed or ſuſpected to be in his or their cuſtody, uſe, occupation or poſſeſſion, and all ſuch debts, as by them, ſhall be ſuppoſed or ſuſpected to be owing to any ſuch offendor or offendors.

The penalty of ſuch as be examined, that will not diſcloſe the truth, or refuſe to ſwear.

And if any ſuch perſon or perſons upon examination, do not diſcloſe and plainly declare, and ſhew the whole truth of ſuch things as he or they ſhall be examined of concerning the premiſſes to his knowledg, or do deny to ſwear, then every ſuch perſon or perſons ſo denying to ſwear, or, being examined, do not declare the plain and whole truth concerning the premiſſes, upon due proof thereof to be made before the ſaid Commiſſioners, or the more part of them ſo to be appointed, as is aforeſaid, by witneſſe, examination, or otherwiſe, as to the ſaid Commiſſioners, or the more part or them ſhall ſeem ſufficient in that behalf, ſhall loſe and forfeit double the value of all ſuch goods, chattels, wares, merchandizes, and debts, by them or any of them ſo concealed, and not wholly and plainly declared and ſhewed: which forfeiture ſhall be levyed by the ſaid Commiſſioners, or the more part of them of the Lands, Tenements, Hereditaments, Goods and Chattels, of ſuch perſon ſo denying to ſwear, or not diſcloſing the whole truth, as is aforeſaid, by ſuch wayes and means, and in ſuch manner and form, as is before limited and appointed for the principall offendor or offendors debtor or debtors, and the ſame forfeiture or forfeitures to be diſtributed or imployed to and for the ſatiſfaction and payment of the debts of the ſaid Creditor or Creditors, in ſuch like manner, rate, and form, as is before declared, concerning the ordering of the Lands, and Tenements, offices, fees, goods and chattels of ſuch offendor or offendors, debtor or debtors, as is aforeſaid.

A remedy againſt them which do detain the goods of Bankrupts.

And be it further enacted, That if at any time, before or after that any ſuch perſon or perſons departeth the Realm, or ſhall keep his or their houſe or houſes, or otherwiſe abſent him or themſelves, or take ſanctuary, or ſuffer him or themſelves to be arreſted, outlawed, or yield his or their bodies to priſon, as is aforeſaid; any perſon or perſons do fraudulently, by covin or colluſion, claim, demand, recover, poſſeſſe, or detain any debts, duties, goods, chattels, lands, or tenements by writing, truſt, or otherwiſe, which were or ſhall be due, belonging or appertaining to any ſuch offendor or offendors, other than ſuch as he or they can and do prove to be due by right and conſcience in form aforeſaid, for mony paid, wares delivered, or other juſt conſideration or cauſe reaſonable, to the juſt value thereof, before the ſaid Commiſſioners ſo to be appointed, or the more part of them, as is aforeſaid, and the ſame to proceed (bona fide) without fraud or covin: that then every ſuch perſon or perſons, ſo craftily demanding, claiming, having, poſſeſſing, or detaining any ſuch debt, duty, or other thing as is aforeſaid, ſhall forfeit and loſe double as much as he or they ſhall ſo claim, demand, detain or poſſeſs; which ſaid forfeiture ſhall be levied, recovered, and imployed in manner and form as is afore rehearſed,

How the forfeitures ſhall be beſtowed after the bankrupts debts be paid.

Provided alſo, and be it enacted by authority aforeſaid, That if it ſhall fortune the Creditors of any ſuch bankrupt, as is aforeſaid, to be ſatiſfied and payed of their debts and duties, of, or with the proper lands, tenements, goods, chattels, and debts of the ſaid bankrupts or of, or with the ſame and ſome part of the forfeitures of the ſaid double values to be forfeited, as is aforeſaid, and that there ſhall remain an overplus of the ſaid forfeiture of the ſaid double values: that then the one moity of the ſaid overplus of the ſaid forfeitures of the double values ſo remaining, ſhall be by the ſaid Commiſſioners ſo executing the ſaid Commiſſion, within convenient time after the levying thereof, paid unto the Queens Majeſty, her

Heirs and Succeſſors; and the other moiety thereof ſhall be by the ſaid Commiſſioners, employed and diſtributed to, and amongſt the poor within the Hoſpitals in every City, Town, or County, where any ſuch Bankrupt ſhall happen to be: Any thing in this Act to the contrary thereof notwithſtanding.

A remedy againſt him which withdraweth himſelf from his dwelling place.

And be it further enacted by authority aforeſaid, that if any ſuch perſon or perſons which is or ſhall be indebted, do of purpoſe withdraw him or themſelves out of or from his or their uſual manſion houſe or houſes: that then upon complaint thereof made to the ſaid Commiſſioners having authority, as is aforeſaid, the ſame Commiſſioners, or the more part of them, ſhall by vertue and authority of this preſent Act, have full power and authority to award five Proclamations to be made in the Queens name, upon five ſundry market dayes, in ſuch places near the place where ſuch Bankrupt hath moſt commonly dwelled or made his abode, commanding him or them by the ſame Proclamation in the Queens name to return with all convenient ſpeed, and to yield his or their body before the ſaid Commiſſioners, having authority as is aforeſaid, or one of them, at ſuch time and place as by the ſaid Proclamation ſhall be appointed: and if the ſaid perſon do not according to ſuch Proclamation repair and yield his or their body, as is aforeſaid; that then the body of all and every ſuch offendor or offendors ſhall be adjudged, taken and deemed to all intents and purpoſes out of the Queens protection: and that alſo every perſon and perſons that ſhall willingly and wittingly help to hide or convey, or ſhall willingly and wittingly receive, detain or keep ſecretly any perſon or perſons ſo demanded by Proclamation as is aforeſaid, ſhall ſuffer ſuch pains by impriſonment of his or their bodies, or pay ſuch fine to our Soveraign Lady the Queens Majeſty, her Heirs and Succeſſors, as to the ſaid Lord Chancellor, or Lord Keeper of the great Seal (being informed thereof) by the Commiſſioners ſo to be appointed as is aforeſaid, or the more part of them, ſhall ſeem meet and convenient for their ſaid offence or offences.

The penalty of a Bankrupt not yielding himſelf after Proclamation, and of ſuch as do hide or receive him.

A remedy for the creditor, if he be not ſatisfied of his whole debt.

Provided alwaies, and be it further Enacted, That if the creditors of any ſuch offendor or offendors, debtor or debtors, which ſo do depart the Realm, keep his or their houſe or houſes, or otherwiſe abſent or withdraw him or themſelves into places unknown, or take Sanctuary, or will ſuffer him or themſelves to be arreſted or outlawed, or yield his or their bodies into priſon purpoſely, and for the cauſes aforeſaid, be not fully ſatisfied, or otherwiſe contented for their debts and duties by the wayes and means before ſpecified and declared: that then the ſaid creditor or creditors, and every of them, ſhall and may have their remedy for the recovery and levying of the reſidue of their ſaid debts or duties, whereof they ſhall not be fully ſatisfied, paid, or otherwiſe contented in form aforeſaid, againſt the ſaid offendor or offendors, in like manner and form as they ſhould and might have had before the making of this Act. And that the ſaid creditor or creditors, and every of them, ſhall be only barred and excluded, by vertue of this Act, of and for every ſuch part and portion of the ſaid debts and duties as ſhall be paid, ſatisfied, diſtributed, or delivered unto him or them by order of the ſaid perſons, as is aforeſaid, and of no more portion or parcel thereof: Any thing herein ſpecified that may be taken or conſtrued to the contrary notwithſtanding.

Lands, &c. extendable which be purchaſed, or do deſcend to a Bankrupt.

Provided always, and be it alſo enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any perſon or perſons which is or ſhall be publiſhed and declared to be a Bankrupt by vertue of this Act, ſhall at any time after purchaſe any Lands, Tenements, Hereditaments, free or copy, offices, fees, goods or chattels: or that any Lands, Tenements, Hereditaments, free or copy, offices, fees, goods or chattels ſhall deſcend, revert, or by any means come to any ſuch perſon or perſons being Bankrupts, as is aforeſaid, before ſuch time as their debts due to their creditors ſhall be fully ſatisfied and payed, or otherwiſe agreed for: that then the ſaid Lands, Tenements, Hereditaments, as well free as copy, offices, fees, goods and chattels, ſhall by vertue of this Act, by the ſaid Commiſſioners to be appointed, as is aforeſaid, or the more part of them, be bargained, ſold, extended, delivered and uſed for and towards the payment of the ſaid creditors, in ſuch like manner and form as other the lands, tenements, hereditaments, free or copy, offices, fees, goods and chattels of the ſaid Bankrupts, which they had when they were declared firſt to be Bankrupts, ſhould or might have been bargained, ſold, diſpoſed, or uſed by vertue of this Act.

Lands conveyed away before the party become Bankrupt.

Provided always, That this Act ſhall not extend to any Lands, Tenements, or Hereditaments, free or copy-hold, which heretofore have been aſſured by any ſuch Bankrupt, or hereafter ſhall be aſſured by any Bankrupt before he become Bankrupt: ſo that alwayes ſuch aſſurance be made [a] bona fide, and not to the uſe of the Bankrupt himſelf only, or of his Heirs: and that the parties to whoſe uſe ſuch aſſurance hath or ſhall be made, be not at or before the making of ſuch aſſurance, privy or conſenting to the fraudulent purpoſe of any ſuch Bankrupt, to deceive his creditors. 1 Jac. 15. 21 Jac. 19.

CAP. VIII.

The Statute of 37 H.8. 9. revived, and the Statute of 5 Ed. 5. 20. repealed: both which were made againſt Uſury, &c.

37 H. 8. 9.

VVhereas in the Parliament holden the ſeven and thirtieth year of the Reign of our late Soveraign Lord King Henry the eighth of famous memory, there was then made and eſtabliſhed one good Act for the reformation of Uſury, by which Act the vice of uſury was well repreſſed, and ſpecially the corrupt chevIſauce and bargaining by way of ſale of wares, and ſhifts of intereſt. And where ſince that time by one other Act made in the fifth and ſixth years of the reign of our late Soveraign Lord King Edward the ſixth, the ſaid former Act was repealed, and new proviſoes for repreſſing of Uſury deviſed and enacted: which ſaid later Act hath not done ſo much good as was hoped it ſhould, but rather the ſaid vice of Uſury, and ſpecially by way of ſale of wares, and ſhifts of intereſt, hath much more exceedingly abounded, to the utter undoing of many Gentlemen, Merchants, Occupiers, and others, and to the importable hurt of the Common-wealth, as well for that in the ſaid later

5 Ed. 6. 10.

ter Act there is no proviſion againſt ſuch corrupt ſhifts and ſales of wares, as alſo for that there is no difference of pain, forfeiture, or puniſhment, upon the greater or leſſer exactions and oppreſſions, by reaſon of lones upon Uſury.

The Stat. of 5 & 6 Ed. 6, 20. repealed, and the Stat. of 37 H. 8. 9. revived.

Be it therefore enacted, That the ſaid later Statute made in the fifth and ſixth years of the reign of King Edward the ſixth, and every branch and Article of the ſame, from and after the five and twentieth day of June next coming, ſhall be utterly abrogated, repealed and made void: and that the ſaid Act made in the ſeven and thirtieth year of King Henry the eighth, from and after the ſaid five and twentieth day of June next coming, ſhall be revived, and ſtand in full force, ſtrength and effect.

All contracts and aſſurances whereby above 10 li. in the 100 li. ſhall be reſerved, ſhall be void.

Cro. El. 25, pl. 3. 245, 588, 741. Cro. Jac. 35, 32. 677.

And be it further Enacted, That all bonds, contracts, and aſſurances, collateral or other, to be made for payment of any principal or money to be lent, or covenant to be performed upon or for any uſury in lending or doing of any thing againſt the ſaid Act now revived, upon or by which lone or doing there ſhall be reſerved or taken above the rate of x. l. for the hundred for one year, ſhall be utterly void.

Raſt. pla fo, 689. The penalty of Brokers and Drivers of uſurious bargains. Cok. pla. fol. 435.

And be it further Enacted, That all Brokers, Solicitors, and Drivers of bargains for contracts or other doings againſt the ſaid Statute now revived, whereupon ſhall be reſerved or taken more than after the rate of ten pound for the lone of one hundred pound for a year, ſhall be to all intents and purpoſes judged, puniſhed and uſed as Councellors, Atturneys or Advocates, in any caſe of Præmunire.

He that taketh x. li. or leſſe for the lone of 100 li. ſhall forfeit the intereſt only.

And foraſmuch as all Uſury, being forbidden by the Law of God, is ſin and deteſtable: Be it Enacted, That all uſury, lone, and forbearing of money, or giving dayes for forbearing of money, by way of lone, cheviſance, ſhifts, ſale of wares, contracts, or other doings whatſoever for gain, mentioned in the ſaid Statute, which is now revived, whereupon is reſerved or taken, or covenanted to be reſerved, payed, or given to the lender, contracter, ſhifter, forbearer, or deliverer, above the ſum of ten pound for the lone or forbearing of a hundred pound for one year, or after that rate for a more or leſſer ſum or time, ſhall be from the five and twentieth day of June next coming, puniſhed in form following; that is to ſay, that every ſuch offendor againſt this branch of this preſent Statute, ſhall forfeit ſo much as ſhall be reſerved by way of uſury, above the principal, for any money ſo to be lent or forborn. All ſuch forfeitures to be recovered and imployed, as is limited for forfeitures by the ſaid former Statutes now revived.

Which Magiſtrates may hear and determine the offences aforeſaid.

Cro. El. 25, pl. 21.

And be it further Enacted, That Juſtices of Oyer and Terminer, and Juſtices of Aſſiſe in their Circuits, Juſtices of Peace in their Seſſions, Mayors, Sheriffs, and Bayliffs of Cities, ſhall alſo have full power and authority to enquire, hear and determine of all and ſingular offences committed againſt the ſaid Statute now revived.

The Statute of 37 H. 8. 9. ſhall be conſtrued ſtrongly for the repreſſing of Uſury.

a Coke l. 3, fol. 89.

And be it further Enacted, That the ſaid Statute now revived ſhall be moſt largely and ſtrongly conſtrued for the [a] repreſſing of Uſury againſt all perſons that ſhall offend againſt the true meaning of the ſaid Statute by any way or device, directly or indirectly.

Provided alway, That this Statute doth not extend, nor ſhall be expounded to extend unto any allowances or payments for the finding of Orphans, according to the ancient rates or cuſtoms of the City of London, or any other City where like order is for the cuſtody of Orphans and their goods, as in the ſaid City of London.

In what caſe an offendor ſhall be alſo puniſhed by the Eccleſiaſtical Law.

Provided alwayes, and be it further Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if any perſon or perſons, ſhall from and after the ſaid five and twentieth day of June offend contrary to the ſaid Statute revived by this preſent Act, made in the ſeven and thirtieth year of the reign of the ſaid late King Henry the eighth: that then all and every ſuch offendor and offendors, ſhall and may alſo be puniſhed and corrected according to the Eccleſiaſtical Lawes heretofore made againſt uſury. And that all and every perſon and perſons offending in uſury, ſhifts, or cheviſance againſt this preſent Act, and not taking or receiving but only after the rate of ten pounds in the hundred, or under, for a year, ſhall be only puniſhed by the pains and forfeitures provided and appointed by this Act, againſt ſuch as ſhall not take or receive over and above the rate of x. li. in the hundred for a year, and not otherwiſe. This Act to continue and endure for and during the ſpace of five years, next after the end of this preſent Parliament, and from thence unto the end of the firſt Seſſion of the Parliament then next enſuing.

And be it further Enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That if this preſent Act ſhall not be continued in the firſt Seſſion of the Parliament next enſuing the ſaid term of five years, and then in the ſame Seſſion no other Statute or proviſion made againſt uſury or corrupt cheviſance: that then all and every the Laws and Statutes repealed by this Act, ſhall remain and be of ſuch like force and effect, as if this preſent Act had never been had, ne made. 39 Eliz. 18. made perpetual. CAP. IX.

How long the Commiſſion of Sewers, and the Commiſſioners orders ſhall be in force: And who may be Commiſſioners, and who not, &c.

Stat. 3 Ed. 6. 9.

Foraſmuch as no Commiſſion of Sewers, by the Eſtatutes heretofore made, may have continuance above the ſpace of five years: Be it therefore Enacted by the Queens moſt excellent Majeſty, with the aſſent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and the Commons in this preſent Parliament aſſembled, and by the authority of the ſame, That from henceforth all and every Commiſſion and Commiſſions of Sewers, now ſtanding in force, or that hereafter ſhall be granted and made, ſhall ſtand and continue in force for the term of ten years, next enſuing the date of every ſuch Commiſſion, unleſſe the ſame Commiſſion or Commiſſions be or hereafter ſhall be repealed or determined, by reaſon of any new Commiſſion in that behalf made, or by Superſedeas. And that all ſuch Lawes, Ordinances, and Conſtitutions, as be or ſhall be duly made by force of any ſuch Commiſſion, according to the St. 23 H. 8. 5. A Commiſſion of Sewers ſhall continue ten years.

the tenour and effect limited in any former Statute heretofore made touching Commiſſion or Commiſſions of Sewers, and being written in Parchment indented, and under the Seals of the ſaid Commiſſioners, or ſix of them (whereof the one part ſhall remain with the Clerk appointed and to be appointed for the Commiſſion of Sewers for the time being, and the other part in ſuch place as the ſame Commiſſioners, or ſix of them ſhall order and appoint) ſhall without any Certificate thereof to be made into the Court of Chancery, and without the royal aſſent to the ſame had, ſtand and continue in full force and effect, notwithſtanding any determination of any ſuch Commiſſion by Superſedeas, untill ſuch time, as the ſame Laws, Conſtitutions and Ordinances ſhall be altered, repealed, or made void by the Commiſſioners after to be aſſigned and appointed for Sewers, in thoſe parts where the ſame Laws, &c. Ordinances and Conſtitutions were made, ordained and conſtituted, or by ſix of them.

The orders of the Commiſſioners of Sewers ſhall be of force without the certificate of them or the royal aſſent.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, that at all times from and after the end and expiration of the term of ten years, next enſuing the date or teſte of any Commiſſion of Sewers hereafter to be made, all ſuch Laws, Ordinances, and Conſtitutions, as were made by vertue of any ſuch Commiſſion, and written in parchment indented and ſealed, as is above mentioned, without Certificate thereof, or the aſſent royal to the ſame had, as is aforeſaid, ſhall notwithſtanding the determination of any ſuch Commiſſion, by the expiration of the term of ten years, next enſuing the date of any ſuch Commiſſion of Sewers, likewiſe continue in force for and by the ſpace of one whole year then next enſuing: and that the Juſtices of Peace in the Shire and Shires, where the ſame Laws, Ordinances, and Conſtitutions are to be executed within their ſeveral Commiſſions or Limits, or ſix of them, whereof two to be of the Quorum, ſhall have power and authority, by the ſpace of one whole year next after the expiration of every ſuch Commiſſion, to execute the ſame Laws, Ordinances and Conſtitutions, and every of them, as fully, and in as ample manner and form as the Commiſſioners, or any of them, named and appointed, in every or any Commiſſion ſo expired, might or ſhould have done, to all intents and purpoſes, as if the ſaid Commiſſion or Commiſſions had continued in force.

The Commiſſioners of Sewers orders ſhall continue, though the Commiſſion do expire.

The Juſtices of Peace may for one year execute the Commiſſion of Sewers, unleſs a new Commiſſion be granted.

Provided alwayes, and be it nevertheleſſe enacted, That if any new Commiſſion of Sewers ſhall be made within the ſaid year, that then immediately from and after ſuch Commiſſion newly made and publiſhed, the power of the ſaid Juſtices of the Peace, and every of them, in any wiſe concerning the execution of any ſuch Laws, Ordinances and Conſtitutions of Sewers, ſhall utterly ceaſe: any thing or things in this Act to the contrary expreſſed in any wiſe notwithſtanding.

And be it further enacted, That no Farmor or Farmors, for term of years, of any Manors, Lands or Tenements, lying or being within the precincts or limits of any ſuch Commiſſion of Sewers, which be, or hereafter may be ordered and chargeable by any Laws, Ordinances or Conſtitutions, made or to be made by vertue of any ſuch Commiſſion, wherein he or they ſhall be named or appointed Commiſſioner or Commiſſioners, not having eſtate of freehold within the Realm of England, of or in Manors, Lands or Tenements, of the yearly value of forty pounds, ſhall at any time hereafter have power to ſit, or in any wiſe intermeddle with the execution of ſuch Commiſſion or Commiſſions, during the time he or they ſhall continue, or be ſuch Farmor or Farmors of any ſuch Manors, Lands or Tenements, and ſhall not have eſtate of freehold, as is aforeſaid: but that every ſuch Commiſſion, as having reſpect only to every ſuch perſon or perſons, for ſuch and ſo long time as he or they ſhall be and continue Farmor or Farmors of any ſuch Manors, Lands or Tenements, ſhall be deemed and adjudged in Law to be as void, and of none effect: Any thing in the ſame Commiſſion, or any Statute or Law heretofore made to the contrary notwithſtanding.

A Farmor of Lands chargeable, ſhall not be Commiſſioner within the ſame precinct.

And be it further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That from henceforth the ſaid Commiſſioners, or any of them, ſhall not be compelled or compellable to make any Certificate or Return of the ſaid Commiſſions, or any of them, or of any their Ordinances, Laws, or Doings, by the authority of any the ſaid Commiſſions, nor ſhall have any Fine, Pain, or Amerciament ſet upon them, or any of them, or any wayes to be moleſted in Body, Lands, or Goods for that cauſe.

There ſhall be no certificate or return of the Commiſſion.

And yet nevertheleſſe, to the intent the Queens Majeſty our Soveraign Lady, her Heirs and Succeſſors, may at all times hereafter be truly anſwered of all ſuch Iſſues, Fines, and Amerciaments as ſhall happen, grow, or be forfeited by vertue of any ſuch Commiſſion, or by the execution thereof: Be it alſo enacted, That the Clerk and Clerks appointed, and hereafter to be appointed, for and in any ſuch Commiſſion and Commiſſions of Sewers, ſhall yearly truly eſtreat all the ſaid Iſſues, Fines, Penalties, Forfeitures, and Amerciaments that ſhall be due and anſwerable to her Highneſſe, her Heirs and Succeſſors, and the ſame eſtreats ſhall yearly deliver into the Court of the Exchequer, at ſuch time and times, and in ſuch manner and form, as Juſtices aſſigned to and for the conſervation of the peace in any wiſe ſhould or ought to do by vertue of their Commiſſion, upon pain to forfeit to our Soveraign Lady the Queen, her Heirs and Succeſſors, for every default in that behalf made, v li.

The fines and amerciaments ſhall be eſtreated into the Exchequer.

Provided alwayes, That it ſhall be lawful for any Commiſſioner, being alſo a Farmor, and not having Lands and Tenements to the clear yearly value of forty pounds of freehold, to ſit by vertue of the ſaid Commiſſion, and have his voice and full authority with others to make and eſtabliſh Ordinances for Sewers, according to the tenor of the Commiſſion touching and concerning all Lands and Tenements within the precinct of every ſuch Commiſſion, other than ſuch Lands and Tenements as he or they, for the time being, hold and enjoy as Farmor, as he or they might have done before the making of this Statute: Any thing therein contained to the contrary notwithſtanding.

In what caſe a Farmor of Lands chargeable, may be a Commiſſioner.

Provided nevertheleſſe, and be it enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That this Act, nor any thing therein contained ſhall be taken or conſtrued to make good any Leaſe, or other Grant to be made by any ſuch Colledge or Collegiat-Church, within either of both the Univerſities of Oxford and Cambridge, or elſewhere within the Realm of England, for more years than are limited by the private Statutes of the ſame Colledge.

New leaſes made upon the ſurrender of old or former covenants.

Provided alwayes, that this Act ſhall not extend to any Leaſe hereafter to be made upon ſurrender of any Leaſe heretofore made, or by reaſon of any Covenant or Condition contained in any Leaſe heretofore made, and now continuing, ſo that the Leaſe to be made do not contain more years than the reſidue of the years of the former Leaſe now continuing ſhall be, at the time of ſuch Leaſe hereafter to be made, nor any leſſe Rent than is reſerved in the ſaid former Leaſe. Coke lib. 4. fol. 120. lib. 5. fol. 14. Stat. 1 Jac 25. 21 Jac. 28.

CAP. XI.

So much of the Stat. of 5 Eliz. 5. as concerneth the tranſporting of Sea-fiſh and Herring, in Engliſh Ships with croſſe Sailes, without the payment of Cuſtom, revived, &c.

5 Eliz. 5.

Where at the Parliament holden at Weſtminſter in the fifth year of your Majeſties Reign, there was among other, made and provided an Act touching certain politick Conſtitutions made for the maintenance of the Navy, and in the ſame amongſt other things, It was enacted, That from the firſt day of April, in the year of our Lord God, M.D. lxiiii. and ſo from thenceforth it ſhould be lawful to all and every the Subjects of your Majeſty, your Heirs and Succeſſors, at his and their will and pleaſure, to carry and tranſport out of this Realm in their Ships and other Veſſels of any the Subjects aforeſaid, all and every kind of Herring, and other Sea-fiſh to be taken upon the Sea by any the Subjects aforeſaid: any Act of Parliament or Law to the contrary notwithſtanding. And that all and every perſon and perſons, which ſhould by vertue of that Act, tranſport or carry any Herring or Sea fiſh from out of any Port or Harbour of this Realm, to any place out of the Dominions of your Majeſty, your Heirs and Succeſſors, ſhould be free from payment of any Cuſtoms, Subſidy, or Poundage-money, for the ſame fiſh ſo carried or tranſported, during the ſpace of four whole years, beginning at the ſaid firſt day of April, M. D. lxiiii. and ſo further during your Majeſties pleaſure; which term of four years is now expired and ended.

A continuance of part of the Statute of 5 El. for 6. years. EXP.

And where it is by experience found, That the ſaid Act hath been a very good Act, and greatly encreaſed the Navy and Fiſhermen, and cauſeth many poor men to be ſet a work, and is in great likelihood daily to encreaſe the ſame more and more: It may pleaſe your moſt excellent Majeſty, of your abundant grace, that it may be enacted by authority of this preſent Parliament, That ſo much of the ſaid Act as is above recited for liberty of tranſporting of Herring and Sea-fiſh, by the natural born Subjects of your Majeſty, your Heirs or Succeſſors, and for freedom from paying of any Cuſtome, Subſidy, or Poundage-money, ſhall be revived, and ſhall from thenceforth continue for the ſpace of ſix years from the end of this Seſſion of Parliament, and from thenceforth during your Majeſties moſt gracious pleaſure, ſo that ſuch tranſporting be in Veſſels with croſſe ſailes.

5 Eliz. 5.

And where alſo in the ſaid Act made in the ſaid fifth year, amongſt other things, all manner of perſons are generally forbidden to bring into this Realm any Coddes or Lings, in Barrels or other Casks, upon pain of forfeiture of all the Coddes and Lings ſo to be brought in, or the value thereof, contrary to the tenour of this Act. Foraſmuch as by that branch of the ſaid Statute, it was well intended and meant to meet with the fraud of ſtrangers and other which brought into this Realm great quantity of Coddes and Lings deceitfully packed in Barrels, and not meant to hinder any the Queens Majeſties Subjects, uſing uprightneſſe and truth in the barrelling of ſuch fiſh: May it therefore pleaſe your Majeſty, that it be further enacted by the authority aforeſaid, That after the Feaſt of Eaſter, which ſhall be in the year of our Lord God, 1575. it ſhall be lawful from thenceforth to all your Majeſties loving Subjects born within this Realm, or within any other your Majeſties Dominions (uſing no fraud or deceit in packing or barrelling thereof) for the term of ſix years next enſuing, to bring into this Realm, or any other your Highneſſe Dominions, all ſuch Coddes and Lings as they ſhall happen to take upon the Sea by their own fiſhing in Veſſels with croſſe Sailes, without incurring any forfeiture or penalty therefore: Any thing in the ſaid Act contained to the contrary notwithſtanding.

What Coddes may be brought into the Realm in barrels and casks. EXP. 27 Eliz. 15.

And for the avoiding of the lewd Outrages committed and done upon the Sea-coaſts of Norfolk and Suffolk by the Catches, Mongers and Picards, pretending to buy freſh-Herrings, and which do cut in ſunder divers pieces of Fiſhermens Nets, travelling the high Seas to take freſh Herrings, to the utter undoing of the ſaid poor Fiſhermen: Be it therefore enacted, ordained, and eſtabliſhed by the authority of this preſent Parliament, That no perſon or perſons uſing any Ship, Boat or Veſſel, called Catch, Monger or Picard, or other Veſſel of like uſe, ſhall in the time of common fiſhing upon the ſaid Sea-coaſts of Norfolk and Suffolk, between the fourteenth day of September, and the fourteenth day of November, from Sun ſetting to Sun-riſing, ankor upon the main Sea, or in the common ſtream or trade of fiſhing, where the Fiſhermen uſe to drive, upon pain to forfeit their Catch, Monger, Picard or Veſſel, with the tackle and all the fiſh in the ſame, or the value thereof: the one half to your Majeſty, your Heirs and Succeſſors, the other half to the Bayliffs, Burgeſſes, and Commonalty of the Town of great Yarmouth, to be imployed to the recompencing his damages to the Party whoſe Nets ſhall ſo be cut, and to the building and repairing of the decayed Haven there, and to be taken by way of ſeizure, or otherwiſe to be recovered by Bill, Action or Information, in any of your Majeſties Courts of Record: any Statute, Law, or Uſe to the contrary notwithſtanding.

What kind of ſhips ſhall not ankor upon the Sea in the time of common-fiſhing.
